CONQUERING A COMPLEX

Do you have an inferiority complex which makes your life unhappy? Are you the type who dreads walking down the aisle of a church after the services are started? Are you never sure enough of yourself to get up in a large gathering to voice your opinion? These ordeals cause many unpleasant sufferings and help to create "Fear" in our hearts.

If your skin is of darker hue, or your hair of a different texture, do you feel inferior? Has love or good fortune passed you by because you've lacked the initiative or incentive to demand what you really wanted?

There are a number o things which can be done to correct these faults. Instead of shunning the things which you fear most, experience them. One of the first things to do is cultivate poise. Pause for a few moments to consider the remarks being directed to you, before replying. Disagreeing proves successful sometimes. Develop your vocabulary, and discuss the current topics of the day. Create new friendships and read good books.

There are many other helpful suggestions which can be had by writing to Prof. Herman. Do it today.

L. R. This is to inform you that I am still deriving benefits from your Lucky Charm Bag, and I am now sending for my Double Strength Bag. Please send it at once as I cannot be without it for one day. My friend has returned and we are getting along nicely. Thank you.

C. B. K. Will I get settled soon?

Ans. It appears to be necessary for you to get settled in your new place within 30 days, and you are wondering if that is possible. My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that someone is also trying to aid you and they will find a place for you soon.

L. Y. Will I ever get married?

Ans. According to your sign, you and W. K. will be married within the next 4 months. He is very much in love with you and as soon as his financial difficulties are over he intends to go ahead with the marriage arrangements.

J. B. What is wrong with my affair?

Ans. Thru a careful analysis of your case I find that you have been keeping steady company with a girl for sometime, and at present you seem to be drifting. This girl is young and likes to have a good time. Because of your lack of work you are unable to grant her these pleasures. Naturally she goes out with someone who can. Go to the different employment agencies and you will soon find a job and win the love of this girl whole-heartedly.

M. H. Will I get the money?

Ans. In regards to your question I find that the case in court will soon be settled in your favor and you will receive the amount you were suing for.

F. H. I received your wonderful Charm Bag and advice, and I must say both are amazingly good. Now, I would like to know if C. R. will ever mean me any good?

Ans. Concentrating upon your question, it seems that C. R. is a very dilatory person. He really cares for you but is very slow in showing it. Give him a little more time, as you think a great deal of him, he may still prove that he really loves you.

P. S. Who got the watch? Who will my grandfather's money go to? Is my father going to obtain work?

Ans. The answer I find regarding your first question is that your Auna't watch was not stolen but lost. It was a rather odd watch and should be easy to identify. I vision her getting it back soon. Only one question is answered in the column, if you will write in for a private answer you will receive a prompt reply.

A. R. C. Will I ever find it?

Ans. My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that E. C. lost his mother's picture and is anxious to find it. During the process of moving the picture was placed in a trunk with other valuables. If you will search thoroughly you will no doubt find it.

G. J. C. Will I ever find love?

Ans. Probing into this matter I find that you are only sixteen and have already begun to worry about love matters. It would be wise to have many friends, and in due time you will find someone you love.

● LIBRARY BOOK

Among recent novels which should attract no little interest is "Sam", by John Shelby, the American entry for the All-Nations Prize which is already been awarded a substantial sum for winning the American competition. It is a vigorous, fresh novel of a man who won a newspaper in a poker game and from that point started on an ambitious drive to gain control of the growing mid western city in which he lived. Self-made and hard-bitten, he modeled himself on the vision of the empire builders. His wife, rebeling, escaped into a world of her own. Sam was left alone with his ambition and his power, defying the heavens as they threatened to crash upon him.

"Christ in Concrete," a powerfully realistic story by Pietro di Donato, depicts the everyday crises of the family of an Italian bricklayer in a large American City. Geremio, father of 8, was killed when a building collapsed, and his 12 year old son, Paul, started working as a bricklayer to support the rest of the family. From that point on the story is dominated by the JOB; the job which brings death and tragedy; the job which also brings food and a roof; and in its own way brings some measure of satisfaction. Christ in Concrete" is a vivid and original first novel, woven out of the boyhood experience of this young Italian writer.

VIRGINIA TRADITION

In "Journey Proud" Thomasine McGehee, the author, sets before her readers, 50 years of Virginia tradition. Three generations of the Mackays are used to illustrate the pre-war prosperity of the Virginia gentry on their tobacco plantations and their final doom with the outbreak of the Civil War. George Mackay, a grandson, goes to war and returns to make a new home in a desolated land. He proudly faces the debacle of surrender and will live to see his children grow up in a world far different from the peace and plenty of his own childhood. "Journey Proud" is well written and the author brings all its characters to life. She creates completely fresh personalities even among the minor characters such as Ellen Wyatt's sister and her ne'er-do-wel husband, the New Hampshire school teacher who plays the flute ,and Joanna, who with her cultivated speech and perfect manners still remains authentic Negro.

Borrow these new novels from the Vernon Branch Library, 45044 S. Central avenue and the Helen Hunt Jaackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi avenue.

To Feel Fine, Use This All-Vegetable Laxative

Here's the laxative that acts as thoroughly as harsher ones, but is a gentle persuader for intestines when used this way: A quarter to a half-teaspoonful of spicy, aromatic BLACK-DRAUGHT on your tongue tonight, a drink of water—there you are! Then this all-vegetable laxative usually allows plenty of time for sleep, acts thoroughly and gently, and relieves constipation's headaches, biliousness, irritability, bad breath. BLACK-DRAUGHT'S main ingredient is an "intestinal tonic-laxative," which helps tone the intestinal muscles. Millions of packages used prove its merit. 25 to 60 doses, 25c.

GILBERT ALLEN

Gilbert Allen to Give First L. A. Recital

Presented by OLHA at Independent

Gilbert Allen, promising young pianist-composer and choral leader, will be presented by the Assistance League of the Outdoor Life and Health association in his first local recital since returning to Los Angeles on next Thursday evening at Independent church.

Allen, a product of Los Angeles public schools and UCLA, will be assisted by the Gilbert Allen Singers and the Gilbert Allen Verse choir, both of his organizing, and 30 young vocal and instrumental artists, who will make their first appearance before an audience.

A cross-section of Allen's work, from opera to swing, will be heard on the program. The last act of the young composer's modern opera, "Steal Away," based on life in Harlem, will be sung, and the choir will introduce several of Allen5s choral compositions.

PRECOCIOUS

Allen began composing at the age of 15 and while still a student, became director of a small Baptist church choir. The art of poetry included among his talents, he has had two volumes of original verse published.

In 1931, while acting as secretary to famed tenor Roland Hayes, then on a Western concert tour, Allen was encouraged to go East for further study. He had received his bachelor degree in philosophy from UCLA.

In New York, Allen was encouraged by Hall Johnson, famous choral leader and composer. He played in Johnson's sensation "Run, Lil Chillun" and sang in the famed Johnson choir.

WHAT ARE YOUR EXPECTATIONS FOR THE FUTURE?

CBS porter plays 2 radio roles

Horace Willard, CBS porter was dusting off a cigarette machine in a KNX corridor last week when Glenhall Taylor, C[BS] "Silver Theater" producer asked for a pack. Willard spoke up: "If you get a good colored role in one of your shows, I wish you'd give me a chance, Mr. Taylor." So last Sunday found Willard playing two roles, one comic and one straight dramatic, on "Silver Theatre's" "The Road Further". Incidentally, Willard played on the CBS "Bloss[om]" show a fortnight ago, and had one of his playlets about a colored church congregation broadcast over Columbia's short wave outlet in Hollywood, W6XDA.

was, even in prospect, a fate worse than death." So, Governor Olson regretfully came out in opposition to the "Ham and Eggs" measure.

Today announcements come to us from "Ham and Egg" leaders that they will institute a "Recall" movement to remove their late comrade Olson from the executive mansion at Sacramento.

Thus, the great democratic coup of 1938 that brought countless thousands of new supporters to the polls for them has turned smack around and threatens to bite the hand that double-crossed it.

Of course, the threat is not a very potent one just now. After having been administered one of the soundest thrashings any political group has ever received at the hands of a California electorate, the threats of "Ham and Eggers" have a slightly hollow ring. But still, we would wager a goodly sum that Hizzoner the Governor is none too happy over this turn of affairs.

In the first place, the Olson administration hasn't covered itself with any particular glory even barring "Ham and Eggs" considerations. For instance, there was that embarrassing day a few weeks ago when Gov. Olson was forced to announce that his nice, new, shiny administration was flat broke — so flat that it couldn't meet the next week's payroll. After considerable wrangling, a loan was arranged and the Ship of State set off again in fairly good working order. Now, all this does not argue very eloquently for the Governor's alleged position as a protector of the weak and penniless. A bankrupt administration cannot very well be generous to equally bankrupt individual citizens.

Although it's not considered cricket to say so in the best liberal circles, Governor Olson's handling of California's indigent worker problem has fell far short of brilliance. Here a few weeks ago, fruit picking strikers were terrorized mercilessly upstate. Fire hoses were turned upon strikers exercising their constitutional right of orderly congregation. A "vigilante" committee of owners was organized to chase "crackpot radicals" out of town. The much touted liberalism of the new administration must have been off dozing somewhere for there was a thundering silence from Sacramento.

So, we find that Governor Olson's score up to this time has been two unconditional strike-outs. Labor suffered tremendously from his "lack of official action" in the fruit pickers strike, while business was horrified at the gross executive inefficiency revealed in the State falling broke months before the end of the current budget period. Coupled with the "Ham and Eggs" double-cross, the Governor's record hasn't been very good. In fact, when the next gubernatorial election rolls around, the Governor may find himself among the "also rans".

Remember, he must now lick three groups of voters, (1) Republicans, always formidable in this State; (2) disgruntled Democrats, fast growing into an immense legion; (3) disappointed "Ham and Eggers" who were the "balance of power" that tipped the electoral scales in his favor at the last election.

No, there is little doubt that the Governor is NOT this State's happiest citizen.

OTHER PAPERS SAY:

The Ladies and the Lynchers

By LEWIS T. NORDYKE, from Readers Digest, originally condensed from Survey Graphic.

MOB VIOLENCE, masquerading as the champion of Southern womanhood, is petering out. The women themselves have scotched it. Nine years ago, a small group of women, who realized there was more bloodthirst than knight-errantry in howling mobs, organized the Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching. The organization has 40,000 members now; it is backed by 2,000,000 more women as members of social, civic and religious groups, and it is a real power in war on mob murder.

Its power is greater, indeed, than the South itself is aware, for the organization has worked quietly. Deliberately avoiding publicity, the women have brought pressure to bear on state officials and peace officers. In the 8 years before they organized, there were 211 lynchings; in 8 years since there have been 105. Last year there were only six—the best record. Much of this progress must be credited to the women's work.

The movement started Nov. 1, 1930, at a meeting of two dozen Southtrn women in Atlanta. Before them there was a survey of lynching which showed that, between 1886 and 1930, 4297 persons had been lynched in the United States—but only 21 percent of them for crimes against white women. Women had been present at all lynchings for several years. Frequently they hoisted children to their shoulders for a better view. Sometimes they actually helped the lynchers. Young boys and girls participated both as spectators and as leaders of the mob. Clearly, lynchings were not, as men liked to pretend, impetuous deeds of chivalry to protect a weaker sex. They were barbaric sadism. The roots, it was apparent, fed on social and racial sores.

The pioneer group formulated a pledge which they and all later members signed.

"We declared lynching an indefensible crime, destructive of all principles of government, hateful and hostile to every ideal of religion and humanity, debasing and degrading to every person involved. Though lynchings are not confined to any one section of the United States, we are aroused by the record which discloses our heavy responsibility of this crime in our county. We believe that this record has been achieved because public opinion has accepted too easily the claim of lynchers and mobsters that they were acting solely in defense of womanhood. In the light of facts, we dare not longer permit this claim to pass unchallenged. We solemnly pledge ourselves to create a new public opinion in the South which will not condone for any reason whatever acts of mobs or lynchers."

The Association members began to write letters, call on state officials, address church meetings, with the ambitious goal of enlisting every organization of men and women in the country.

Early in their campaign, they wrote in their minutes, "The time to prevent lynchings is before the mob forms," and they concluded that the sheriff was the key man. The appointed sheriffs all over the South, asked each to take a pledge to do all in his power to prevent lynchings and 1229 peace officers in 15 States signed.

It was never a strange woman from the central office who called on the sheriff; it was always a woman voter living in the country. Which is good politics. Periodic messages from headquarters asks members: "Have you talked with your sheriff?" Or, if it is election year, "Have you asked each candidate what he will do to prevent lynchings, if elected?"

Last year, in 40 instances peace officers, many of them pledged to the women's program, broke up potential lynchings, saving three white men, 40 Negro men and a Negro woman from the rope or stake. In each of these officially recorded cases, the Association was at work behind the scenes.

Here is an example of how they swing into action. On Christmas Day, 1934, an editor telephoned to Mrs. Ames that a Negro had killed an officer in Schley County, Ga., and that a mob was forming. Mrs. Ames phoned a member who lived near the scene of the trouble. She in turn started calling every important persons she knew in Schley County, urging each to reach the sheriff and stiffen him to do his duty. The Negro was captured by the officers, not by the mob and the law took its course. It would have been dramatic to have gone before the mob and pleaded for restraint—members have tried that too—but it probably wouldn't have worked. What we have learned is that a sheriff, even though disposed to let let a mob have its way, can't afford to do so after influeneial voters have demanded that he act.

The women's crusade was greeted in the beginning with ridicule from many quarters and with threats from organizations which had been terrorizing Negroes for years. In many communities, representatives of the Association were prevented from speaking. Often they concealed the threats from their families to avoid being pressed to give up their work.

The struck at an opportune time, however, Public opinion was not unprepared. Some of the leading newspapers of the South —the Montgomery Advertiser, the Louisville Courier-Journal, the Richmond Times Dispatch, to name three, had been fighting against lynching for years. Governors in several states had removed sheriffs who permitted lynchings. There were various anti-lynching organizations with which the women heartily cooperated, seeking no credit for their own group.

One of the most effective things they did to arouse public opinion was to present facts about the lynching of innocent Negroes. Such facts as these:

Nine of the 84 mob victims in the 1931-35 period were not accused of any crime; 25 others were accused of minor offenses.

o rinson was killed at his home near Moultrie, Ga., by a mob looking for John Henry Sloan, who had killed a white man.

A Negro killed a white bootlegger at a Negro dance in Baker County. When the right man couldn't be found, two other Negroes were lynched as "an object lesson".

A helpless paralytic was lynched at Tuscaloosa, Ala., on a charge of attempted rape.

A Negro was shot to death in his home at midnight by a masked mob in Greenville County, S. C. He had been pressing for a settlement for his crop.

One of their most dangerous jobs is to visit the scene of a lynching to prove for the truth. The facts pried out of the surly, belligerent community too often indicate that the mob murder traces back to politics or crooked business deals. Yet women do this work unflinchingly .When the case involves attacks on white women, members have been taunted, "What if it were your daughter? What if it were you?"

There is an answer. In 1936, the 7-year old daughter of an Alabama member was attacked by a Negro. The mother, clinging to her ideals wnen it would have been so easy to succumb to the desire for revenge, prevented mob violence.

Two aged sisters were attacked by a Negro in a Texas village last year and painfully injured. From their sickbeds they pleaded that there be no lynching.

In Kentocky, 2000 women successfully demanded repeal of the law which provided public hangings for men convicted of rape. The intent had been to quench the lynching spirit by demonstrating publicly that the law had taken its course. But such hangings became "Gallows festivals"—shocking exhibitions, attended by women and children. Morbid appetite was not quenched but grew by what it fed on.

The Association's public education program has substantially affected the South's whole approach of race relations. It is the hope of these crusading Southern women that on some New Year's Day not far distant, they may pick up their morning papers and read:

For the first time since the Civil War, there has not been a lynching in the United States in a whole year.

SAGACIOUS SAYINGS

"We could forgive Charles Augustus (Lindbergh) for running and showing a false modesty like a very foolish man with an inferiority complex; we can forgive him for scorning and harassing the Negro who found his dead baby's body; we can forgive his silly complexes—but we will not forget his encouragements to the enemies of our democratic freedom". . .William Pickens.

"Chica go is a pressure town and little is accomplished without it. To vocalize strongly the needs of the community is to intelligently use the democratic process". . . Chicago Bee.

"It will make a great difference to the colored peoples of America what ideologies emerge triumphant in the present war. This does not mean which country or which group of countries technically wins the war, but what ideas are triumphant". . . W. E. B. DuBois

"This country must not be let down on the home front because of what is happening on the Western Front. The government must strike a balance between the two and not allow unemployment, anti-lynching legislation and other fundamental American problems to be scuttled for any reason whatsoever". . . Amsterdam News (N. Y.) editorial.

"FILTHY WORK"

From the lips of a disabled war veteran came a terse summing up of war in a London court the other day. In support of his son's application for immunity from Army service, the British "Tommy" told of his experiences in the trenches, his five years' suffering in a hospital, and the workless years that followed. "War," he said, "is a filthy, contemptible business." P. S.—The applause was so great the judge ordered the spectators removed.

A TIMELY REMINDER

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Find enclosed a reprint of a statement by myself on the condition of the Negro Railroad workers. Thousands of Negro Firemen, Brakemen and Switchmen are losing their jobs because of conditions set forth in this statement. There are two remedies. One, to organize the Negro Railroad workers. Two, to organize public sentiment so as to stop the Railway Companies from displacing Negro Railroad workers who have helped to build the railroads in the South. You can do the Negro railroad workers a great service in particular and the Negro people in general, if you will either carry this statement in full or such parts of it as you may desire with any editorial comment you may deem it advisable to make.

But let me advise that something must be done and without very great delay to save the jobs of Firemen, Brakemen and Switchmen to the Negro worker.

Thanking you for your cooperation, I am

Very truly yours,

RENEGADE METHODS

Dear Editor:

I wish to register a strong protest against the renegade methods being used by certain white cigarette machine companies to hold their monopoly on the Avenue.

At the same time, I should like to urge the public and the Avenue business houses to support Negro ventures at any and all times.

I have in mind a specific instance that came to my attention Hickman, representing his own company, Central Avenue Enterprises, has placed one of his mathis week. A young Negro, Paul chines, comparable in every way to those vended by the white companies, in my restaurant. He is trying, and has been successful up to this point, to build a business in the district where he lives and spends what he earns.

This morning, a salesman, representing one of the other companies, approached me with an offer of a $10.00 tip and a "fake" contract to replace Hickman's machine with his. He mentioned that he had been successful, with those methods in other Avenue enterprises.

My answer was No, but beyond that, I wanted that salesman and his company to know that I heartily resent such methods of doing business.

I trust you will publish this letter.

Sincerely yours,
CENTRAL AVENUE
BUSINESSMAN

AMBULANCE SERVICE

Dear Editor:

Today I had the pleasure of giving the Roberson ambulance a good once over. I am glad to say it contained every modern convenience and everything for comfort that the sick could expect. We, as a group, must take hats off to these young men who are filling a long felt need in the community, whereas, now for a small fee, doctors will not have to wait hours for an ambulance to carry patients to and from hospitals.

These young fellows deserve the support of every doctor and citizen in the community.

APPRECIATION

Dear Editor:

We wish to express our sincere thanks to you for the publicity and large space that your paper gave to our recent convention.

The work we have tried to do could not and cannot be carried on without the interest of the reading public and of course you realize the great influence your newspaper has on our community.

We feel that much good has come of our efforts, and we appreciate your fine and cooperative spirit in helping our work forward.

FROM THE CAMPUS

Dear Editor:

In light of your editorial last week ("Do You Know", EAGLE Nov. 2) and the reprint in the EAGLE of Oct. 28 from the Daily Bruin, Oct. 27, I thought the inclosed clipping from the Nov. 7 Daily Bruin might be of interest to your readers.

Tom Bradley is one of the most active students on the Westwood campus. A graduate of Polytechnic High school, he is president of the University Negro club, a fine athlete and scholar.

I hope you will print his letter to the Daily Bruin.

Sincerely,
A READER

MINORITIES CONSIDERED

Dear Editor:

After following your series of articles concerning racial and religious discrimination and more recently the article contributed by the local chapter of the A. S. U., we offer our sincere appreciation for the courage you have exemplified by taking the lead in trying to offer solution to what most people consider a very delicate situation.

We feel that much can be accomplished in breaking down those racial barriers on ouf campus with the hearty cooperation of those who seem to be quite interested in our present problems such as those named by the A. S. U We know that many Negroes are capable to fill positions on our faculty. There are representatives of nearly all races on this campus, except the Negro race, who hold positions from professors to teaching assistants. Negro students who so desire to apply for advanced R. O. T. C. courses have been simply ignored, particularly one student who was cadet captain of a junior unit at a local high school. Still he had to enter the unit here as a private while others who came from the same institution with lower rankings were made corporals and who are captains now in this unit. But should a major crisis confront our nation today, he would be among the first to be called (previous training) to bear colors for our nation, to make the world safe for democracy.

As a minorty group, we are forced to travel from a distance of fiftan to twenty miles daily to our classes. There are no provisions made for those who wish and could afford to live near the campus.

We do represent the school in athletics on the Pacific Coast, the entire country knows us as "Gold Dust Twins" and other names which designate only Negroes. Then, we must favor the assimilation of minorities with the so-called majority. We can only have a true democracy when all races are forgotten and each human is accepted as a man offering real contributions as we have in the past, to the progress of our country.

May this also be astep toward a better and more intelligent understanding between minority groups too. May the local assistant dean who said, "Can Negroes go to California Medical School?" realize the absurdity of it now. May he realize the forward march of our race and the gates which have been previously closed have been unlocked by black hands.

May we also resolve to keep our backyard clean before we criticise the backyards of other nations which we have never seen nor experienced, but only read of through the medium of propaganda sheets—our newspapers.

May this be a real step for racial peace at home.

—TOM BRADLEY.

DO YOU KNOW HER?

RESTRICTIVE COVENANT

Dear Editor:

The enclosed copy of a petition dated Stockton, Oct. 16, demonstrates the vicious methods used to keep Race members "in that place." Sacramento already has clamped down and has made it practically impossible for members of the Race to buy, rent or lease—except in that area known as the "lower end of town."

Because we are fighting unjust discrimination all over the country, we feel it necessary to protest wherever the ugly head of race prejudice makes its appearance. It is hoped that you will cooperate by protesting with us. The 'Stockton Record' and the "Stockton Independent" are the two daily papers of that city.

Only through legislative action can we hope to break down all Restrictive Covenants, but we can kill discriminatory petitions before they materialise into law.

We shall appreciate the printing of this letter.

JULIA VAN SLACK

The Petition:
From Stockton Paper Oct. 10,

"The Sheltered Oaks Garden and Improvement Club started circulation of petitions yesteday to be pesented to the San Joaquin County Board of Supervisors Monday, asking certain restrictions be imposed on the district for the next 25 years.

"Restrictions asked for include no noxious or offensive trade or business or anything that might become a nuisance or community annoyance, no intoxicating liquor sales, no public stables or slaughter houses.

"The petitions also seek to ban Africans, Negroes, Mexicans or members of the brown or yellow races from buying, renting or leasing property in the district. Domestic servants of any of these races are permitted when actually in employment."

The Laundry Man

THE LESSON OF HAM AND EGGS

This is written on Nov. 5, Sunday night preceding the election. Regardless of the outcome, whether Ham and Eggs wins or loses, this American Commonwealth should ponder well the lesson to be gleaned from this bizarre sally into the realm of political economy.

In former days the only effective weapon available for mass propaganda was the big newspapers, which have always been controlled for the most part by hard-headed, practical business men. But within the last 10 years a great change has taken place. The radio, and the free neighborhood weeklies have enabled impracticable Visionaries and unscruplous racketeers to mold the plastic minds of the unlettered masses to an almost unbelievable degree. Keen student of human nature, these men have learned that the more impracticable the scheme, the deeper the impression it makes upon the mass mind; provided that it offers Something For Nothing—which, by the way, seems to be the most cherished ambition of the average American citizen.

A few years ago a demagogue had to have, or be allied with, wealth and power in order to avail himself of the approaches leading to the mass mind. Today, all he needs is a few week's wages to pay for radio time, a pair of strong lungs, plenty of nerve, and a Utopian scheme which proposes to remedy all the economic ills of Mankind. Almost from nowhere, followers will arise, springing up as quickly as if from the sowing of Dragon's teeth. Once started they grow with the rapidity of a rolling snowball.

The neighborhood news-sheets too, wield a power unsuspected by many otherwise well-informed people. It seems impossible for many folks to realize that there are hosts of people who believe a thing is so, simply because they read it in some newspaper. This class of citizen—and they are many—react to propaganda as they do, simply because they have not had sufficient education to enable them to THINK A THING OUT FOR THEMSELVES. Their minds are as plastic as wet cement. Constant pressure upon such material unfailingly leaves ineradicable impressions, making it easier for each succeeding demagogue to put over his particular propaganda, provided that it follows the general outline of the previous Something For Nothing groove.

This state of affairs is one of the great dangers that confronts Democratic government today. And if Democracy is to survive its ever-widening ramifications it MUST eventually do one or the other; either raise the standard of literacy among the great masses of the people, or compel every person of voting age to pass a literacy test before being allowed to vote.

MORE STAMPS!

Artists, authors, composers, and poets, are coming into their own at last!

Having apparently exhausted the roster of presidents and statesmen, the Post Office Department is turning to new fields for inspiration. A suggestion for a new stamp is something the government has never plowed under. Certainly if variety is the spice of life, the Post Office Department has been more than generous in supplying its share of seasoning.

I FOUND in my mail this week a communication that has made a very great impression on me. I shall pass it on to you. The letter reads:

Dear editor:

I am writing you in regards to my mother's people, whom she has not heard from since slavery, but they still rest on her mind and she longs to see or hear from them or someone who has. She was sold by a slave owner along with two sisters, she being the youngest of the three. The oldest sister was named "Miriam" and the next "Armandy" or "Mandy". My mother's name was "Kate" and she was sometimes called "Bob". They were sold by their owner, whose name was "Goodman", but his given name she doesn't know or remember. Their home was near Atlanta, Georgia, and the name of it was at that time "Goodman's Crossroads." They were sold to a slave owner by the name of Bet Wallace and were brought to Louisiana to a place at that time called "Horse Head" near the line of Arkansas and Louisiana, and there is where they were set free. My mother, still being quite a child, was taken and raised by the oldest sister. The other one, Mandy, left them at this time, and they were never able to see or hear from her all these many years. Of course, I know that this is a pretty old case and a pretty hard one, but we ought to contact some offspring of someone of the family who still lives. My mother is living, but the oldest sister has passed, so I hope there is something that you can do or tell me to do. Thanking you in advance—

Yours truly,
Subscriber.

. . . Seventy five years after the Emancipation Proclamation, seventy five years after a cruel, but unheralded separation, an old lady in Santa Monica still remembers and still yearns for knowledge of her lost kinfolk.

The simple pathos of this letter, with its impossible request, brings to our minds more sharply than a hundred history texts the horror and inhumanity of an institution that existed in America over a period of two hundred and fifty years.

Can we imagine the countless millions of similar tragedies during these centuries. We know that family separations among slaves were the accepted custom of owners. It was felt, we are told, that a family clan should be shattered whenever possible to prevent the growth of any organized unit that might threaten the owner's denomination. We know that millions of little children were torn from the bosoms they loved; we know that millions of slave mothers watched through tear-drenched eyes their children sold up the river or over the state line. We know all these things, but they remain stodgy historical anecdotes until the yearning of a little old lady in Santa Monica, California, in the year of Our Lord 1939,, brings the old horror in all its naked tragedy to our modern eyes. So we must look at this story, held up to us in bold relief, and remember that it was multiplied by millions. . . in America . . . less than a century ago.

IN A RECENT edition of a nationally distributed photo magazine Reform Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio, Texas, contributed an article recounting the progress of his administration in cleaning up that southern metropolis.

"Back when Texas was still a Republic, Grandpa Sam Maverick was Mayor of San Antonio. Now, a century later, I'm Mayor. I don't know what headaches Grandpa had, but I have a plenty.

"The newspapers and magazines of the country have given our town a reputation that smells to high heaven. The press has noted with great delicacy that legions of prostitutes parade in battalions up and down our historic streets, marked out long ago by Spanish Conquistadores. Some publications have printed stories of certain ladies who carried cards showing A-1 health but who, at the same time were 4-plus syphilitics.

"One magazine ranked San Antonio as the nation's No. 1 plague spot for tuberculosis. Another referred to it as the "Citadel of Shakedown". There were accusations that for years the city has been corrupted and looted by a political machine which didn't worry about the vice district, the gambling joints or the protected life of the racketeers. It was well known that

Cooper, one of the Nation's outstanding policemen, was removed from a private room in the Boone County hospital to the basement quarters reserved for Negroes late last week when it became known that she was a Negro.

When hospital authorities learned that the patient was a Negro, she was removed to the basement quarters.

Landlord's Promises to Make Changes in House Backfire

A landlord's asserted promises to make some changes in the house into which a couple had just moved led to gun-play last Sunday noon, according to Newton street police.

Stating that the landlord, Alexander Norman, 49 year old janitor of 662 East 36th street, promised to make some changes in his home at 678 East 36th street, Lawrence McReynolds told police that Norman pulled a gun on him and his wife, Verna, following a quarrel over the alleged charges.

McReynolds said he moved into the house last week and that Sunday while the landlord was working on the porch, Mrs. McReynolds reminded him (the landlord) of his promises.

Norman is said to have gone into the house then and began talking to Mrs. McReynolds in "loud and rough language". She ordered him out, saying he had no right to talk to her that way. Norman left, police reported, but returned a short time afterwards by way of the rear door.

Noticing that Norman was carrying a gun, McReynolds asked him what he was doing with it. Norman is reported as saying that McReynold's wife called him a "bad name". When McReynolds said she didn't, Norman assertedly pulled out the gun and said "I'll blow her head off."

When McReynolds told him to put the gun back, Norman did so and left the house. Radio Patrolmen J. J. Steffens and H. A. Toland, answering a call to 36th and Griffith, picked up the landlord as he was walking away from the house. They found the gun on him.

"I didn't threaten anybody. I have a right to carry a gun because I work for the health department," Norman told the officers. He was arrested on a charge of suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Mixed Pair's Arrest Stirs Baltimore

To Initiate Fight Against Md. Anti-Intermarriage Law

BALTIMORE, Nov. 16. (CNA)—A vigorous fight against the Maryland Anti-intermarriage law is promised by the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in connection with the defense of a mixed couple arrested last week on charges of violating the law. W. A. C. Hughes, chief of the legal staff of the NAACP here, declared this week that "every effort will be made to defend the rights of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson." The case has evoked widespread resentment in this city.

The couple were arrested last week by police upon complaint of a relative of Mrs. Wilson, who is white. They were married over a year ago and have been living happily together until the police broke into their home and took them into custody. They are being held in the Annapolis jail.

The defense is being conducted by the NAACP and the International Longshoremen's Union, of which Wilson is a member.

Jail 'Mistreated' Musician for Beating Woman

Accusing Mrs. Florence Prince, 1185 East 41st place, of mistreating him, Jasper Jones, 37-year old musician, was arrested early last Sunday morning for cutting and beating the woman and assertedly threatening her life.

Mrs. Prince told Newton street officers Holmes and Kimbrough that she came home Saturday afternoon and found Jones, who resides at the same address, in a drunken condition.

Jones beat her, Mrs. Prince said, and when she went to the 'phone to call her brother, Jones opened a pocket knife and cut her on the arm and forehead.

The accused man was arrested by officers at 1165 East 42nd street early Sunday morning after he had followed Mrs. Prince to that address and allegedly beat her again with his fists. He was booked on a charge of suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Woman Was Mob Victim July 30

Exposure and Shock Paved Way for Fatal Illness, Medic Says

Death of Mrs. Geraldine (McCoy) Taylor, former washroom attendant, Friday morning at General Hospital threatened to rock Los Angeles' Park Department this week as it is feared that the woman's demise was a result of a brutal assault made upon her by a white throng July 30 at Griffith Park.

In a sensational statement, Dr. S. H. Kestenbaum, Mrs. Taylor's private physician, stated last night, "It is my personal opinion that the exposure and shock that Mrs. Taylor suffered from the manhandling undoubtedly paved the way for her fatal illness. Her wekened condidtion made her susceptible to any infection." General Hospital has not yet released the coroner's inquest report, so there is no official statement.

If the report substantiates Dr. Kestenbaum's contention that the Griffith park fracas was a factor in Mrs. Taylor's death, a flurry of suits are expected from her survivors.

Funeral was held Tuesday from Conner-Johnson Home, and burial was at Evergreen cemetery. She is survived by her husband, Henry Tylor; one son, Gerald McCoy; three sisters and three brothers, all of Los Angeles.

On July 31, Mrs. Taylor was set upon and beaten by a mixed white gang, angered because she would not move her automobile, parked near a ladies' rest room at Griffith Park, which she attended, in order that one of them might park in her place. After annoying the woman all afternoon, allegedly committing revolting nuisances on the floor of the ladies' rest room, the hoodlums beat her with their fists, sticks and stones and kicked her brutally. A crowd, estimated a thousand strong, watcher the attack. Several policemen, it was stated, stood by and after the woman had been thoroughly abused, arrested her for disturbing the peace, allowing her attckers to go unmolested.

On August 18, after a bitter three-day trial, during which officers testified against her, Municipal Judge Morgan Galbreth declared Mrs. Taylor "not guilty" on the charges. This distinct legal victory was won for Mrs. Taylor by Att'y Thoms L. Griffith, Jr.

Dr. Kestenbaum, who attended Mrs. Taylor, at ths time termed her arrest "a nasty perversion of justice". She suffered a cerebrl concussion and internal injuries, particularly to the kidneys, where pneumonia settled last week to snatch away her life.

As a result of untreated injuries, Mrs. Taylor fainted Sunday, Sept. 10, while on duty at Westlake Park. Given emergency treatment at Georgia Street Receiving hospital but refused admission to the General hospital, Mrs. Taylor was denied medical treatment at the City's expense and workmen's compensation. Officials of the Park Department said she was exempted from compensation because she was not an industrial worker. There was considerable controversy over this issue at the time, and the Department finally relented.

Two weesk ago Mrs. Taylor contracted a cold, followed by dread pneumonia.

The brutal attack and its subsequent tragedy has been called "one of the most unfortunate incidents in Park Department history."

Amazing Demonstration Greets New Orleans Singer at Independent

BY EUGENE B. HUFFMAN

Yes, it was nothing short of amazing to see "music-loving" Negro Los Angeles line the streets for blocks with shiny—and some not so shiny—automobiles converging upon 18th and Paloma streets the past Sunday evening and then fill one of our "leading" chuches almost to capacity to pay homage to a "vocal artist" who came to our fair city scarcely two months ago, unheard of, unheralded and unannounced. This singer was Mr. Earl Pleasant, a very pleasant young man from "way down yonder in New Orleans."

And by what magic had this "great" singer drawn this vast "cultured" audience in so short a time in great big, unsophisticated and indifferent Los Angeles? By the fortunate or unfortunate meeting with a woman, a woman in a favorable position, a woman who delights in reaching out and elevating strangers to positions of eminence while calmly forgetting or deliberately ignoring hard-struggling serious students of this community for a considerable portion of our dear Lord's long time.

I suggest that Mr. Pleasant's early meeting with his benefactress upon his arrival in the city may, in the long run, prove "unfortunate" for the honest reason that he does possess a voice, a rare voice, the natural quality of which is seldom heard. But the singer is in no sense of the word a musician. He hardly knows B flat from G sharp. And his vocal training it absolutely "nil." Therefore the almost record "sedate" crowd that turned out and proceeded to greet the young man with positively wild acclaim was at once a sad reflection upon the tragically low musical appreciation of Negroes and an insult to all serious students of vocal art.

The demonstration reached its most amazing heights when Madame Sul-te-wan rose from her conspicuous seat and whipped the demonstration into a frenzy after hearing Mr. Pleasant sing "Trees." And what "Trees." They really were the tall timber.

Prior to reaching out and shaking the moss-laden oaks of Louisiana with his powerful voice, Mr. Pleasant's "concert" couldn't honestly be described as nothing more than a Gospel Song-fest with plenty of "Yesses!" "Amen!" and "Un-hunhs!" from his fervent audience in good old Dusky-merican revival fashion. And when he did his "Indian Love Call," that did settle it.

This article is not written maliciously. But to try to help save Mr. Pleasant from the imminent misfortune that is likely to overtake him as a result of such tragic demonstrations as was staged at Independent the past Sunday in his behalf. Such ridiculous demonstrations canot help but give the young man a completely false concept of his vocal artistry, inflate his ego and make him feel he has "arrived" in the musical world before he makes even the first step on the long, arduous road to vocal development, vocal achievement, honor and distinction.

The Reverend Mr. Clayton Russell, pastor of Independent, called upon the audience to help Mr. Pleasant find a job, which, to my mind, was sheer irony. Since the powers that be in Independent have stirred up such a tempest of enthusiastic excitement over this "unusual" singer, if they are seriously interested in helping him they certainly have a golden opportunity. They would find it a very easy matter to persuade the congregation to adopt him, place him under an able teacher for three or four years and develop him into an artist who would rival any other artist of the present era. Certainly, in the years to come, when Mr. Pleasant's income would be two or three thousand dollars a night instead of the occasional handful of crumbs now being flung in his direction, he would have the decency to more than repay Independent for its investment. But that would be doing something great, and greatness is a priceless virtue in which Negroes are so sadly lacking. Mediocrity is our forte and lack of vision is our fatal doom.

The musical treat was befittingly climaxed last Sunday when an equal thirty pieces of silver was raised and presented to the 21-year old singer, which was ironically symbolical of the gigantic deception that had been innocently played upon him by an enthusiastic audience who knew scarcely more about music than he. But who was to blame? Tra-la.

Giants Shingle Roofers in 2 Tilts; Play Pirrones Sunday

Wiping out a defeat they suffered severl weeks ago, the Philadelphia Royal Giants handed Walker Roofers a two-game shingling last Sunday afternoon at Gilmore filed by scores of 5 to 3 and 2 to 1.

Lefty Glover, who turned in a no-hit, no-run effort against the WWhite Kings the week previous, held the Roofers to five hits in the first setto. McDuffie limited the Roofer nine to three hits in the second game.

The red hot Giants will probably ace Happy Hansmann next Sunday afternoon at Gilmore when they play Joe Pirrone's Major and Minor League All-Strs in a doubleheader. It is ladies day at the park, the fair sex only hvaing to pay tax to get in the park.

All-Stars lineup includes Orsatti cf; Berkowitz, 2b; Barton, 1b; Storti, rf; Kress, ss; French, lf; Wilson, 3b; Lorenz, c; and Hansmann, p.

Dance Master's Prize Pupils Please Large Gathering

"Patriotic Memories in Rhythm", featuring Malcolm Nash and his pupils, was presented Friday evening by the Five and Over Charity Club, active organization that has given the community many treats in recent months, at Patrioic Hall, 1816 S. Figueroa.

Boasting one of the most impressive Patron's lists of the season, the affair was widely supported by Los Angeles's fraternal, professional and civic leaders.

Guests artists of the evening included Ernestine Jones-Wade, currently working on "Gone With the Wind" in Hollywood; Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew and Mayola Adams, studio accompanist.

First number on the program was a group effort featuring Gloria Alexander, Ursula Hirshwitz, Felicidad Velarde, Carmelita VeLarde, Allen Brown, Alfred Walker, Aldon Brown, and Robert Walker.

Elena Beattie, a charming young performer, next rendered "Darktown Strutter's Ball," employing an unfortunately outmoded "minstrel" technique.

Carlos Flores, a youthful Mexican boy, sang "Sunshine of Your Smile." He has a pleasant and promising voice, suffering slightly at the moment from adolescence.

Cerressa McGruder danced Samuel Coleridge Taylor's "Juba Dance" with grace and feeling.

Ernestine Jones-Wades's rendition of "My Hero" (Chocolate Soldier) was a highlight of the evening, as was Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew's recitation "Black Boys in Khaiki," and original composition. An impressive note was added when Five and Over Charity club members gathered on the stage as Mrs. Wade sang "My Buddy" from behind the scene. It was very effective.

Stranded in Los Angeles, penniless and ill, the family of Frank Harris, 431 E. 55th street, today broadcast an appeal thru the California Eagle for aid.

Harris, head of a family of four, told the EAGLE that he had been out of work for two months. Because he and his family came here from Seattle only four months ago, they are ineligible for relief. Harris said his appeals had been turned down at all organized charity offices to which he applied.

The man said he would be willing to do any kind of work to support himself, his wife and two children, a boy 11-years old and a girl 6.

So, this is the summation of eries Bellinger: beneficient ant, a political boss who reed to forget the people who re the source of his strength. Unscrupulous? Perhaps. Unmocratic? Certainly. Vicious?

Bellinger was a product of time, fighting his way to the building a mansion in the dst of the most exclusive ite residential district, fightto stay at the top, building fluence for his oppressed peo-ple,—a strange paradox of a man that only America could produce.

This so-called "Negro gambler" is as typical of America as Andrew Jackson, Teddy Roosevelt, Babe Ruth, Charles Lindbergh—all the legion of bizarre characters that comprise our national folk-lore. All of these people fought to realize a stupendous ambition—some of them occasionally winked at the Rule Book—but the story of each is vitally and significantly American. They are part and parcel of the restless culture that has developed out of the blistering, unpredictable saga of this nation.

Barnum and Bellinger, Lindbergh and Lincoln, white man and black man, tramp and millionaire: together they are the Soul of America.

Bellinger was as symbolic a figure in American politics as old Commodore Vanderbilt was in the nation's railroad world, —and both used methods just about identical.

When American history glances backward at its roster of capitalistic pirates, it does so with understanding, with the knowledge that these vital men were products of their day and age, that, whatever their follies, they were milestones in the development of our country.

And so, by the same token, is Charles Bellinger great — because he too was a milestone in his country's development.

But already the relentless machinery of our national preconception of the Negro has started to function. Already we are seeing him through the discolored eyes of a movie-patron accustomed to Stepin Fetchit, or a reader weaned on "Uncle Tom's Cabin", and, more recently, "Gone With the Wind".

Not more than two years after his death, the memory of a vigorous, brilliant man is fading away, and we can hear only Mayor Maverick repeating . . . "a carnival man . . . a racketeer . . . a Negro gambler . . . "

3 OF 4 SUICIDE TRIES CAUSED BY DESPONDENCY

THREE EASTSIDERS, ONE TRANSIENT TRY TO END LIVES BY GAS, POISON

Young Woman from Beaumont, Texas Takes Poison While Attending Dance

Despondency was given by police this week as responsible for three of four attempts at suicide on the Eastside the past several days.

Fred Sanford, 24-year old porter living at 1281½ E. 50th street, locked himself in his car and turned on the motor with the hope that fumes from the engine would give him a quick and painless death early Saturday afternoon.

His wife, Mrs. Elsie Sanford, told radio officers H. A. Toland and J. J. Steffens that Sanford had been drinking and drove the family car on the lot. She discovered him a short time later slumped over in the seat with the motor running and all the windows and doors closed. Breaking open a window, she turned the motor off and notified police.

Newton street ambulance attendants treated Sanford and pronounced him out of danger. He told police he was despondent over loss of his mother and because of domestic troubles.

Attending a dance at 4016 S. Central avenue early Sunday morning, Miss Kallie Coleman, of Beaumont, Texas, became despondent and drank an unknown and undetermined amount of poison in an effort to take her own life.

TIRED OF LIVING

Listed as a transient in police records because she was without work and a residence, the 27-year old woman had just arrived here and took the poison in the ladies' restroom. Her act was discovered by Mrs. I. Norwood, matron of the building, who notified police.

Miss Coleman told Officers C. W. Smith and B. Ayers that she was "tired of living." Taken to Georgia Street Receiving hospital, her condition is reported as not serious.

Separated from her husband for the past two months, Mrs. Caroline Wakefield, 1144 E. 49th street, became despondent Saturday afternoon and drank a small portion of iodine in an attempt to commit suicide.

Officers E. L. Conway and C. S. Broady, who investigated the attempted suicide, reported that Mrs. Wakefield was treated at home by the Newton ambulance, her condition not being serious.

Julius Johnigan, 3212½ Compton avenue, told Officers C. S. Broady and E. L. Conway Sunday afternoon of the attempted suicide of Mrs. Phyllis Bridgeman, 20, of 4416½ Morgan avenue, who, according to Johnigan, had been drinking with her husband and went into the bathroom and drank a small amount of iodine.

COMPANY FRONT . . .

By JAMES C. TRUITT

This column is dedicated not only to the memories of our association in the World War but that we may inculcate a sense of individual obligation to our community, state and nation. That the Veterans, their families and dependents and the general public may look forward to find the news of interest concerning the various Veterans' organizations.

The Benjamin J. Bowie Post No. 228, American Legion, adopted another resolution that bears watching. They have petitioned the traffic engineer of Los Angeles to complete the work started over a year ago on the traffic signal at 43rd Place and Central avenue. Have you tried crossing at this point?

At the joint meeting held to install the new officers for the Legion year, the Sons of the Legion, Squadron No. 228, were presented with the beautiful gold Louis A. Morgan trophy as champions of track and field of the State of California. Charles Davis, Ivan and Norman Houston Jr., are to be commended for their splendid performances in their many hard fought battles. Many were the proud paps, and rightly so, when Past Commander Comrade A. D. Watson gave the new officers their commissions and impressed them with their responsibilities. We are very proud of this squadron and if they will continue in the work that they have started, this community will be greatly benefited for their having been here.

The parade Saturday was the greatest and the best held on any Armistice Day and the Benjamin J. Bowie Post No. 228, American Legion presented a marvelous spectacle in their gold and blue uniforms with their snappy jazz drum and bugle corps. This unit was given the second place prize which is very worthy, considering the large number of participants. Did you notice that the position of honor, that of color guard was held by this post? The 23rd district has appointed this unit as official color guard which is a great step toward our utopia, Democracy. Comrade J. Howard Scott, Benjamin J. Bowie Post, has been elected District Sergeant at Arms and it is rather gratifying to see him escort the various visitors to the platform. The club house of this post has taken on a more dignified atmosphere now that the executive committee and the board of governors have appointed a club house committe who are solely responsible. The one and only, Past Commander Comrade George Burleson is chairman ably assisted by Comrades Adjutant Ford White and Finance Officer H. H. Haywood. George has a plan in store for all Veterans that will mean a lifetime Golden membership in the American Legion.

Members of the 23rd District are invited by the Department Service officer, Don. Claffin and the 23rd District Service officer, Dr. L. A. Hammer, to make a tour of the Veterans' Facilities at Sawtelle, from the administration building to the Hospital. This is promised to be very interesting and educational and will be held Thursday, Nov. 16th, at 7:00 P. M., which will permit the Veteran to see just how his claim for compensation is handled and why it takes so very long.

The American Legion was not only formed that we should remember our association in the World War, but that we may be of service to our comrades, their families and dependents, the community ,State and Nation. It is a mandate of the national body that we attend to our own comrades first. Now this does not mean that because a Veteran was once a member of the American Legion and permitted his membership to become delinquent that he will forever be intitled to the privileges of this organization. It does mean that he must be a paid up member in order to qualify for all of the benefits and privileges accorded a Legionnaire. The dues of this organization are small and should be considerad as good insurance, and the wives of all eVterans should see to it that friend husband is a paid up member in some Veterans' organization.

There are many Veterans who have not applied for their adjusted compensation (Bonus) and this is a reminder that December 31, 1939, is the dead line.

The Benjamin J. Bowie Post paid its quarterly church visitation day to the Phillips Temple A. M. E. Church at 43rd and Wadsworth last Sunday and presented a very inspiring program. Your service officer sort of reminded those present of their obligation and responsibilities of being a Legionnaire.

Comrade Knoble Willis, Franklin Dennison Post No. 3058, Toledo, Ohio, is here to stay. He is operating a Cleaning and Pressing establishment on the avenue.

In order to swell the fund for the service department of the Benjamin J. Bowie Post members are collecting all newspapers and rags that their many friends have to offer. This is a non-profit, charitable effort that we hope the entire community will assist. Please Phone your orders to have these articles picked up. ADams 5445.

ODDITIES

Do you know that there are four Companies Quartermaster Corps, colored, stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington?

That a cavalryman never looks his horse in the eyes when he wants him to do something?

That it never rains in the army?

That it is better for every man to perish in battle than for a regiment to lose its colors?

Says Maritime Workers Join in 'Yanks Are Not Coming'

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16,—"Negro maritime workers have joined in our declaration that "The Yanks Are Not Coming" to help Britain and France keep their colonies or save Hitler from the wrath of the German people," said Revels Cayton on release of several thousand copies of a new pamphlet, 'The Yanks Are Not Coming", for distribution among seamen and unionists in Gulf and East Coast Ports.

Cayton voices the sentiment of thousands of Negroes in the West Coast Labor movement, as well as speaking officially for the 25,000 maritime unionists in the San Francisco Bay Area. Under his direction as secretary-treasurer of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific, District Council No. 2, the unions recently published 25,000 copies of the pamphlet which discusses the issues of the European war and calls for popular organized action to prevent United States involvement in the conflict.

"This pamphlet should be of special interest to all Negro longshoremen and sea unionists, as well as to the Negro people generally," he commented. "It is the common man's explanation of why he doesn't want to fight in a war that can bring him nothing but misery, poverty and death."

Cayton cited the opinion of Paul Robeson, eminent Negro actor, as proof of his view that leading Negroes in the United States were opposed to the war. In a press interview last week Robeson told newsmen that his personal experiences in British colonies had convinced him that the serfdom of the Negro people will continue regardless of which side wins.

"Robeson thought it better for Negroes to join with the forces fighting for peace because peace would strengthen the whole struggle for Negro freedom," said Cayton, "He's right. The common people are right."

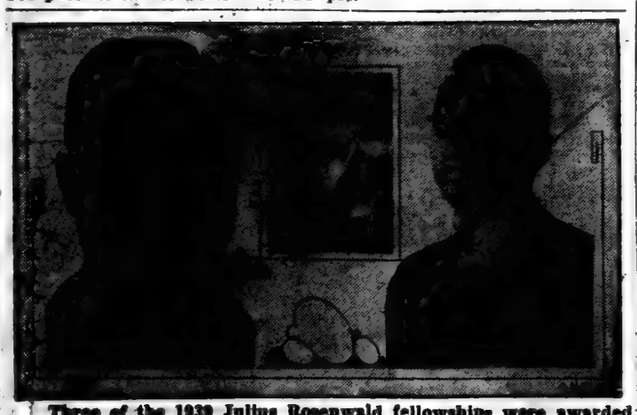
Good Time to Buy Home--Maulhardt

"With the threat of an expensive economic experiment removed by California voters at the recent election, building material and labor cost tending upwards, realty prices firming, and interest rates at rock bottom levels, all indications points to the present as a good time to buy or build a home."

This is the opinion of J. G. Maulhardt, vice president and head of Market and Produce office of California Bank.

"While no sudden upsurge in building material costs has taken place or is anticipated, wholesale building material prices as measured by the Department of Labor index have been rising slowly but steadily since early last August," Maulhardt said.



RETURNS TO PULPIT

Sunday night, the pastor will speak on "Samson Slips," and there will be used screen pictures to illustrate the sermon. Song service is from 7:30 to 8 p. m. to which all are invited.

Sorority Inaugurates National Project During Book Week

Delta Sigma Theta sorority is observing Book Week from Nov. 12-18, with the inauguration of its National Project, the "Bookmobile." This novel innovation establishes a complete travelling library in the State of North Carolina. Through the service, Deltas will aid some of the 1,744,-960 persons in the State who are entirely without public facilities. The juvenile population will be reached at school stops, and the adults will be served at designated county centers.

The project will be financed entirely by the 70,000 Deltas thruout the nation who will work later towards providing State aid for these underprivileged people.

TESTED RECIPE

By Frances Lee Barton

"MAKE your head save your heels" — how many times I've heard my grandmother say that. An old-fashioned expression, but a fine motto for busy housewives in hot summer weather. For instance, a cooky tin full of Coconut Fruit Rocks will solve at least three domestic problems during the week — a nourishing sweet to pack in the hiker's lunch box — something to serve with a cold drink to porch guests — something to round out a simple fruit dessert for dinner.

Coconut Fruit Rocks

1 cup currants; 1 cup raisins; ½ cup water; 2½ cups sifted flour; 2¾ teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 cup butter or other shortening; 2 cups sugar; 2 eggs, unbeaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1 cup shredded coconut.

Add currants and raisins to water in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water, cover, and cook 20 minutes. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each; then hot fruit mixture and remaining flour, stirring thoroughly after each addition. Add coconut. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 10 to 12 minutes, or until done. Makes 6 dozen cookies.

POINTS

BY M. L. MILLIGAN

Bridge, as I have often said, is the most fascinating card game yet devised. Yet so many players make it a miserable pastime, with their petty jealousies, and one track minds. That is because: Most of us refuse to adhere to the spirit of the game, the fundamental principles of which are good sportsmanohip.

This hand was held last week by a very prominent contract player—who professes to play the Culbertson system. S. K9XX, H. QXX, D. AQX, C. KX10X and passed. His partner opened the bid with one spade, he immediately raised it to three and the contract died at our odd. They made a little slam. The the question arose as to why they did not bid it. It would have been necessary for this player after passing suih a hand to go across the table and tell his partner that he held such a perfect distribution with three honor-tricks after dealing and passing. This player welched on a bet that he did not have a biddable card in his hand in the presence of some of the city's best players, who could not contradict his assertions. Any three card minor suit headed by AXX, KXX or Q10X is biddable if the hand contains three minor tricks and without a safe rebid in either of the majors, and insufficient H-T's to bid no-trumps.

The most unusual hand of the week submitted by Mrs. Joe Henry.

Charm is a distinctive quality which every woman aims to possess. The three factors of charm are a pleasing personality, a type of individuality, and physical competence.

"Personality" is that intangible quality which every customer expects to be brought out by a visit to "her beautician" because every customer realizes the personal appearance is a vital element to success in the business and social world and in the expression of personality.

"Individuality"—What a thrill of satisfaction when a woman is placed on the highest pinnacle of esteem when she is termed individual. The expert beautician is constantly striving to impress her customer with the fact that her service is designed for the individual—that intangible "something" which will set her patron apart from commonplace.

Physical Competence—the art of being well-groomed, yet not conspicuously so To be so one must keep pace with fashions, the art of makeup, and the proper hairstyles. This, however, is not all that constitutes physical competence. One must also have the ability of selecting the best creation for her own type.

When a woman possesses a pleasing personality, a type of individuality, and physical competence, she is the acme of feminine charm.

For appointment, call THE BRONZE STUDIO OF BEAUTY, at 4612 S. Central avenue, telephone, CE-27812. —Adv.

LARY Service to School Kiddies Told

Generally declared to be one of the greatest single adjuncts to the education system of the City, the Los Angeles Railway this week reported that it furnishes transportation to and from school for many thousands of students—more than half a million rides every month.

Commenting upon figure, P. B. Harris, Los Angeles Railway President, said that the company is highly gratified by the continued success of school transportation.

"We have performed this service for many years," Harris said, "and it has become increasingly popular. School children ride for one-half of the regular fare. It is purely a convenience service and we have received many letters from parents and even some from children, themselves, thanking us for taking care of their major problem of safe school transportation."

Harris added that, while mass transportation at so low a figure represented plenty of headaches for railway officials, he did not believe that there would ever be any curtailment in the service.

TO BE in the swing of things this season, you've got to have some sort of draping on your dress, whether it be in the back, front or sides. The model on the left is a simple affair with draping at the side and also at the unusual neckline, with a bow at each. Note how the fullness of the skirt falls naturally from the bow. This is particularly effective in a light wool or rayon crepe. This coat is just the thing for that new wasp-waist figure. Note the extreme simplicity of the design, accentuated only by a striking short cape-effect of carracul (or your favorite fur), and a big ornamental buckle at the waist. The skirt is plenty full, allowing for freedom, at the same time giving a swagger dash to milady.

There will be a trial scene in which Youth will indict adults for neglecting them in their spiritual, intellectual and economic advancement. There will be presentations by attorneys for the plaintiff and for the defense. Judges in this enactment will be Attorneys Clarence Jones, Thomas Griffith and Lloyd Griffith.

THRONG EXPECTED

Anticipating the large number that will attend these meetings, the local committee has made arrangements for the meetings Friday and Saturday to be held in the First Baptist church. Sunday's meetings will be held in the High school building.

One of the impressive meetings of the session is the six o'clock prayer and communion service. The meeting will close with the Coronation sermon preached by the President of the Western Baptist State Convention, Rev. C. H. Hampton.

Mrs. Marie Sheffield and Mr. W. A. Payne, presidents of the State Sunday School and State BYPU Conventions, respectively, will preside alternately.

This Sunday, the Anniversary services of the Peoples' United Church of Christ, 105th street and Wilmington avenue, will be held. At 11:00 a. m., sermon by the pastor and special music by the choir will be heard.

Rev. Clayton D. Russell, choir and congregation from the People's Independent Church will be guests at 3:00 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend these services. Rev. T. F. Jones is pastor.

Large crowds filled Wesley Methodist church at all services last Sunday. Dr. W. C. Buckner, district superintendent of Los Angeles, was the preacher at the morning worship. Dr. Buckner interested his audience with a sermon on "Something Real In An Uncertain World." Evening service was a musical appreciation service under the sponsorship of the Senior Choir, directed by Prof. Norton E. Dennis, Choirmaster. The variety of music rendered by the choir and the address of Prof. Dennis on the "Evolution of Music" were well received.

Sunday, at the morning worship, Dr. Rakestraw will speak from the subject "Seeking and Finding." The evening service will be in charge of the Women's Progressive club. The club will celebrate their third anniversary. Main feature of the program will be a Biblical drama entitled "Lydia, the Seller of Purple."

At Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, Vernon and Hooper avenues, Rev. E. E. Lightner, pastor, will fill the pulpit at both hours Sunday, speaking at 11 a. m., on "Adventuring in Religion." At 7:30 p. m., "The First Defeated Candidate" will be the subject of the message. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Frederick, will render special music.

Thursday, Nov. 23, at 11 a. m., Thanksgiving services will be held.

The 27th anniversary of the organization of the church will be observed Nov. 26-Dec. 3, inclusive.

District superintendent Percell paid an official visit to the Sunday School of Grant Chapel AME church last Sunday on the occasion of Cradle Roll Day. Result of the tabulation showed Mrs. Pinkie Wilson still leading the Cradle Roll department of the church.

Rev. S. S. Williams, pastor of the church, preached at both morning and evening services. Charley Brown was guest soloist in the morning. Robert Ronald Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Daniels was baptized at the morning worship.

A guest artist will be presented at the Sunday morning services of the Unity Truth center, 1195 E. 55th street, B. June Cobb, leader, announced today. Lessons in Truth classes are held on Wednesdays from 8 to 9 p. m. Impersonal Life classes are held on Thursdays at 8 p. m., and Healing services are held every Thursday afternoon at 1:30 with Esther, sister of compassion, presiding.

The Great Physician Speaks on Love and Marriage

BY DR. C. ELLIOTT YAEGER

Helen writes that her marriage has gone on the rocks. She has been married 10 years and has two dear little girls. Yet thruout these 10 years, she has been constantly afraid of losing Bob. Now it has happened. Bob is in love with another woman and wants a divorce. Can the Great Physician help her?

A careful analysis of Helen's Chart reveals at once the true cause of her trouble. Reared in a home where all mirth was considered "sinful" and all recreation was regarded as "worldly", her childhood was rather unhappy. (When will people seriously study the life and personality of the Great Physician—the Man who radiated so much sunshine that little children deserted their games to frolic with Him. Why can't they obey His command to "rejoice and be exceedingly glad!" Why won't they learn that he who brings sadness into the heart of a child is "offending" one of His little ones.)

In Helen's case, the influence of her childhood has reacted upon her subconscious mind in such a manner as to cause her to build around herself a wall of coldness and reserve—a wall so thick that Bob's love could not break thru. This is the true cause of her present predicament.

On the other hand, Bob's inner nature craves affection. Helen's coldness baffles him, and this very frustration is the thing that has made him an easy victim of the wiles of the other woman.

FAR FROM HOPELESS

But Helen's case is far from hopeless. If she will obey the prescription of the Great Physician her lost romance will be restored and she and her Bob can become true lovers again. But this prescription has three parts.

1. An honest self-confession. Helen must see herself in her true light. While not condoning Bob's action, the fact remains that Helen's coldness was at least a contributing factor. By her lack of affectionate response she has failed to keep her sacred vow to "love and cherish." A full realization of this will enable her to carry out the second part.

2. True forgiveness. Her heart is filled with bitterness. But now that she knows the truth, her bitterness will give place to understanding. Perhaps she will have to go into her secret closet and there open up the windows of her soul to Infinite love. For as long as bitterness is there, her mind will be clouded and she will not be able to really enter into the spirit of the third and most important part.

3. Recapturing her husband's love. This is not as difficult as it may at first appear. The fact that he tried to live with her under those circumstances for 10 long years, proves that he really wants to do the right thing. But Helen must plan an intelligent campaign—stop criticising her rival—stop nagging—stop talking to Bob about duty. She must work on HERSELF. Make herself sweet and lovable and even more attractive. Study him—find out what he likes—determine to make him so happy with her that the rival won't have a chance. Helen's chart shows that she is not cold by nature, but rather, a victim of false training.

(To receive a Marriage Guidance Chart, so that your problem may be diagnosed and treated, send a dime and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Great Physician, care of The California Eagle, 4075 S. Central avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

'40 Session of SS Congress to San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16. (Special)—This historical city, known as the "Cradle of Texas Liberty," has just been awarded the 1940 session of the Sunday School Congress. The invitation was extended by the churches of this city, under the leadership of the Rev. D. Manning Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist church. Telegraphic information reached here as confirmation of the award, from Rev. Henry Allen Boyd, secretary of the nationwide movement, at Nashville, Tenn.

Award of the Sunday School Congress climaxed a two-year effort on the part of the Baptists of this west Texas town to bring a national meeting here. It will be the 40th annual gathering, and for all these years, Rev. Boyd, a former San Antonian, has served as its secretary, and is known as the Sunday School Wizard and the Religious Dynamo.

Los Angeles Bids Morris Farewell

2,000 Persons Jam Independent Church for A. M. Service

More than 2000 persons jammed Independent Church of Christ Sunday morning, while scores were turned away for lack of standing room, in farewell to Dr. Charles Satchell Morris, II, professor of English and director of publicity at Tennessee State college, Nashville.

Special music by the choir, under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, was a feature of the service. The distinguished speaker was introduced by the Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the church, as one of the most eloquent men of his generation. During his sermon, Dr. Morris pointed out the fundamental contributions of the Christian church to world civilization. To remove, destroy, or surpass the church would mean that men would return to barbarism, according to the Tennessee educator. The work of the church is never done he said and wherever human need exists there the church must minister to the hearts of men.

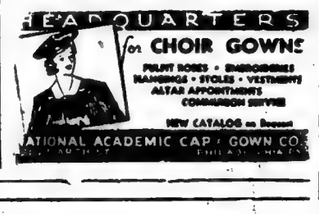
Following 12 weeks' tour thru California, during which he has addressed nearly 100,000 persons, Dr. Morris was heard in his final Los Angeles message Sunday morning.



Dr. Morris left Monday morning for Arizona where he was heard this week before proceeding to San Antonio, Texas, for a Friday engagement. Sunday he will be heard at three meetings at Houston, Texas, sponsored by

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text is from 1 Corinthians: "What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?"

The Lesson-Sermon includes also these passages from Matthew: "And when Jesus departed thence, two blind men followed him, crying, and saying, Thou son of David, have mercy on us. . . . and Jesus saith unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They said unto him, Yea, Lord. Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it unto you. And their eyes were opened." These selections from Mark are also presented: "And they bring unto him one that was deaf, and had an impediment in his speech; . . . And looking up to heaven, he sighed, and saith unto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened. And straightway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plain."

Among the passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, are the statements: "There is more Christianity in seeing and hearing spiritually than materially. . . . The apprehension of this gave sight to the blind and hearing to the deaf centuries ago, and it will repeat the wonder."

This week, opening last Sunday and extending to the next, is being observed at the Twelfth Street Branch YWCA as Week of Prayer and World Fellowship. Each day, YWCA members are devoting time to prayer and meditation in behalf of women and girls of the different countries in the world.

As a culmination to the week, the Religious Education Committee has planned a Vesper Service Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. at the Branch, 1108 E. 12th street. Miss Manila Smith has arranged an interesting program with the following participants: Miss Geraldine Walker, xylophone soloist; Miss Lois Crozier, graduate of the University of Redlands, teacher in the First Baptist church Sunday School and active in the California Youth Legislature will speak on "Christian Fellowship as I see it;" Gilbert Harris, active in the Student Religious Conference of the University of California at Los Angeles, will talk on "A Moral Challenge in times like these." After the program, tea will be served by the Religious Education Committee of which Mrs. J. Cullen Fentress is chairman. Men as well as women are cordially invited to the service.

prominent Baptist clergymen. The following day he will visit Prairie View State College. En route to New York the orator will speak or preach at more than 20 instituttions of higher learing of both races. It is understood that he will return to California next February to make his permanent home in Los Angeles.

Members of the Educational Committee and their friends were greatly inspired at their recent meeting by the able presentation of the "Current European Situation" by Miss Miriam Matthews, librarian of the Vernon Branch. Miss Matthews has compiled a reading list of "Background Books on the Current International Scene" for the members of Educational Committee of the Twelfth St. Branch, which they will be glad to pass on to any members or friends of the Branch interested in this subject.

Mrs. Eva Olson Marcus, member of the Board of Directors of the Los Angeles YWCA, and delegate representing the Business Girls of Southern California at the World's Christian Youth Conference at Amsterdam, was also guest of the Educational Committee and told of her experience at Amsterdam. Mrs. Byron F. Kenner is chairman of the Educational Committee which from time to time invites interested members and friends to their book reviews and special programs. Any womn who wish to be on the mailing list of this committee will be included if they telephone the YWCA, TU-9379.

YWCA NOTES

Mrs. C. D. Frederick, chairman of the Membership Committee, has found time amidst busy days in planning with the city-wide Membership Committee for a Christmas celebration, to serve as major for one of the teams of the Community Chest drive. Mrs. Jessie Colas Grayson, chairman of the Commttee of Management and Mrs. Lloyd C. Griffith are working also in the Drive. Several other Committee of Management members have been active in various ways during the month. Mrs. Ursula Adams is a member of the city-wide Program Reviewing Committee, and is studying with this Committee the recommendations of the National Convention concerning a Standard Association. Mrs. Ethel Atkinson and Mrs. Vertner Gordon have been working with the staff on some of the problems of housing for girls and women.

Business Girls of the Twelfth St. Branch are already making plans for the Mid-Winter Conference of Business and Professional Girls of Southern California which will take place Jan. 6-7, 1940.

Industrial Club members will stop their Christmas gift making to observe Thanksgiving day, Nov. 23, and to meet Mrs. E. Anderson of New York, National Industrial Secretary Nov. 30.

EVENS MATTERS

There were two sisters who a few months ago attended one of the many neighborhood theatres on the Eastside.

They expected, of course, to sit where they pleased but upon entering were told by an usher to sit in a particular section, apparently reserved for members of their race.

They protested and were finally heard by the manager who told them it was all a mistake and that they could sit where they pleased. The usher later made it known to them that he was only following orders.

The other night the theatre scheduled a turkey raffle in connection with the show and one of the sisters won. It was a 10-pound bird and will now decorate her table on Thanksgiving Day.

RANCH APPEAL

A ranch has always been our idea of a swell place to spend the latter days of an active life. To get away from the hubbub of the city and retire to the comparative quiet of chicken and squab raising has a never failing appeal to most "city" people.

Driving out on Ventura Blvd. in the Burbank and Encino area, a motorist sees signs nowadays heralding the fact that land can be had at so much down and so much a month. Very reasonable, too.

Together with these signs are others which claim "this property is fully restricted".

It appears that motion picture people are being tempted to buy ranches in the section.

FIGURES

With football season now on, the crowds are jamming the Memorial Coliseum, says the Accident Prevention Bureau of the Police Dept.

Continuing, "Have you ever seen the Coliseum completely full? Such as the crowd that attended the opening and closing ceremonies of the Olympic games? You know the mob that crowds the huge stadium.

"Suppose you had attended ELEVEN such affairs with similar crowds. The Accident Prevention Bureau of the Los Angeles Police Department reminds us that as many people as you would see at those ELEVEN games, were killed and injured in traffic accidents last year."

The APB has a good point, but we would like to disagree a bit with the statement that crowds are JAMMING the Coliseum. There would be some truth in the statement if lower prices were in effect so that the Coliseum end zones, now empty of a Saturday, might be filled.

GABBY BITS

The tamale is generally considered a Mexican dish and one would think that the Mexican would be a past master at preparing and serving the food. But, the best chili and tamales we have tasted is prepared by the Japanese, in very clean, spick and span surroundings . . . What has become of Les Hite, the orchestra leader? That question was put to us the other night about the time Benny Goodman and his sextet with Lionel Hampton on the xylo- were coming on the air. At the moment we had to say we were not in a position to say. At one time, Lionel was Les' ace drummer man . . . The proofreader on a newspaper really has a big responsibility, bigger than is generally realized. Last week for instance, this newspaper published a story concerning the recital appearance Sunday of Miss Pauline Wilkerson, young soprano. A sentence in the story read: "She is NOT a pupil of Andrea Aragona". The caps are ours. As a matter of fact she IS a pupil of this Gray Conservatory of Music teacher and instead of the word in the sentence being NOT, it should have been NOW. The caps are all ours. The error might well be placed under "slips in the night" . . . Joe Black, the speedy backfield ace at Jefferson High school became a proud papa some weeks ago and now we learn that Ray Bartlett, UCLA end and backfield threat, has dittoed. We hope both youngsters come up as worthy successors to their cleat-wearing paters.

"Highly clever and sentimental efforts will be made to endow one side with wings and halo, and the other with fangs. In recognizing Hitler as a contemptible instrument of powerful financial interests, we mustn't overlook that Chamberlain and Daladier are equally contemptible instruments of the same powers. This is a war of bankers and the people have no stake in it whatsoever. Everything they had to lose was taken from them at the first blast of the bugle." That's an excerpt from "The Yanks Are NOT Coming", published by the Educational committee, District Council No. 2, Maritime Federation of the Pacific.

Judge Bullock Blasts Property Restrictions

Judge Rules Couple May Live in Home

Decision Will Serve to Lift Restrictions on Property in Area

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dedmon may lawfully occupy the home they own at 690 E. 50th street, despite the fact that it was covered by a racial restriction covenant filed in 1927, according to a decision handed down Wednesday by Superior Judge Georgia Bullock.

Judge Bullock had had the case under submission since the termination of a bitterly contested trial last Oct. 6 at which Mr. and Mrs. Dedmon, represented by Attorney Loren Miller, asserted that the restriction covenant was void because of the fact that the racial character of the community in which the home is located had changed materially since 1927.

Facts adduced at the trial trial showed that Mr. Dedmon, a city employe, purchased the home last June and was ordered to move out under a temporary injunction granted by Judge Emmett Wilson. White neighbors showed that all residents of E. 50th street between McKinley avenue and Avalon boulevard signed the restriction agreement in 1927 and that they had successfully resisted all attempts of Negroes to move on the street since that time.

MANY WITNESSES

A long array of witnesses, headed by Mrs. C. A. Bass, EAGLE publisher; Walter L. Gordon, Otis Banks, Porter Mann, and Clarence Tucker, all real estate brokers; Attorney Thomas L. Griffith, president of the local NAACP, and neighbors in the community told Judge Bullock that an ever increasing number of Negroes had moved on all surrounding streets since 1927, and Mr. Dedmon's attorney asserted that such a change made the restriction covenant invalid.

"The practical effect of Judge Bullock's decision will be to invalidate restrictions on all other property on E. 50th street between McKinley avenue and Avalon boulevard," Attorney Miller explained. "We regard the decision as another important milestone in the fight of Negroes to break down un-American restrictions on their right to live in homes they have purchased."

In addition to the claim that changes in the community made the covenant invalid, Mr. Dedmon advanced the theory through his attorney that covenant restrictions are unconstitutional and that neighbors had waived their right to insist on its enforcement by failure to assert their rights in other cases.

Evidence at the trial showed that the Dedmon's property is adjoined in the rear by other property used and occupied by Negroes.

Sketch Subject: VERNON D. MELTON, Engine Inspector.

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

The big Diesel and latest style 3773 engines that pull the passenger and freight trains of the Santa Fe railroad are awe-inspiring when viewed close-up, exterior and interior, and no less inspirational is the work of Vernon D. Melton, 43 year old engine inspector, and the man himself.

Melton is the personification of all the qualities necessary to become a success. He gives one the impression that he would have "made a go" of any kind of work, be it that in which he is now engaged or some other occupation.

Boasting little formal education, Melton is an example of the results accomplished and heights attained when a man loves his work and has the tenacity to stick to it regardless of the accruing sacrifices and hardships.

Born in Palestine, Texas, Melton lived there until he was 13, going as far as the fourth or fifth grade in school. When his family moved to Kingsville, Texas, where few Negroes lived at the time, Melton got a job as messenger and call boy with the Gulf Coast Lines railroad and later went to work in the roundhouse as engine wiper. A little later he was promoted to machinist's helper.

VERNON D. MELTON

"Capable . . ."

COMES TO L. A.

In 1917, Melton went to De Quincy, Louisiana, and got a firing job. The following year he was back in Kingsville in the roundhouse as a helper.

Leaving the Lone Star state and coming to Los Angeles in 1920, Melton went to work at the Santa Fe roundhouse as machinist's helper. He came to this city August 29 and on September 1 he was working. A promotion to machinist followed two years later and he was immediately assigned the job of inspecting locomotives, the position he now holds and expects to hold until he retires.

Asked what is the work of an engine inspector, Melton replied, "My job is to look for loose and broken parts, watch many different parts for limit of wear and report all defects. I make out reports on Federal forms of each engine I inspect, usually around 12 a day".

COMMANDS RESPECT

Just how well Melton has done his work at the Santa Fe roundhouse out on East Washington boulevard is shown in the respect and admiration he commands from his fellow-workers and foremen.

W. J. Bushard, division foreman; N. O. Nystrom, general roundup foreman; Ben Kilmer, roundup foreman; and Glen Lewis, in charge of Diesels, had nothing but praise of the worth and cooperative spirit of this lone Negro engine inspector when we visited the roundhouse.

The February issue of The Santa Fe Magazine has this, in part, to say of Melton: "Young Melton (in 1920) kept his eyes open and learned a lot . . . As an engine inspector, Vernon Melton is always dependable, which means the prevention of possible accidents and locomotive failures—a whole lot in the railroad game".

Married and the father of a 15-year old boy, Melton, who is an Elk and a member of the Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, is an ardent booster of the young man. Just recently, he was successful in having a young man, the first Negro to be hired in the past three years, placed at the roundhouse.

Death Closes Career of Wm. Powell

A colorful career, built about the famous cuisine of the Southland, was brought to a close with the burial here last Monday of William S. Powell, 89, chef in the days of the "Robert E. Lee," the "Natchez," and the almost legendary riverboats of the Mississippi.

Resident here for the past five years, Powell died Nov. 7 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alice Powell Hunter. He is survived, in addition, by his wife, Mrs. Alice Powell, three sons: Winston T. of Seattle. Byron of Mississippi, Mark of Alabama, grandchildren and other relatives.

Almost a nonogenarian, the aged chef was born in Clinton, Miss., in 1850, would have been 90 Dec. 22. His life, a document of stability, he and his wife had been married 60 years.

From the time of its opening to 1934 when he became ill, Powell was employed as chef at the Veterans' hospital at Tuskegee, Alabama.

New Breed of Goat May Replace Cow

Early Experiments Indicate Goat Will Produce 6 Quarts

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE (Ala.) Nov. 16— A new breed of goat, intended to take the place of the cow as a milk-producer for the poor farmer with little pasture, is in the process of evolution at Tuskegee Institute.

Livestock research directors crossed a highly bred sire, an imported Saanon with a yard-long pedigree, with scrubby Alabama nanny goats, in the hope of getting animals that could fend for themselves and yet provide sufficient milk for average rural families.

Early stages of the experiment indicate a goat that will produce three to six quarts of milk daily ten months of the year, in contrast to about a pint daily the ordinary goat gives only in the suckling period.

Tuskegee has about thirty-three female offspring, some of them distributed with rural families in Alabama and Georgia, and others kept in the institute's pasture. Production of all is checked daily.

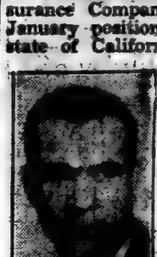
C. M. Biddle of New York City provided funds for the experiment.

Tuskegee staff members said the goat they expect to evolve will require practically no care or purchased feed.

"It's no fable that goats will eat almost anything," said E. M. Booth, who is directing the experiment. "Briars, brambles, honeysuckle vines, paper—it's all fodder for a goat.

"Where cows require pastureland, winter feeding and constant care, goats need practically no attention and can take care of themselves in almost any kind of country. There's little if any feed cost in winter. And finally, goats milk is more nutritious, virtually free of disease and brings a higher price (about 40 cents a quart) commercially."

But Mr. Booth declined to be too optimistic.



"Wait until the fourth generation," he suggested.

As to the taste, Mr. Booth notes little difference.

"I drink it myself," he said. "The families where our goats are farmed out drink it. We haven't had to persuade anybody so far."

Golden State Mutual Leads California in National Drive

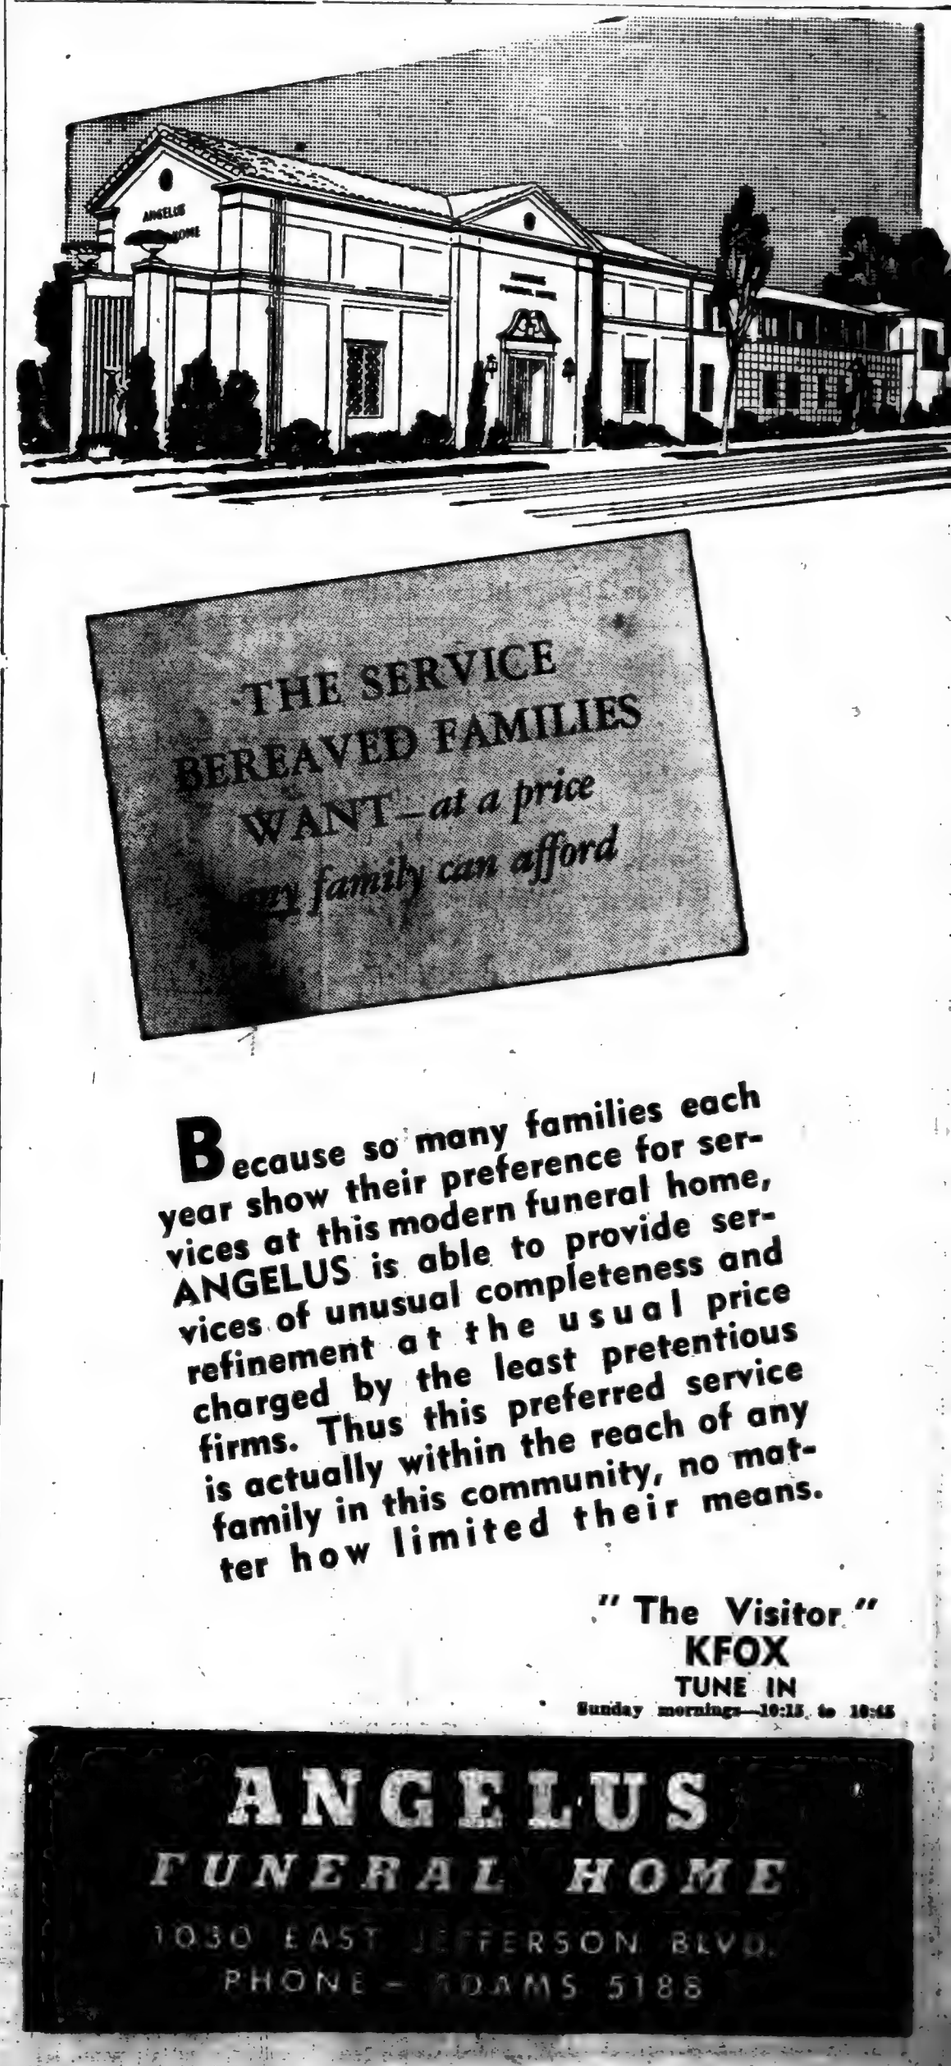
Qualifying thirty men in the October 13 Black Cat Day drive sponsored by the National Accident and Health Association, Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company duplicates its January position by leading the state of California and winning fifth place in the nation. The record was reported in the November edition of the Accident & Health Review, official organ of the Association.

M. W. Alleyne

A total of 497 men in the United States and the British West Indies qualified in the drive for membership in the Black Cat Club which requires that each write at least thirteen applications for Accident and Health insurance on Friday, 13. Thirteen men made the grade for the sixth consecutive time and two Golden State Mutual agents were among them.

Milton W. Alleyne who, despite his duties as a field superintendent during the last two years, kept his own unbroken record, and spurred seven men on his staff in the Los Angeles District to meet the 'Hoodoo' requirement. Roy B. Simpson of Oakland, California also won the coveted certificate for the sixth consecutive time.

The record of E. B. Simpson the Company was cited as unusually good with two Hoodoo Days in one year and the all-time national total showed 1,0... men winning certificates during 1939. Golden State Mutual, according to available information is the only Negro company in the country which participates in the national drvie. It is the only Negro company operating in the state of California. The Company recently entered its second year in the state of Illinois.



Bunche Report Will Not Be Made Public, Frank States

BALTIMORE Nov. 16—What Dr. Ralph Bunche of Howard university, told the Republican Program committee, of ways and means of returning the Negro vote to the Party, in his much-discussed report, may never become public information.

This week, in reply to a query by a local newspaper of Dr. Glenn Frank, chairman of the committee with headquarters in Chicago, it became known that Dr. Bunche's survey, like several others, is for the sole use of Party leaders and will not be printed.

Dr. Bunche produced a remarkably comprehensive study which, in quality and grasp, has not been excelled by any other study made under the auspices of the committee," Dr. Frank told the newspaper.

"There was never any intention of publishing these special studies, although there is no particular reason why they should not be, except that they express the judgement of their individual authors, not the judgement of the committee."

MMENDABLE SPIRIT

The college football ace invariably asks himself the question, "After college what?"

Performing on the nation's grids Saturday afSaturday for one, two, three years, the great col- pigskinner packs the spectators into the bowls, liums and ordinary stands. As a rule, said specrs seldom give a thought to whether or not the ge star has a good job waiting for him after he pletes his work. Or for that matter, whether or said ace is in a position to stay in school and plete his education.

The college star, therefore, is invariably sport-'s forgotten man.

Not so, thank goodness, in Los Angeles, as of week, for a group of business, professional and leaders have banded themselves together to do ething for the gridiron greats of this city.

They began their laudable program last Thursnight with a banquet for six University of Calia at Los Angeles athletes and their coaches told them in effect that they wanted to be of stance to them, possibly to these lads great sure.

It is a generally admitted fact that the pres- of the Washingtons, Strodes, Robinsons, Bart-, Wynnes, Bradleys, et al on the UCLA campus done more to make the road of the Negro ath- easier to travel than a thousand sermons, pronations or treatises. They play two or three rs of a Saturday afternoon and sportsmanship fair play take the driver's seat for a long, long e.

It is to the credit of these interested citizens— l R. Williams, John L. Hill, Norman O. Houston, F. R. Whiteman, Frank Harvey and Rev. Clay- D. Russell—that they have undertaken a work t undoubtedly merits the support of the citizenf Los Angeles.

Because of the fact that there will be more nys, Woodrows, etc., the group may find itself pelled to become a permanent one and fill a big ce on L. A.'s "must" agenda.

FFERSON MAKES HISTORY

The football Democrats of Jefferson High ool have just about sewed up the Southern league mpionship bunting for 1939, something they ven't done before in the 21-year history of the ool.

And, believe it or not, the starting eleven sts eight sepians. Two Mexicans and an Italian nd out the varsity. On top of that, the team's h-scoring aces are all Negro.

All of this, may or may not, mean anything to average sports fan but to those who keep up h such things it is being attributed to the high ndard of play as set up by Washington and ode at UCLA.

Tom Pollard and Joe Black, the powerful De-' touchdown duo are both slated to finish the tside institution this year. On good authority, wever, we learn that the team will be just as formble, if not more so, next season with practically of this year's lettermen scheduled to return.

A blockpasser, line smasher, tackler and open field runr par excellence for three years there is little this od-natured and serious-minded lad can't do and he makes the grade he'll be UCLA's first Allnerican. Johnny Ryland, the great center who aduated last year, has been the school's nearest proach to that distinction. Ben Persons, UCLA's a., lauded Kenny's level-headedness the other ght when he said that he is convinced that no nount of favorable publicity, however great, would fect the demeanor of this young man . . . Speakg of booms, the drums continue to beat for the egro's entrance into the major leagues. If there any doubt as to whether or not sepians can play e national pastime on a par with any of the curnt crop of major leaguers hie out to Gilmore field e weekend and be convinced . . . Henry Woods and Garrison Top Next Week's Boxing Bill

Richard Polite, known in fistic circles as "Young" Polite, administered a comparative quick technical knockout to veteran Gene Espinosa at the Olympic Tuesday night.

The veteran Espinosa hit the canvas three times from the New Arleans boy's two-fisted attack. Referee Benny Whitman stopped it on the third time which was in the fourth round.

Polite tipped the Fairbanks at 129½ and Espinosa came in at 128.

The prelims were all fast. Ulysses Harris, 140, kayoed Chico Romo, 138½ in the first canto of the semi-windup. Johnny Gardia and Serio Mendoza fought a draw; Tony Numkuna lost to Jimmy Liddell; John Grady T. K. UCLA GRID STARS AND COACHES ENTERTAINED BY BUSINESS LEADERS

Unprecedented Affair Given to Show Appreciation for Work of Boys, Coaches

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Effectively bridging the breach between school — its varied activities and high hopes and ambitions — and the world of reality, seven local business, professional and civic leaders were hosts last Thursday evening to six University of California at Los Angeles athletes and two of their coaches at an unprecedented get-together banquet.

"We have arranged this affair," stated toastmaster Paul R. Williams, "in order that we may show our appreciation to coaches "Babe" Horrell and Jim Blewett for their work at UCLA and to these boys, Kenny Washington, Woodrow Strode, Jackie Robinson, Ray Bartlett, Johnny Wynne and Tom Bradley, for what they are doing on the athletic field and in the school room.

"We want these boys to know that we are not only interested in their current achievements but want them to know that when they shall have completed their stay at the university we are prepared to offer encouragement and assistance, financial and moral, in seeing that they get off on the right foot in pursuing their life's work," the famous architect concluded as he outlined the purpose behind the gathering.

Preceding Mr. Williams' remarks, he played a recording of a football sermon delivered the previous Sunday by the Rev. Clayton D. Russell, young pastor of the People's Independent Church of Christ.

NO IDLE TALK

As if to prove his was no idle talk, toastmaster Williams pointed to Norman O. Houston, secretary-treasurer of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company; J. L. Hill, manager of the Angelus Funeral Home; L. G. Robinson, county official and president of the Angelus; Rev. Russell, Dr. F. R. Whiteman, and Frank Harvey of Harvey Bros.' Sand and Gravel company.

A sporting gesture of the highest type, several of the guests and athletes prepared for what was to follow by indulging in a bit of badminton and ping pong on the spacious lawn in the rear of Mr. Williams' home on West 35th street before sitting down in the Pine House to one of caterer Roy L. Loggins' delicious and thoroughly palatable dinners.

Steaks and venison were suited to the he-man appetites of the athletes, most of whom had just finished practice sessions out on the Westwood field in preparation for the game next Saturday between the Bruins and the Santa Clara Broncos. Just as it suited the appetite of the athlete, so did the food satisfy the gastronomical urge of the hosts, sports writers and other guests in attendance.

Spellbinders all, to use the expression of Guy Harris of the university's Y. M. C. A., Messrs. Houston, Robinson, Russell and Whiteman, reiterated in effect what toastmaster Williams said in his opening remarks.

COACHES SPEAK

Speakers among the guests included Dr. Charles Satchell Morris, professor of English and director of publicity at Tennessee State college, Nashville; Herman Hill of the sports writing fraternity, Mr. Harris, and Ben Persons, UCLA director of publicity.

Coaches Horrell and Blewett both spoke, lauding the spirit and praising the ability of the UCLA stars present, and expressed the hope that all of them would complete their courses of study, for as Horrell said, only about six per cent of the athletes, otherwise eligible, are able to come up to U. C. L. A.'s scholastic requirements.

The Bruin's great backfield star, Kenny Washington, who incidentally is a candidate for the 1939 All-American, spoke for his mates.

"There is so much to be said I hardly know where to begin but I am certain I express the sentiments of the rest of the fellows when I say that we certainly appreciate this manifestation of interest in us. We want action and the opportunity to 'put our foot in the door'. We will do the rest," Kenny stated.

Guests, other than those named heretofore, were Melvin Nickerson, Leon H. Washington, John Riddle and the writer. Ray Richards, UCLA line coach, and Bill Ackerman, graduate manager, were unable to be present because of other duties.

SPEEDY TOM POLLARD PACES JEFF VICTORY; SCORES 3 TOUCHDOWNS

Jefferson Fullback's Scintillating 69-Yard Run Features Eastsiders Win

Tom Pollard, speedy Jefferson High School fullback, cinched his claims to an All-City berth and at the same time led his Democrat teammates to an easy 32 to 0 victory last Friday afternoon over the Manual Arts Toilers on the latter's field to clinch the Southern league football championship.

Responsible for three touchdowns himself, Pollard, who is also a track ace, broke away on a scintillating 69-yard run in the second period for a touchdown. It was the longest and most dazzling bit of ball-carrying of the day.

Expected to feature a duel between Pollard and Leon "Mickey" McCardle, Toiler ace, the game developed into a one-man deluge with Pollard being the one-man. McCardle was injured early in the third period and had to retire from the game.

TOUCHDOWN PARADE

The touchdown parade began just five minutes after the opening kickoff. Mario Mendez, Democrat quarterback, recovered a fumble on the Toiler 35 and a few plays later, Pollard went over from the two-yard stripe. Try for extra point on a pass, Morgan to Cook failed.

Mel Woods, Jeff guard, recovered another fumble in the second period and shortly afterwards Pollard broke away on his touchdown jaunt of 69 yards. Morgan's place kilck was good.

Later in the same stanza, Sam Matlock, Jefferson's right half, completed an 18-yard pass to end Leroy Beavers for the third tally. Morgan again converted.

STIFF PENALTIES

The Democrat's touchdown march wasted little time in getting underway in the third quarter. Pollard boomed over his own right guard from Manual's 22, cut back and was over for six points. When Morgan intercepted a pass a minute later and Jefferson had the ball deep in Toiler territory, Matlock hit tackle for 10 yards and the last Jefferson score.

The game was marked by several stiff penalties against Jefferson in its latter stages as the officials noted evidences of unnecessary roughness. The Eastside high school's play was characterized by hard running and vicious tackling all the way through.

BRUIN ACE BIG ? MARK AS UCLA PREPARES FOR SANTA CLARA BRONCS

Washington to Assume Brunt of Bruin Attack; UCLA Enters Contest Underdogs

With Jackie Robinson still limping from a scrimmage injury suffered two weeks ago, UCLA's undefeated Bruins are being quoted as underdogs in their football engagement Saturday afternoon at Memorial Coliseum with Santa Clara.

Coach "Babe" Horrell and trainer Mike Chambers, recovered from his recent siege of illness, are withholding word on whether or not Robinson will be hale to play until today.

In the meantime, Ray Bartlett, who substituted for Robinson at the right halfback spot against California, is being kept at the post nd has been reported as looking good in practice sessions

Yet Bartlett is no Jackie Robinson and neither is co-captain Bucky Gilmore, who will get first call at the rgiht halfback job with Robinson a doubtful quantity. Therefore, it appears that the brunt of the Bruin offensive will fall on the All-American shoulders of Kenny Washington.

Coach Buck Shaw's bucking broncs are reported to be planning an offensive game featuring running plays with speedy

Loyola Lions Set for San Jose State

Lions Underdogs in Betting, But Have Psychological Edge

For the first time since the opening of the season Coach Mike Pecarovich's Loyola Lions will be "all present" for a ball game. This is the report today of gridiron officials who counted noses and reported that the return of Earl "Eel" Elsey puts the Lions at full strength for the San Jose State battle at Gilmore Stadium this Friday night.

While there have been occasions in the past when the entire squad(with the exception, of course, of Burch Donahue who is out for the season) have watched play from the bench, injuries have kept them out of the mix-up. This week, every man on the squad will be ready to clash with the undefeated club which boasts the combined football thinking power of coaches "Pop" Warner and "Dud" DeGroot.

The Lions enter this final night game of the 1939 season as Gilmore under-cubs in the betting, but gridiron psychology gives them a decided advantage over the Staters who have nothing but success to look back on.

by bill smallwood

EDITOR'S NOTE: Within the next month or less two or three energetic and well-meaning groups of people interested in the drama, with all its many aspects, will again get into productive action in their respective workshops. Last season saw the birth of community dramatics and this ensuing season, we hope, will carry it into a matured and finished effort.

Bill Lawrie, Jr., who last season aided in the direction of the New Negro Theater, is among those who fervently hopes this season will see that matured product. Mr. Lawrie has had extensive training and study in dramatics both in Kansas City and the East. He believes a little theater should and could be fostered here, but definitely minus the usual red tape and hands-in-the-stew confusion He believes too, that we should seek enlightenment as well as entertainment in the Negro theater movement.

Read his formula and see his side.

BY WM. LAWRIE, JR.

It is encouraging to note that as far back as 1795, the American Negro was first presented in the role of Sambo in Murdock's "Triumph of Love." It was the first drama to express abolition sentiment. In 1875 the Negro was included in the characters of "Mulligan Guard" (a play series) as a military group, a cook, a barber, a Captain, and their friends.

Later, music halls and gardens began flourishing, and out of all that array was born the minstrel, one of the most important contributions that we have made to the American, and world-wide theatre. I point out all this to say the Negro playing such an integral part in the American drama makes it only natural that he and he alone should bring about the true understanding of his life through the establishment of a Negro Community Theatre.

Not only will we be giving others a much different picture of ourselves, but we will also be instilling within our community a finer appreciation and a truer understanding of our dramatic offerings. Avenues will open for Negro playwrights, designers, directors, craftsmen and others to enable them to distinguish themselves in all the many phases that encompass drama and the arts.

The people of any community should not only feel it a privilege to assist in the establishment of a Negro Theatre, but as honor as well.

It is the hope of the experimental workshop of this community (I say that generally) that we may express ourselves more fully and truthfully, bringing about a better understanding of ourselves to others and gaining their respect. We want not their pity. Nor their laughter at the age-old buffoonery. We need to reassure ourselves of a better place of distinction in the creative artistry field.

There is entirely too much in little theater idea in most instances. Too many people are busy clashing amongst themselves as to who will boss who, how long, and in what manner. (If a few of the cogs in the wheel could be tied together and dumped off Venice pier, how much—oh, how VERY much—better the whole project would be.)

I suggest this drastic measure for not any one particular group, but rather the entire field of little theaters the country over if they want to get anywhere.

Then come what may.

All-States Tea Planned at Second Baptist

The public is invited to attend the States' Tea at Second Baptist church, Thursday, Nov. 30 (Old Thanksgiving). Each state in the United States, also Canada and the West Indies will be reproduced in miniature.

The program under the direction of Mme. Mozelle Te Outley, will consist of participants who were former residents of the various States. • The Friendly Counsellor . . .

Ed's. Note: Sympathetic advice to the lovelorn, spiritual consolation to the heavily laden by the Friendly Counsellor, the man Nobody knows.

Dear Friendly Counsellor:

I am a woman in my middle thirties, and am one of those strange modern growths known as "a business girl." And it seems that therein lies my dilemma. I am fairly successful in my business, in that I make a comfortable living, have acquired a comfortable home and other properties, and I do not feel the least bit sorry for myself when I look in my mirror. But in spite of all this I have not acquired what even my most ordinary and unpromising sisters around me have acquired: Love, Marriage, and true happiness. Indeed I have found a splendid satisfaction in my ability to accomplish and to accumulate in a world wherein there is so much dismal failure on every hand. But oftimes when I awake at 2 a. m.—while the City sleeps—and I see myself reclining in comfort and in utter loneliness, then I realize that all my accomplishments are but empty vanities.

But what can I do, Dear Friendly Counsellor? Men seem to shy away from me as if I had measles or some other terrible malady. If a man shows a sentimental interest in me for a time he suddenly breaks off, and when I hear from him again I find that he has become interested in someone who hasn't nearly as much to offer as I.

Just what would you counsel?

"WORRIED"

ANS.:
Dear "Worried" Little Miss S. J.:

Obviously your case exemplifies thousands of others today. Now, in all probability, most of the men who show or would show a sentimental interest in you shy away for the very reason that you have been successful in your business career. Only the gigolo type of man wants to be dependent upon or to have to look up to a woman. A man—a real man—naturally wants to be king in his own palace, hut, or hovel, and he does not readily surrender his manly pride to a marital situation that will, at the offset, give him a feeling of subordination.

Secondly, it is usually a conscious or unconscious tendency on the part of a career woman to show, either through their conversation, their attitude, or actions, too great a spirit of self sufficiency. In one way or another she usually manages to let the man who would woo her know that she doesn't necessarily need him, and if at some weak moment she does accept him, then it will be out of her charity and graciousness, rather than her natural woman's desire for a man's love, his honor, affection and companionship—down through the years. I would counsel you to examine yourself and determine whether you haven't been guilty of some of these very unpardonable sins against the rugged pride of man. And that the next worthy man who comes into your life to immediately begin to point out how absolutely necessary a man is in your daily scheme of things—to frankly confess that you cannot enjoy life's fullest and richest expression without the comforting companionship of a man. And I dare say that your problem will be solved.

Dear Friendly Counsellor:

I have been married ten years, and have two small children. Although I have few complaints to make about the character of my husband, it seems that he is destined to go through life a miserable failure and to drag me and the children throught endless unbearable poverty.

I cannot go out to work myself, because there would be no one to take care of the children. And, instead of my husband's ability to provide growing better it grows continually worse. Now he is on relief and our poverty is greater than I can bear. I am becoming desperately weary of it all. Out in the world, while I still have some youth remaining, perhaps I could battle my own way. Would you advise me to cut loose from my eternal burdens and set sail on the Sea of Life with a heroic determination to man my own sails? Surely no understanding heart could insist that I further endure my wretched lot.

"DESPERATE"

ANS.:
Dear "Desperate" Mrs. E. S.:

I do hope that you will be broadminded enough to understand that my answer to your dramatic letter is not written in condemnation. Believe me, I thoroughly understand and sympathise with you in your situation. And it is this very understanding and sympathy that compels me to refrain from mincing words, lest a tragedy ensue.

To begin with, you have brooded over your poverty until you have unconsciously developed into a most tragic example of selfishness. And in your fever of selfishness you have forgotten your marriage vows. Obviously you have never read your Bible—certainly not with understanding. Your letter shows you know absolutely nothing of economics, nor the historical trend of the times. Your selfishness has made you forget that you married for better or for worse, for richer or for poorer. You have forgotten that Jesus, the Blessed Savior laid down His life that OTHERS might have a right to the tree of life. You seem totally oblivious of the fact that we are living in an era of transition from an old order to a new. You foolishly expect YOUR husband to be adjusted in a situation where nothing but maladjustment exists on every hand.

Now, I do not propose to pull a long sanctimonious face and say to the millions of women who are in your self same situation "Calmly submit yourselves to your wretched lot". To the contrary, I would counsel you to bestir yourselves and begin exercising your mentalities for something besides an incubator of selfishness and the wrong kind of unrest. But try to become more intelligently alert. Go daily to the libraries and other sources of information where you may acquire books and magazines that will acquaint you with the true significance of the times, so that you will be able to take intelligent action and not become weak-kneed quitters. All the women in your situation might very reasonably organize yourselves into a league of struggle for the establishment of community day nurseries, to be supported by the church, the municipality or state, leaving you free to engage in some industrial pursuit that will help to alleviate the poverty of which you so bitterly and I admit justly complain.

Critic Psycho-Analyzes Baby Exposed to Art as Soprano Sings

By JOHN KINLOCH

This is a review of Miss Pauline Wilkerson's recital Sunday evening under the sponsorship of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority in the French room of the Mus-Art building on Figueroa.

Elsewhere on this page there is another, vastly more competent report of the same affair. I suggest you turn to it immediately.

My qualifications for a review of an artistic performance are nil. However, I was commissioned to write a review and, times being what they are, I am writing it.

Miss Wilkerson is pretty young to be concertizing around with people like Handel, Tschaikovsky, Debussy, et al. She is seventeen years of age. But so is Deanna Durbin.

At the rate youthful prima donnas are showing up in our movies, soon opera stars will be veterans at twenty, has-beens at thirty, and legends at forty. All of which has nothing to do with the subject at hand.

Miss Wilkerson is a very attractive young lady, indeed. She wore a blue dress the other night, long at the feet and low at the neck. When she sang, Miss W. held her hands in front of her in a way very much similar to the victory clasp of pugilists, except she held her hands in front of instead of over her. This interested me a great deal, because the position is also the same one from which a person starts to Suzy-Q. Now, I knew this thought was very out-of-place in such high toned surroundings, and I started chuckling in the middle of Un bel di Vedremo by Puccini.

I am not attempting to be funny about Miss W.'s recital and give the impression that maybe she wasn't so hot, because she was—or whatever word you use whenever people singing such things as Nur ver die Sehnsucht Kennt are good.

Sitting next to me at the recital was Mrs. Thomas L. Griffith and Mr. Thomas L. Griffith III, who is about two or three years old. Mr. Thomas L. Griffith III is quite some kid and is fast becoming a popular figure, not to say a decided voice in community affairs.

Along about Section V of the program Mr. Griffith began to discourse volubly in baby talk. Mrs. Griffith did her best to discourage this pursuit, but to no avail. At this critical point, I intervened feeling very superior because I take "Psychology 1A" at UCLA, or vice versa.

Right off the bat I began winking at Thomas L. Griffith III. This was to take his mind away from his conversational endeavors and focus it on the simple physical problem of winking the eye. Mr. Griffith promptly returned the wink, tossing in a double wink back play that was really a masterpiece of optical coordination. My astonishment must have shown too plainly, for Mr. Griffith promptly addressed, to himself a flowing congratulatory speech, which was by far his loudest comment of the evening. For a young person, this remarkable fellow has a clear and resonant voice by which he certainly comes natural, a remark that will be best appreciated by those individuals who have survived telephonic communication with Thomas L. Griffith II.

Nothing daunted, I proceded to psycho-analyze young Griffith. Taking a new tack, having sat upon the previous one, I began to make funny faces. These succeeded in amusing practically everyone but T. L. the third, who rose from that point forward to new and greater oratorical heights. By this time, Mrs. Griffith, a very attractive and usually even tempered person, was showing visible signs of distress—and in my direction. Which I thought, was an attitude reflecting a deplorable lack of information in the field of child psychology. With that, she gathered up young Griffith and headed for the door, as through which she went the young man contributed a final and devastating "BAAaa!"

Somehow I couldn't help feeling that, were MY mother present, I too would be leaving. Also, I had twisted my face into one of its more complicated contortions and forgotten the combination. This seemed to cause some amusement. (There is a small and prejudiced school of thought which holds that a similar misfortune occured at the time of my birth.)

Meanwhile, Miss Wilkerson was singing strenuously. She is really very good, and apparently has an excellent command of several foreign tongues--all, at present, highly combatant. She has a nice loud voice that isn't afraid to take the hills in high. I liked it all: Except for one thing, I got a great many goose pimples when she started skipping around hither and yon after the fashion of a rooster with his voice changing; but, then, I feel the same way when Lily and Jeanette do it, so this cannot be held against Miss W. personally.

After the recital was officially finished, the audience raised such a fuss that Miss W. was forced to reappear and sing another song. I thought this a very flagrant example of ill manners, since the people had already got their money's worth, and there was a great quantity of punch waiting to be imbibed at the rear of the room, in connection with which I was exceedingly thirsty. However, Miss W. took it nicely, singing a very charming little job done in English, of all things. This was my favorite of the evening. It concerned two sisters. One had a beau, and the other didn't, but not for long, since it wound up with the one without a beau sitting on the knee of the beau of the one who did. This was considerably nearer my intellectual level than most of the evening's entertainment, besides I have always been a sucker for the triangle situation.

Also on the program was a young lady of fifteen summers who played upon the piano very well during the intermission, or just after it. Incidentally, I can remember when the intermission was just a polite silence in the middle of which some fink in the corner would start coughing and soon everybody was.

All in all, the recital was a very edifying experience. However, since Sunday I have been suffering with a severe cold, a pain in my left side, and a persistent itch about the area of my little toe of the right foot. I attribute this to a serious overexposure to Art.

Henry Fonda Plays He-Man Only

Although Henry Fonda has never thought of himself as a matinee idol, there are apparently thousands of feminine fans who seem determined to cast him in that category. Although his latest role opposite Claudette Colbert in Darryl F. Zanuck's Technicolor production of "Drums Along the Mohawk" 20th Century-Fox picture now playing at the United Artists Theatre, 933 So. Broadway, offers him his most romantic chacterization in many months, he was actually chosen to play it as a result of the reputation as a top-notch actor which he has built so recently.

Commenting on the development that the studio is being swamped with an increasingly heavy influx of fan mail for Fonda, the bulk of it addressed to him by women who find him their "ideal", Fonda said: "Although I have played many roles that contained what is known as love interest, I have always regarded each characterization as just another acting job. "I don't think there ever was a time in my acting career, either on the stage or screen, when I hoped to build up popularity through direct appeal to the feminine contingent. Although there is considerable romantic footage between Fonda and Claudette Colbert in "Drums Along the Mohawk", the actor points out that the stark realism of the drama outweighs its romantic appeal.

Carl Sandburg, Ted Shawn Dancers to Be at Lincoln U.

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Nov. 16—Two outstanding attractions will be presented to Lincoln University students before the Christmas holidays. On Nov. 21, the Public Relations committee is presenting Carl Sandburg, lecturer, poet and troubadour, and the following week, Dec. 1, the Ted Shawn men dancers. Both programs are on Lincoln's annual lecture-recital calendar.

One of the most widely known living writers is Sandburg. Among his best-known works are "Potato Face," "The American Songbag," "Good Morning, America," "Rootabaga Pigeons," "Smoke and Steel," "Chicago Poems," "Corn Huskers," and, "Abraham Lincoln—The Prairie Years,"—the first volume of a comprehensive study of Lincoln. He is now engaged in writing the second part of his work. Sandburg will sing some of his American ballads, accompanied by his guitar, and render parts of his longer works.

A history of America by way of the dance will be presented by Ted Shawn and his 8 men dancers, when they offer "O, Libertad" an American saga in four acts. Now on his 7th transcontinental tour with this group, Shawn is making this the last year for appearances, "having successfully achieved my original aim of restoring masculine emphasis to the profession of dancing," he said.

Howard U. to Battle Lincoln on Thanksgiving Day

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 16.—When the 34th annual game of the "Original Gridiron Classic" between Howard and Lincoln is played at Drexel Field, Philadelphia, Thanksgiving Day, next Thursday, an unusually hard fought tilt is expected. Coach Payne, Howard mentor, is confident, in spite of the losses suffered by the team, that the Bisons will give a good account of themselves.

In the matter of games won and lost Lincoln has the advantage, but such comparison doesn't figure in the outcome of the Thanksgiving tilt, for regardless of previous records, this is the game most desired and the one for which the greatest preparation is made.

Coach Payne and his assistants, Otis Troupe, Millard Williams and Herbert Crawford, are working hard to offset losses in the early games due largely to inexperience and injuries to players, chief of which is a broken wrist sustained by Captain Arthur Elliott, star quarterback.

Fats Jenkins Says 'I've Not Retired

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—Clarence (Fats) Jenkins, fresh from barnstorming with the all-star Homestead Grays baseball team in Cuba, returned to New York last week and put the quietus on reports that he has retired from basketball and baseball.

"I've definitely not retired and expect to see plenty of action this winter and next summer," "Fats" was quoted as saying in the local press.

In 25 years of active athletic participation, "Fats" has become well known in professional competition all over the country. Last winter he led the Harlem Renaissance basketball team to top place among the Nation's professional squads.

Glowing Tribute Paid Young Soprano in Musart Recital

By RUBY BERKLEY GOODWIN

Sunday afternoon, music loving patrons crowded the French room of the Musart building and paid glowing tribute to Miss Pauline Wilkerson, gifted youthful soprano, who was presented in formal recital by the local chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

Pauline will not be able to say with many of our artists that Negroes waited until she had been discovered by top-flight white impresarios before her own race acclaimed her. It is true that Sunday afternoon marked the young singer's sixth recital, but it is safe to say that it was the most deeply gratifying of the series, for never have I witnessed a more enthusiastic audience or one more extravagant with praise. Undoubtedly much of this was by way of encouragement and was due to the age of the singer, for Pauline is still a senior at Polytechnic High school. Profiting from the advice of two very splendid teachers and the experience gained in her five previous recitals, her poise was that of a seasoned concert artist.

With the assurance of youth which sweeps all before it, Miss Wilkerson came upon the stage becomingly gowned in a creation of blue. She was followed by her accompanist, Edith Katherine Owens who was tastefully attired in pink lace.

Upon hearing Miss Wilkerson, one instantly realizes that all the predictions made for her can easily come true with a few more years of arduous study. Pauline Wilkerson has a beautiful voice. Her low tones were exceedingly well placed and the only difficulty encountered by the singer was on her extremely high tones in Robyn's "A Heart That's Free." This difficulty was nothing to cause the singer grave concern for one instantly realized that future training will remedy this seeming defect.

Handel's "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" opened the well chosen program. However, it remained for the rendition of Arne's "Lass With the Delicate Air" to completely charm and captivate the audience. The number was delightful and the singer was charming in the interpretation which combined coloratura effervescence with lyric beauty. In numbers requiring the use of German leider and French, her diction was superb, but it was in such efforts as "Coming Thru the Rye" and "Let Me Dream," used effectively as encore material, that the singer came nearest perfection.

In the group of spirituals, Ha Johnson's arrangement of "Ch Called Heaven" received the be treatment. In this group, as several of the heavier numbe one felt that added years and e periences are needed to heigh en the singer's power of interpr tation and appreciation.

Both Madame Leontine Redd former teacher, and Maestro A drea Aragona, teacher of voi at the Gray Conservatory Music, Pauline's present instruc or, should feel deeply gratifi by the work of the young voc ist.

Too much cannot be said of t splendid support rendered singer by the accompanist Ed Katherine Owens. At all tim she was the perfect accompan lending able support yet alwa keeping the accompaniment strained and shaded to allow voice of the singer full reign. poise and dignity at the pi matched that of the singer. pecially worthy of comment the accompaniment of the "C Called Heaven."

Gloria Roberts, pianist, assis on the program by playing Ch in's "Scherzo B Flat Minor." interpretative piece "Chine Quarrel" by Walter Neiman used as an encore.

All in all, Sunday afterno was a day for youth and yo abl met every challenge and ca through with flying colors. Angeles should be proud of Pa ine, Edith and Gloria, for if pr ent indications carry throu they will carve a place for the selves in the world of the a One should also add that af hearing last Sunday's recital, Gray Conservatory of Mu should take a bow. It is kno as the 'School for serious st ents." This is a very appropri title.

Mrs. Willis O. Tyler, chairm introduced the ushers for the fair and called attention to Pauline Slater who brought Wilkerson to the attention the Deltas. An informal recept followed the recital.

Wilberforce Puts Swing in Grid Formations

WILBERFORCE, Nov. 16—Football in swing is slated to be the next innovation, if the grid squad at Wilberforce university has anything to say about it. The antics of the 'Force eleven in inculcating the Nation's No. 1 pastime into the Nation's No. 1 sport was reported by the United Press thusly:

"The Wilberforce University Negro team has more swing than the Hot Mikado . . . after the huddle is over Center Fuller trucks away first and bends over the ball . . . the other 10 men stay huddled . . . Fuller put his left hand on the ball and stars beating the tempo by swinging his right arm . . . . when the rest of the squad get in time they move into position, keeping step with Fuller's beating arm . . . . the quarterback calls the signals in the same tempo . . . the rhythm is never broken until the ball is snapped . . . but from then on every man is on his own and their hipper dipper football makes the Southwest's publicized areial circus game look tame. . . ."

Domestics' Employers Must Carry Insurance on Them

If you work as a domestic servant for 52 hours or more a week, your employer is required to carry workmen's compensation insurance to compensate you in event of injury on your job.

If you work less than 52 hours per week and your employer employs another servant who does work 52 hours per week you are entitled to the benefits of workmen's compensation insurance.

In the event of injury on the job where your employer is required to carry workmen's compensation insurance you are entitled to medical treatment and to a percentage of your earnings during the period of incapacity.

That was the advice broadcast to domestic workers through the local council of the National Negro Congress after a study of the new amendments to the law made by Loren Miller, attorney and executive secretary of the Congress.

POST NAME

"The law also requires the employer to post the name of her insurance carrier in a conspicuous place and if your employer has not posted such a notice and is requiring you or a fellow worker to work 52 hours per week or longer you would do well to make discreet inquiries as to whether or not he is obeying the law," Miller said in a statement addressed to domestic workers.

The amendment to the law giving domestic workers benefits of workmen's compensation was introduced by Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins and passed by the last session of the state legislature.

Depending on the salary received by the employe the compensation in event of injury will range from $6.50 to $25 per week and full medical care to be paid for by the employer's insurance carrier. Death benefits range from $2000 to $6000.

The above represents the first three days' solicitation in the Community Chest campaign as reported Monday, at the second report meeting, as more than 18,000 volunteers commenced solicitation of funds for the charitable fund.

Workers from the Central area divisions who attended the initial meeting reported that it was intensely impressive and that the volunteers were enthused with the magnificient singing of the Carlyle Scott chorus. It is understood that the chorus has been requested to again present their program at a subsequent luncheon.

The local campaign now is well underway and leaders state reports will be made shortly of the response to the appeal for funds for health and welfare services of the Chest's 88 agencies.

In a recent statement, Mrs. C. D. Frederick, Chest leader here said:

"Keep in mind that last year the 88 agencies could not give health and welfare to all who came to them because we raised but $2,517,000.00. Emergency cases, we know were cared for, but many less serious operations and needed services have had to be postponed until adequate funds can be secured. Remember, it is people—children, men and women—who must have help.

"Remind subscribers they are making this annual gift for service to people through the 88 agencies. Ask them to give an amount comparable to that they would donate if approached by each of the agencies separately. Subscriptions may be budgeted over a period of a year, if they desire, to make generous giving easy."

Contributions to the Community Chest carry with them annual membership in the American Red Cross, the leader stated.

Order Transfer of Cases Affecting Dependent Kids

Gradual transfer of cases affecting dependent children from the State Relief administration rolls to welare departments in various California counties was ordered this week by Walter Chambers, administrator of the S. R. A. in order to give a greater number of children the full benefit of liberalized state laws approved by Gov. Culbert L. Olson.

The step, which will permit the S. R. A. to save as much as $12,000 a month or $144,000 a year, followed recent liberalization of California laws by the State legislature. Orphaned, deserted and illegitimate are affected by the order.

"This is a step toward greater service to the children and at the same time it represents an economy move for S. R. A.," Chambers said.

"Under the new regulations, the cases involving the children will be handled by the county welfare departments in cooperation with the State Department of Social Welfare and the Federal Social Security Board. In the past, the SRA has paid the entire cost to care for dependent children in the catagories affected but there were some types of cases we could not handle."

"From now on the county welfare departments will be obligated to pay part of the cost. The state's burden will be less because of fuller Federal and county participation."

"Since the passage of the Social Security Bill by Congress, there has been a Federal recourse by way of a reimbursement to states of a portion of money expended for the care and support of certain dependent children. This includes children whose dependency is due to the father becoming more or less permanently incapacitated to the death of either or both parents, and children deprived of support due to continued absence of the father from the home, or to illegitimacy," Chambers said.

Award Contracts for 115 Low-Rent Projects

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Nov. 16—A total of 114 projects, designed to provide approximately 47,844 low-rent dwellings, have been authorized for award of construction contracts, Nathan Straus, Administrator of the United States Housing Authority, announced last week on the second anniversary of the Government's program of lending funds and technical assistance to local housing authorities throughout the Nation for slum clearance and the development of low-rent housing projects.

Of these 115 propects, 45 will be occupied predominantly by Negro families, while families of both races will live in 9 other of the projects. Dwellings in all these projects will rent for an average of $12.25 per month in the South and $17.50 in the North. This will permit families with net annual income as low as $300 in the South and $600 in the North be eligible as tenants.

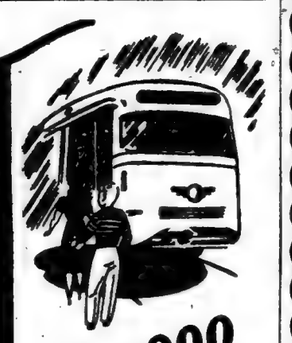
SRA Experts to Explain Co-ops

L. A. Council of NNC Sponsors Meet Tomorrow Night

Experts from the State Relief Administration's Bureau of Self-Help Cooperatives will explain the principal features of California's experiment to re-employ relief recipients through state sponsored producers and consumers cooperatives, at the regular meeting of the Los Angeles Council National Negro Congress, tomorrow (Friday), at 8 p. m., at Wesley Community Center, 1029 E. Vernon avenue.

Frank G. Taylor, state supervisor of the Bureau of Self-Help Cooperatives; Richard Flambert, assistant state supervisor; James San Jule, director of the educational department; and Harry W. Mercer, assistant educational director, are the officials scheduled to speak.

Mrs. Fay E. Allen, executive chairman of the Congress in announcing the meeting said: "Every individual in our community—whether now on relief or not—should be especially interested in this program. For, one of its long range objectives is the inclusion of all persons in the low income brackets who are not ordinarily eligible for relief, but who need the benefits which this coperaitve program can provide."



Mercer, through whose efforts the program for the Congress meeting was arranged, explained that at the present time the re-employment program seeks to remove relief recipients from the relief rolls, and to place them in cooperaitve projects, producing some of the commodities they need.

A. Philip Randolph, national president of the ational Negro Congress, now on tour for the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, is expected to be in the city in time to attend the Council meeting of the Congress on Friday.

520,000 SCHOOL RIDES a Month

MORE THAN HALF A MILLION school rides each school month—it's quite a responsibility.

The Los Angeles Railway does the job for you, transporting boys and girls to hundreds of schools throughout the district.

It's a job which is considered a "convenience" service and it's one of the toughest the company has to do.

And yet, for a fare of 3½ cents per ride, the Los Angeles Railway for many years has carried school children from home to school and from school to home safely, on time, and in all weathers.

Education and the school system would be almost impossible in Los Angeles were it not for the transportation of the Los Angeles Railway.

Quite an asset to any city to have a transportation company which efficiently cares for the needs of its school children as does the Los Angeles Railway.

The Delightful Side

By BILL SMALLWOOD

My aims are not so high,
They flutter like a butterfly—
For now that I'm maturing—and gay
I've learned to look the other way.

Sudden thought: Will someone—anyone—tell me from whence all this sudden and QUITE thorough deluge of dramatic (and near-dramatic) clubs, guilds, circles, salons and what not? Allah be praised, culture and the arts (they should be spelled boldly, I daresay) have most certainly made themselves at home withover the village and folks are having an almost hysterical time of patronizing first this and then that drama idea.

Indeed, if something isn't done about it, some rugged individual with only a faint interest in the arts will have to step up and quiet the more hysterical so that they won't swoon on the rugs.

Most promising one of the batch for a safe bet seems to be Dra-Mu-Lit, a group of some dozen or so. They have a salon this Sunday noon at Kay and Nettie McDonald's place (697 E. 52nd place) and seeming have stirred a good bit of interest. Of it all, more . . .

The Gilbert Allen affair tonight as done by the Assistance League of the Outdoor Life and Health circle promises to be an asterisked one, me hearties. The colony will be out in full bib and tucker. The cross-section of his from-opera-to-swing work will bear intent listening-in. There are a few rather soignee gatherings after the affair, what's more. You'll go, of course.

Delightful evening, that Pauline Wilkerson recital as sponsored by the Deltas! Much waving of hankies, nodding clusters of gay folk and adjective exchanging. (The mass showing of snazzy hats almost stole a bit of the glory from the pleasing Wilkerson voice, but she held an edge, methought.) Later, a glimpse of elegant Carmelita Black Lomax: Carmy has, more or less, always brought to my mind mink, gardenias, and sherry parties. She's lovely. Quite.

And so to a party which all but had them hanging off the rafters. Smoky, noisy, house-rockin' and all the world like a carnival, with the bartender working like mad. Conversation, in those parts, with a chap from Chi who knew Claude McKay prior to his adventures in Morocco, which were among the colorful ideas for his "A Long Way from Home." (He knew him in Paris, too, and along the vivid scenes of Marseilles cafes.)

Another thought: Riddell Scott is probably without peer as to being good company when we lads are out touching tall glasses . . . Home from NY is tall, good-natured Fred Tony. Fred cut quite a swath out East, but swears California STILL gets his nod every time. Difference is what he likes. Change, variety, never the same thing over and over. He never gets in a rut. If a rut appears in his life he steps over it and never even sees it. H has a grand time living.

Stunning person: Mrs. Warren Eason (Murlah Johnson). Gosh! . . . Why is it there have been no more poetic thoughts from the prolific pen of Omega's eminent Wendell P. Grigsby? Brought into spotlighted attention with his moving, "Confession to A Lost Ideal," he showed great promise. Why not a book of verse, Mr. Grigsby?

The Paul Williamses and family will Easter-holiday in Mexico City . . . They do tell me Bobbee Black's Sunday morn breakfast for the de Lavallade bride-prospective was on the matchless side. As for me, I'm beginning to suspect Bun Bratton will have to build a warehouse to store the gifts they've gotten to date. Bobbee's mother assisted at her gathering by the bye.

You doubtless won't hear about it 'til around the Yuletide, but one of the town's young druggists will be a very quiet bridegroom this Sunday approaching. His wife? You'll doubtless hear about her around the Yuletide, etc.

Observation: It's in intimate corners that folk social (sometimes dull, but expensive) prove to the visiter that they are swing conscious this year of grace. You find conversation flavored with "hot licks" for a start. By the time they shift to Ellington and you stagger up they have leaped to Goodman. Latest books are taboo. That's 1938 stuff.

I rather like the effortless appearance of Helen Chappell's social-bits. I'm sure the charmed circle draws collectively nearer when Helen's reporter-eye hoves into view, for she does have the knack. She probably has no journalistic enemies, lucky soul. But as for me, I have me doubts.

As for the Gay Westerners cause celebre this Saturday night: You'll safari out for the swingin' and swayin', of course? Of course. That being that . . . period . . .

Issue Warning on Renewal of Car Licenses

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 16—Attention to complicated registration problems now will save motorists from long delays and possible penalties when registering vehicles, department of motor vehicles announced today in planning to expedite renewal of licenses beginning Jan. 2 and ending Feb. 4, 1940.

Persons who have delayed in such matters as clearing departmental records on change of engines, transfer of titles and applications for duplicate ownership certificates and registration cards particularly were advised to save time and embarrassment by correcting the situation prior to December 31.

Owners of out-of-state registered vehicles who contemplate 1940 registration in California are advised to have their titles checked during the month of December to ascertain if papers are satisfactory for licensing under California laws.

Permit Necessary to Cut Yule Trees

Christmas tree poachers will be arrested and prosecuted if they cut trees in national forests lands this year.

As a benefit to overcrowded stands of fir trees the United States Forest Service announced that cutting is being permitted under contract to Christmas tree operators in designated localities in all forests of the State except in the Angeles, Cleveland, Los Podres and San Bernardino National Forests.

Thirty-five per cent of the revenue collected by the Forest Service from the sale of Christmas trees to operators and dealers helps to maintain county schools, roads and trails.

Schools Offer Courses on Housing

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Nov. 16—Stimulated by the success of the national slum-clearance and low-rent housing program for American families of low-income, interest in public housing is becoming so implanted in American consciousness that colleges and universities now are offering courses on the subject.

The United States Housing Authority revealed today that a current check-up showed more than 200 American institutes of higher education—among them such famous schools as Harvard, Cornell, Maryland, Columbia, Dartmouth, New York University and Xavier—have courses related to some phase of public housing.

The latest entry into the field of public housing education is the University of California, in Berkeley, which has established a lectureship course under the auspices of the Rosenberg Foundation, a California Corporation for charitable purposes.

The Rising and Setting Sun

By ALENE B. BUCHANAN

I am 16—that's the rising sun—
I'm the light at dawn
I'm the pleasant cool brook that flows on the outer folds of yonder mountain.
I'm alive, and filled with life, I'm strong and wild as the wind.
I dream and build golden air castles, and line them with silver while all the rare and precious gifts are at my hand.
I shall fashion them into useful gifts for mankind.
I shall not waste my time like the old and sleepy that go by;

I am twenty-one. I am the sun at noon day.
I am filled with warmth, romance and love.
I was brought into being for the service of man.
When I begin my work I shall do it well. Until then there is no need to hurry, I've plenty of time.
I'm only twenty-one and I shall have my fun.
My ideas I have put upon the shelf, until stupid men can see my worth, and ask of it. Then I will take them down and show them how it is done; until then I shall have my fun.

I'm thirty-five. I'm like the tidal wave that comes into show, and brings all before it.
I'm strong and brave.
I'm at the head of the march and believe in my own magic powers.
I drink from the current of thought in quest for knowledge and some day I will show you how it's done.
I'm light—I'm might. I parade in dark hidden corners for worlds to conquer.
You see I'm only thirty-five, the full cup of life. Some day men shall know of me. Until then I shall plan and wait.

I'm fifty—Why that's the setting sun! I will hurry now, and not wait for men to know of me.
But with the rich fillings of my fifty years of experience and wisdom—I'll build an enterprise to the services of mankind with common sense.

My foolish air castles I shall tear down ,and begin my work tomorrow. I'll show men how quickly it can be done.

I'm seventy-five. That's the sun gone down.
That's the darkness when light has gone from my eyes.
That's weakness when the strength is gone.
That's the dried brook.
That's the tidal wave gone back to sea.
That's time passed.
That's when I can no longer take my ideas from the shelf.
I'm seventy-five. Where is the warmth that I once had?
Where is the love and romance that I once had?
What has become of the services to man I was to give?

They all seem to have gone before I knew it was time for them to go. When I was sixteen I knew there was plenty of time to begin my work.
At twenty-one I still had time, and soon I would begin.

At thirty five I was at the head of the march ready to begin. Quickly fifty came around and I had not yet begun, but I was sure that I could reach the port in time if I hurried.
Though I must have tarried long for the marching ceased and now I have nothing left but broken air castles and scattered dreams.

Mrs. J. L. Hill Back From Extended Trip

Mrs. J. L. Hill, wife of J. L. Hill, vice president-manager of the Angelus Funeral Home, returned to her home on W. 36th street last Sunday morning after an extended trip of two months through the South and Middle West.

This was the first time the well known matron had visited the South in 16 years. Remaining for several days in San Antonio, New Orleans and her home, Atlanta, Georgia, Mrs. Hill says she was pleasantly surprised to see the many changes for the better regarding the race in the Southland. Especially noticeable she said was the splendid progress in education in the more thickly settled areas since she lived in the south 20 years ago. Mrs. Hill is herself a product of Spelman college.

The matron's longest stay was with her aged mother, Mrs. Sally Reid, in Atlanta. Here she spent many pleasant hours renewing old acquaintances and visiting relatives and friends. Other cities visited included Chicago, Denver, and Salt Lake City.

Honored with numerous dinners, teas, and receptions, Mrs. Hill says she enjoyed every minute of the trip.

A number of the parents of the children accompanied them and donated the use of their cars. These included: Messrs. and Mesdames Leonard Cushenberry, William Walton, John Moore, and Mrs. Sydney Provost.

The work of Miss Sennett in the training of young people in piano and expression has attracted the attention of Hollywood, one of the most interested being Mr. Weiss.

THE COMMON COLD

We are quoting the following from Hygeia because it is time for us to prepare for winter.

"I have a cold. One of the 300-million odd colds which, this winter, will take happiness out of more days in the calendar than all the other diseases together.

"The bus was crowded when I went to the office yesterday. A school girl coughed in my face. That is how I caught my cold. I confess a vile ——nthropic impulse to get up sassy, go down on the bus as usual and cough as much as I like. Dramatically, my hand would be placed in front of my mouth. It is so ordered by the sign posted over the front windshield. That would not do much good, but it would be more polite.

"That is the method I have followed in the past. This time I am going to stay in bed or at least at home. Not because I have reformed or that I have learned something new since my last cold. No. Happily the time has come, at last, when I will no longer be catalogued as a "sissy" because I stay away from my job "just on account of a cold." The beneficial results of this progress are worthy of record:

"First, I can afford to lie in bed and get well in the quickest and most comfortable way—a purely selfish proposition; second I will not be the cause of any of the 200-million common colds— a purely negative attainment.

"If, while lying in bed, I could insist clarify the problem of cold for others, this affliction of mine could credit itself with a third, a positive benefit, a real excuse for existence.

"I caught my cold. We moderns insist that 90 per cent of colds are caught from others. But why, then, does the prevalence of this disease parallel the severity of the weather? We are now in the same state of knowledge in this subject as we were regarding malaria before we tried and convicted the mosquito. This was the theory as stated in Watson's "Practice of Physic" (1865):

"If a person were never exposed to the malaria, he would never as I believe, have ague: but having once had ague, he may many times have it again, although he should never again be subjected to the direct influence of the malaria . . . The east wind is a common re-exciting cause in such cases; exposure to cold in any way, is another.

"Substitute a cold for the malaria and it for ague. Have we not an exact picture of the epidemiology of the common cold? As in malaria, certain persons must harbor the cold organism. Where? Probably in their mouths and throats with a lot of well known organisms. But we cannot see the infective agent of the cold, because that disease, like influenza and measles, is caused by a ultramicroscopic filtrable virus (a germ so tiny that cannot be seen through the most powerful microscope and that will pass through the finest filter). In the Fall and winter when the "east wind blows," the disease is activated in those individuals who carry the virus. They would never think of staying home just on account of a little "cold." And the cold season is on.

"There might be an objection to this explanation: "Anyone exposed to icy weather will catch a cold." I do not think so. The common cold is only one of the least a half dozen enemies which frequently attack the respiratory system of man. If he harbors pneumonia; he had streptococci in his throat, he may have a sore throat, and if he comes from the deep South of the tropics, he may have malaria. Or he may get off scot free. Unfortunately, many of these infections appear as complications of each other. They become allies in their attack on us, live and fight in what is called symbiosis."

(This article will be continued next week.)

Signing off until next week, your announcer, Ruth J. Temple, M. D., Station KWA (Keep Well Always).

And remember: "Good Health is your most valuable asset."

Reception Honors State Clubs' Officials

Among many delightful social affairs given this Fall by the California Association of Colored Women's Clubs, none was more outstanding than the reception honoring past state president and second national delegate, Mrs. Ada Brownlee and state vice-president, Mrs. Ardelia Anglin, Nov. 2, at the Sojourner Truth home.

During receiving hours, from three to six p. m., more than 85 guests were presented to the two honorees, beautifully gowned. Mrs. Brownlee was presented with a gardenia corsage by the Eastside Mothers' club and Mrs. Anglin with a pink and white carnation corsage by the Kensington Art club.

The receiving line of past presidents stood in the grandeur of the home, which was colorful with vases of flowers. Assisting were Mmes. Eliza Warner, E. V. Moxley, M. Bate, C. B. Hicks, E. St. Charles Edwards; Charter Member Mollie Moore; Past President of Sojourner Truth, home, E. A. Johnson.

Mrs. Mable Gray was chairman of the committee in charge of the program and Mrs. Edwards, of the reception committee. She was assisted by Mmes. Ida Ramsey, past president; Sally W. Stewart club; J. H. Holden, president S. W. Stewart club and Mrs. Gertrude Settles, financial secretary. Mrs. Wilma Chapman, superintendent of music, presided at the piano.

Women Learn Self Defense

Brave and bold Romeos, be on your guard! Women students of Jefferson Evening High school are learning the (manly) art of self defense.

Boxing is a new feature of the Women's Physical Education program which also includes calisthenics, basketball, volley ball and badminton.

Miss Moore, the instructor, says that with the aid of science, a woman is able to defend herself against a stronger opponent. "However, the greatest value of the program for the student lies in the robust health and the physical appearance which results from regular well planned exercise," she said. There is still room for a few more students in the Monday and Wednesday class. There is no tuition fee.

FOR THE PUBLIC WELFARE

* Like any other member of the community, the Edison Company pays taxes for the support of local, state and federal governments. Edison taxes for 1938 were $7,593,939—nearly double those paid ten years ago. Yet, while taxes, and all other operating expenses, have increased, Edison electric rates have steadily decreased. Edison rates are now among the lowest in the nation.

Central Ave. District Realty Board
We have come a long way in our search for the secret of building good will for Real Estate. I hope it is less of a secret than it was before. The one thought above all other, that I should like to leave with you this afternoon, is a very cheerful one. It embodies the kernel of everything I have said. In this days' generation, service pays; the more you do for your customers, the more you will do for yourself, for of necessity, if you render service, you will put your business on a scientific and a truly professional basis, you will render more service and you will have more good will. And good will is the asset of your business that brings the greatest total profit and the highest price in case of a sale.
These are the ambitions and requirements of the following members of the Central Ave. District Realty Board.
Members as follows:
Walter L. Gordon, President, 4065 S. Central Ave., ADams 3193.
Geo. W. City, Vice-President, 816 E. 40th Pl., ADams 13702.

TONGUE-WAGGING

The ability to use the tongue prudently, is one of the secrets of success in any walk of life. Often we may have the occasion to lament and say, "I should have kept my mouth shut."

Even when you know of what you speak, it is always good to let the other fellow have a chance to express his opinions. In public, business and professional endeavors, the long-winded speaker loses both business and clients because he wears people out with his incessant chatter.

Great men such as Douglas, Lincoln and Booker T. Washington and many others possessed great talent and ability, but one of their greatest virtues, was the control of their tongues. They knew when, and when not to speak.

Divorces, quarrels, broken homes and heartaches are results of too much "Tongue wagging." If you must talk, say something good about someone rather than all of the gossip you heard. And try to remember that "As long as your mouth is closed, it is impossible to get your foot in it."

M. S.—I am writing to let you know the wonderful results I have received from your Charm Bag. I am sorry to have waited so long but I have been busy getting back into my old routine. Everything is coming my way again, and I won't forget to send my old bag back again when it is three months old, and receive my double strength bag.

Mrs. R. L. McK—Why did the letter I wrote get lost?

Ans.—It appears that you addressed the letter incorrectly and you failed to place a return address upon the envelope. To different rural districts in the South, you must have a definite box number and route number. Try writing again.

I. F.—What shall I do?

Ans.—It seems that you are puzzled as to whether you should remain at your present job, or make changes. I suggest that you sta ythere for there are some pleasant surprises coming to you in the near future.

A. B. S.—What does the future hold for me?

Ans.—Your Zodiac reveals that there will be periods of glamorous times in your life. Engagement and marriage will be a striking feature ,and your affairs will improve financially. For a more complete outline of your future, write in for a private reply.

T. M. T.—Will my friend soon be free?

Ans.—In regard to your question I find that your friend has been on his best behavior during the last months in prison, and he will leave during the first of next year.

R. C. T. J.—What can I do?

Ans.—Thru a careful analysis of your case, I find that you and your wife and unable to agree on anything. It would be wise to try and be a better companion to her, cultivate similar habits and let her have her way sometimes. She will then become ashamed of herself, and will begin to agree with you more often.

J. B. M.—Will I get the job?

Ans.—It appears that you will have no trouble getting this job as the people whom you formerly worked for, are acquainted with these people and have recommended you to them.

M. F.—Dear Prof. Herman:—It is indeed a pleasure to write to someone who is not afraid to tell the truth. I realize now that I have been nothing but a meddlesome old lady who had lived her life and was afraid to let her son live his. Your advice was just what I needed. I have ordered your Prayer and Meditation Combination and will let you know the benefits I derive.

F. G.—Is he true to me?

Ans.—Your friend loves you and is true to you. He is the type of person who is considerate of other people, and would not hurt you for the world. Dismiss your unfair suspicions of him and trust in him.

A. S.—Is there a profit in my land?

Ans.—Probing into this matter I find that for many years people have been under the impression that there is oil in your land. It would be wise to have your land drilled and then you will know whether or not this is the truth.

• LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

For years debates have been held on the relative value of heredity and enviroment. Generally they are decided in favor of heredity. Today, we have new light on this universally interesting subject in the form of a carefully documented yet popularly written book by Amram Scheinfield titled, "YoYu and Heredity". This book is most useful in saying what heredity cannot do and credits enviroment with a large proportion of that power which popular assumption generally awards to heredity. Such a book should be required for parents and children since it dislodges so many dark superstitions. Chapters on falacies having to do with racial inheritances are particularly important. Hopeful on the whole, the conclusions in this book are honest in that they promise no great wonders and admite the limitations of genetir knowledge to date.

DuBose Heyward, author of "Porgy" and "Mamb's Daughter", deserts his native South Carolina to write the poverty-stricken natives of the Virgin Islands in his recent 'Star Spangled Virgin." This romantic tale of Adam andRhoda is interwoven with bits of Island history showing the effects of the depression on the principal crops, the strange acceptance of New Deal relief, and the relhctance of some of the natives to go to work when direct relief was withdrawn. Rhoda, however, was delighted when the Government bought the bankrupt sugar plantations and broke them up into homesteading units. She picoed out the best tract she could find for herself and Adam to live on. "De only way to get de devil out of dese people," she said "is to sweat it out. Noodeal's done fried restin' it out, an' it didn't work."

Added to the long list of novels on Nazi Germany today is "Escape,' by Ethel Vance, the exciting story of an actress who achieved fame in her native Germany and in America, only to be stripped of her glory later and condemned to death for treason in Germany. Her young son, an American, is told: "YoYur mother is condemned to death in a prison camp. There is nothing you can do." Nevertheless, the son an few friends try tosave her even while endangering their own safety. The chances for this woman's safety and escape will become a matter of utmost importance to you long before you come to the end of this interesting and revealing story.

Borrow these new books from the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central Ave., and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi Ave.

ew Ambulance Service

he Roberson Ambulance Service e first Negro business of its kind perate in Los Angeles. It is also of the finest services in the city; st equipment and trained em- es give the new undertaking a ided "edge" over competitors. hree cheers, Hooray, Yippee, Wahoo! And any other ex- matory word which might occur you. Theodore Roberson, aggres- young leader of the new busi- s, has done something that few groes accomplish: pioneer a W field.

Much of the economic woe which beset Negro businessmen since ertain day seventy-five years ago lue to an unfortunate fear of ex- nsion into new and untried com- rcial fields. Because of this fear, gro business as a whole has stag- ed into a few confined, highly npetitive avenues of enterprise. ere has sprung up a sort of unwrit- law among colored businessmen ich has effectively barred them m many undertakings which ght have developed into distinct rsonal and racial assets.

Perhaps the most regrettable result of this apathetic stand of black businessmen is the bitter competition which holds sway in those fields that are traditionally "colored". It is not necessary to name them specifically —the scores of beauty parlors, lunch rooms, and similar enterprises that clog and defeat themselves in cut throat competition. No single organization is permitted to gain significant leadership, since the potential trade is split so minutely among warring merchants.

The obvious alternative of expansion into new fields has been ignored almost without exception for the past three generations. It is encouraging to note here in Los Angeles that young men are coming along who are daring the old bug-a-boo and successfully branching out into new realms.

Once again, congratulations to the Roberson Ambulance Service!

Tammany Tiger Roars Again

Staging a surprise come back, New York City's Tammany Hall organization was highly successful in Tuesday's elections. Many judicial posts which were slated for occupation by Mayor LaGuardia's Fusion candidates are now in the hands of loyal sons of Tammany.

Tammany, thought dead and buried a few years ago when its pride and joy, Mayor Mickey Walker, resigned under fire, boasts one of the strangest political history's extant today.

The old saying "The Jews own it (New York City) and the Irish Run It" was born out of the many years of political domination by Tammany's Hibernian followers. Graft and corruption under the several Tiger administrations in the great Eastern metropolis are almost too fantastic to credit. Wisecracking Mayor Mickey Walker, who wore Parisian berets, was purportedly "front man" for a tremendous gang of swindlers and chisellers who overran New York's governing agencies. Harlem was one of the greatest of Tammany provinces, and colored leaders took part wholeheartedly in the alleged frauds of the organization.

However, a belated civic reaction developed a few years ago when impressive Judge Samuel Seabury led a crusade aganist "Mayor Mickey" and his asserted foibles. Friend and counsellor of the Judge in this noble endeavor was ex-Republican, ex-Democrat, ex-Socialist, ex-Independent, ex-congressman Fiorello H. LaGuardia, whose aggressive honesty had kept him bouncing from one party to another over a period of twenty hectic years.

Today, after giving New York its "first honest administration in a century", stocky Mayor LaGuardia once more finds himself opposed by a rejuvenated Tammany--a Tammany claiming to have purged itself of its former "Jimmy Hines" leadership. However, political experts still discern under the honeyed words of the 1939 Tiger a vicious organization bent on new graft and new pollution.

Community Eyes On Jefferson

Jefferson High school once again took the community spotlight this week as charges were hurled that Jeffersonians wrecked a street car as they returned from last Friday's football game at Manuel Arts. Two opposing gangs of colored girls were supposed to have staged a free for all on the campus of the Westside institution.

It was revealed yesterday that in both instances the persons involved WERE NOT STUDENTS OF JEFFERSON. The street car company conceded Tuesday that Jefferson had been mistakenly accused, although the guilty parties were Negroes. Thus Jefferson once again has a CLEAN SLATE.

• The Laundry Man

HELLO, FOLKS! I feel an irresistable urge to present to you this week, two samples of AMERICAN JUSTICE which you are privileged to compare with some of the glaringly outrageous practices of Hitlerism, so widely denounced in this shining citadel of Democracy.

I pause to remark that it might be well perhaps, for those of us who rail so rabidly at Hitlerism, to pause and consider the Bible admonition, "L t him who is without sin cast the first stone."

Hitler's persecution of the Jews stunned and shocked the civilized world. Not so much possibly, on account of the unusualness of nature of the atrocities perpetrated, but on account of its lightning sudden-ness, and the fact that the wealthy Jewish race possessed numerous publicity channels by which they kept the world informed as to just what was going on. Voiceless minorities among the subject darker races have been experiencing similar indignities for the last century with this difference; with them, oppression and discrimination have been continuous, a part of the ordered scheme of things, and therefore uninteresting as news.

In support of my argument I beg leave to present two cases in point, taken from the pages of two nationally known news sheets only last week. Case 1:

An article in last week's Pittsburgh Courier stated that one, Willie Richardson, a Negro youth, age somewhere between 17 and 22 years, was executed in the lethal gas-chamber of Central Prison at Raleigh North Carolina last Friday. The supreme penalty was meted out to him for perpetration of a first degree burglary crime—which incidentally netted him an empty pocketbook and a package of cigarettes. During the course of the burglary he brutally beat a young woman. Evidently she survived the beating, as the article did not state that she had died. A search of N. Carolina State records revealed that Richardson was the 8th Negro to receive the death sentence for first degree burglary in that state since 1919.

In last Saturday's edition of a prominent white daily appeared the following item;

"Dr. James Monroe Smith, former president of Louisiana State University, who lost more than two million dollars of money not his own, plunging the stock market, settled his account with the Federal Government for 30 months in prison." The writer might have added that Dr. Smith also used WPA workmen and materials freely to embellish his own private estate; and further, that the vast sum squandered on the stock exchange was State funds expertly highjacked from the pockets of thousands of Louisiana tax-payers rich and poor. WITHOUT THEIR CONSENT. To a humble layman, inexpert at legal quibbling, this sounds like first degree burglary on a big-time scale.

The article concluded with the statement that Smith said he hoped to rehabilitate himself after serving Federal and State sentences. Within a year or two probably he will be released to prey once more upon the hapless but corrupt State of Louisiana.

If Hitler has shown any greater degree of partiality in the difference of his treatment of Jews and pure Aryan Germans, than American justice has shown between ex-president Smith, the deceased Negro, Richardson, and the seven other Negroes executed for first degre burglary in North Carolina since 1919, I would like to know wherein. Justice should at all times be robed in sheer white, luminous, transparent, so that no wire-pulling or pressure, political or private, might be concealed from view. Very often in this country, its Democratic counterpart is so heavily swathed in Gold, and "PULL" that its under-cover meanderings are invisible to all save a gifted few. In Germany, the eight Negroes would doubtless have been executed with scant ceremony. But in all probability, so would ex-president Smith.

The remedy for this sort of glaring inequality in the administration of American justice lies in the mental attitude of the American people. When it changes America will be well on her way to fulfil the Great Destiny that is hers.

Black Blood in White Veins

By Brunold Springer

Ed's Note: The following is an excerpt from "Racial Mixture As A Basic Principle of Life", published by Verlag der Neuen Generation, Berlin. The condensed version is from the August, 1939, issue of Magazine Digest.

The inmixture of Negro blood in the races of the earth is much greater than is generally known, or desired to be known. That is a bit of history which the white races of mankind conceal with shame. The "kinky" hair of many Jews as well as many features of their external appearance is a direct inheritance from the days in Egypt when there was much mingling of Semitic and Negro strains. Often the Negroid aspect is strikingly evinced in personal appearance, as in the case of Dr. Schweninger, Bismark's physician, who had warm African eyes, or of Beethoven, who possessed, in addition, a strain of Malay or Alpine blood as well. Once the characteristic Negro features become familiar to the glance, blond Negroes are often discernible. Gabrielle Rejans, the French actress, had the broad nose and heavy lips of the negroid type.

The Negroes themselves are by no means of pure racial stock, being the product of several merging factors. Two strata predominate: that of the original pygmies, once widely scattered over the earth as far west as Europe, and now confined to the jungles of Africa; and the superstratum, with its infinite variations. The Bantu and the Sudan Negro have been strongly influenced by the peoples of the Orient and the Mediterranean region. The American Negro is a mixture of all African Negro races. During the Stone Age, the Negroes of Africa were widely scattered over the southernmost coast of Europe.

There is a very large percentage of Negro blood in the Spanish people, brought by the slaves who accompanied the Moorish invaders. The Spaniards then carried the black strains farther into Europe, into France and the former Netherlands. When the Spaniards were driven out of the latter lands, about three thousand of them settled in Hamburg and many a Hamburg citizen today bears a striking resemblance to the citizen of Spain.

Portugal was the first example of a Negrito republic in Europe. In the Portuguese runs a deep current of Negro blood and there the Negro has often risen to the caste of nobility. Napoleon's army had many small, black Portuguese soldiers who were nicknamed "the fleas". Sicily, of course, is also profoundly Africanized.

All of this is ancient history. The Romans brought Negro troops to the Rhine and over the Donau. Later the merchants purchased the young Negroes as servants; in all large cities of commerce there were several hundred blacks, and many a house was known simply as "the Moors".

Kings of the past have borne nicknames which were comments on their strikingly dark complexions: Henry III the Black, of Germany; Halfdan, the Black, father of Haralds Schonhaar of Norway; Henry I of England, son of William the Conqueror; and Lessek the Black of Poland.

During the Middle Ages many noblemen, like Cardinal Ippolito Medici, the bastard son of Guiliano, Duke de Nemours, maintained at their courts what were virtually human menageries composed of vaulters of noble North African stock, Tartar archers, black wrestlers, Indian divers, Turks, and so on. In the Italy of the Renaissance, a regular slave system arose as a result. The slaves who were Bulgarian or Circassian, remained in bondage only until they had served out their purchase price, but the Negroes were never freed. Innocence VIII, in 1488, received a present from Ferdinand the Catholic of a hundred Moors, whom he in turn sent as gifts to cardinals and others of exalted rank. Negroes were often employed as jailers and executioners; in the house of Aragon in Naples, they were musicians, swimming and diving instructors. Everywhere they held positions in the army or as valued companions to princes. In 1720 Frederick Williams I of Prussian sold the Brandenburg colony, Gross-Friedrichburg on the Ivory Coast of Africa to Holland, for 2,700 ducats and 12 Moors whom he needed as fife players.

In the circle of people, whose members belong to the Russian, English and German nobility there is much Negro blood, inherited from an ancester who lived at the end of the 18th century, and who was the great-grandfather of one of the greatest poets of all the lands and of all times, Alexander Sergeivitch Pushkin.

In 1705 the Russian ambassador in Constantinople selected the 7 year old son of a chieftain, a child named Ibrahim, from a number of Nubian hostages and sent him as a gift to Peter the Great, who, as was the fashion of the time, wanted to have several Moors at his court. Peter had little Ibrahim baptized and himself acted as godfather. He gave him the name of Ibrahim Petrovich Hannibal, after the great Carthaginian. Contemporary memoirs record that the Nubian, "of extreme ugly and black appearance," possessed brilliant intellectual endowments, which were early recognized by the Czar. His career was meteor-like in its upward flashing splendor. First, he was made Peter's personal page and later, as his secretary, accompanied the monarch on all his military campaigns.

In 1717 he went to Paris to study at the School of Artillery, entered the French army and in the war against Spain attained the rank of captain. On his return home to Russia, under Catherine I he was made a private tutor to the heir of the throne, but under Peter II he was exiled to Siberia for his opposition to Menshikov, the Emperor's favorite. The Empress Elizabeth brought him back as a chamberpage and in 1759 he became General-in-Chief. Peter III came to the throne and Hannibal bade the court farewell. In 1781 he died, aged ninety years. He had been married to a German member of the old Livonian nobility. Half his children were white, half colored. His second son, Ossip, "the Mulatto," became the father of the beautiful tertian, Nadjeszhda Hannibal, who married Sergei Pushkin; of this marriage Alexander Pushkin was the offspring, obviously negroid, and revealing his African ancestry even to the most cursory glance. A friend described him: "He is a striking figure wherever he appears. His deep-black curly hair, the darkness of his complexion and hands, the burning eyes and the peculiar, characteristic white of the eyeballs, affirms the African origin of his forebears".

Among the poet's paternal ancesters the Boyar feudal lords stock were many unusual men. His great-grandfather murdered his wife in a fit of jealousy; his grandfather, for a long time kept his wife a prisoner on the straw pallet in his home and had the French master of court ceremonial hanged; his father was a de-Russianized, Parisianized monomaniacal reader of novels. In 1837, Pushkin, the quatrain, known for his sudden fits of violent anger, was killed in a duel.

His daughter Natalie married a second time at the age of 32, a son of the last ruling Duke of Nassau, who in 1905 died when he was Infantry General of the Prussian Army. The children of this marriage are Barons and Baronesses von Merenberg. The eldest daughter Sophie, who was made Baroness von Torby of Luxemburg, married the Grand Duke Michail Michailovitch of Russia. Their children are in seventh succession descendents of the African and are the great-grandchildren of Alexander Pushkin. The eldest daughter, Anastasia, married Harold Wernher of the House of the Baronets of Wernher; the second daughter, Nadja, married the Marquis of Milford Haven. After six generations the blood of the Negro Ibrahim and that of Peter the Great mingled in marriage and will continue to penetrate further into the aristocratic domain of the moneyed and titular nobility. It was the intermarriage of a Moscow Bojar and a Nubian chieftain, which produced a great poet, a man of genius. Every outstanding talent of man has, biologically speaking, a similarly bizarre history.

Alexander Dumas was, as Heine said, a Mestizo; his grandmother was a native of Haiti, and Dumas Jr., of course, shared the same strain.

Heinrich and Thomas Mann have a Creole grandmother.

The Negroes in America present an especially intricate problem. Three hundred years ago they were brought into the United States from West Africa as laborers and their descendants today compose more than ten per cent of the total population of the country. In Brazil the infiltration has been even more profound, for there one finds hardly a family without some colored blood in its genealogy. There are more than two million castes in the United States and their number is rapidly increasing. Many a beauty owes her dark hair, great eyes and fine, slim hands to a "dash" of colored blood."

Frequently, the products of miscegenation are distinguished by great physical superiority. The unfortunate aspects of such inter-breedings, is that it produces many drunkards, drug-addicts and syphilitics, but it is rank foolishness to ascribe the responsibility for the social worthlessness of such offspring to the anthropological disparity between the parents. The much discussed laxity of their sexual morals is rooted in the evil of the living conditions foisted on them by the exploiting whites.

THE WITCH'S BREW

• THE WORLD THIS WEEK

ARMISTICE DAY—1939

The wild cheering that swept around the world that day in November, 1918 when embattled men lay down their arms, joyously confident that war had come to an end not for a week or a year, but for good, echoes sadly in all hearts today.

Soldiers, millions strong, again man the trenches along Europe's ancient battle line of the silvery Rhine. Northward, along the gray stretches of the Baltic, small nations surrender in bloodless conquest before threatening Might. Westward, across the Pacific, more millions are locked in the deadly embrace of warfare to the bitter end.

The hopes uttered, the dreams visioned, the treaties solemnly signed a score of years ago to seal the doom of war, have alike disappeared from many quarters of the earth. The resort to violence has gain prevailed.

But in America, because of this, the will to peace is no idle gesture on Armistice Day 1939. As the veterans of '17 and '18 paraded down the streets of American cities last Saturday, they knew, as all onlookers know, that America cannot celebrate the war that was to end all wars. But America can celebrate the precious gift of peace. It can celebrate the democratic way of life. It can celebrate the fact that the Armistice of 1918 still prevails for America in the warring world of 1939! In so celebrating, America pledges itself to halt any black-out of Armistice in this nation!

FILLING THE BILL

Not riding the dizzying crest of a boom, but pushing steadily forward, business had news—good news—to tell last week. During the first nine months of 1939, building construction has been really going places on the Pacific Coast, exceeding by several millions of dollars last year's score for the same period. Nationally, residence and commercial building has been no laggard either. From two separate sources come statistical reports showing that construction contracts for the first nine months of this year were all of $500,000,000, greater than the same period during the past eight years! At the same time, Southern California's airplane factories are keeping up their busy hum—so much so, that Donald Douglas, head of one of the largest aircraft plants, announces that he is giving 12,000 employees mass vacations with pay. The country can use a surfeit of such news from the business front. Ably, as they can, industries are trying to fill that bill.

HUNGER—BUT NOT FOR BREAD

Between the short-lived primrose path of the spendthrift and the miser's dark and gloomy road, there's the broad highway of moderation, common-sense and contentment. But wise use of income to gain the maximum in happiness and security is not as widespread as it should be. In the day's news comes the story of Anna Braun, aged 78. Neighbors founds her the other day in her Wisconsin home with a few dried crusts of bread on a bedside table—dead of malnutrition. Urged to secure a doctor, she had said, "I can't afford such things!" After her death, authorities investigated. Pinned to her clothing they found $300 in bills. In the bank, $10,000 in savings credited to her account. What happiness, if any, Anna Braun won from her wealth, was a secret she carried with her to the grave.

HAY-WIRE

Dear Editor:

I liked your article "On the Sidewalk" of Nov. 2nd issue. Civilization (?) seems to be all "hay-wire" and races of like color cannot trust each other; even brothers and sisters do not trust each other—it will get ever worse while this lousy profit-chiseling system of "dog eat dog" continues to function. No longer is it "survival of the fittest", but today the issue is "survival of the crookedest".

WAR IN CANADA

Dear Editor:

My vacation tour of the USA and Canada has been a very enjoyable occasion.

Having made 8 stops between California and New York, I finally arrived in time to see the Fair before the closing date. Next on my itinerary was Boston, thence Montreal, Canada, where I had a very enjoyable time.

My journey from Montreal to Halifax, Nova Scotia (31-hour ride east of Montreal by train) was uneventful until we were within a few miles of my destination. Scheduled to arrive at 6:10 p. m. (2:10 PST), I observed that the conductor lowered all of the window shades and extinguished practically all of the lights, with the exception of the headlight of the locomotive. Meanwhile the speed of the train had been reduced to a mere creep.

Upon inquiring why the strange procedure, I was informed that it was a military order to "blackout" all trains entering and leaving the city at night as a precautionary measure against air raids. Although there have been no air raids to date, military authorities are taking no unnecessary risks.

Several thousand soldiers and marines are concentrated at this point and the city is strongly fortified against attack.

Announcement came over the radio that another German submarine had been sighted at a point within 150 miles of Halifax. This very moment part of the Canadian fleet is guarding the entrance to Halifax harbor and the waters are mined.

Canada's first move will be to send 20,000 soldiers to Europe soon. No men have been drafted as yet. Several race men have sought to enlist, but were politely informed that the Canadian government was not quite ready to accept colored enlistments.

Everyone here has the "war fever". Time and again I have been asked: "Are the people in the States making preparation for war?" To which I replied: "We are striving hard to maintain peace".

Sincerely yours,
CECIL E. WESTBROOKS,
Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Dear Editor:

The circulation manager of The Compton Herald-Shopper told me frankly yesterday (Friday) that the north (Negro) end of the Willowbrook School district should be placed with the Los Angeles School district as soon as possible.

"Too many people are moving into the north end with children," he said. "The south end (white) would be better off if the school district was split, cutting off the area north of 120th street between Alameda and Central avenue."

This man said 'It should be done before February". They want to keep Negroes and Mexicans out of the new schools erected by PWA grant and bond taxation and also transfer the Negro pupils from Compton Junior college and the New Willobroow High school, all built by funds assessed from the entire district.

I have little doubt that officials of the Willowbrook School District are behind this racket to expell the Negroes and Mexicans from the schools which their bonds paid for.

The high school and college is in the white end of the district and the proposal to change the school boundary would be robbery of the most brazen sort if gotten away with. The Board of Supervisors would have something to say in the matter.

It means that the children would have to go 1½ miles to Jordan while the new schools nearby would be monopolised by the whites.

Any change of this school district boundary would be detrimental to the Negroes and Mexicans who compromise one third of the population of Willowbrook.

I was told after an inquiry as to why their papers which contain County Legal and school bond notices are not circulated north of 120th, that the influx of poor people in Willowbrook was not desirable, and "the paper doesn't get that far because of limited circulation.

VOL. 60 — NO. 32 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, NOV. 23, 1939 PRICE 5 CENTS

by c. a. b.

A RECENT ARTICLE in the Saturday Evening Post discussed at length the progress made by the Japanese citizens of Los Angeles. It was pointed out that Orientals had made great strides in the economic world, that they supported a daily newspaper, and were renowned students.

Now, the Japanese population of this city is comparable to that of Negroes, while their position in the city's commercial and industrial life is strikingly superior to that of the colored man.

I have encountered much comment upon this fact, most of it depreciating the Negro population for its backward comparative position. I am a Negro, and, I suppose, it is natural that I seek some favorable explanation for this state of affairs. After devoting much time, thought and research to the problem, I emerged with certain definite conclusions. They are not only favorable, but,I believe, accurate and honest.

First, we must realize what a vital difference in temperament, background and training exists between the two Los Angeles minority groups, the Negro and the Oriental. The Negro must be likened to a sandy stretch of desert—shifting, unsettled, and pliable. The Oriental could be compared to New York's Wall Street—old, sedate, industrious and unchanging.

The Oriental—Japanese, Chinese, or Korean, is the product of an old and established civilization. Attitudes of mind were molded thousands of years ago. The whole Oriental background is one of tradition and custom. The remarkable fidelity to work found among most Orientals, their painstaking and earnest labor at any project, may be explained by the fact that most of them in the Los Angeles area are descendants of the ancient laboring classes, trained by ruthless overlords for centuries into a submissive acceptance of their duties. Mononotous repetition in work, diet—all the human experiences—are borne by Orientals easily; while products of Western civilization soon weary of constant repetition.

Then, too, most Orientals came to America through choice. Their migration to these shores was accomplished without any great break in old custom, or old habits of thinking. Although a rebellious second generation is now developing among them, the Fathers and Mothers of most Oriental families think in the established grooves of the East.

In glaring contrast are the facts of the black man's advent into American life. Although African civilization is very definite and follows patterns similar in some places to the Oriental conception, slaves were abducted against their will, brought to a new and strange land, yanked out of an environment that had been their own for thousands of years.

The various cultures of black Africa were thrown together in one cauldron, in one slave ship, and brought to America.

Owners were quick to stamp out any cultural throwbacks to the old and independent philosophies of Africa by their slaves. The American Way of life was stamped upon slaves with tremendous and devastating impact—there was no argument, no choice.

Thus, when slavery was ended, and blacks were told to go their way in peace, they found themselves in a very strange predicament. Old African cultures had been destroyed in them, and the only new philosophy that had been learned by the multitudes was the simple one of master-and-slave relationship. They were 4 million people suddenly set afloat on the dangerous sea of freedom, without precedents or any previous knowledge of independence.

So, since that fateful day seventy-five years ago when Abraham Lincoln read the Emancipation Proclamation before a little group of Army officers, Negroes have been in quest of a pattern of life that could satisfy their highly specific needs.

The philosophy of Negroes differs with almost every individual. Some burn up the vital energy of their lives in futile hatred of what they term their "white oppressors." Others, play the fool, "Uncle Tom" cower and cringe their way into the favor of "the white boss. Others dream of interracial equality, of free intermarriage and social intercourse. And so it goes—there is no typical Negro.

Thus, the economic advancement of L. A.'s Orientals, made possible only through their remarkable sameness of thought and action, is at this time a rank impossibility for Negroes. Just now we are [illegible] with a great psychological effort to ad-

Negro Justice on Supreme Court?

Urge Negro Jurist Fill Vacancy Caused By Butler's Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. — President Roosevelt was urged to "continue breaking new ground by the appointment of one or more Negroes to full federal judgeships," in a letter sent the Chief Executive today by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Appointment of a Negro justice to the Supreme Court vacancy caused by the death of Justice Pierce Butler was asked for specifically on Monday by the United Government Employees, national organization of Negro Government workers.

Announcement of the NAACP letter was made following publication in the daily press of information to the effect that with the recent death of Supreme Court Justice Pierce Butler, the President now has six federal judgeships to which he may make appointments between now and the time when Congress convenes Jan. 1.

HOUSTON NAMED

A resolution adopted by the U. G. E. proposed Charles H. Houston, chief counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, former dean of the Howard university Law school and member of the District of Columbia Board of Education, as the Supreme Court judge.

The resolution also pointed out that "all classes of the American citizenry have received recognition" in President Roosevelt's Supreme Court appointments and 'the Negro citizenry constitutes one-tenth of the total population of the country and the Supreme Court has 9 justices.

Complete text of the letter, sent by the National Association, and signed by Walter White, executive secretary of the Association, follows:

"We wish respectfully to ask consideration by you of qualified Negro lawyers in the selection of nominees for vacancies now existing in the United States District Court, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and the United States Supreme Court, and also in the five additional district judgeships which will be made available if Congress passes the bill now pending to create five new judgeships.

"It is hardly necessary for us to point out that there are a number of distinguished Negro attorneys who not only have graduated from the leading law schools of the country but who since graduation have made distinguished records both as lawyers and as citizens.

"You have already established a precedent in the appointment of a Negro to the federal judgeship in the Virgin Islands. We urge you to continue breaking new ground by the appointment of one or more qualified Negroes to full federal judgeships within the boundaries of continental United States."

Ex-Inmate of Insane Asylum Decapitates Wife

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21—One of the most brutal murders on record was perpetrated here last week as a former inmate of the state insane asylum went berserk in the French quarter and decapitated his common-law wife.

According to police records, Henderson Daniels, 37, first beat Corinne Jones, 26, with his fists, then hammered her into consciousness with a soda pop bottle, pulled out her teeth with a pair of pliars, then decapitated her with a knife. He suspected her of attempting to poison him, police stated.

Medico's Wife in Sudden Death

Elsewhere in the EAGLE there appears a story, concerning the death of Mrs. Desdemona V. Gordon, which is incorrect in several details.

Contrary to statements therein that Mrs. Gordon died after "a sudden turn for the worse in the illness that has made her a semi-invalid for many years", Mrs. Gordon died five minutes after being taken SUDDENLY ill. Up to that time, she had been enjoying good health, having entertained guests on the day of her death.

A typographical error in the third paragraph of the same story calls Dr. Wilbur C. Gordon, widower of Mrs. Gordon, "Walter Clarence Gordon".

For these errors, the California Eagle extends sincerest apologies to the family of the late Mrs. Gordon.

CONGRATULATIONS—The fine services of the Citizenship Committee in restoring order to high school athletic activities and making the community "school-minded" and vice versa, causes Wm. G. Lopez (right), assistant supervisor of physical education of the Board of Education, to clasp the hand of the Rev. G. Albert Miller, one of the guiding spirits of the committee. When the picture was made, the committee had just organized a group of volunteers, made up of grads and former students in the city high schools, to police the Coliseum during the annual P-TA football carnival. Woman Didn't Die as Result of Mob Beating, Report Says Eagerly awaited General hospital autopsy report this week tossed a monkey wrench into plans for court action in the death of Mrs. Geraldine (McCoy) Taylor, former washroom attendant of the Park Department, who was the victim of a brutal mob assault July 30 at Griffith Park. The woman died Friday, Nov. 10, at General hospital from pneumonia and kidney disease.

Survivors of Mrs. Taylor, who contend her kidney ailment was due to the mob beating, had hoped that the General hospital report, issued Monday by the Medical Director, would substantiate claims. However, the official statement held, "Mrs. Taylor died from kidney disease and pneumonia. No evidence of it being attributable to beating or foul play."

In a sensational statement, Dr. S. H. Kestenbaum, Mrs. Taylor's private physician, stated last week, "It is my personal opinion that the exposure and shock that Mrs. Taylor suffered from the manhandling undoubtedly paved the way for her fatal illness. Her weakened condition made her susceptible to any infection."

On July 31, Mrs. Taylor was set upon and beaten by a mixed white gang, angered because she would not move her automobile, parked near a ladies' rest room at Griffith Park, which she attended in order that one of them might park in her place. After annoying the woman all afternoon, allegedly committing revolting nuisances on the floor of the ladies' rest room, the hoodlums beat her with their fists, sticks and stones and kicked her brutally. A crowd, estimated a thousand strong, watched the attack. Several policemen, it was stated, stood by and after the woman had been thoroughly abused, arrested her for disturbing the peace, allowing her attackers to go unmolested.

Dr. Kestenbaum, who attended Mrs. Taylor, at the time termed her arrest "a nasty preversion of justice." She suffered a cerebral concussion and internal injuries.

As a result of untreated injuries, Mrs. Taylor fainted Sunday, Sept. 10, while on duty at Westlake Park. Given emergency treatment at Georgia Street Receiving hospital but refused admission to the General hospital, Mrs. Taylor was denied medical treatment at the City's expense and workmen's compensation. Officials of the Park Department said she was exempted from compensation because she was not an industrial worker. There was considerable controversy over this issue at the time, and the Department finaly relented.

Three weeks ago, Mrs. Taylor contracted a cold, followed by dread pneumonia.

The brutal attack and its subsequent tragedy has been called "one of the most unfortunate incidents in Park Department history."

Correction

The EAGLE apologizes for the mistake in the article in last week's issue, (Nov. 16), concerning the Ministers' Wives Council. Mrs. Florence Harris, newly elected president of the Council, is the wife of Rev. Frank Harris, presiding elder of the Los Angeles district of the AME church, and not of Rev. Grant Harris of Zion Hill Baptist church.

The Council will meet this week with Mrs. Annie Marshall. Mrs. Beatrice Prentice and Mrs. Pearl Moten will be co-hostesses and Mrs. B. C. Carter, president, will preside.

Overwork and excitement caused by the Randolph meeting were blamed for the leader's collapse.

Council Delays Eastside Project

Consideration of a 17-acre site at 51st and Central avenue for the Eastside's low cost housing project was deferred today until later this week by the City Council whose approval is mandatory before construction may begin.

Scheduled to take final action on three proposed sites for Los Angeles County's initial ventures into federal housing, the Council voted to consider each location, Sawtelle, San Pedro and 51st and Central avenue separately.

Councilman Carl C. Rasmussen of the 7th district, commenting yesterday on the housing authorities' selection of the Central avenue district, said he felt that the Council would approve the tract.

JUDGE SAYS THOMAS TRAYLOR DOESN'T FIT INTO MYSTERY MURDER

Perjured Testimony Claimed as Man Tried for Murder of Woman Goes Free

One of the three men named Thomas, involved in the mystery murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Franklyn, 50-year old housewife, was acquitted by Judge Thomas Ambrose last Thursday morning in Department 42 of the Superior Court.

In freeing Thomas Traylor, oil mill worker, Judge Ambrose described the background of the case as "intricately woven" and said Traylor did not fit into it in "anyway whatsoever".

Traylor was on trial for the murder last summer of Mrs. Franklin. She was shot Aug. 18, after being raped, robbed and beaten, in an alley at the rear of 1432 E. 25th street. She died Sept. 4 at the General hospital, after 17 days of paralysis, induced by the bullet wound in her spine.

PERJURED TESTIMONY

Through defense attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., Traylor claimed that Mrs. Franklyn was threatened or cajoled into a perjured testimony just before she died. On her death bed, Mrs. Franklyn is alleged to have told Thomas McKnight, with whom she had kept a rendezvous the night of the shooting, that Thomas Traylor had shot her.

McKnight, who gave that information to arresting officer Sid Hendricks, claimed that his sweetheart had recognized Traylor by a gap in his front teeth and a heavy beard worn that night. She said to have known Traylor in Bakersfield.

From a procession of 15 witnesses, Att'y Gordon sensationally produced Miss Anna Franklyn, daughter of the murdered woman, who blasted the prosecution's case by accusing McKnight of forcing her mother to say Traylor was her assailant. Miss Franklyn testified that McKnight held a whispered conversation with her mother at the hospital, and that she heard McKnight tell the dying woman three times to accuse Traylor.

The dead woman's statements were read from the transcript of the preliminary examination, held at the hospital before her death, into Thursday's trial.

"Thomas Traylor is the man", Mrs. Franklyn moaned from the bed.

"I knew him in Bakersfield, California. I recognized him because of his gap in his front teeth and he also had a heavy beard that night."

Later in the examination, she said, "No, I didn't see his face at all that night."

Other witnesses for the defense testified that Traylor had attended a party the night of the shooting and that he was clean shaven. Mrs. Lillie Mae Holloway, Traylor's fiance, accounted for his whereabouts from 10 p. m. to 5:30 a. m. Aug. 18.

Another witness, Delarener Powers, told the court of a fight between McKnight the accusor of Traylor and Thomas Franklyn, the dead woman's husband. Powers said the two fought at 25th and Hooper on the afternoon of Aug. 16, presumably over Mrs. Franklyn.

In a dramatic appearance, Traylor, testifying in his own behalf, denied having known Mrs. Franklyn and accused Newton street detective Young of beating him in an effort to obtain a confession.

Judge Reserves Decision in Md. Equal Salary Fight

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 21.—What officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People regard as the most significant case in the long fight to equalize the salaries of white and colored teachers in southern and border states, came to a close here Wednesday when United States District Judge W. Calvin Chesnut reserved decision in the case of Walter Mills, Anne Arundel County school principal, who is seeking to have the county board of education pay him a salary equal to that of a white principal doing similar work.

The case, which took three days for the hearing of arguments, was the first such action brought in the Federal courts, stipulating that a county board of education be required to equalize the salaries of white and colored teachers, of similar experience and doing the same work.

• ON THE SIDEWALK

just ourselves to the paradoxes of American life—the bewildering civilization that says we are free in one breath and lynches us in the next. We are a people in search of a soul.

THIS WEEK we celebrate "the Roosevelt Thanksgiving"—that is, most of us will. There is a very strong chance that certain citizens will not celebrate until the following week—for political reasons.

When I was a youngster, Thanksgiving was, with the exception of Christmas, my favorite holiday. There was an intangible charm about the day that was removed even from such gastronomical considerations as pumpkin pie, cranberry sauce, and turkey.

A quarter century ago, the world moved at a much slower pace. Thanksgiving was permitted to mean so much more than a gratifying run in prices on the grocery market. I can recall the great family dining room table spread for the annual feast. Around the festival board were all members of the family, and we joined in hearty banter—that peculiarly hilarious teasing which only a family group can inspire.

There was a leisurely friendliness in the old "Thanksgiving" atmosphere that is lost today, that has never been known by the current generation. Throughout the nation, a sort of mellowness descended upon the people that left with them only room for speculation on such important topics as pie and ice cream—and subsequent bicarbonate of soda.

To shift the Thanksgiving date for business reasons then would have been unthinkable, a revolting insult to the reverence of the Day. True, up until sixty year ago Thanksgiving had been shifted on many occasions, but never because of a Merchants Association's petition. War, epidemics and similar catastrophes might have affected the celebration date, but never mere Businessman's pressure.

Perhaps we can find in the apparent change of attitude which sanctions such a procedure in 1939 a striking symbol of the shift in human thinking that has come about in the past twenty-five years.

1914 marked the end of one of the world's calmest periods. It was thought during the preceding epoch that large scale war was a figment of a dead and barbaric past. Fourth of July orators pointed out eloquently that the world would never again sacrifice its youth in a terrible conflict.

But in various places thruout the globe, great men were thinking, And, as ever, when great men think, a generation of young men was to perish. In America, the injustices of rapid capitalistic expansion were being brought home to the people by a lunatic fringe of radicals. Karl Marx had already written his great books expounding the theory of communism. In England, the complacence of the Victorian Age had drawn to a close, and Edward the Seventh was creating a merry whirl of royal scandal. Imperceptibly tempo was quickening, world-wide pace stepping up, vainly trying to keep in step with the visionary dreamers who launched themselves headlong into new theories of social and economic reform.

Finally, the bubble burst, and the first World War was declared. In four tragic years, two of Europe's most ancient Empires rumbled to the dust, and three great monarchies perished. Hohenzollern, Hapsburg, and Romanoff; German, Austrian and Russian fell in the chaos of revolution. Flaring red communism in Russia, disastrous socialism in Germany, complete dismemberment of the once proud Austrian empire. The first stage in the great transition of modern civilization had taken place, and the world was left prostrate. Time out, then, for another generation to grow into manhood.

We are living in one of the most significant epochs in all history, an age of stupendous conflict, whether military or intellectual. We in America have the sanity to fight our internal battle without recourse to arms. However, in essence, it is the same struggle taking place with bloody horror throughout Europe. It is the same tremendous clash of thought and theory, the same bitter battle of progress and prejudice, hatred of the new and disgust for the old.

Perhaps the great issues at stake today will not finally be solved for another fifty or hundred years. Perhaps none of us alive today will know the answer; will know what kind of civilization our children shall develop.

But with all the momentous struggle throughout the earth, with all the great conflicts being fought, we are not able to find the simple, human joys that other generations knew. Of course, during all past eras there has been change, important change. But never before has the world hurtled along at such breathtaking speed. Never before was our final destination so little known.

No, Thanksgiving Day in 1939 is not the same. The homely holiday that many of us once knew cannot come again. The old faith has gone.

Today, what are we truly thankful for? Not very much, I suspect, thought it is easy to give a smug list of eligibles. No doubt, there will be a great deal of lip service to democracy, peace, prosperity, and security next Thursday. But it will not ring true. With all the world swirling in conflict, America cannot remain isolated. Perhaps we will not share in mliitary participation, but the battle will be with us, nevertheless. The battle . . . the strife . . . the discord.

We are, indeed, living in a strange and bewildered time.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text is from 1 Corinthians: "What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?"

The Lesson-Sermon includes also these passages from Matthew: "And when Jesus departed thence, two blind men followed him, crying, and saying, Thou son of David, have mercy on us. . . . and Jesus saith unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They said unto him, Yea, Lord. Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it unto you. And their eyes were opened." These selections from Mark are also presented: "And they bring unto him one that was deaf, and had an impediment in his speech; . . . And looking up to heaven, he sighed, and saith unto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened. And straightway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plain."

Among the passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy are the statements: "There is more Christianity in seeing and hearing spiritually than materially. . . . The apprehension of this gave sight to the blind and hearing to the deaf centuries ago, and it will repeat the wonder."

BUILDERS SAY BILL OF RIGHTS FORGOTTEN AS IT AFFECTS MINORITIES

Organization Proposes 9-Point Program for Immediate Action at Dinner Meeting

Demanding observance of the Bill of Rights in Los Angeles, the Community Builders, Inc., held a dinner meeting Friday night in the blue room of the Clark hotel to which members of the police commission had been invited.

None of the commissioners showed up, although it was stated by coordinator Hugh V. MacBeth, who presided, that their dinners were paid for and transportation to and from the meeting was offered by the organization.

Reading the Bill of Rights and the proposed program calling for immediate action insofar as the Amendments to the Constitution are concerned, attorney MacBeth said:

"I am walking that lonesome road—walking it alone—and will continue to do so until I see what is around me restored to the people. I am serving notice, that from now on the fight is on!"

PROPOSE PROGRAM

The Community Builders, it was stated, recognizes a practical abandonment of the Bill of Rights insofar as the minority peoples of Los Angeles are concerned. The following program of immediate action was accordingly proposed and all public officials are asked to earnestly cooperate:

"1. The discontinuance of the practice of raiding homes, business places, clubs and places of amusement or general congregation, without a search warrant.

"2. The use of sledge hammers and other instruments of destruction to destroy property in raids without a proper order of court authorizing such destruction.

"3. The use of stool pigeons from the underworld and secret informers from the professional and civic life of the community, whether they be operating from motives of revenge, profit, religion or morality.

"4. The elimination of all brute force and violence in making arrests and in the custody of arrested persons.

"5. The establishment of a definite policy of warning before arresting for minor misdemeanor.

"6. The recognition of established Negro leadership which has stood the test of stress and time, for consultation and cooperation in the forming of initial policies of law enforcement.

"7. The discontinuance of the custom of consulting with domestic servants, stool pigeons and favored informers by public officials, in establishing law enforcement policies and in the execution of such policies.

"8. The cooperation of all sources of employment to the end of eliminating unemployment as a social factor.

"9. The effective application of all laws of health and sanitation to the life of the minority groups."

To accomplish the above, coordinator MacBeth said the Community Builders pledges its loyal cooperation with all loyal organizations and individuals seeking the good of all human beings in Los Angeles and vicinity.

HOW TO EFFECT IT

To effect this program the Community Builders said (1) there would be a longtime fight to re-establish the Bill of Rights among the minority groups of Los Angeles—a five-year plan; (2) the cost of this will amount to at least $10,000 a year; (3) the services of every minority group lawyer who is available and who has the courage to fight for the Bill of Rights will be utilized; (4) it is planned to file civil suits on each officer found violating the Bill of Rights; (5) we will oppose the city defending these men in their violations at the expense of the taxpayers; (6) intention to have a daily report and check on all arrests among the minority groups.

To Hold Rites Today for Medic's Wife

Funeral services will be held today (Tuesday) at the Second Baptist church for Mrs. Desdemona V. Gordon, wife of Dr. Wilbur C. Gordon, prominent physician. Mrs. Gordon died Saturday morning at her home after a sudden turn for the worse in the illness that has made her a semi-invalid for many years.

Born in Providence, Rhode Island in 1883, Mrs. Gordon was educated in Washington, D. C., where her parents moved in 1897. After graduation from Howard university, she was appointed to the government service in the Census Bureau.

While engaged in that work, she met Walter Clarence Gordon, a medical student at Howard, who was also employed in the government service in the treasury department. The two were married in 1904.

After enjoying a successful practice in Springfield, Ohio, Dr. Gordon moved with his bride to California. In San Francisco the young medico passed the State Medical Board and moved again to Los Angeles.

The late Mrs. Gordon affiliated early with the Second Baptist church. A staunch supporter of all constructive activity, she was beloved in the circles in which she moved.

Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery, Roberts' Mortuary in charge.

Broadus Mitchell to Speak at YMCA Dec. 3

The women's auxiliary of the Urban league, assisted by the Membership Sponsors committee, will give a tea honoring the new members of the league who were brought in during the July-August campaign, at the 28th Street branch, YMCA, Dec. 3, from 4 to 7 p. m.

There will be an address by Dr. Broadus Mitchell, former professor of John Hopkins university and now teaching at Occidental college, this city. Dr. Mitchell has been a member of the Urban league of Baltimore for more than 14 years. He is a very able speaker and has been most outstanding in the field of sociology and economics. He has kept up a long and bitter fight to open the doors of John Hopkins University to Negro students.

There will also be a special musical program.

EXTRA CARE NEEDED DRIVING AT DUSK

Traffic accidents occuring during dusk or darkness accounted for 19,200 or 59 per cent of the 32,400 motor vehicle fatalities in the United States last year, reports the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Extra precautions should be taken by motorists now that most of the driving home from work is during the dangerous transition period.

Science Thanksgiving Day Services Set for Thursday

Thanksgiving Day services will be conducted on Thursday in Churches of Christ, Scientist. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Thanksgiving" and the Golden Text is from 1 Thessalonians: "Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In everything give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

Among the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon are these verses from the Psalms: "O give thanks unto the LORD; call upon His name: make known his deeds among the people." "Serve the LORD with gladness: come before his presence with singing. Know ye that the LORD he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves: we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture. Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name. For the LORD is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations."

The Lesson-Sermon presents also these words from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech . . . What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love and good deeds."

During the service an opportunity will be afforded Christian Scientists in the congregation to give testimonials appropriate to

To make knowledge valuable, you must have the cheerfulness of wisdom. Goodness smiles to the last.—Emerson.

BROWN INSTRUCTOR TRAVELS BY CANOE

I., recently left here to spend a year on a canoe trip down the Allegany, Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to the Gulf of Mexico. Noble expects to paint and write on his way. He is making the trip in a specially constructed canoe, capable of carrying 1,900 pounds of camping equipment.

Proposed Bus Line May Not Do L. A. Any Good, Claim

The Proposed Bus line, which comes to the voters again on Dec. 12, as Proposition 1 on the ballot, would probably never do the citizens of Los Angeles a bit of good. This is because the proposed buses will probably never give service in this area and if they did, the fares would probably be higher than those we are now paying.

Nowhere in Proposition No. 1 as it is being submitted to the voters, does it make any reference to the extent of services to be rendered, areas to be covered or schedules to be followd.

The Proposition calls for a new Board of Commissioners and names three men, all inexperienced in transportation and business problems, as Commissioners with absolute authority to spend millions, hire any number of employees, manage the system and have unlimited expense accounts, besides paying them $60,000 over four years as salaries.

This Board may buy new or used equipment; it may run buses where it pleases, when it pleases and eliminate any areas it pleases.

The Proposition calls for a fare that is "fair and equitable" and does NOT guarantee a 5 cents fare, as these promoter-commissioners would have you believe.

All this can be defeated by a "NO" vote on Proposition 1 on Dec. 12.

Jeff Evening Students to Get U.S. Jobs

One hundred twenty-six students of Jefferson Evening High school are busily preparing to become public employes, especially mail carriers and clerks, under the direction of Homer Price, Civil Service instructor. Price, a former Civil Service Examiner, asserts that most people fail Civil Service examinations because of fear and that it is the trained man with his fear complex demoved by a Civil Service course who is most apt to pass Civil Service examinations. In spite of the size of the Civil Service Class, there is still room for new students to enroll, it was stated.

Mrs. Rowe, shorthand instructor, has announced that she has a number of students gaining speed in her dictation classes in preparation for the clerical positions which will open as a result of increased business activity due to the war. Her 6:30 class is especially designed to maintain and improve the skill of those who already have a knowledge of shorthand and is still open to new students.

Statistics reveal that 90 per cent of those who have lost their jobs have lost them because of their inability to adjust themselves to other people. Because of this, Jefferson is starting a new class known as Personal Regimen, a study in human relations.

Mother Finds Daughter Dead

Mrs. Hattie Thrasher, 887 E. 41st place, found her daughter, Pearl, lying in bed dead when she went to awaken her last Saturday morning, Newton street police reported today.

The mother of the dead woman, who was 35, said that her daughter had been receiving treatment for the past six years for heart trouble.

Pronounced dead of natural causes, attendants removed the body to the county morgue.

League Develops New Project for Men

The local Urban league is developing a gardening and landscaping apprenticeship project as a means of creating employment for many men. All persons having an interest in, or knowledge of: care of lawns, planting and care of shrubs and trees, etc., who would go into this work professionally should contact the Urban League employment bureau at once, it was stated.

The Urban league has now under its sponsorship a very excellent school for the training of aviation mechanics. Any person interested in receiving a thorough training in aerial mechanics should contact the League's office at once. The aviation industry offers more opportunity for employment than almost any other industry at present.

The League office this week began an education lecture forum for employment applicants who sit in the reception room for several hours in hopes of receiving employment.

These classes will take up such subjects as: how to make a job, how to analyze yourself, consumers' cooperatives, scientific poultry raising, and how to get a job, how to hold a job, and how to leave a job.

AUTOS TODAY COST THIRD 1907 PRICE

When Mr. Motorist begins to revamp his budget to meet the first payment on his 1940 automobile, he should be glad that this isn't 1907. The average price of an automobile today is about one-third of 33 years ago. In that year the average automobile cost $2131, with windshield, top, and horn extra.

To Apply to WPA for Park in Central Avenue Gardens

Plans completed and approved for the development of Will Rogers Memorial Park at Success avenue and 103rd street in Central Avenue Gardens, L. A. County, will in a few days make application to the WPA—the final step to bring about this needed recreational area for the community, it was announced today by Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough.

The plans showing how the park will be developed have been approved by representatives of the various organizations of the community and at the regular session of the County Regional Planning Commission on Oct. 25, the plans were formally approved paving the way for the immediate action to apply to W. P. A.

Approval of the Federal government will be secured shortly. It is necessary because the labor work is to be done through W. P. A.

WATER SYSTEM

The first work will consist of necessary grading and drainage. Water systems must also be installed before any developments can be realized. Eventually the barren tract at Success avenue and 103rd St. will be transformed into a beautiful recreational center which will be a credit to the community and provide opportunities for wholesome outdoor activities for both young and old.

Construction work and for which plans are now completed include a community building, five tennis courts, various play apparatus and equipment, two softball diamonds, horseshoe courts, volleyball and basketball courts, and handball courts. A large picnic area is also being provided, equipped with tables, benches and stoves.

Two softball diamonds will be so constructed that they can be converted into a standard length football field for use during the football season. This proposal is an innovation in playground development and is widely hailed as one of the most progressive steps taken in recent years in planning recreational sites.

Thanksgiving Season Good Time to Share Good Fortune

"There can be no more appropriate time to think of the less privileged and to share a little of our good fortune with them than during our Thanksgiving season. Keep in mind that all gifts of whatever size are needed and welcome, as it is the combined contributions that will prevent unnecessary suffering among the sick, dependent children, and the families in distress. The major portion of Chest funds being for the benefit of children."

This is the appeal made by local workers, headed by Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, Mrs. C. D. Frederick, Mrs. Ida Aldridge, Mrs. Joan Johnston Willis, and Mrs. Genevieve Wade to community residents here. They state that anyone who has not as yet been visited can make his or her contribution at local headquarters, 1006 E. 28th street, YMCA, or a telephone call will immediately bring a volunteer for the donation.

Campaign leaders continue to express optimism as larger business houses show an increase of more than 15 per cent in gifts from 126 out of 176 firms which have completed solicitation. The larger donor group, which annual contributes aproximately 68 per cent of all Chest funds, also shows an increase of 6 per cent, while groups after group throughout the residential areas have reported "over the top."

REPORT SOON

Local workers are steadily bringing in contributions according to Mrs. Alvin Brockway, chairman of the Exposition-Adams district. Mrs. Josephine Brown, 849 E. Santa Barbara avenue, who is volunteering again this year for work among the larger givers, is giving an excellent account, the leader stated, and is expected to make a fine report within a few days.

The Exposition-Adams district now ranks fifth among residential areas having brought in 682 subscriptions, amounting to $5,774.00 or 30 per cent of quota.

Total campaign results as of Friday noon, were 54,242 subscriptions, totaling $544,573.00, 16.9 per cent of goal of $3,221,720 or the resudt of solicitation since the elections.

Armstrong Sued By Local Miss

As long as trumpet king Louis Armstrong remains in New York where he is appearing at the renowned Cotton Club, he is safe from legal difficulties, growing out of a suit for $35,000 damages filed against him in Superior Court last Thursday.

Shocking Hollywood where Armstrong is a familiar figure, having been featured in several Paramount pictures, the suit named Miss Polly Jones, 24-year old entertainer as plaintiff.

Miss Jones claimed that from Dec. 15, 1937 to Aug. 19, 1938, she had been led to believe by Armstrong that the two would marry. She was shocked, she said, when on the latter date, Armstrong married a Texas miss.

Moreover, Miss Jones, through downtown attorneys alleges, the musician claimed, throughout their friendship, to be unmarried. She learned later that he was divorced in July, 1938.

FELTON-ELLSWORTH NUPTIAL PRINCIPALS

Local Society Matron, Chicagoar United in One of Fall Season's Most Fashionable Weddings

One of the most fashionable weddings of the Fall season last Sunday united a prominent Los Angeles society matron and a well known Chicagoan. Before approximately 200 persons, gathered at her lovely Michigan avenue home, Mrs. Theresa Felton became the bride of Blakeley Gillespie Edwards of Chicago.

Under the expert direction of decorator Ralph Porter, an aisle and altar had been constructed of white ribbons, chrysanthemums and candles.

The bride, active in civic as well as social circles, wore a gown of flowered blue net over moire silk of blue. The bodice was close-fitting and the skirt long and full. Talisman roses made up the bridal bouquet and the same flowers embellished an ice blue coronet on her head. Blue shoes completed the ensemble.

Overcrowding with cold victims in public conveyances, movies and other gathering places is one source of infection. The handling of dishes and food by them is another. Or, cold or no cold, they may be the kissing kind. An important danger in the household is the servant. Like in typhoid, cholera and dysentery, if the servant is infected, the family will soon have the disease. This is not a pleasant thought. The precautions necessary for the servant to take to prevent herself from being a menace are simply beyond the capacaties of her class. The solution of the problem is obvious, if inconvenient. Send her home until she is well.

The same problem appears and the same solution applies in the case of the restaurant employe. But will it be applied?

The trouble is that the cold victims are not worried about catching colds. If some Draconian law could force those who have colds to worry, the common cold would be no longer common.

If the cold victim wishes to show some consideration for humanity, he must remember that the smallest drop-let from his nose or mouth is a danger. If he must remember miv with his fellows, the ideal thing would be to wear a mask and use the paper handkerchief technic of the tuberculosis sanatorium. The least he should do is to keep a large masculine handkerchief over his face when he must cough and dispose of his handkerchief in a way they can do no harm. My school girl of yesterday had a cloth gauzelike affair about 5 inches square.

But it is too soon to depend on the precautions the victim might take. Our present defense is to prevent our exposure to infection, especially in overcrowded, stuffy atmosphere. If it is imperative that we expose ourselves, it would be logical to wear a mask. Unfortunately, at present we haven't the nerve, even in the presence of an epidemic. Some day we will. Then we will wonder why we have been such fools to care about our appearance.

In addition to these precautions involving isolation, there appears only one factor of value in the prevention of colds, and in decreasing their seriousness: the maintenance of good health by all the logical means of proper exercise and rest, avoidance of excessive fatigue and exposure and the consumption of adequate nourishment—providing an ample supply of vitamins. Certain cases in the susceptible class bring out this point strikingly.

There is a sweet young lady whom nature designed to have curves. Just as long as this lady follows the diet which assures those curves and while she dresses according to the weather, she enjoys fairly good health. But the moment she tries to reduce her curves or neglects to wear her rubbers when she should, she is in for a cold which is sure to last a month.

Two other methods of prevention are popular: First, the hardening process by cold baths and equally rigorous procedures. But those who apply this method seem to have about the average amount of colds. Second, vaccines, either by hypodermic or by mouth, are widely prescribed. In fact, the sweet lady with the curves is now taking a series of dose of one of these bacteriologic hashes designed to establish immunity to colds.

This article will be continued next week.

Signing off until next week, Your announcer, Ruth J. Temple, M. D., Station KWA (Keep Well Always). And remember, "Good Health is your most valuable asset."

Terpsichorean Club Thanks Friends

The Terpsichorean Girls Social club wishes to take this means of thanking the various clubs for their marvelous support at the introductory formal dance given recently at the Masonic hall. We think we can truthfully say that everyone who attended had a wonderful time. The girls and a small group of guest had an equally lovely time at the installation outdoor barbecue given shortly after the dance. Also we are looking forward to an enjoyable time at a bridge tournament planned for the Thanksgiving holidays.

It is the custom of the Terpsichorean Girls to present each new bride with a bed spread. Your reporter happened to be the fortunate one this time. I thanked the girls in person at the presentation of the spread, and I would like to thank them again for such a lovely and useful gift.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Hazel Spriggs on Friday evening, Nov. 25th.

Mildred Bouldin, pres.; Hazel Spriggs, sec'y; Emma Thierry, reporter.

LILAC GIRLS CLUB

The Lilac girls club met at the lovely home of Miss Janet Nestly recently. After a brief business meeting, the members engaged in bridge, with Mrs. Ella Cotton winning first prize, Mrs. Anna Washington, second and Mrs. Hazel Junkin, third. The guests for the evening were Miss Arolia Clark, who won the guest prize and Miss Edith Paradise.

The Itching, Burning, Soreness of PIMPLES (OF EXTERNAL ORIGIN) ...CAN SURELY MAKE YOU FEEL MISERABLE

If you are suffering from such trouble you know the above statement is a true one. Why continue to be miserable—do this:

Go to your druggist and get yourself a package of Black and White Ointment and a bar of Black and White Skin Soap—it's a famous "combination".

First, cleanse the affected part of dirt and other material by washing with mild, super-fatted Black and White Skin Soap. Next apply Black and White Ointment. It acts as an antiseptic-germicidal dressing in the relief of itching, burning and soreness of superficial pimples, blackheads and acne of external origin.

Use Black and White Ointment also to relieve itching, burning, soreness due to dry eczema (salt rheum tetter) of external origin, or simple ringworm or minor parasitic skin irritation.

The 50c size of Black and White Ointment contains more than twice as much as the 25c size. Large bar Black and White Skin Soap, 25c. Trial sizes of both Black and White Ointment and Skin Soap are sold for 10c at all five and ten cent stores everywhere.

BEAUTY AND ROMANCE
SPONSORED BY LARIEUSE BEAUTY FOUNDATION

The Larieuse Beauty Foundation was established by the Godefroy Manufacturing Company to study methods of preserving women's natural beauty, and to make the results of this research available to the public.

AVOID DRY SKIN

The vast majority of women are troubled with dry skin. Those whose skins are only moderately dry can depend through the milder months on an occasional application of night cream after their evening cleansing to keep their skin in fairly good condition. Those whose skins are extremely dry must keep at them all year round to ward off flakiness and premature wrinkles.

But whether your skin is very dry or just dry, the cold weather is a definite handicap to complexion beauty. Winter winds are cruel regardless of the texture of your skin and if you don't observe a few simple precautions, your skin will become harsh, weather-beaten and deeply lined.

Foundation Cream Essential

One of the first essentials for a lovely skin these cold days is a good foundation cream. Never venture into the wintry winds without first covering your face with foundation cream, which also acts as a powder base. As you know, this cream goes on before your make-up and is a tremendous help in blending your make-up and making it adhere for longer periods. It also protects the skin against wind and weather and prevents the dirt and soot from becoming lodged in the pores.

In selecting a powder base, however, be sure to get one that blends with your complexion. Too light a cream will give you a pasty, unhealthy look while one that is too dark will make your skin look dirty. A lighter shade, however, may be used at night when the lights are soft, just as you may use brighter rouge and lipstick. If you are only going to have one foundation cream, however, choose one that matches your skin tone as nearly as possible.

Use A Rich Night Cream

While a good foundation cream will go a long way toward warding off chapped skin, a rich night cream is also important to the woman with dry skin. A good night cream, rubbed into the skin after cleansing and left on overnight, will leave the skin soft and smooth regardless of the weather.

And don't forget your hands and elbows these blood-chilling days. Buy a good hand lotion and use it every time you wash your hands. A little of your night cream rubbed into your hands and elbows at bedtime will keep them from looking red and rough.

These are simple precautions and well worth the time and trouble they take. Beauty is only skin deep but if your skin is chapped and peeling, what have you left?

What are your beauty problems? Write Marie Downing, Larieuse Beauty Foundation, Room 521—319 North Fourth St., St. Louis, Mo., and she will be glad to answer them. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

"Build-Up": Way To Relieve Women's Pain

Many weak, run-down women are in a vicious circle. Their undernourishment often leads to what is called functional dysmenorrhea and its symptoms—headaches, nervousness, irritability, intermittent cramp-like pains—from which many women suffer. Surest way to break the vicious circle is by building strength and energy, which so many find may be done with the help of CARDUI. It stimulates appetite, aids digestion, and thus helps in this "buildup" of physical resistance. Women also report that, if taken just before and during "the time", CARDUI lessens the pain and discomfort of the period.

BIG LONDON CHATTER

By EDWIN M. HURDLE

Phone 4-6521 2409 Jordan St., Dallas, Texas

DALLAS, Nov. 23—One taking a walk down Thomas avenue can see the faces of many persons who have felt the balmy breezes of Southern California and enjoyed the queenly hospitality of San Francisco matrons . . . Miss Essie Lois Reid, carming "school marm" in Dallas, relating the swanky luncheln she attended in the home of Mrs. Thelma Praylor of 1523 La Gunia street in San Francisco last summer. While on the West coast, she visited Mrs. K. Lamb of 2614 Griffith street in Los Angeles, and Mrs. Octavia Young of 226-22 North avenue in Seattle Washington . . . Miss Mamie Wright, one of Big London's most accomplished music teachers, was a pleasant visitor on her recent vacation to the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. James of 5017 Compton street in the city of Angels . . . Mrs. Ruby Hickman, H. S. Thompson School instructress, is already packed, bag and baggage, to return after school days to 1243 E. 35th street in Los Angeles where live her sisters, Miss Z. Boswell and Mrs. Audrey Bradshaw, son, Maurice Hickman, and nephew, Ronald B. Bradshaw . . . . Mrs. Eula Grant and little Classy of 2506 Dyson street, visited their daughter and sister, Miss Ruby Lee Grant recently and are still talking about the wonderful time they had . . . . The boys around Thomas and Hall streets miss "A" Walter Washington of motion picture producing aspirations. Al has quit Big London for Sunny Cal . . . Anyway, he used to operate the motion picture machine at the High School Theatre on Cochran street when we boys and girls used to see "The Diamond fro mthe Sky," "The Red Circle," and other continued flickers of that day. We imagine Al is living in Long Beach, California where his mother resides or trying to find the once famous Negro motion picture star, Clarence Brooks . . . McKinley "Mac" Ward, former manager of this city's most efficiently operated window cleaning business, will please send us his Los Angeles address immediately. The fellows here miss his inspirational talks and those gestures, only he can make . . . Mrs. Ruby Pollard Reid, now in Los Angeles, is "severely" missed from Flo-Ru-Mai's, a smart dress shoppe she helped to make one of importance in Dallas, and by many of the home folks. No doubt she is continuing in business out there on the golden coast . . . "Breezy" Maurice Foster is certainly doing well as a business man at the Cafe Drug. Big London is expecting great things of him, and is going to back with support to the limit.

. . . . M. P. Shannon at Palm Barber Shop is one of the best shoe cleanin experts in the business. How he can make old shoes look like new is enough to puzzle one.

FOR THE PUBLIC WELFARE
Like any other member of the community, the Edison Company pays taxes for the support of local, state and federal governments. Edison taxes for 1938 were $7,593,939—nearly double those paid ten years ago. Yet, while taxes, and all other operating expenses, have increased, Edison electric rates have steadily decreased. Edison rates are now among the lowest in the nation.

Need Laxative? Take An All-Vegetable One
Don't let impatience lead you into harsh measures for the relief of constipation!
There's no use. A little spicy, all-vegetable BLACK DRAUGHT taken by simple directions, will gently persuade your bowels. Take it at night. That should give you plenty of time for sleep.
Morning usually brings punctual, thorough relief from constipation's sympatoms — headaches, biliousness, sour stomach, loss of appetite and energy. BLACK-DRAUGHT'S main ingredient is an "intestinal tonic-laxative," which helps to tone the intestinal muscles. It's economical, too. 25 to 40 doses, 25c.

MA-PO-FI SOCIAL CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEET OF CLUB YEAR

The Ma-Po-Fi Social club met Nov. 7, at 1802 Central avenue with L. L. Stewart as host. This was the first meeting of the new club year and the new president, Arthur D. Wilson, presided.

The club has progressed well under the leadership of the past presidents. It is believed the same progress will be accomplished with our new president, who is an energetic young man and the club is behind him 100 per cent.

Ma-Po-Fi announces that Fred C. Williams, a well known newspaper man, was voted in as an honorary member of our club.

"LOW-DOWN" ON LOW INTEREST RATES
If you're borrowing on the installment plan we don't know any place where you can get lower rates than at the California Bank. For instance: You borrow, say, $100. The Bank adds $5 interest (plus $1 on those loans which include the mortality feature), and that's absolutely all it costs you. You have a full year in which to repay the loan in easy monthly installments. Ask at any neighborhood office of California Bank. (California Bank is the Bank to see for Auto Loans, too). (Adv't)

Central Ave. District Realty Board

We have come a long way in our search for the secret of building good will for Real Estate. I hope it is less of a secret than it was before. The one thought above all other, that I should like to leave with you this afternoon, is a very cheerful one. It embodies the kernel of everything I have said. In this days' generation, service pays; the more you do for your customers, the more you will do for yourself, for of necessity, if you render service, you will put your business on a scientific and a truly professional basis, you will render more service and you will have more good will. And good will is the asset of your business that brings the greatest total profit and the highest price in case of a sale.

These are the ambitions and requirements of the following members of the Central Ave. District Realty Board.
Members as follows:
Walter L. Gordon, President, 4065 S. Central Ave., ADams 3193.
Geo. W. City, Vice-President, 816 E. 40th Pl., ADams 13702.
Elijah Cooper, Treasurer, 2504 S. Central Ave., ADams 9025.
Seth B. Ray, Secretary, 2302 Griffith Ave., PRospect 5861.
William Mells Watson, Director of Publicity, 4824 S. Central Avenue, CEntury 23894.
Mrs. Mattie Elizabeth Watson, 4801 Hooper Ave., ADams 12082.

CONTRADICTION

The attitude of the American Legion Post which operates the Hollywood Legion stadium is in direct contrast to that of the American Legion as a whole.

That observation is made as a result of a resolution passed at the last national convention of that body held in Chicago early this fall.

The resolution reads:

"WHEREAS, There is a growing attitude of intolerance on the part of certain American and resident-alien classes toward the race, religion and political beliefs of other American citizens; and

"WHEREAS, This attitude presents a constantly increasing danger to the rights of these citizens and to the democratic form of government under which they live in the United States; and

"WHEREAS, The American Legion, composed of all races, creeds and political partisans, is best organized to combat this intolerance;

"THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, That the National Headquarters of the American Legion adopt as a PRINCIPAL phase of its 1940 outline of post activities throughout the various Departments a program under the general theme of TOLERANCE, designed to illustrate to the communities in which the individual posts lie, the threat to America imposed by this artificial setting of class against class."

If Hollywood Post No. 43, operating the boxing stadium in the film city, would abide by this resolution, there would be no need for the current hullabaloo over alleged discrimination of Negro fighters at that club.

A DILEMMA

Open-minded sports writers, parties to the current boom of Kenny Washington for an All-American football berth, find themselves in a dilemma because they don't know whether to call Kenny Negro, colored or sepia for fear of arousing condemnation from the race.

The dilemma is an understandable one. There are those who don't like the word Negro because of its closeness to the word most often heard in the south which begins with the same letter.

There are others who don't care for the word "colored", because they say it doesn't mean anything in particular and might be used in referring to any of the dark-skinned races.

Sepia, probably not as offensive as the other two words, is possibly in the class of the latter.

So, to the open-minded sports writer, it's a question of what to do. Obviously, he is on an embarrassing spot.

It would appear, therefore, that the logical thing to do would be to call a person as well known as the UCLA football star an American for that is what he is. A second tag, as American Negro or colored American is unnecessary.

The current trend anyway, is to judge an individual by his or her performance regardless of the skin texture.

Personally, we like to use the terms only when differentiating between races. When an American is well known, be he whatever he is, a tag may serve to take something away to which he is entitled—just and equal consideration under the laws which govern the nation.

AT THE MOVIES

We were probably seeing things the other night when we were viewing "Way Down South", the Langston Hughes-Clarence Muse screen story.

Dealing with the lives of slaves on a Louisiana plantation, we could have sworn we saw some slaves doing the current dance craze called jitterbugging. We were seeing things and it was jitterbugging.

Maybe this dance isn't as modern as we have been led to believe. We can stand some light on the subject.

Those fight scenes in "Golden Boy", the Clifford Odets spine-tingler, are as realistic as any we have seen since the Max Baer-Myrna Loy opus, "The Prize Fighter and the Lady".

GABBY BITS

The waitresses in some of the restaurants we've been in lately can certainly take lessons—lessons in how to take and serve orders. We were in a place recently, prepared to gradually sooth pangs of hunger. While giving the waitress the order, she was rubbing her nose!

Sketch Subject: VERNONA PATTERSON . . . Chef Cook.

By LELAND D. WHITNEY

Desolation dispossessed the happiness from the home of Vernona Wells after the death of her father, who was the sole support of a family of eight.

With his passing her air castles began to fade away, but not her determination. Vernona had a great desire to secure a higher education, but her mother's meager earnings were rapidly consumed and many times insufficient to supply even the family necessities. Being the oldest of six children and the only girl, the burden of caring for her baby brothers fell upon our subject.

From age ten to age sixteen, we find her coming from school, assisting with the duties of the household and preparing meals, which was a delight to her childish heart. Vernona learned to cook and enjoyed doing it. The systematic plans she evolved from this early experience had far reaching consequences. No person has ever satisfactorily succeeded her on a job.

As the younger children reached school age, it became increasingly difficult to make the Wells income supply all of the family needs. Our subject, now sixteen, tiring of her monotonous daily routine which was full of privations, and bereft of all other resources, resigned herself to abandoning dreams of a higher education. After reaching the seventh grade, Vernona quit school and went from her home in Clarksville to Dallas, Texas where she gained employment with a wealthy family as a cook.

Their style of cooking was quite different from what Vernona was familiar with and because of her employer's intense and profane resentment to her methods, she gave up the job. Always possessing a stern determination she did not become discouraged, but vowed to get another job. She did; nursing an infant. There were some things our subject could not do. Nursing was one of them; but she could cook and was determined that no obstacle would keep her from utilizing that talent she did possess. To work now was a necessity as well as a pleasure, and she must find it somewhere. So impressive was her interview with the next prospective employer that she was hired without references. The first meal she prepared on the new job solidly confirmed the opinion of her employer and from that day her gray skies turned to blue.

Prompted by news of prosperity and higher wages, Vernona journeyed from Dallas, Texas to Tulsa, Oklahoma, where again she demonstrated her ability as a dietician. Our subject remained in Oklahoma only a short time however. She was not justly compensated for her work there and when friends in the Far West informed her of the opportunity in California, she readily considered making a change.

For several years Vernona had successfully eluded the proverbial winged cherub, but finally cupid's dart scored a perfect hit and she became engaged to Homer Patterson of Dennison, Oklahoma. On February 12, 1922, they were married and established a modest home. No children were born of the union.

In 1922, with more stirring news of the opportunity awaiting one in California, our subject embarked on a successful venture to the Far West. Arriving in Los Angeles in the summer of 1923, she without difficulty found employment to her liking. Her first job in California was in a private home. There she remained for six years commendably performing her duties Determined to succeed even farther, Mrs. Patterson sought and received employment as chef at the Edison cafeteria. Touched by a spark of genius in her specialty and further inspired by increased wages, Mrs. Patterson prepared food that almost fantastically increased the volume of business. Compliments on the food continued to pour in at Edison's, and Mrs. Patterson, thru her proficiency won the respect and admiration of her employer and fellow employees. Continued success at a chef at Edison's seemed certain. But the panic was reaching its peak and the business was unable to weather the financial storm.

Through a friend, our subject heard that a capable chef was needed at one of the popular downtown eating places and immediately applied for the job. Again she was successful and in 1932 became first vegetable chef at Clifton's cafeteria, 618 S. Olive street' which position she holds at the present time.

Four racial groups are employed in the kitchens at Cliftone and Mrs. Patterson, who is the only female chef, for the past seven years has prepared all of the vegetables for meals which now everage 16,000 per day. This is an outstanding record probably unequalled anywhere in the world.

Though short of stature and weighing only 120 pounds, our subject has marvelous physical endurance and outstanding qualities of leadership. She is well liked by her employers and has definitely made a place for herself in the business. Mrs. Patterson resides at 1514 E. 22nd street, and is a member of the Hamilton Methodist church. Raising poultry at home occupies much of her leisure time and provides needed relaxation from increasing responsibilities.

Xmas Warning Issued By Post Office

Christmas greetings are often the only exchange of correspondence between friends during the year.

The U. S. Post Office this week cautioned senders that if these greetings are sent unsealed, bearing 1½-cent postage, they should not include writing, other than the name of sender and "Merry Christmas," or similar words. Furthermore, they cannot be forwarded to a new address in another city, given directory service, or returned to sender, but will, if undeliverable, be treated as waste and destroyed, thereby causing disappointment.

Thousands of such greetings are destroyed each year, due to incorrect address or the person having left the address to which directed, the Post Office department said.

It is a distinct advantage to the post office, to select greeting cards, envelopes and folders of standard size—not smaller than 2¾ x 4 inches, or larger than 4 x 9 inches. The handling of millions of pieces of mail with speed and efficiency is just the day's work in the post office, but the real problem is to give such service to mail of unusual and irregular size and shape which cannot be run through the power-canceling machines, but must be canceled by hand. Such mail does not fit the standard distributing cases, cannot be tied securely with letter packages; the small pieces slip out and the large envelopes and folders are liable to be cut by the package string and thus mutilated.

Border Inspection Scored By Motor Club Conference

Except where absolutely necessary for the protection of agriculture, operation of border stations for inspecting and exacting fees from motorists is a violation of the spirit of the Constitution of the United States and a serious barrier to the flow of motor tourist travel.

Expressed by strongly worded resolutions, this was the consensus of the Western Motor Clubs Conference at its 1939 session recently held at Phoenix, Arizona. California motorists were represented by executives of the Automobile Club of Southern California and the California State Automobile Association.

Voicing "wholehearted appreciation" and commendation to Howard Philbrick, director of the California Department of Motor Vehicles, for the recent abolition of motor vehicle inspection stations at the state line, the Conference pointedly drew the attention of other States to California's action.

McDonough Urges Changes in State's Retirement Act

Changes in the California Old Age Aid Retirement act to eliminate the necessity of taking liens or property agreements on properties of old age pension recipients was urged this week by Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough.

Declaring that there is so much confusion among the aged people over this complicated question, McDonough succeeded in urging the Board of Supervisors to ask Governor Olson to include this matter of property agreements in his "call" for the special session of the State Legislature in Jaanuary.

Until the state law covering age pensions is revised, the county will continue demanding signed agreements of old age applicants not to sell or encumber their property. This action was voted by the Bord of Supervisors at this week's meeting over the opposition of McDonough.

The recent protests of pensioners resulted in a temporary suspension of signed property agremeenst p edning--,btaa--a y agreements pending further study.

When the supervisors were informed this week that these agreements were in accordance with state regulations, McDonough then proposed that this matter be included in the special order of business for the special session of the State Legislature in January.

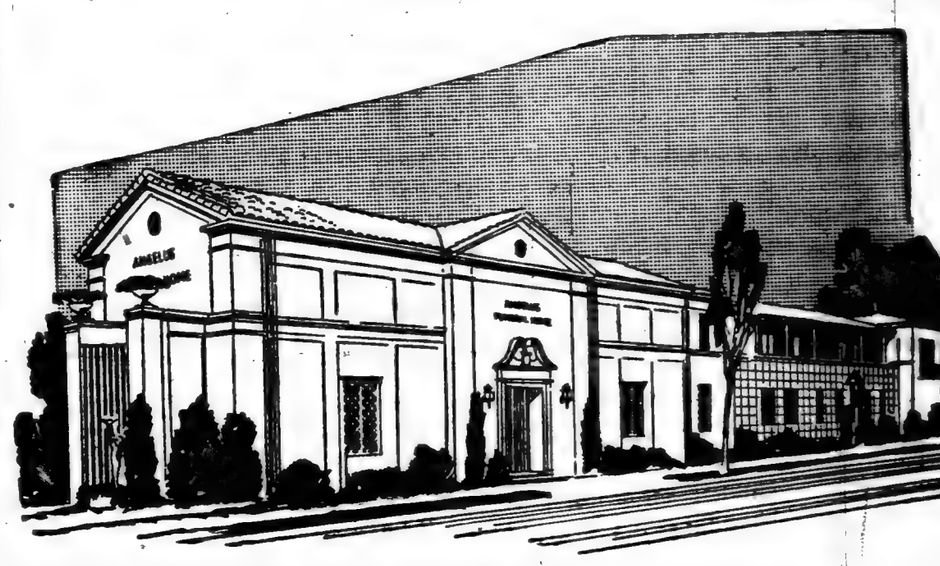
Zoning to Go Into Effect in So. L.A.

Adequate zoning to protect property in the Central avenue gardens district will soon be in effect.

This assurance was given yesterday by Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough following action of the County Board of Supervisors in instructing the County Counsel to prepare the ordinance covering zoning of the area.

The movement to zone Central avenue Gardens district was initiated by a petition dated April 4, 1939, containing the signatures of 204 residents and property owners, requesting that the area be zoned. Orders were issued by the Board of Supervisors on April 25 to the Regional Planning Commission to prepare a zoning plan and hold the necessary public hearings.

SURVEY TO BE MADE



To assure a thorough zoning plan a detailed survey of land used was first made, Supervisor McDonough stated, the plan based on this survey was presented to the property owners and residents at three public meetings on July 10, 18, and 31. Two public hearings legally advertised in accordance with provisions of the California State Planning act were held in and before the Regional Planning Commission on Aug. 30 and September 13.

The Central Gardens district comprises an area of approximately .28 of a square mile. It lies about 7½ miles southerly of Los Angeles Civic Center and is bounded approximately as follows: on the north by a line 100 feet northerly of 92nd street: on the east by Success avenue, on the south by 107th street and on the west by the first alley easterly on Central avenue. About 67 percent of the entire area has been subdivided, the remainde being in acreage according to th report submitted by the Regional Planning Commission to Supervisor McDonough. The zoning proposed provides for residentia areas for single family homes as well as for two-family and multiple family structures. It also provides areas for light agricultur and business.

SHOULD PACK 'EM IN

Judging from the calibre of football exhibited by local high school teams this season, the Seventh Annual Tenth District P-TA band and football carnival tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon in the Coliseum should pack in those who like to see and appreciate good football.

With the 12 teams that represent the north and south already selected, the best of the prep teams will be seen in action. Jefferson and Jordan high schools, Eastside institutions which boast several Negro aces, are among the southern teams.

Continuous football is the order of the day with 20-minute periods and the ball remaining where the first and each succeeding two teams have it the rule. The south has yet to win this annual prep classic. With the material at hand, this section may chalk up its first win tomorrow.

Proceeds from this event go toward a worthy cause — to carry out the great welfare program of the Tenth District. Netting over $10,000 smackers last year, the P-TA uses the money to give milk, lunches and clothing to underprivileged children attending the city schools. The organization gave $1,000 of this amount last year back to the schools to buy athletic equipment.

Drawing 65,000 in 1938, it almost becomes the duty of every citizen to contribute his bit to the cause by purchasing a ticket. The larger the crowd the more good that's done!

In connection with the carnival this year will be the appearance of a number of guards — mostly grads of city schools — who will augment the work of the regular police force in seeing that law and order is preserved.

Thus a large program initiated this past summer by Wm. G. Lopez, assistant supervisor of physical education of the Board of Education, and G. Albert Miller, to curb the rowdyism and vandalism which has accompanied some of the major prep athletic ventures in the past has begun to bear fruit. A noticeable decrease in this type of lawlessness so far this year has spelled success for this program, which has received the active cooperation of Eastside school officials. Reports have shown that most of these outlawed acts were instigated by persons other than those in school, but the students got the blame.

BRUINS CONTINUE TO IMPROVE

As the collegiate grid season nears its close, it becomes increasingly obvious that the Bruins of UCLA get better and better as the Saturdays pass.

Last Saturday the club showed vast improvement over previous play, holding a vaunted Santa Clara offensive in check and playing even-stephen football thruout the game. The fact that their opponents, called "king of the independents", were favored to win that one, the 0-0 standoff adds rather than detracts to Bruin prestige.

Those who have waited to see Woodrow Wilson Strode play up to his capabilities saw him come through in no uncertain fashion Saturday. Fooled once by a fake kick, the giant end messed up Bronc plays time after time. A prep standout at Jefferson, Strode had an enviable reputation as a lugger of the pigskin on end-arounds. Maybe the foxy "Babe" Horrell is saving that one to spring on USC Dec. 9. We say "foxy" advisedly for the "Babe" impresses this pillar as a guy who keeps several jumps ahead of the parade.

Kenny Washington, the Bruins' candidate for All-American, played 60 minutes of bang-up football, making more than his share of the tackles plus slashing off tackle and around the wings in his customary abandon.

Jackie Robinson was the difference between a tie and a win for Joe Bruin last weekend. It's a pretty hard job to keep that boy bottled up for 60 minutes and it's not folly to believe that once or twice in the Bronco tilt he would have broken away. He will undoubtedly be ready for the rough and ready Oregon State Beaver here Saturday, and well he should for Oregon is right behind USC and UCLA in conference standings with five wins and one loss.

In a radio broadcast Saturday, USC's Howard Jones was queried as to what he thought of Jackie. To which he reportedly replied that he had seen the Bruins only once previously (that was the night go with TCU) and that he couldn't see Jackie so well. Inferring, from all indications, that the backfield play was too much like the night for Jones' tired peepers to discern his movements.

It would be more than a happenstance if the Rose Bowl occasioned a "blackout" of USC one afternoon early next month.

HOLLYWOOD LEGION JIM CROW CHARGES TO BE HEARD IN JANUARY

Report Legion Officials Sought Ruling to Keep Commish from Hearing Matter

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Scheduled to be heard last Friday afternoon in the chambers of the State Athletic commission, charges that Hollywood Legion stadium discriminates against Negro boxers by not permitting them to fight in the stadium ring will be heard here Jan. 19 instead.

The January date is the next meeting of the commission in the south.

It is reported that Hollywood Legion officials first requested a postponement and subsequently the commission was in receipt of a joint request, dated Tuesday, from Hugh E. MacBeth, who brought the formal charges, representing the Community Builders, and John D. Home, attorney for the stadium, that a continuance be granted.

Events leading up to the postponement by the commission and those immediately following were so involved that boxing circles were thrown into a state of confusion. Nevertheless, they made for a stronger case against the Legion, sources close to the matter claim.

Prior to the granting of the postponement, Legion officials are reported to have sought a ruling from Attorney General Earl Warren aimed to have the effect of denying the commission the authority to hear the matter.

The attorney general, however, ruled Wednesday that the State Athletic commission has the power to probe into discrimination complaints and that the commission had broad powers in the granting and revoking of licenses and legally could inquire into allegations that civil rights were violated.

With the two-day meeting of the commission beginning Thursday morning, Halley Harding, representing the Negro press, was heard by chairman Jerry Geisler and the commissioners on the "why" of the postponement.

AFFECTS RACE

Since members of the Negro press had no knowledge of the contemplated move for postponement and also because they had been conferred with in the past in the matter, Harding emphasized the fact that the matter affected 40,000 Negroes directly and 20,000,000 indirectly.

The letter to chairman Geisler, requesting the postponement, signed by both parties, follows in full:

Los Angeles, Calif.
November 14, 1939

Honorable Jerry Geisler,
Chairman California State Athletic Commission,
Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Mr Chairman,

The undersigned as Co-Ordinator of the Community Builders, Inc., and John D. Home, Esq., as Attorney for the American Legion Post No. 43 operating the Hollywood Legion Stadium, Hollywood, California, do hereby represent to your Honorable Commision and request as follows.

That whereas a complaint has heretofore been filed with your honorable Commission against the Hollywood Legion Stadium charging failure and refusal to match colored fighters in the operation of said stadium.

And whereas November 17, 1939, at 2:00 o'clock P. M. at the Assembly Hall State Building, Los Angeles, California, has therefore been fixed by your Honorable Commision for the formal hearing of said charges.

And whereas conferences have recently been held between the Board of Directors of the Hollywood Legion Stadium and the Co-Ordinator of the Community Builders, Inc., at which time a full and free discussion of the alleged discriminations had been entered into by both parties thereto.

And whereas as a result of said discussion it appears possible that an agreement may be reached by the parties which will be acceptable to all parties concerned.

And whereas additional time is desired for further conferences to attempt a peaceable adjustment of these difficulties,

Now therefore, the Hollywood Legion Stadium by its Attorney, John D. Home and the Community Builders, Inc., by its Co-Ordinator, Hugh E. MacBeth do hereby request of your Honorable Commission to continue the matter of the hearing of the charges against the Hollywood Legion Stadium to the meeting of your Honorable Commission in the City of Los Angeles, in January, 1940, at which time it is the sincere belief of the parties hereto that all misunderstanding and grievances complained of will be adjusted (along the lines of true democracy) with satisfaction to all parties concerned, and which agreement will be submitted to your Honorable Commission at its meeting in Los Angeles in January 1940, for the approval of your Honorable Commission.

Respectfully submitted,
HUGH E. MACBETH,
Co-Ordinator of Community Builders, Inc.
JOHN D. HOME,
Attorney for Hollywood Legion Stadium.

Authoritative sources claim that the letter is a virtual admission of the practice of discrimination and that it is approximately half of the case against the stadium. Sources close to the situation also report that a title search of the stadium property has disclosed that there are no restrictions on said tract as to ownership or use.

San Jose State Overwhelms Lovola, 10 to 0

San Jose State's high-scoring eleven rang up 10 points and victory over a fighting band of Loyola Lions Lions Friday night at Gilmore stadium.

The powerful Spartans did about everything in the books offensively, the Glenn "Pop" Warner and Dud de Groot coached team gained 283 yards against Loyola's 79.

In the first period guard Kenny Cook booted a perfect placement from the 22-yard stripe. And in the second period, Herman Zetterquist scored State's only touchdown, Cook kicking the extra point.

San Jose's victory took nothing from Loyola, however as the boys from El Rey did well to hold the Spartans to a measly 10 points.

Bruins Hold Broncs to Scoreless Tie

Play Tough Foe Here Saturday in Oregon State

Penalties inflicted at critical moments probably deprived the Bowl-bound Bruins of UCLA a victory over the Santa Clara Broncs last Saturday afternoon in the Memorial Coliseum when the two clubs battled to a 0-0 draw.

As it was, the Uclans, minus Jackie Robinson, shoved the "king of the independents" around like nobody's business in the first and fourth quarters and came close to pulling the tilt out of the fire in the last few seconds of play.

Several times when the Bruins were deep in Bronc territory, 15-yard penalties served to set them back.

Their best opportunity to score came in the last minute of play. Leo Cantor, a pile-driving fullback, and General Kenny Washington led an offensive from their own 22 that reached the Santa Clara 4. A 15-yard penalty was slapped on them and with seconds to go Jack Sommers attempted a field goal that was short.

The Santa Clarans were in position to score two times. In the closing moments of the first half, the Bronc reached the four-yard line, drew a five-yard penalty, and tried an incompleted fourth down forward pass. In the third period, the Broncs battered their way down to the Bruin 9. Two line plays lost a yard and a pass was batted down and then an attempted field goal by Anahu, an Hawaiian, missed its mark.

BRUINS IMPRESS

The all-around line play of the Bruin forward wall impressed sports experts and spectators alike, with Woody Strode, big UCLA left end, particularly outstanding.

Ned Mathews, Leo Cantor, and Washington, who played 60 minutes, featured Bruin backfield play.

Santa Clara boasting a fast-charging line, headed by all-American candidate Johnny Schiechl and a fast and tricky backfield, lived up to its reputation for superlative play.

The Bruins meet a tough Oregon State Beaver Saturday at the Coliseum. Robinson, in all probability, will be in the starting lineup. The Beavers are in third spot in conference standings, behind USC and UCLA.

Langston U. Lions, Only Sepia Eleven With Perfect Record, Ride into Throne Room

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 23.—The Langston University Lions, America's sole undefeated, untied sepia collegiate eleven of major caliber for the current season, rode into the charmed throne room of the Southwestern Athletic Conference football championship Saturday on the crest of their 12-0 victory over Billy Taylor's Arkansas State Lions. Arkansas dropped down two notches in the loop standings as Wiley and Prairie View both automatically advanced into a second place tie. Jimmy Steven's Bishop Tigers crashed the victory column for the first time this year against conference opposition with a slender 3-0 victory over a game Texas college crew at Tyler. Fred Long's unpredictable Wiley College Wildcats played the percentage perfectly down at Waco Friday night as they amply protected a 6-0 second period lead to hold a strong and menacing Xavier eleven safe on a rain soaked field that apparentl ydid little to affect the spectacular open offense of both teams.

Randy Taylor's Tillotson Eagles bounced back into the 500 class with a one point margin over Dillard in New Orleans in a contest that ended 13-12.

C. C. Mosley's Jarvis Christian Bulldogs were on the loose again Saturday and with their ace quarterback and star triple threat, "Runt" Smith, back in the lineup, the scrappy Hawkins aggregation went to town over Paul Quinn in a decisive 38-0 triumph.

TUSKEGEE LOSES

In a gala and colorful Homecoming-Stadium dedication intersectional classic the Southern University Jaguars pounded out a decisive 26-12 victory over the Tuskegee Golden Tigers Saturday in Baton Rouge, La. Amassing a net yardage of 455 against their opponents 188, the Mumford cohorts, spearheaded by "Pelican" Hill and inspired by the fine defensive play of Jones, proved too strong for the visitors. Hill scored two touchdowns, "Red" Wilison passed 25 yards to Gipson for another, and Jones hounded a blocked punt behind the Abbot-men's goal line for the Louisiana team's fourth touchie. Mozelle Ellerbee, internationally famous sprint star, took a 30 yard pass for Tuskegee's first score and Sams raced 22 yards for the final Tiger tally.

Amassing 20 first downs to Wiley's 6, the strong Xavier Gold Rush was destined to taste the short end of defeat as the Wiley Cats pawed their way to a 6-0 victory in municipal stadium at Waco Friday night before 2,000 spectators, who thrilled and shivered in a last half drizzle. Tommy Mills, sterling Gold Rush triple threat, calmly threw strikes throughout the night to receivers although the ball was in a slippery condition.

It remained for 'Lil' Sammy Smith, former Waco grid idol, and now a freshman star in the Wiley lineup to come through in the clutches with a pair of aerials that went to Czar Ingram for 25, and another for 24 to Bill Hicks that was taken by the Port Arthur sophomore behind the Xavier goal line in the second period for the only score of the game. "Red" Collins zooming 60 and 70 yard spirals kept the pass minded New Orleans aggregation at bay through the last half. Summers, Evans, Tommy Mills, and Paxton were best for Xavier. Sammy Smith, Mimms, Goosby, Ox Johnson, Paul Tippens, Hopkins, and Hicks shone for Wiley.

After a scoreless first half, the Bishop College Tigers came back in the last quarter to drive to the Texas 7 yard mark where Albert Walton dropped back and booted a perfect placement from the 15 to give the Bishop Tigers a 3-0 victory over the Texas College Steers. This was the first Tiger victory over Texas in six years. Hardee, Walton, Eaton, Redmond and Windom starred for Bishop. Nix, Wallace, Turner, Lattimore and Johnson played well for Texas.

COLONEL O'SODAFFY HITS TH EBULLS EYE

Colonel O'sodaffy rang the bell last week with six winners out of six stabs. So this department is leading the Terrell "hot-shot" its ear again this week". Here they are: "A far better than their current record Xavier eleven will shade the strongest Lane College eleven in recent years Thursday, November 23, in New Orleans. Fred Long's Wiley College Wildcats will wear dow na game Texas eleven Friday night in Marshall. By land or air, or both, the Cats will lay up a nice supply of steaks. Southern should eke out a close decision over Bill Taylor's Arkansas Lions at Pine Bluff. If wrong, wire us. "Zip Gayles Langston Lions will take it all at Prairie View Saturday and early too. (These very words may do for the Panthers i nthe first half, what Sam Taylor does for them between halves when they return as rampaging invincibles). Too much power will see Jarvis fall before Tillotson with Allie Thomas leading the attack. The Prairie View-Langston game is a Panther Homecoming and ditto for Jarvis vs. Tillotson.

P-TA CROWD WILL GET A LOOK AT JEFFERSON, JORDAN FOOTBALL ACES

Pollard, Black and Duke to Perform in P-TA Carnival at Memorial Coliseum

The cream of the prep grid squads will show their wares tomorrow (Wednesday) before an expected record crowd at the seventh annual P-TA band and football carnival at the Memorial Coliseum. Festivities will begin at 1:45 p. m.

Twelve prep grid outfits—the pick of the six city leagues—have been divided into North and South.

Named Saturday were Lincoln, Franklin, Eagle Rock, Canoga Park, Hamilton and Los Angeles as the northern team while Narbonne, San Pedro, Jordan Manual Arts, Jefferson and Huntington Park were selected to represent the south.

Having met six times before, the best the south has ever done has been to hold the north to ties the last two times out. Too, the south has never scored more than two touchdowns.

There is reason to believe the south may reverse the usual procedure this time however with strong teams representing Jefferson, Manual Arts and Jordan. The Coliseum crowd will get good looks at Tom Pollard and Joe Black of Jefferson; Hubert Duke of Jordan, and "Mickey" McCardle of Manual Arts.

Pairings as announced by Wm. Lopez are as follows:

NORTH	SOUTH
Lincoln	vs. Narbonne.
Franklin	vs. San Pedro.
Eagle Rock	vs. Jordan.
Canoga Park	vs. Manual Arts.
Hamilton	vs. Jefferson.
Los Angeles	vs. Huntington Park.

MOTIVATING FORCES—The Rev. G. Albert Miller, Jefferson High School's Vice Principal Hague and Principal Dickison, and Wm. G. Lopez, assistant supervisor of physical education, look pleasant for the cameraman as they complete arrangements for a corps of gurads at the P-TA carnival tomorrow at the Coliseum. Headed by the Rev. Miller and Mr. Lopez, the Citizenship Committee has done a good job of tieing in the citizenry of the Eastside with district's high school activities.

CARNIVAL GUARDS—Taking their places tomorrow, augmenting police forces at the P-TA band and football carnival tomorrow afternoon at the Coliseum, are the above grads and former students of city high schools. Interested in the welfare of their alma maters, the volunteer guards will aid police in curbing reported rowdyism and vandalism usually attending mammoth prep spectacles.

PROMINENT TEXANS IN CLASH OVER LABOR

Texas Greets California!

Texas, this week, greets California through the California EAGLE, the leading weekly of the West! Texas ,like California is a large state. It is the largest state in the union. The colored population is one million. Texas is one of the brightest economic spots in the country. Few people in Texas complain about the business recession.

Texas people have made a distinct contribution to the progress of the race. The courage and determination of Texans is written in the good deeds and the achievements of its leading citizens.

Texas people have fashioned progress out of circumstances and today Texas people have the advantages of the fine homes, good schools, splendid churches, thriving business enterprises and many community organizations functioning for racial betterment.

The history of Texas is replete with the daring exploits of gifted colored men and women who have carved a niche for themselves in the annals of the state and the hearts of the people. The work and accomplishments of these people stand out as proof of the past and evidence of the future.

The outstanding achievement in Texas in the field of finance has been accomplished by William McDonald, banker of ort Worth, who is president of the lone Negro bank in the Southwest. The bank has never been closed since its establishment in 1912. It has never had a run. It has a capital stock of $100,000.

First honors for business achievements in Texas belong to T. M. Fairchild of Houston and Henry Strickland of Dallas. Mr. Fairchild is president of the Excelsior Insurance company. Both companies have grown under their leadership from mutual insurance companies to old line legal reserve firms. The two companies combined employ more than 500 people.

Dr. M. W. Dogan, president of Wiley College of Marshall for 43 years has rendered the greatest service to the state in the field of education. He will retire in 1941 to write a history of Negro education in the United States. In Texas he is beloved by all who have come to know and appreciate him.

Mrs. Mary E. Branch, president of Tillotson College of Austin, is undoubtedly the most distinguished and gifted colored woman in the field of public service in Texas. Under her guidance Tillotson College has forged to the front as one of the foremost colleges in the South.

The late C. F. Richardson of Houston and the late W. E. King of Dallas have been the most outstanding in the field of newspaper journalism in Texas. Mr. Richardson was the first editor in Texas to defy the Ku Klux Klan which was legislated out of existence. Mr, King made history with his paper in Dallas where he fought for a civic square deal.

In the field of Texas politics the late Norris Wright Cuney has left a place in Texas history hard to fill. The late Charles Bellinger of San Antonio made modern history, but his political achievements were shadowed by a federal conviction on income tax evasion as an aftermath to a gambling and policy racket career.

The largest high school in Texas is in Houston. It is the Phillis Wheatley High School. E. O. Smith is the principal. He is progressive and highly esteemed.

Progress in many other lines of endeavor may be noted in all parts of the state. Texans have wrought well. Their future is yet to be.

What's the Matter With Houston?

Houston is gradually coming in for national criticism because of a situation which it obtains in its midst which is hard for non-residents to understand.

It is the largest city in the state and its problems are many. There are muddy streets, poor lights, loss of jobs through white union activity, and the denial of the ballot.

Despite these conditions Houston's leaders, that is the vast majority, spend most of their energy and most of their intellect, scrapping with each other over community honors and titles.

The city is divided into factions and it is difficult to live in Houston without taking sides. Yet many citizens refrain from taking active part in many community movements for fear they become involved in rival fights.

The people of Houston need the solidarity and unity of the city's leaders. It is time to call a halt to name calling contests, organization election scraps, newspaper attacks and criticism.

The time is at hand for real public service in Houston. The cause of progress and improvement must not perish on an altar of petty jealousies and petty bickering. It is time for Houston's leaders to prove to the rest of the nation that they are men—big men. Men who are too big to fight over non-essentials, men too big to let little things stand in the path of community growth.

Keyhole Stuff in Houston

Obie Darrett, the beer salesman, who is in the divorce court, claiming his wife was cruel to him, has remodeled his night spot, which will be thrown open to the public Saturday night of this week.

Several politicians in Houston have their eyes on the U. S. Housing project jobs, but the grape vine tells us, Herbert Lott, can have the housing cream and all that goes with it, if his heart beats in that direction.

Everybody is wondering along amusement row why Dan Robey, the dance promoter, has failed to include his former pal, Morris Merritt, in on recent big time attractions brought to Houston, such as Erskine Hawkins and Count Basie.

When Count played the City Auditorium last week to a crowd of nearly 1000 and several hundred whites, a jitterbug couple stole the show.

Since coming to Houston from Chicago five years ago to make his home, James H. Jemison, owner of the Franklin School of Beauty Culture at 519 Louisiana street, has enjoyed steady progress as a business man.

He is one of Houston's youngest and most successful young men engaged in business. He lives in Houston with his wife and their daughter.

Mr. Jemison has enjoyed much public esteem in Houston, having been elected in 1938 as "brome mayor" of the city, through an election conducted by the Houston Negro Chamber of Commerce. He is active in various organizations pointing to the development and advancement of the race in Houston.

Insurance Co. Grows Out of Texas K. of P.

Grand Chancellor Says Lodge Owes $80,000 in Claims

DALLAS (Tex.) Nov. 23—From the ashes of defeat for the Knights of Pythias in Texas will flame a new organization, a mutual life insurance company, aimed at the protection of the members.

Suffering from the effects of the depression, which has wreaked havoc with a number of fraternal orders in the South, including the Odd Fellows in Texas, the Knights of Pythias in this state have been forced to the wall. The lodge owes $80,000 in death claims ,it is reported.

FLIGHT EXPLAINED

In a series of appearances before local lodges in the State, L. B. Kinchion, Sr., grand chancellor, has spoken, explaining the plight of the organization to the people, asking their understanding of the situation.

Kinchion has proposed that a mutual insurance company be formed by J. E. Smith, R. A. Hester, A. S. Jackson, L. B. Kinchion, Jr., and himself, to protect the welfare of many of the lodge's members.

The proposal made by Kinchion was subject to the action of the state insurance commissioner which was to have been taken this week. It is believed the commissioner will pave the way for the operation of the insurance company instead of the lodge.

Chest Drive in Houston Falls Short

HOUSTON Tex.) Nov. 23—The Community Chest drive among colored citizens of Houston fell $1000 short of the anticipated goal of $4,300.00, E. P. Carter, business man, who served as chairman of the colored division, announced Saturday.

Mr. Carter said the drive netted $3,300.0 in cash and pledges. One-third of this sum was in cash, he said.

The division chairman said several financial drives were going on in the city at the time and his organization was late getting started.

He expressed appreciation to the workers in the drive and to citizens who made contributions and pledges.

HOPE FOR THIRD TRIAL LOST AS COURT REFUSES TO REVIEW CASE

Man Must Walk "Last Mile" for Raping White Woman; Says He Didn't Commit Act

HOUSTON, Nov. 23.—Bob White, Texas farm hand, must walk the "last mile" to the electric chair, for a crime which he says he did not commit.

The courts convicted him for raping a Texas white woman. All hope for a third trial for the doomed man was lost last week when the United States Supreme Court refused to review his case on the grounds Negroes were excluded from the juries which indicted and tried him.

"White's case, known as the "Second Scottsboro" case in Texas, was fought all the way to the highest court in the land by the Houston branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The first trial scene was at Livingston, in Polk county, where the crime is alleged to have been committed. The town was filled with a mob of whites. No colored people were allowed in the city during the trial. J. P. Rogers, defense lawyer, was threatened and his colored chauffeur was driven from the court house.

ILLITERATE

White could neither read nor write, but the state produced a confession he allegedly signed. He denied the crime, but officers said they heard him admit the attack. He claimed he was chained to a tree and beaten by Texas Rangers, but the rangers said they treated him like a citizen.

When the first conviction of death in the electric chair was reversed by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals which ruled White did not have a fair trial, a new trial was set on a change of venue to Conroe.

In Conroe the second jury found him guilty and he was given death with an appeal for a review on constitutional grounds going to the highest court in Washington.

White is from a poverty stricken Texas family. He lived and worked on the country plantation where the white wife of the land owner testified he overpowered her while her husband was away on business.

A. C. TEAL, recognized as the foremost photographer in Houston, has made remarkable progress in his profession during recent years.

He runs the largest studio in Texas at Houston and makes pictures for the leading schools and institutions in the state.

Mr. Teal, whose nifty studio is in the Odd Fellows Temple in Houston, is preparing a series of Texas beauties for publication in The California EAGLE.

All kids and thrill lovers will enjoy another chapter of "Flying G-Men" and "Streets of Missing Men", Friday and Saturday, Dec. 1 and 2.

Wm. Coleman Prominent Leader in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Nov. 23.—Wm. Coleman, grand master of the Prince Hall masons, in Texas, is one of Fort Worth's most prominent leaders, ranking with his ally in business, William McDonald, Texas' lone Negro banker.

During the last 9 years, Coleman has impressed Texas with the sagacity of his leadership. He is hohored and admired throughout the State.

The Masonic lodge which he heads, has not only weathered the depression, but is one of the soundest financial institutions in the State.

BARES RECORD

Mr. Coleman takes pride in the record of his institution. He says the lodge is free of debt, square with the world, and has property and oil land valued at $500,000. The lodge is one of the owners of the Fraternal Bank and Trust Company of Fort Worth. The bank is the only Negro bank in Texas and McDonald, a veteran Texas politician, is its president.

There are 9,000 Prince Hall masons in Texas, Coleman stated, and a steady increase is noted in membership each year.

Annual sessions are held in Fort Worth where the Grand Court of Heroines of Jericho and the Eastern Star, representing the women of Texas, meet.

HEADS LODGE

G. A. KENNEDY, Houston business man, is supreme worthy shepperd of the Progressive Order of Pilgrims of Texas.

His office is in the Pilgrim Temple in Houston and his lodge is said to be one of the strongest of the younger organizations in Texas.

According to Kennedy the lodge is in the clear, having paid off all outstanding claims and has an active membership exceeding 2,000 people.

Wage Labor Fight on F. W. Woolworth Store in Houston

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 23.—Colored citizens in Houston are waging a labor fight on the F. W. Woolworth Company which has built a new store in the Fifth Ward where they have refused to hire colored clerks.

When the store was being built in the densely populated colored section of the city, representatives of local organizations visited the manager and asked that he employ colored girls as clerks. He refused.

The representatives were told the store was aimed at both white and colored trade and the employment of colored girls as clerks would be objectionable to whites trading at the store.

A decision of the United States Supreme Court, upholding the right of colored people to picket in such cases, was hauled out to the people by a local paper, but when the store opened, no pickets put in their appearance.

Houston's Negro Chamber of Commerce has voted $100 to be used in support of such pickets in the event an organization sees fit to make the fight.

CAUSES CONTROVERSY

The issue has caused a controversy between two local papers, the Informer and the Defender. The Informer refused to insert advertising for the new store when it was opened and the Defender accepted the advertising.

The Informer has called the Defender a "traitor" and the Defender has rejoined that if the Informer accepted only advertising from stores where colored clerks were employed there would be little advertising for the Informer. The Defender explained "it was a matter of business."

Bryan Boasts Fine High School

BRYAN, Nov. - 23.—Bryan boasts one of the finest high schools for a city of its size in Texas.

E. A. Kemp high school of this city, named in honor of a local pioneering educator, who labored and served this community well in the vineyard of education, is an attractive two story structure, erected in 1931 in his memory.

Principal of the school is R. C. Neal, a progressive educator, whose service to Bryan has won him many laurels of recognition from the people.

Neal was born in Navasota, Texas, where as a youth he finished elementary and junior high school under the strict guidance of R. P. Neal, his father, who had taught in Texas many years. To meet the demand for higher education he finished the college preparatory course at Fisk University in 1911.

TO HOWARD

Kites rise against the wind nd not with the wind. Hardship is the native soil of manhood and self-defiance. Neal realized this and journeyed to Howard University in Washington. He graduated in 1916 and looked out into a new world, one that he had not seen before.

Luck seemed to be with the youth. for this man came, saw, and still is building the character of the youth of this city.

Neal came to Bryan during the 1928-29 session and taught until the sudden death of the former principal, the late Kemp. Like other sincere workers, Neal's life has been far from bright at times but with confidence and hope, he has carried on the work of educating and building Bryan youth.

AN OPEN LETTER

Mr. R. H. Grovey, President
Third Ward Civic Club
2303 Dowling Street
Houston, Texas

Dear Mr. Grovey:

You, no doubt, already know that there is a great confusion among colored workers in Houston over labor union activities to the extent that the wisest and best informed of our people are baffled. Race leaders in the community including you, Mr. Carter W. Wesley, editor of the Houston Informer, and myself, are hotly taking extreme positions regarding labor union policies relative to the Negro.

Since the Wagner Labor Act has guaranteed all workers the right to organize and bargain collectively regardless of race or color, I have urged Negro workers to be cautious as to the type of unions they choose to represent them. Collective bargaining, as provided under the law, is good for the workers as a whole. But, as many affiliates of the American Federation of Labor have been so anti-Negro by limiting their membership to white workers or injecting discriminatory practices and policies into their by-laws and constitutions, and the CIO is still young, controversial and charged with Communist domination, I have urged Negro workers to not accept these organizations as their only salvation for their protection.

I have advocated that Negroes form their own independent unions, which under the Wagner Labor Act, have as much power and recognition as any other bargaining agency if they represent the majority of the workers in a given plant. I contend that where the Negro workers are in the minority they should form their independent race organization first for the purpose of:

1. Bargaining with labor unions seeking their affiliation.
   (a) They should examine the by-laws and constitution of the union before subscribing for membership.
2. Presenting their cause to their employer or to courts whenever and wherever they feel they have been deprived of individual or minority rights. (Minorities have rights that majorities must respect)

Through the independent union, many executive positions for Negroes would be created such as in the handling of grievances, in court procedures, representation on important boards and at conventions, where and if all would join the mixed unions as you advocate, they will only be chosen in rare instances. Race talent such as lawyers, physicians, accountants, etc., will also have chance to ply their profession through the independent union movement just as the other race does already.

As both you and the Informer editor have publicly denounced my theory regarding independent unions and advocate that Negroes join the mixed unions and take chances on converting the opposition to Negroes after they get in the unions, and you both contend that my position is damaging to the welfare of the race in this community, I hereby challenge both you and Mr. Wesley in an open forum debate under the auspices of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. I feel that the NAACP is the proper organization to conduct this forum because the national office at New York is vitally interested in Negro workers getting a fair play in the new labor union movement.

Such a debate, I believe, will give the public a chance to hear both sides of the question. Further, I believe that the people of Houston want to hear a free and open discussion where the advocates of either side can come and nobly ask questions. I consider the Negro labor situation serious in Houston and every loyal race leader should see to it that workers are given the proper information and light as to how to improve their working conditions and at the same time protect their jobs.

I would appreciate your arranging to meet in this forum at your earliest convenience.

Very truly yours,
C. W. RICE,
Editor, The Negro Labor News.

is believed Maverick will to court when his trial up and ask that the in- ent be squashed because of ical prosecution," or he ttack the poll tax law in as being unconstitutional. ce Maverick gained office, Antonio is no longer the graft-ridden town of Bellinger's time. Bellinger, who named mayors and ran the policy racket in San Antonio, died in 1937 after serving a short term in federal prison for violating the income tax laws. The U. S. judge blamed his plight on gambling.

His son, Valmo Bellinger, who runs a weekly newspaper, tried to get a political foothold after his father died, but was run over by the Maverick voting herd. Bellinger's most stinging defeat was in the election of a police commissioner who said from the stump during the election: "If I see anything happening to Bellinger, I'll turn my eyes and look the other way when I am elected police commissioner."

The Bellingers once held city power in the palm of their hands. They financed homes, built churches, named mayors, said who could teach in the colored schools, and helped run the city. All that is over now and a new crowd is running San Antonio with Maverick in the saddle as mayor.

Lucas Heads Houston's NAACP

HOUSTON, Nov. 23.—A Houston branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored eople appeared headed for a harmonious and constructive administration this week, following the recent election of the Rev. A. A. Lucas, pastor of Good Hope Baptist church, as president.

Judging from all indications, strife which threatened to cripple the organization during the last days of the former president, C. F. Richardson, who died in office, is on its way out.

Discord entered the NAACP ranks here before Mr. Richardson entered a hospital.

Discord developed from opposition over his personal endorsement of Vice President John N. Garner for the Democratic presidential nomination at the national NAACP conference in Richmond.

NAT'L. SEC'Y. HERE

Mrs. Daisey E. Lampkins, national secretary of Pittsburgh, aided in the recent membership drive here and presided at the recent election. Mrs. Lulu White, wife of Julius White, who succeeded Mr. Richardson, gave the local branch a brief, but praise-reelection.

The Rev. M. Lucas has declared he owes his election to no faction. He says the NAACP in Houston will works for the advancement of Negroes along all lines and there will be no play for favorites during his term of office.

Weekly Wages War on Racket

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Nov. 23—The Fort Worth Mind, local weekly, is waging editorial war on the policy racket here, claiming it is exacting nickles and dimes from Negroes while most of the loot goes to big-time white gamblers in downtown hotels.

The paper calls upon citizens and law enforcing agencies to stamp out the racket for the sake of economic progress in the community.

THANK YOU, FATHER

The time is swiftly drawing near, which has been set aside for us to offer "Thanks to God" for His graciousness.

It is also the beginning of the holiday season, a good time for us to take stock of ourselves, and, the conditions existing around us and to give thanks for the blessings, that have been bestowed upon us.

Blessings are constantly being given us, such as loved ones, health, clothing, food and shelter. As a rule, these necessities are simply taken for granted, and the source from whence they come is given little thought.

Those who have talent, and the ability to accomplish great things, are displaying some of their blessings.

A better understanding of yourself, may aid you in determining your own powers, and gifts. The blessings of each individual may differ only because of his training, and ambitions, but no matter how weak, poor, or disabled one may be, a prayer of THANKS should be offered to God on this day.

R. B.—I received the Mystic Dream Incense and after burning it for less than a week, I have been very successful in my business. I am a dressmaker, and have received so many orders that I have to hire someone to help me. I will send for a monthly supply soon. Thank You.

P. B.—Is anyone trying to help me get out?

Ans.—Probing into this matter I find that you have been in prison for 14 years, and have been refused a pardon. Your friends have also forsaken you except one. I vision your hearing from this attorney, whom you wrote to in Georgia, within the next few days. He is trying to fight the case.

E. M.—Who will I marry?

Ans.—I vision you marrying the man you are now keeping company with. He loves you and is making plans for the future. You will receive your ring for Christmas.

A. L. S.—When will I start building my home?

Ans.—It seems that you have an original plan in mind for building a 'Log Cabin Home. This is a very unique idea, and this dream will be a reality by 1941.

R. L. M.—What happened to the letter?

Ans.—Thru a careful analysis of your case I find that the letter was taken by a friend. You have been having your mail sent to a friend's home, and this other party saw your letter and took it. Should have your mail guarded more closely.

G. M.—I am sending my old Charm Bag back and hope to receive a brand new Double Strength one, soon. It has been a wonderful help to me, and words cannot express the thanks I owe you.

P. L.—How will my son come out?

Ans.—It seems that your son will come out almost victorious. He will have to pay alimony 2 He will have to pay his wife alimony, but the divorce will be granted.

E. W.—Will I receive a raise?

Ans.—You have been doing satisfactory work on your present job for quite sometime, and have been promised a raise. But up to date you have not received it. However, you will get it in the near future, and if your work continues to improve you will receive many more.

L. B.—Should I remarry him?

Ans.—Probing into this matter I find that you still love your former husband, and he feels the same. There is no reason why you should not remarry, and not make a go of it. You will be able to profit by your past mistakes.

T. J.—What is wrong with me?

Ans.—My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that it would be wise for you to go to a heart specialist at your earliest convenience and find out whether or not this is your trobule.

E. P.—When will my friend be home?

Ans.—Regarding your question, I find that your friend will return home for the Christmas holidays.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18. (CNA)—A shift of Philadelphia's Negro vote from the New Deal was indicated this week in an analysis of returns from the municipal elections, in which the Democratic-Fusionists were defeated in most of the important contests.

Of four wards in which the Negro vote is exceptionally large, the Republicans carried the Twentieth, Thirtieth and Forty-fourth, although not by wide margins, and lost the Twenty-fourth, a 19,000 vote ward, by 92 votes.

The Republicans elected their Mayoralty candidate, former Judge Robert E. Lamberton, by a plurality of 29,241 votes, retained 22 seats in the City Council, and re-elected the occupants of

In 1912 he was elected president of the State Teachers' Association, which incidentally, was sustaining a severe slump at that time. Characteristically, he started things to "humming" and it was not long before the entire organization had been put into a new frame of mind. New objectives were set up, and the once dying association became an active group with great possibilities.

In 1932 Mr. Johnson was appointed acting dean of the Junior College in Houston, following the death of Dean J. T. Fox. He also served as first principal of the Negro night school.

His activities however, are not confined strictly to the field of education. He, like other leaders of the city, is a civic-minded man and takes pride in helping to foster worthy projects. He is connected with the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity in Houston.

Mr. Johnson is family minded, too, taking great pride in noting the progress being made by two sons and a daughter. Both sons are graduates of Fisk university, and his daughter holds a master's degree from Columbia university. Mrs. Johnson is head of the department of English at Wheatley high school in Houston.

The organization has been instrumental, Nash said, in discouraging the practice of theatres in permitting children to attend movies during school hours and the methods of beer parlors in selling drinks to those under age.

"Our chief aim," Nash stated, "is to build higher ideals of living and conduct in the minds of our wayward youths and to encourage respect for child protection in the minds of adults."

TESTED RECIPE

By Frances Lee Barton

TIME marches on. New dishes appear. New methods of cooking are discovered. But the cookie is as popular with us as it was with our parents or our grandparents. New recipes like the following should tend to make it even more popular:

Mahogany Ice Box Cookies

4 cups sifted cake flour; 4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; 1¼ cups softened butter or other shortening; 1½ cups sugar; 2 eggs, unbeaten; 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2 cups shredded coconut.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Combine butter, sugar, eggs, chocolate, and vanilla, beating with spoon until blended; then add coconut. Add flour gradually, mixing well after each addition. Divide dough in two parts. Place on waxed paper and shape in rolls, 1½ inches in diameter; roll each in waxed paper. Chill overnight, or until firm enough to slice. Cut in ⅛ inch slices; bake on ungreased baking sheet in moderate oven (350° F.) 10 minutes, or until done. Makes 7 dozen cookies.

This Month's STAR RECIPE

By BETTY BARCLAY

These are cake days. Cooler weather makes baking a pleasure rather than a task, so home-made cakes are appearing in far greater quantity than during the summer.

A particularly delicious orange sponge cake with a flavorous filling becomes the star recipe for the month. If you want to assure yourself and your guests that it is entitled to such an honor, try the following recipe. And if you know of a better cake recipe, let me have it. Perhaps it too, will become a "Star."

Orange Sponge Cake

5 egg yolks
1½ cups sugar
½ cup orange juice
½ cup water
2 cups cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
5 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Beat egg yolks, sugar and orange juice for 10 minutes with a rotary hand or machine beater. Add water and beat 2 minutes. Add flour, sifted with baking powder and salt. Beat about 1 minute, or only until the dry ingredients have been quickly and thoroughly blended into the mixture. Fold in the grated peel, and then the egg whites which have been stiffly beaten but not dry. Bake in a 9-inch tube pan, in moderate oven (350° F.) for 70 minutes.

For the filling take:
4 egg yolks
¾ cup sugar
1 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon gelatine
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
¼ cup sugar

Mix egg yolks, ¾ cup sugar and orange juice and cook in double boiler. When thick, add the gelatine and orange peel. Cool. Beat egg whites and add ¼ cup sugar. Fold egg white mixture into orange custard. Spread on cake and sprinkle with coconut. Chill in refrigerator.

Houston C. of C. Board of Directors to Meet Dec. 6

HOUSTON, Nov. 23.—The board of directors of the Houston Negro Chamber of Commerce will meet Dec. 6, to consider the resignation of Dr. Wm. Drake, physician, who resigned three weeks after being re-elected to a second term.

Dr. Drage threw up his hands in disgust and handed in his resignation following a series of stinging articles concernng his administration which appeared in a local newspaper.

The physician said his resignation was aimed at harmony in Houston where leaders are at odds with each other over control and leadership of community organizations.

PRINTER PREXY

In the event the directors accept his resignation the presidency will go to L. H. Spivey, a printer and retired mail carrier, who is first vice president. The constitution forbids a new election.

Dr. Drake has long been outstanding in public service in Houston. He directed the most successful membership drive for the chamber of commerce last year to ever be attained by the organization. More than $3,000 was raised to run the chamber.

His work as chairman of the building fund drive for Houston's new colored YMCA won him the plaudits of many citizens. This drive netted $60,000 in cash and pledges and Dr. Drake was the largest donor, giving a pledge of $1,000.

The physician's most recent contribution to the welfare of the people here was his chairmanship of the recent NAACP membership drive which netted more than 1,400 members.

Adventures in Kitchen-Land

By BETTY BARCLAY

Bread need not be the necessary but a bit prosaic "staff of life"—it can be an adventure in food. Today's woman does not, like her grandmother, devote a day or two a week to the art of breadmaking, but she is eager and sufficiently hospitality-minded to welcome choice recipes for quick breads which will delight friends and family.

For afternoon tea, for the school lunch, for Sunday night supper or refreshments for that evening bridge game there are a variety of delicious breads which add immeasurably to the basic "sandwich diet." Not only do they give variety — they are nutritious — and require only the simplest of spreads. The small amount of time necessary to make this Orange Honey bread pictured, for instance, will be amply repaid by the satisfaction of those who eat it.

Orange Honey Bread

2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup honey
1 well-beaten egg
1½ tablespoons grated orange peel
3½ cups flour, sifted before measuring 2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup orange juice
¾ cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening and honey together well. Add egg and grated orange peel. Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together. Add the dry ingredients to the creamed fat and honey mixture, alternately with the orange juice. Add the nut meats. Pour into an oiled 9 by 5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 325° F. for 70 minutes. The nuts may be omitted. (Makes 1 loaf.)

When cold, cut in thin slices. Spread with butter or with cream cheese, which has been blended with a little orange juice, and make into sandwiches. Incidentally these sandwiches are very welcome additions to the children's lunch-box and a loaf of this bread is a swell thing to have around over the week-end if you or the young folks are expecting company.

Lemon Clover Rolls

2 cups flour, sifted
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons lemon juice

Sift dry ingredients and work in shortening. Add milk which has been soured by combining with lemon juice. Knead slightly. Form dough into small, walnut sized balls. Place 3 balls in each cup of a greased muffin tin. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 10 minutes. These rolls have a very fine texture almost like a yeast roll. (Makes 16-20 rolls.)

Quick Orange Jam

2 cups orange pulp and juice
1 lemon, pulp and juice
1½ cups sugar

The Delightful Side

By BILL SMALLWOOD

Last my life's spring season
Be winter at the start —
For Pete's sake heed to reason
And send me back my heart!

About the wedding: Now what can be said that hasn't been said about a garden wedding under these matchless California skies?

The deLavallade-Bratton affair was a perfect thing, every item working out flawlessly. Musingly, it wouldn't have been amiss for a traffic officer to have been on duty in the neighborhood for the line of motors for miles around was endless. Folks gathered long before three . . .

Novel touch, methought, was Angelique's usage of hostesses instead of a large bridal party. Her sister's San Gabriel place is the ideal setting for a large garden wedding, as you may have heard. The lawn more than held the overflow of wandering guests. The colony, of course, was well represented.

Their gifts, which were legion, were only displayed in part as there was such a pile of lovely stuff . . . Two solos preceded the appearance of the bride—a MOST lovely one—on the arm of her eldest brother. Angelique's gown was really an ethereal thing and accentuated her statuesque charm. She wore a wisp of a hat rather than a veil. Her bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley. Rev. Samuel Bean officiated.

Recollectively, how very stunning on the eye are the village matrons and debbies when in a flattering picture! Too, there's an undeniable bit of satisfaction to be gotten from being able to wander about at will at these large weddings, have you ever noticed?

Much picture-snapping . . . . Scads of gay folk . . How very nice again seeing Charlotte Hicks Hudson, who vastly prefers California to her wintry Omaha, she confides. She'll holiday there, incidentally. Dr. Johnny Robinson there and arousing my admiration upon expertly balancing a plate of cream while shaking hands and nodding elsewhere. he Lionel Fortiers and their family of sub-debs . . . . Betty Hulsey and her mother. . . The Clarks, the Allens, the Blacks, Riddell Scott

The altar was improvised betwixt a towering palm and a pair of ladened orange trees . . Much mass maneuvering so that every soul could see everyone else and vice versa. Much hugging and personal adulation and, I strongly suspect, exchanged confidences anent other town topics . . .

Angelique travelled in an English tweed suit with black accessories. They boarded the night choo-choo for parts unknown (Frisco, I'll betcha). And all the rest of us drifted off into the night, heading for our individual pallets at home, completely done in after the preceding noon and the Gay Westerners party Saturday night . . .

That Bun and his bride will be happy is needless to add, for it's understood that both of them more than have our every best wish. Good luck kids.

And, above ALL, keep swingin' . . .

About the Saturday night assembly anent the Gay Westerners: Delightful session, this. Another culling of folk social, brilliantly so. The girls did well for themselves at their first annual pre-Thanksgiving party. An intimate number, which somehow, better fits the smaller Elk's dance room. Undeniable, too, that seemingly this event signified a good bit of first-showing for many of the gowns that were swirled around the place.

Noticing the Clark scion in attention upon a cute young debbie (Blanche Donaldson, of Memphis), brings to mind that the latter's cousin, here from Memphis, too, has perished all thoughts of returning there and has attached himself to a Westside lovely. They sigh in unison while doing piano duets at dusk, an' all that fol-de-rol. In fact, Nick Brown danced and danced so much with his lady that I dist fear they'd drift off heavenward and leave us gaping . . . Heigh-ho.

An exceptionally nice party, in all . . . .

About the Dra-Mu-Lit howdee-do coffee Sunday: Also one of the week-end's interesting asterisks. Informally done. Folk came and went, sipped their mocha, munched sweetbreads and got a pretty good idea of just what this circle plans to do. Some of the guest-log signers were: the McMillans, Dr. Thomas King, the B. Carreres, Marie Sweeney, Lee Taylor, Herz Howard, Dr. John Robinson, Luther Thompson, Mrs. Charles Black, Rev. Usna Walters, Florence Cadrez, the Geo. Randols, James Harris, Elouise Brown, Esther Humphries, Catherine Holmes, W. McCollough, Elizabeth Haney, Wm. Payne, et al.

Others looked-in . . . Mrs. William Lawrie, Jr., and Mrs. Cyrus Cooper poured . . . More of the activities of this art-minded group as time flies.

About different folk and fancy: Neither one of them will be able to stare me down for asking, but is Mrs. Ralph Vaughn knitting wee things with a far-off look? No lady as gracious or as sincere as our First Lady Fannie Robinson; so accordingly, the choice of the Harlem Children's Fresh Air Fund is a perfect one. Fannie is now their honorary president. (But hurry home, for gosh sakes!) There's to be a third Mrs. Harry Blodgett, have you heard?

They tell me the junior Shelton Brookses are just about the cutest and liveliest couple of "young marrieds" to hit town from N. Y. in an age. Shelton Jr. does imitations and plays and is, seemingly, an all-round good fellow. Well, we'll surely HAVE to have a look-see at these bubbling Brookses! Of ocurse, you heard of his Dad selling three out've four numbers to Mae West?

At the B'way opening of her hubby's show Wednesday nite, 'twas Gladys Hampton who made the mob sit up and stare. Gorgeous Gladys wore her fabulous silver fox over a black and silver dinner gown, a silver turban, her diamonds and three orchids which Lionel had flown from Florida for her. She had a supper-party beforehand, at which Ruthie Ellington assisted. The Hampton theater party numbered twelve, comes word. (We WOULD be on the other side of the world!) Glady's mother, Mrs. Agnes Riddle, never fails to chief-out for Christmas with them, but since they'll be here in February, Mrs. Riddle probably won't go this season. Altho I won't exactly be surprised if she DOES take a plane on Christmas Eve . . .

Whisper: One of the young stars in sepia films is about to blow the lid off one of the set-ups unless they pipe a tune to pacify her (justified) charges. Then again the whole thing will probably be patched up.

That being that . . . period . . .

Jordan Ekes Out 7-6 Grid Victory

Jordan High school eked out a 7 to 6 win over Bell at Jordan Friday afternoon to close the Eastern league season. Quarterback Thompson of Jordan went over for the touchdown and right end Fernandez booted the extra point that spelled victory. Bell scored its touchdown on the last play of the game, a 30-yard pass, but failed to convert.

Giants Nab Winter Loop Lead

Negro Nine Will Play Pirrone Again Next Sunday

Moving into a half game lead in the Winter league as a result of an 8 to 6 thumping administered to Joe Pirrone's Major and Minor League All-Stars, the Philadelphia Royal Giants were preparing today to increase their margin next Sunday afternoon at Gilmore field when they engage the same team in a doubleheader.

The Giants and the Pirrones were have played two games last Sunday but the second was called at the end of three scoreless innings because of darkness.

The Giants' Walker and Bill Wright supplied the batting punch in the first game, the latter slamming out a homer with one on in the fourth.

Roosevelt Holds Jeff to 0-0 Tie

Scoring a moral victory, Roosevelt High's Roughriders held a highly touted Jefferson High Democrat eleven to a scoreless tie Friday afternoon at Wrigley field.

Jefferson's high-stepping touchdown duo of Tom Pollard and Joe Black couldn't shake off Roughrider tacklers when yardage meant points. Both teams had several scoring opportunities but failed to capitalize on them.

Clinching the Southern league championship the previous week with a 33-0 win over Manual Arts Toilers, the Democrats completed the season with their unscored on record intact.

Ratting Around

It ain't no use to rat around,
It just ain't got no moral.
What is a hardship now and then?
What is a family quarrel?

It's garbage when you rat around
To spite the other party.
It often gets you in the red,
My friend, it just ain't hearty.

It ain't no use to rat around
Pick what you want and like it
And if it turns too awfully sour
Pack up your duds and hike it.

POWER BUREAU DEMONSTRATIONS POPULAR FEATURE OF FOOD SHOW

All-Electric Kitchen Proves Attraction to Many Visitors

Acclaimed as the most attractive, modern and practical display and demonstration of electrical home appliances in recent years, the Bureau of Power and Light's exhibit at the Fifteenth Annual California Food and Home Appliance Show established new records attesting the rapidly growing popularity of all-electric kitchens.

Culinary demonstrations conducted by Mrs. Fay Newsome, a Bureau home economist, were attended by hundreds during the show as part of the more than 130,000 paid admissions. Eighteen cooking demonstrations were witnessed by a registered total of 1,200 persons.

Salesmen identified with the Bureau's display, as well as those connected with the numerous dealer exhibits found in the Bureau's home economy sessions, convenient and convincing medium for impressing visitors with the convenience, economy and cleanliness of modern all-electric methods combining refrigeration, water heating and cooking.

Numerous comments received by the Bureau management during and since the Show, according to Burdett Moody, Business Agent, expressed the general opinion that the city-owned electric system's efforts would prove beneficial in creating widespread interest among future "satisfied" electric range owners.

FASHIONS OUT OF "GONE WITH THE WIND": The Southern styles to be shown in the movie, "Gone With the Wind," have inspired a new group of American fashions. Above are dresses adapted from those worn by Scarlett O'Hara and other characters in the film. At left: Melanie's cameo dress in pale beige-colored rayon faille. The lace edging the decolletage is dyed to match. Center: One of the afternoon dresses Scarlett wears is interpreted here in sheerest cotton seersucker sprigged with green and white flowers. This picture is one of many made by an expedition, sent out by the American Geographical Society, which recently completed the field work of mapping more than 2,000 square miles of mountainous area along the Alaska-Canada border. Although marooned for eighteen days in heavy blizzards on the mountains, the expedition established six ground bases and completed 1,000 aerial photographs at high altitudes during a series of flights over the range. A new method of aerial mapping was used, employing high oblique aerial photographs instead of vertical.

Wood, leader of the American Geographical Society expedition, which recently made an extesive aerial photograph survey of the Mount St. Elias Range on the Alaska-Canada border, and his wife, who served as ground photographer and commissary department chief.

PICTORIAL NEWS OF THE WORLD

by bill smallwood

In an effort to evaluate the respective contributions made to music by black and white musicians, I have read and re-read all the literature that is available on the subject. There is an amazing divergence of opinion which seems largely based on the social conditions existing at the time. Both in and out of the musical life there was, and still is to a less extent, a prejudice against us as a people. Until recently there was a tendency to ignore the major work that we have contributed to swing.

Inferior whites were acclaimed as greater than our musicians who were accused of crudity. Today the pendulum has swung to the complete opposite of this view, and swing is considered as a wholly Negroid form of art. Either of these views is manifestly absurd. Each has contributed his quota and if the sum total of the white influence is less than that of the black we must remember that this is due to the fact that a white musician has so much to un-learn before he can get to the root of his subject.

As an example of the current extreme of critical opinion I find that almost every (non-playing) authority on the subject belittles the magnificent pioneer work of the Original Dixieland Jazz Band. It has been suggested that the fame of the band rest entirely on the fact that it was a white band that succeeded only because the superior colored bands of the period were ignored for reasons of race prejudice.

There is absolutely nothing that I can find to support this contention which seems to be maintained only by those students who were not actually on the spot or who were not even in their cradles (as I was not) at the time when the Dixieland Band entered into its heyday.

It has not been my good fortune to hear many of the early records of the period prior to 1920, but friends who have (notably Nick Fortune in his "Dixieland to the Duke") say that records by both black and white bands until the advent of the first discs by the Dixieland Band had little in common with modern music. A further point is that this band was the first to use an instrumental combination that is the basis of modern bands.

The truth of the matter appears to be that while the seedlings of swing remained planted in the South, where prejudice will always be stronger, there was little mingling between the music of the two races. That there must have been some give and take is certain because I am told that one would often find them on the opposite sides of the street.

To say that the Dixieland Jazz Band created swing is wrong as to say it did not.

It created a style that had very little in common with the Negro music of its day but which had an undeniable influence on the development of Jazz. The only way in which to handle the question is first to tell the story, and discuss the style, of this band and then that of the colored bands that migrated to Chicago in the early twenties.

This point seems to be the right place to insert an important digression. There is some doubt as to the origin of the word "Jazz"—or "jass" as it was first spelled. Learned men have assured me that it was known in N'Orleans as early as 1880. On the other hand, both Bill Brown and Benny Goodman are emphatic that it is a Northern word. Benny says that he had never come across it until it was applied to Nick LaRocca's music in Chicago. Teddy Wilson says it was a vulgar word used in the slum area in Chi, and was applied to their music in a disparaging manner by jealous musicians. Whatever the early meaning of the word may have been, and whatever connection it may have in the minds of a limited few, it now has only the one meaning for enthusiasts the world over who, when they speak of what became known later as hot music and more recently as swing music.

I claim that ordinary commercial dance music has nothing in common with swing music (Jazz?) beyond the fact that they both use the same instrumentation.

"JAZZ" ONCE VULGAR

Teddy Wilson, in a discussion of the origin of the word "Jazz," claims he remembers it as a vulgar word used during the early days of his career in Chicago. (See Bill Smallwood's column, "Notes On a Scratch Pad").

Jefferson Tri-Y Girl Reserves to Appear at Church

As part of their service work for this Thanksgiving season the three Jefferson Tri-Y Girl Reserve clubs will render a program for the Boosters' Club at Second Baptist church on Sunday, Mrs. Jessie Lee Catley, Misses Vivian Martin and Blanche Wiley are the advisers.

The Business Women's Club made many interesting plans for their future meetings. Among them is a presentation of Mrs. Isabel Clifton who recently attended the Business and Professional National Council meeting in New York, and Miss Myrtle Hasenheyer, National Industrial Council member.

The City Wide Girl Reserve Committee and advisers have made plans for a dinner meeting with Mrs. Eleanor Capenhaver Anderson, National Secretary for Industrial Girls program as speaker, "Some significant questions confronting Girls Reserves today" will be her topic. Mrs. Isadore Brown chairman of the Branch Girl Reserve Committee is a member of the Planning Committee.

Mrs. Elizabeth Harris represented the Industrial Club at the Interclub Council of the Business and Industrial Girls' Clubs of the City Wide YWCA recently where plans were completed for the visit of Mrs. Eleanor Capenhaver Anderson, National Industrial Secretary of New York City who will be guest of honor at a supper Thursday evening, November 30th, when Household Employees of the Twelfth St. Branch YWCA will join fellow workers from other branches at the Central YWCA.

Miss Dorothy Brown will resume her meetings in Sewing, handicraft, and knitting beginning Tuesday Nov. 28. Tuesday 1-3 and Thursday 3-6.

First Argus Effort Will Please

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Without a doubt the best of the all-colored motion pictures to date, Argus Pictures "Double Deal", co-starring Jeni LeGon and Monte Hawley was previewed Monday night at the studios on Sunset boulevard.

Photography, lighting and sound is such a big improvement over previous efforts of companies specializing in all-colored films that there is little or no real comparison.

Directed by Arthur Dreifuss and produced by Dixon R. Harwin, this International Road Shows release should find favor all over the country among theatre-goers anxious to see all-Negro films move forward.

The story revolves around the usual gangster theme that "crime does not pay" but it is different in that it does contain some factual information that seems to prophecy what future productions of this company may hold in store.

The prophetic scenes are those in which Shelton Brooks, famed writer of "Some of These Days" and other hits, appears as himself. Brooks sings one of his two songs, "Hole in the Wall" in "Double Deal". If this new film does nothing else it affords Brooks an opportunity to essay his talents and personality in a manner that all who have known of him but have never seen may now see and hear.

"Double Deal" concerns the rivalry of Hawley as "Jim McCoy" and Edward Thompson as "Dude Markey" over the affections of Jeni LeGon, "Nita Walker", a night club star.

HAWLEY OUTSTANDING

How Hawley breaks up a jewelry racket headed by "Howard" (Maceo Sheffield) when Hawley's brother, "Tommy McCoy" (Freddie Jackson) becomes involved is well done.

Hawley gives an outstanding performance as the hero of the story. His resemblance to George Raft in many of the scenes is astonishing. Thompson, as No. 1 man in the jewelry theft ring is convincing. F. E. Miller, nationally known comedian, gives one of the film's best performances as "Slim", Hawley's side-kick.

Miss LeGon is pleasing in her role, her dancing being one of the picture's highlights. Although her singing voice leaves something to be desired, it is possible that succeeding films will treat her vocal renditions more sympathetically as far as sound is concerned.

Others in the cast, Florence O'Brien, Buck Woods, Tommy Southern, Vernon McCalla, Jack Clisby, Arthur Ray and Chas. Gordon, are quite adequate.

Three songs are heard in the picture, "Jitterbugs Cuttin' Rugs" and "Hole in the Wall" by Brooks, and the Peter Tintura and Harry Tobias number "Gettin in Right With You."

Musical direction by Ross Dimaggio; screen play by Arthur Hoerl and additional dialogue by F. E. Miller completes the credits.

'Double Deal' is recommended entertainment.

Modern Youth 'Redeemed' By Gilbert Allen Choir

Much maligned present-day Youth fully exonerated itself of the general contention that it is a hopelessly "lost" generation, lost in a jungle of extravagant pleasure, in a caldron of cheap liquor and a fog of nicotine, by treating Los Angeles to a musical concert, the first half of which was worthy of the Philharmonic. Indeed, Youth actually triumphed at the People's Independent Church of Christ the past Thursday night under the inspiration and direction of Gilbert Allen, believe it or not, one of Los Angeles' own sons!

Mr. Allen's concert was a contribution to musical art by youth in its entirety. The composer-director himself is youthful, and apparently no one in his aggregation is over twenty-one. But, dear Lord. Such singing! There were moments when one might easily have closed his eyes and fancied himself listening to the Cherub choir of heaven, so youthful and sweet were the well blended voices.

Gilbert's program was actually an historical pageant of his artistic career which showed him to be very versatile. His opening numbers were devoted to a few of his piano compositions. The first of which was a Rhapsody entitled "On The Avenue" which made numerous devout souls glance at one another with discomfort and displeasure because it was in the Church building and Mr. Allen's Rhapsody was definitely a "Blues." The discomfiture and displeasure of the devout was augmented by the fact that Rev. Russell had opened the concert with prayer only a moment before. One could not help wondering, at the moment, if this procedure were absolutely necessary at a formal concert because it happened to be in a Church. But, oh well.

HEAVENLY CONVERSATION

The "faithful" were put at their ease, however, with Mr. Allen's first choral number: "Lord I Wanna Talk With You." And what a Conversation those youngsters did carry on with our Blessed Lord!

Away back in the twenties, we all thought that our Gilbert was going to develop into a first-rate pianist. But he suddenly left Los Angeles for New York where he fell under the influence of that great musical genius, Hall Johnson, and when he suddenly returned to us in 1937 we heard with sincere regret that Mr. Allen had become a bit indifferent towards the piano and was now especially interested in choral direction. Gilbert was undaunted. He proceeded to assemble his youthful choir, and with their first public appearance all who heard them satisfactorily exclaimed, "Well."

And last Thursday night anyone with the least power of discernment could plainly see that Gilbert Allen is destined to go down in musical history as one of the greatest choral directors of the present age.

Now, notwithstanding I have literally been plucked off the Church door steps during the past week and scathingly denounced—right to my face—as an eerie, scuttling little animal with a long pencil-like tail, threatened with arrest and bodily assault and lot of other good "Christian" invectives thrown in for good measure, for having and again express a few honest opinions—in print, I must remain true to my Christian conscience an dagain express a few honest opinions—in print. After all it is more than high time that our aspiring artists realized that sentimental back-slapping and childish flattery, in the name of 'race pride', doesn't help the aspirant one inch along the hard road to recognition in the world of real art. To the contrary, such childishness is a deterrent. Nor does it become any of our community "impresarios" to fly in a rage, lose all sense of dignity and Christianity and resort to threatening some hapless "nobody" who happens to be discriminating enough to distinguish between tinsel and spun silver and frankly says so. It is well for such "Leaders" to remember that they are supposed to be following in the footsteps of another NOBODY who was bitterly denounced and finally put to death for daring to have the moral courage to publicly criticise the machinations of His "superiors".

Another treat that was afforded the audience was the opportunity of hearing the golden baritone voice of young Mr. Carl Yaeger. Luckily for this golden voiced young man he is surrounded by intelligence instead of emotion, so one can easily believe that his is a voice of destiny.

But to return to Mr. Allen, this community is very justly proud of him, and the 10 dozen American Beauty Roses should be presented to the Assistance League for having sponsored his concert. One looked with bitter regreat upon the many vacant seats in the auditorium in comparison to other occasions when the featured "artist" hadn't even one third as much to offer. Those vacant seats stood as silent indictments against Negro powers of discrimination and of our appreciation of those who have sacrificed much and labored hard to help lift the Negro to a place of eminence in the field of cultural arts. I cannot close without an enthusiastic word of comment upon the beautiful appearance of stately Mrs. Clayton D. Russell. She undoubtedly picked up that "creation" on her recent excursion through Paris, France. Another overwhelming vision of loveliness on this occasion was regal Mrs. George Garner of Pasadena, flooring everybody with her natural beauty and her red fox fur cape. Whew!

Thousands of Actors Never Get Chance, Alberta Says

BY RICHARD RANDALL
Crusader News Agency

NEGRO actors are more than actors.

They are also spokesmen for that America which struggles desperately to assert itself on the plantations of Alabama and in the teeming slums of the nation's big cities.

So did Alberta Hunter, who plays the part of the "bad girl" in "Mamba's Daughters," now playing at the Grand Opera House in Chicago, describe the role of the Negro footlight performer.

Daughter of poor people in Memphis, whose Beale Street gave jazz to America, Miss Hunter is not fooled by the flattering attention shown Negro actors in the white press.

CULTURE STIFLED

"For every Negro who reaches the top in the face of all the rank discrimination in the commercial theatre," she declared, "thousands of other gifted Negroes never have a chance. Their folk songs, so leoquently picturing the deep stirring of all my brothers, are made and sung by men whom society makes appendages to a mule and plow. Their songs eventually die without ever being recorded, and if they are recorded, then some song promoter gets the credit for composing them and the cash for selling them.

"There are better singers unadvertised and unknown down in the cornfields than all of us," said the slim young woman who began her career by singing in Chicago's night clubs, and who returned to America, from a successful engagement in London, to play in "Mamba's Daughters."

"There is only one way," she emphasized, "to give talented Negroes their chance. That is to better the present conditions which keep 14,000,000 colored citizens both from earning their daily bread and from making their full contribution to American culture. And bettering conditions means putting up a fight, along with the millions of progressive people, against any injustice to any racial groups."

FOUGHT DISCRIMINATION

Miss Hunter was not talking for effect when she made this clear-cut declaration. When "Mamba's Daughters" first arrived in Chicago, she dropped into a restaurant near the Grand Opera House for a sandwich and a cup of coffee. When the management told her that it did not serve Negroes, the young actress parked herself at a table and declared that she would not leave until she had been served.

"And did I get service," she smiled. "They brought me food immediately, and they didn't dare try the old gag of making a Negro pay three prices for his order."

A woman whose sensitivity to cruelty is a reflection of the cruelty which she has seen inflicted upon her people, Miss Hunter hates the present war and the idea of America entering it.

"Why should people go out and hack each other to pieces over something called a 'cause,' but which boiled down means nothing to the plain people—and particularly to the Negro people?" she asked scornfully. "Why should my kin in particular have anything to do with it when they are lynched in Georgia and worked to death for taxes in Dahomey?"

"So long as one Negro is denied the right to vote in Texas for lack of a poll tax, no other Negro should feel any obligation to fight for a 'cause' which takes his life and gives him no liberty."

Jo Baker Makes Troops Gay in French War Zone

With Maurice Chevalier and Gracie Fields, Josephine Baker is entertaining troops in the French war zone, it was revealed by Bill Henry, Los Angeles Times staff representative with the Royal Air Force, in a recent dispatch.

Henry, former sports scribe with the local paper, now a full fledged war correspondent, stated that Air Force "boys" are peeved with the army because "for the second time in a couple of weeks they have been passed up by the headline entertainers."

"Last night," continued Henry, "Gracie Fields performed for the army crowd and about a week ago Maurice Chevalier and Josephine Baker did their stuff for the army.

"But so far the R. A. F. lads have had to content with their own homemade comedy for entertainment.

"A good part of the fighting in France is being done by the air force and the boys don't see why they should do part of the work and the army should have all the 'fun.'"

Josephine Baker, an American girl, has been in France for several years and is married to a wealthy French nobleman. Over the years she has maintained her place as one of the outstanding continental stage personalities.

'Daytime Wife', Gay Farce, Now at United Artists

Light though clever story, thoroughly seasoned with sparkling dialogue, provides an excellent foundation for "Daytime Wife". As gay a farce as audiences have been offered in many a day, and chuck full of entertainment.

"Daytime Wife" shows Tyrone Power removed from drama to comedy, and also marks the second appearance of Linda Darnell, whom you will remember for her excellent work in "Hotel for Women."

"Daytime Wife" is a picture about a man who is in love with his wife, and he doesn't know what she does during the day, and she doesn't know what he does during the night. Wendie Barrie as Tyrone Power's secretary and Binnie Barnes as the lady of many marriages, makes "Daytime Wife" a riotous round up of romance and revelry. Linda Darnell in an effort to find a way to hold her men, obtains a position as secretary to Warren William, wealthy playboy architect, and to her surprise, accomplishes her purpose via an unexpected route, when she accepts her bosses invitation to a night club, where among those present are Power and his secretary, Miss Barrie. "Daytime Wife" was directed by Gregory Ratoff, produced by Darryl F. Zanuck and released through 20th Century-Fox.

RETURNING HOME FASTER

Only those who know the real story of the New Deal and the Negro and understand how much of the Democratic 1934 and 1936 victories were due to Negro support will appreciate the feeling of Republican national eaders at the Philadelphia figures, which show the Negro voter, who started returning "home" last year, continuing in that direction at increased speed.

For example, in the four great Negro wards in Philadelphia, the Republicans carried the 20th, the 30th and the 44th by small mragins and lost the 24th by 92. But in 1936 Mr. Roosevelt carried the 20th and 30th by more than 5000 each and the 24th and 44th by more than 6000 each.

CAN'T BE IGNORED

Last year, although the trend was Republican and a proportion of the Negroes swung back, all four of these wards stayed in the Democratic column. That they should now definitely have swung further toward the Republicans is something not to be politicaly ignored.

It was in 1933 that Senator Guffey and Chairman Farley, with the hearty co-operation of Mr. Roosevelt started out to wean the Negro vote away from the Republican party, to which in the big debatable States it had been a basic asset for more than 70 years.

The success of Farley and Guffey in this business was sensational and unprecedented. It culminated in swinging to Mr. Roosevelt in 1936 more than 2,000,000 heretofore solidly Republican Negro votes in New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Maryland, Mississippi, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan.

NEGROES FOR ROOSEVELT

It is too much to say that without these votes Mr. Roosevelt would not have won that year, but any analysis wil prove that but for them he would have carried few of these states. It has been estimated by Democrats—and conceded by Republicans—that Mr. Roosevelt in 1936 got better than 96 per cent of the total Negro vote in the northern and border States.

When early in September the more astute Republican leaders grasped the fact that the Negroes had really swung over, they gave up hope. Their chagrin was only matched by the jubilation of the Democratic managers. Neither made any public demonstration—the Republicans because to do so would merely have accentuated a desperate situation; the Democrats because with the Negro prejudice in the solid Democratic South, they were playing both ends against the middle.

SKILLFUL POLITICS

By many this mass swinging of the Negro vote is held to be the most skillful piece of politics ever executed in this country. Certainly, although the public generally never fully grasped the facts, it was sensationally successful. There is no space here again to tell the story of how the thing was done.

It is ironic that Guffey, against whom they are now turning conceived the scheme. Partly it was accomplished through Federal patronage; partly through the organization; partly by employing Negro teachers, preachers and speakers, who, in campaigns and out, went about among the Negroes preaching Roosevelt doctrines and telling what Mr. Roosevelt had done for the Negroes.

The amazing thing is that they have shifted again. The Philadelphia vote shows that the swing back, still on has gone far enough to justify Republican hope of a 100 per cent recovery in 1940. No clear-headed politician will minimize the importance of that.

• THE WORLD THIS WEEK

SHIPS OF WAR AND STATE

As an upsetter of the best laid plans of mice and men, the fortunes of war can lay claim to first honors. In an ambitious effort to pump needed new blood into America's slim and sickly merchant marine, the U. S. Maritime Commission sent out a call for 500 new merchant vessels at a cost running into the hundreds of millions. In an equally ambitious and worthy effort Congress just passed neutrality legislation forbidding American ships from entering European war zones. And this means, state shipping observers, that the nation won't even need half the small number of merchant vessels now operating. Today America has ships enough, but not enough sea to sail them on! In consequence, a number of American ships took refuge under Panamanian refuge, leaving them free to enter the North Atlantic War zone. The heated debate over that action among members of Congress, Administration quarters, the State department and Maritime Commission indicates that when the fortunes of war start playing hob with men's best laid plans, there's no smooth sailing for the merchant ship, or the ship of state!

INDEPENDENCE? NO THANK YOU!

America's stepchild in the Pacific, the Philippine Islands, no longer looks eagerly to the day of its independence. While only a short while ago the Philippines stirred restlessly against the ties binding them to the United States, today they are anxious in their desire to remain a part of this country's overseas family. President Quezon a few days ago pointedly called attention to how defenseless an independent Philippines would be—a far cry from the days this country was denounced as a greedy landlord. But Philippine spokesmen cannot be accused of "seeing things at night." They have seen the fate which has overtaken other small independent nations. Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Latvia, Esthonia, and Lithuania, have all felt the iron-heeled boot of far mightier powers than they. The independence of any country today is as strong, or as weak as its armed forces. Against that hard and ruthless fact the desire of the Philippines for sovereignty has evaporated.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

Free speech, a shockingly scarce commodity on some quarters of the globe, continues to thrive under the stars and stripes —good proof in itself, that the stars and stripes are still there. From time to time Bund leader Fritz Kuhn gets up and roars to his heart's content, while Communists leader Browder exhorts the "toiling proletariat" to arise speedily and take the reins of power. In Germany and Russia, countries both men warmly admire, their deeds would be a capital offense. The joke is on them, but being fervid zealots they probably fail to see it. At any rate, freedom of speech enables us to laugh at THEM!

TIGHTENING INITIATIVES

The initative is today on trial in California as the reaction to the enormously costly ham-and-eggs election sets in—a reaction aggravated by the threat of pensioneers to place it on the ballot again next year. But moves to tighten the initiative must be carefully considered, lest the remedy proves worse than the ill. One of the very best remedies for abuse of the initiative would be legislators' determination to resist boldly the impossible demands of pressure groups, instead of abetting them!

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

If your family budget is in step with the nation's budget—or whether the nation's budget is in step with yours—is a matter you now can check up on. Reporting last week on how some 130 million Americans spent their money during 1935-36, the National Resources Board findings give interesting indication of how the national income was divided up among the various goods and services. Top claimant to the nation's purse was food, on which about $17 billion was spent. Next came housing, dipping into Americans' income for $9½ billion, followed by nearly $5½ billion for clothing. Moving down into the lesser competitors for a share of the national income, the Resources Board reports we spent nearly $4 billion for automobile expenditures, slightly more than $2 billion for personal gifts and contributions to churches and philanthropic agencies, and the same sum for medical care. Recreation claimed slightly more than $1½ billion, tobacco and personal care each won $1 billion of the general income, and education and reading materials shared exactly half that sum. There, in a nutshell, is one answer to the question. "Where does the money go?"

The Negro and Unemployment

By The Republican National Committee

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Nov. 16—The tragedy of unemployment still disturbs the dreams of millions of colored Americans. It is the one ghost that will not be laid. Governmental experimentation for recovery, with all of the billions spent, has not yet brought appreciable relief to this one-tenth of our American population, the minority group which has suffered most during this period of economic misery and distress. The plight of this group is erious and tragic.

Former Governor Alfred M. Landon called attention to this "tragedy of unemployment" in an address at Cornell College, in Iowa, recently, when he said: "What is taking place in the world beyond our shores must not blind us to the tragedy that is taking place daily here at home, in our very neighborhoods."

The dread of it, as Governor Landon pointed out, may be as demoralizing as the dread of war. The ruthless force of unemployment has left almost as many people hungry and homeless as has the ruthless force of Hitler and Stalin, a Scripps-Howard editorial commented, and added: "Here is a problem which, if it continues to exist in its present proportions, will almost as surely undermine dtmocracy on this side of the Atlantic as war will destroy it on the other. And the remedy is not merely to alleviate the hardships of the victims of unemployment through charity or doles or made work."

As Mr. Landon said: "We watch the shifting and regrouping of masses of population in Europe with something akin to horror—men, women, and children torn from their homes on a few hours notice. But what of the great shifting of population in this country—a shift that has been from steady jobs to make-shift existence in unemployment?"

These observations are of moment to the 12,000,000 colored people of the United States. They have felt the cruel and devastating effects of a situation which has practically made of them economic outcasts, with widespread privation and starvation on every hand, and with little or no attention being given to the causes of this desperate calamity.

Concepts of liberty and justice and decency are involved and endangered when honest, hard-working, respectable men, anxious to work and support their families, become "charity seekers." They lose their morale, and find themselves facing physical and spiritual collapse.

Dear Editor:

West Hollywood is fortunate in having a distinguished and educated architect in business among them, and as I have just learned, he was a Federal Housing Promoter and Supervisor in your Assembly District.

We are proud of him and know you must be also. The other day I read the wonderful Blue Print letter he wrote to his lodge, Holland No. 20, F. & A. M. and during a course of conversation with this young master architect, Floyd L. Henderson, I learned thath e excells in Masonry, the speculative side of architecture as well as the operative.

His plans in uniting with the other lodges of his group, like that of Cresent Bay of Santa Monica, and various other crafts and groups will mean much to the uplifting of chapters and communities, who will become more modern and liberal and in a time eliminate much hypocrisy.

Yours very truly,

• LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Bass:

In the issue of your paper under date of the 16th inst. there appeared an aricle written by one Eugene H. Huffman severely criticising the vocal efforts of Mr. Earl Plesaan of New Orleans, La., who had been presented at a recital on the evening of Nov. 12 by the directress of the choir and the Rev. Claytor D. Russell of Independent Church of Christ.

After reading only one paragraph of the article in question, it is not difficult to understand that the spirit of the writer was actuated by sheer malice and jealousy.

Mr. Huffman pointed out the possibility of Mr. Pleasant acquiring much conceit and an inflated ego, because of the ovation showered upon him, and the acclaim with which he was received. To the contrary, every unbiased person in the vast audience that night must have been amazed at the rare poise shown by this young man. The writer of that pessimistic article stated further that Mr. Pleasant was in no sense a musician and did not know B flat from G sharp. I would like to ask Mr. Huffman what is music? Mr. Huffman needs plenty lessons himself, not only in music, but in ethics and behaviorism, psychology and sociology.

After all, psychology and ethics teach us how to get along with people, and in the knowledge of which studies, Mr. Pleasant seems to be better versed than is Mr. Huffman.

The fact that Mr. Pleasant hails from New Orleans, La., near the moss-covered trees, would not render him more amenable to ridicule by Mr. Huffman than if he had come from other parts of the country.

What would one have thought of a New Yorker trying to laugh at Abraham Lincoln? Mr. Huffman should know that people are not being applauded for knowing the theory of music today as much as they are for their rendition of it. I personally know several persons who studied music for years, but they do not play or sing well enough to appear in a public concert. It is a safe bet, too, that all Mr. Huffman does not know about music would fill a large book.

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the All City Employees' Association, may I express our sincere appreciation for the splendid aid you gave the employees in their campaign to defeat Proposition No. 1, on Tuesday, Nov. 7.

The united effort put forth by all Public Employees, and the publicity given by the California Eagle, was most gratifying and no doubt had a definite effect on bringing about a result which was more than satisfactory.

Again, may I thank you and members of your staff for your cooperation.

Sincerely,
LE ROY BRITTINGHAM,

• The Laundry Man

Howdy, everybody. We citizens of "Greater Los Angeles" should feel greatly elated. We have ARRIVED—at last is from the American viewpoint; for at last we have gotten on "BIG TIME." No longer do New York, Philly, Detroit or Chicago monopolize the "Graft Expose" news, the Racketeer killings, the dark doings of sinister, underworld politics which throttle civic virtue, rendering righteous judges helpless, and stymying the herculean efforts of high-minded, graft-hating police officers.

The news-weeklies of the nation have finally awakened to the fact that we have become a full-fledged metropolitan city, subject to all the civic aches and ailments which the name implies, and are proceeding therefore to give us Hell—thereby advertising us immensely. Liberty, Look, and a few other nationally known periodicals have recently dug up our past, have feverishly explored the dark recesses of our family closet.

They have rehashed spicy episodes of Mayor Porter's regime, dragged forth Dave Clark, his victims, Kent Parrott, and other vanished political czars. They have headlined Tony Cornero as the only living Admiral of a stationary ship. Our family affairs have become the property of the nation, an ever-fit topic for gossip. Again I say, we are on "BIG TIME."

There is one fly in our ointment however—again from the American viewpoint. And that is the fact that just as we have about gained due recognition in the national setup as a typical Metropolitan City, along comes unromantic, plodding, practical Mayor Fletcher Bowron, fanatically devoting his time to trying to make us a colorless, staid, graftless community. Now honestly, ain't that something?

Down is our hearts we know that we don't want to go down in the annals of American civic history with that stain on our record. What red-blooded, typical, city-bred American cares about residing, visiting, or even conversing about a graft-free, underworldless city? One where a hard-pressed pickpocket can't slip an understanding cop a ten-spot from the wallet he has just filched, and keep on walking, in perfect confidence that the cop will cover his escape by setting out in pursuit of some innocent pedestrian.

An unprecedented wave of civic virtue seems to have enveloped us, all of a sudden. Even our versatile District Attorney, Buron Fitts, seems to have succumbed to it, judging from the energetic manner in which he is striving to break up an alleged State Liquor Control combination. Which, by the way, if the allegations are true—is one of the most brilliantly conceived racketeer set-ups ever evolved by the fertile brain of a graft-obsessed master mind. The setup appears so flawless—in theory—that is really seems a pity to so ruthlessly destroy it.

If Mayor Bowron and District Attorney Fitts succeed in their nefarious efforts at sabotage of our metropolitan rights, I prophesy that a new epidemic will seize Los Angeles and quickly depopulate it. Thousands of scandal-subsisting citizens—ineluding your humble servant—newspaper reporters, and radio announcers will die rapidly of sheer ennui. Imagine a virtuous citizen breakfasting morning after morning, trying to digest his coffee—and without the bracing stimulus of such headlines as "Grand Jury Indictment Expected," "Sensational Developments Promised In Vice Inquiry," or "Police Dep't Under Fire."

Despite the pronouncements of history, I have always cherished the secret belief that great civilizations and great cities degenerate and go into decline not because of colorful corruption, but because over-zealous reformers make them too clean, too upright, too honest, and therefore too uninteresting, too prosaic. They finally die out from sheer lethargy.

Therefore as true, red-blooded Americans, we should unite in placing hobbles on District Attorney Thomas Dewey of New York, on Buron Fitts, and on Mayor Bowron, before they succeed in destroying the civic foundations of these two outstanding metropolitan cities. In short, let's be frank, and face facts. Civic Goodness is unfashionable, tiresome, irrelevant and irreconcilable to the present tempo of the mass American mind. We should table it therefore, as a national issue until the nation has advanced farther mentally.

The regular Oklahoma Eagle editorial writer, who is as good as any on any paper anywhere, is confine dto bed with complications of a chest cold. The first assistant editorial writer has not returned yet from the Oklahoma City football game. The second assistant came to bat on this huge space, deeper in the doldrums that hes been in many moons, because he's behind with his grocery bills and rent and is sans overcoat with the cold winds of November blowing hard thru the patches on his breeches. Money is hard to get these days. Everyone seems fearful of the future. None seem to have courage to do or to dare. The second assistant was in the notion of filling this space with an outpouring of his troubled soul. He was about to type an editorial addressed to the professariat, the congressmen and senators in Washington, telling them off for their shortcomings.

Then, the door opened. The postman walked in and tossed some mail on the desk. The very first letter opened was from the Science News Service. It contained their regular eekly release on what is new in the world. The second assistant read it. It contained a lot of news about what other people are doing and inventing and thinking and worrying about. The second assistant forgot what he was worrying about in contemplating what others were doing in other parts of the country and the world.

So, if the Newest Notes of Science were good for the second assistant editorial writer they may be good for you. Anyway here they are, just as the came to the Oklahoma Eagle.

BILLYWHISKERS GETS HIS DUE

Goats in Alabama are due to become respectable most any day now. Tuskegee dairy research workers have developed a hardy little goat that produces six quarts of milk a day and can subsist on a diet of briars an dpaper. This goat is not an expensive one and will be especially adapted to the needs of the small tenant or land-owning farmer.

Experimental work on these goats started a fe wyears ago and has been under the direction of M. B. Booth of Tuskegee who once to an idle and somewhat foolish question about how much goats cost replied, "Anywhere from 50 cents to $10,000.

A $10,000 goat must be some goat, but he might be worth the price. The price of the type of goat developed at Tuskegee from a highly bred Saanon, an ordinary Alabama goat will probably be somewhere near 20 dollars.

Goat milk has always been admired and a certain circle of gourmets. The doctors extol it because of its easily digestible fat form, and gourmets for a special delicacy of flavor. Goat milk commands a premium price because of its sale to hospitals, but somehow has never become widely popular.

So far, Booth says, no one has needed persuasion when experimental goats have been offered. About 60 of the Tuskegee goats have been placed with various farm families in Alabama and Georgia. Records are kept on all of them.

This is another of those ingeniously simple contributions Tuskegee has habitually given to Alabama from its inception. Tuskegee's influence has brought a great deal of wealth to Alabama. A better fed, low income population will mean a healthier population—and that always means a higher ability to create wealth. —The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser.

MARK TWAIN KNEW HITLER!

On Nov. 30th will fall the 105th anniversary of the birth of an American whose genius has glowed but the brighter since his death. Mark Twain not only wrote deathless "Huckleberry Finn", but he wrote with such arresting accuracy of the methods by which dictator-despots are now sweeping nations into war that it seems as if he must be alive today—alive and writing as a correspondent from Europe's war scenes. Decades ago he said:

"There has never been a just war on the part of the instigator of the war. I can see a million years hence, and this rule will never change: The loud little handful will shout for the war; the great, big, dull bulk of the nation will rub its sleepy eyes and try to make out why there should be a war, and will say, earnestly and indignantly, "It is unjust and dishonorable, and there is no necessity for it'. Then the handful will shout louder. A few fair men on the other side will argue and reason against the war with speech and pen and at first will have a hearing; but it will not last long—those others will outshout them, and presently the anti-war audiences will thin out and lose popularity. Before long you will see this curious thing: The speakers stoned from the platform, and free speech strangled by hordes of furious men who in their secret hearts are still at one with those stoned speakers—as earlier—but do not dare to say so. . . . Next the statesmen will invent cheap lies, putting the blame upon the nation that is attacked; an devery man will be glad of those conscience-soothing falsities . . . and thus he will by and by convince himself that the war is just, and will thank God for the better sleep he enjoys after this process of grotesque self-deception."

That is Mark Twain's unerring advance "history" of all dictator- and demagogue-inspired aggressions of all time. And it is history worth rereading and heeding for all decent men in the world in troubled 1939.

To the wives of Veterans, members of the Ladies Auxiliary and the Veterans of the World War:

Far too many cases exist that show the lack of knowledge of what should be done and what should be known by the wives of ex-service men, affecting the husband in case of an emergency. I trust that you will keep this article and follow the instructions.

1. Do you know that your husband's war service discharge, with dates between April 7, 1917, and November 11, 1918, is most important in case of serious illness, accident or death? Do you know just where it is located so that you could find it in a moment's notice? This honorable discharge should be recorded at the County Recorder's office, free of charge, and this should not be neglected.

2. Do you know that he is entitled to emergency hospital care in case of serious illness or accident?

3. Do you know that should misfortune overtake him while away from home, it is necessary to call a medical doctor and have the doctor telephone the Veterans' administration at Sawtelle, giving his name, rank, organization, his "C" number if he has one, and a complete diagnosis of his disability, in order that admission may be obtained to the hospital without delay? Should he be a paid-up member in the American Legion, his membership card should be presented to the service officer of the nearest Legion post and it is his duty to relieve you of all responsibilities.

4. Do you know that the greatest and best Veterans' Administration hospital is opened to him 24-hours a day, every day in the year?

5. Do you know that in case of his death, the Veterans' Administration provides $100.00 allowance for funeral expense and that this service is now being given at Sawtelle, as well as Washington, D. C., saving considerable time?

6. Do you know that he can have a regulation headstone free of charge, in event of death?

7. Do you know that the Government will give an American flag to drape his casket. The Veterans' Administration will furnish one absolutely free of charge upon proper application. This has always been the case despite the common practice of some unscrupulous Eastside business men, as reported.

8. Do you know that the only widows and orphans that are entitled to a pension under the present laws is where a veteran's death was a direct result of a service incurred disability, or where he had a service incurred disability retable at 10 per cent or more?

10. Do you know that in event you become a widow and desire to file a claim for Government benefits it is necessary that you furnish a certified copy of your marriage certificate and in case either of you were previously married that certified copies of the dissolution of previous marriages must be furnished? Free certified copies of marriage and divorce certificates may be obtained at the County Clerk's office in the county where the marriage or the divorce took place and in the event the previous marriage was dissolved by death, a certified copy of the death certificate can be obtained from the city or county health department by stating that the certificates are to be used for Government purposes.

11. Do you know where your husband keeps his insurance policies and are you absolutely sure that you have been named beneficiary on same? Almost every day, some veteran dies and it is found that the insurance policies that he took out years before his service still bear the name of the original beneficiary.

MD. TEACHERS GET EQUAL PAY

NAACP SCORES MAJOR VICTORY; NETS NEGRO TEACHERS $45,000 GAIN

Opinion Affecting Maryland County May Change Whole Pay System in South

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30.—Negro teachers in Anne Arundel county, Md., must be paid the same salaries as white teachers doing the same work, it was ruled here last Wednesday by Judge W. Calvin Chesnut of the United States district court. Judge Chesnut signed an injunction restraining the Anne Arundel county board of education from paying lower salaries to colored teachers than to whites.

The decision represented a victory for Walter Mills, 31, principal of a five-teacher school at Camp Parole, Md., plaintiff in the case, who sought to have the county board of education pay him the same salary white principals of equal experience, doing the same work receive. Mills' salary is $1,050 per year. White principals doing similar work receive $1,800.

The decision means that Negro teachers in Anne Arundel county will receive approximately $45,000 more in their pay envelopes than they have heretofore. The total amount of the differential wage still existing in Maryland counties is more than $400,000.

Mills' defense which was waged by Thurgood Marshall, William H. Hastie, Leon Ransom, and W. A. C. Hughes, Jr., attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, represented a victory for the Maryland Teachers Association, which has backed the fight together with the NAACP and other organizations.

DISMISSES OTHER COMPLAINTS

In issuing the injunction Judge Chesnut said:

"As a result of consideration of this case I have reached the conclusion that the plaintiff is entitled to an injunction against the County Board of Education from discrimination in the fixing of his salary to the extent that it is based solely on race or color."

At the same time the court dismissed the cross-complaints against the State Board of Education and others and separately against the County Commissioners of Anne Arundel County.

In his decision Judge Chesnut made it clear that he was in no way passing upon the right of the county board of education to set a salary scale for individual teachers, but merely passing upon the right of an education board to discriminate solely on the basis of race.

The NAACP has already won more than $100,000 in salary increases for Negro teachers in nine Maryland counties, all of whose education boards equalized Negro and white teacher salary scales in settlements obtained without court action.

At least one member of the school board, George T. Cromwell, expressed himself as being opposed to the salary discrimination.

Cromwell was quoted by a Baltimore paper as saying:

"Salary differences ought to be eliminated and will inevitably be eliminated. The practice of paying white teachers more than colored persons for doing

by c. a. b.

MISS Fay M. Jackson, local newspaper woman who some years back published "Flash," a monthly magazine, in this city, and just prior to leaving for England in 1937 to cover the coronation of King George, edited "The California News," uncovered an alarming symptom of Nazi sympathies at a USC fraternity house at 642 West 28th Street, this week.

As a feature of Home-Coming Week for Trojan alumni, a combination African village and Jewish merchandising mart was set up on the lawn of the frat house early Monday morning. Three grass huts were spotted in the background. One was titled "Alpha African," taking a jab at the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity to which the Negro players at UCLA belong. Gaudily painted figures of black savages wearing football helmets peer out from apertures of the huts. Another bore the sign, "Cantor and Cohen 'Food Shoype, Inc." which related to the Jewish gridiron stars.

Dr. Von KleinSmidt and the University faculty are to be congratulated in their effort to build and solidify the principles of true Americanism at USC, for when the fraternity lawn display was brought to their attention, they went into immediate action.

Whether the display was the outgrowth of deliberate Nazi sympathies or simply a beat for youthful pranks, it all adds up to the some thing. If the USC boys built their lawn tableau innocent of any serious motives, they betray a very tragic lack of knowledge in the fundamentals of Americanism. The richness and the beauty of American humor is its refusal to poke fun maliciously or on the basis of mere racial identity. Lincoln, Mark Twain, Will Rogers, perhaps the nation's greatest humorists, were best known for their tolerance, their rare gift of "making friends" through jests. They were all great Americans.

But the wags at USC are of a different calibre—their wit calculated to sting and hurt. Both Jews and Negroes have faced untold persecution because of racial factors. It is obvious, then, that these are no "laughing matters."

FOR THE BENEFIT of those whose race pride is supersensitive, this Sidewalk did not go on the air.

"Let's Get Associated." I think I read this sign on billboards on the highway, and I believe it is the slogan of the Associated Gas Company.

For a long, long time, the Negro's theme song was "Let's Get Together." The louder they sang the further apart they seemed to get.

When I first started to dish out stuff I thought worthy of newspaper copy, I harped long and loud on the idea that solidarity was the one and only solution for the Negro Problem in this nation. Now, after years of study of the race question, I have reached the conclusion that it is no more likely that there should be a oneness of thought and action among Negroes than there should be such unanimity among blondes or white horses.

On the other hand, since the racial majority in our nation known as the "white" group has united every effort to restrict the Negro's social privileges, limit his industrial opportunities, and use him as a political Cat's paw, then it seems to me it is about time the Negro at least should "get associated."

Los Angeles has become the political dump for the nation. The qualification for political leadership in this city is just to come in and start loud talking. Tell the people how putrid is their present leadership, and they applaud the new apostle of purity.

That individual who is truly interested in the all around advancement of his group comes into the community with a sympathetic understanding that in many respects the same impediments in the paths of Negroes as were in his home town, are also here.

Moses, before he assumed the responsibility of leadership, became a part of his own racial group, which, through the medium of bondage, had been transplanted into Egypt.

Diamonds are precious and rare. They are not scattered around as the leaves; you must dig deep to find them.

Anti-Mob Bill Up In House Jan. 8

PREFERRED CALENDAR POSITION WILL BRING MEASURE TO FLOOR

Gavagan and Fish Will Lead Two-Party Campaign to Get Bill Passed in House

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The Gavagan-Fish anti-lynching bill (H. R. 801), which is on the top of the Congress calendar, will be called up in the House of Representatives, Monday, Jan. 8, 1940 according to an announcement made here today by officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The announcement followed a conference held here in Representative Joseph Gavagan's office Nov. 21. Present at the conference were: Rep. Gavagan, (D. of N. Y.) who has piloted the measure through several Congressional battles; Rep. Hamilton Fish (R. of N. Y.) who recently withdrew support from his own Anti-lynching bill to back the Gavagan bill; Walter White, executive secretary of the N. A. A. C. P.; Arthur B. Spingarn, chief of the N. A. A. C. P.'s national legal committee; and Thurgood Marshall, special legal counsel for the association.

At the conference it was agreed that Gavagan and Fish would lead the two-party campaign to get the bill passed in the House.

WRITTEN CONGRESSMEN

The NAACP has written to each of the 218 Congressmen who signed the discharge petition which forced the bill out of committee and indirectly made possible its present preferred position on the House calendar, urging them to be in Washington on Jan. 8 and on the floor of the House, and also to be present each day thereafter to prevent opponents from attempting to kill the bill. A similar request was sent to all Congressmen whose citizens have the right to vote but did not sign the discharge petition.

Pointing out that the fight to destroy this bill will be no less bitter than it was during the first session of Congress, officials of the association urged all members of NAACP branches throughout the country to visit congressmen now at home and urge them to be on the floor of the House Jan. 8 when the bill is scheduled to be brought up; to vote for the bill, and to stay on the floor until the bill is passed.

Seeks Complaint Against Cops Who Broke Into Home

Moves were made this week to secure a complaint alleging malicious mischief and willful destruction of property from the City Attorney's office by Roy Howard, Central Avenue businessman, against officers who broke into his fashionable home at 1237 E. 53rd street Sunday morning, Nov. 19.

In quest of liquor law violations, the officers, Sergeant Guy R. Rudolph, Stewart Jones, John J. Minogue, C. H. Ley, Kelly and McKenzie, wreaked havoc in Howard's stylish home, overturning furniture, scattering clothes about the floor and breaking front windows.

Howard was arrested on liquor law violation charges, while Walter Strider was booked on "suspicion of assault with deadly weapon," which later was reduced to disorderly conduct. Strider had attempted to restrain an officer from breaking out the front windows of Howard's home with an ice pick 'n order to call in comrades from the outside. Howard is represented by Atty. Walter Gordon, Jr., while Atty. David Williams goes to bat for Strider.

Proprietor of Central avenue's largest pool hall, Howard is well known in theatrical and entertainment circles. When recently appearing here, Count Basie, the orchestra leader, visited at the beautiful Eastside home. Neighbors of the young businessman have offered to testify as to his orderly conduct and the quietness of his home, according to reports.

Sensational pictures in this edition of the EAGLE reveal extent of damages in the home. Climaxing a recent wave of protest against violent methods by the local Vice Squad, these photos bring to light for the first time actual facts. The destructive search netted police one old "Chuck-a-Luck" machine, found

A recent example of asserted brutality in the Los Angeles Police department is youthful Lewis Tippen, photoed above. Yancey and the local bargaining committee which included Fred Steele, Andrew Nash and H. B. White. President, R. M. Dozier and Terminal Superintendent W. S. Gardon signed for the company.

73 County Employes to Retire

Services Extolled By Supervisor G. L. McDonough

Seventy-three county employes who retire because they have possed the retirement age of 70, heard their long services extolled by Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough at this week's meeting of the Board of Supervisors.

Sitting as a temporary chairman of the Board, McDonough complimented this group of employees assembled for the special occasion in the meeting room of the Hall of Records.

Twenty-one departments are represented in the 73 employees and that a total of 1,403 years of county service has been completed by the retiring group.

Employees are being retired under terms of the County Employes Retirement act. It provided that within two years after the act became effective, all employes must be retired at the age of 70 years. In the future, employes will retire immediately upon attaining 70 years of age. Although 70 is the compulsory retirement age, 65 is the voluntary age. Employes completing 20 years may retire at the age of 60 years.

Among the local residents retiring are: N. D. Valentine, 1837 E. 51st street, after 12 years in the janitor's department and Thomas F. Simpson, 1124 W. 37th place, after 38 years in the maintenance department of the Municipal Court.

Prominent Dentist Bound Over in Auto Death of Man

Dr. John Cooper, prominent dentist, was bound over to the Superior Court in a preliminary hearing yesterday which followed a Coroner's declaration Monday that he was responsible for the death of a white man in an automobile collision which occurred Thanksgiving Day.

Free on $1500 bail, Dr. Cooper will be arraigned Dec. 18. Enroute to Redondo early Thanksgiving morning, the dentist's automobile collided in Southgate, at Firestone boulevard, with one driven by Clark L. Wheeler, 7852 California street, Huntington Park. Wheeler was thrown from his machine and run over by Mike Malone, 3547 Lynwood, also white, and killed instantly. Malone was not held.

An array of witnesses to the early morning mishap testified Monday before the coroner's jury that Dr. Cooper was at fault. They said his machine was traveling from 40 to 50 miles per hour and that the lights were against him at the intersection.

Dr. Cooper denied that he was driving at the rate claimed and said the sun, just rising at the time, blinded his eyes so that he did not see the "Stop" signal. With him at the time was his wife, Mrs. Rosalee Cooper. The couple lives at 2068 W. 28th street. Loren Miller, attorney, is representing the dentist.

Charge Local Man With Shooting of Valley Rancher

Charged with the shooting of a ranch owner last Oct. 1, Roy Gist, well known local service station operator, is on trial in El Centro, the EAGLE learned today.

While hunting near Brawley, in Imperial Valley, Gist and a party of friends were ordered off the land by rancher Harshman, who allegedly became abusive. He assertedly threatened to fire on the party if they refused to get off the property.

At this point, Gist shot the rancher in the foot, it is reported, and subsequently surrendered to the sheriff.

At the trial, which began last Tuesday, Gist, thru his attorney, Hugh E. MacBeth, claims he shot the rancher in self defense.

Appearing as character witnesses at the trial which is being held in the county court house at El Centro is a prominent group of Los Angeles citizens, including Mrs. Lucille Bufford, Mrs. Myrtle Mae Williams, Mrs. Julia Smith, Mrs. William Stevens, Bob Rosns, parents of Gist, and Dr. Carl Yaeger.

Because of the illness of one of the jurors, the trial has been continued.

Dr. Maynard Elected to New York Academy of Medicine

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—An official letter from Dr. Lewis F. Frissell, executive secretary, confirmed the election of Dr. Aubre de Lambert Maynard, to the New York Academy of Medicine. He is the second of his race to receive this honor, the other being Dr. Peter M. Murray, New York, elected in 1935.

The New York Academy of Medicine is one of the oldest of the honorary professional bodies of its kind in the United States. It has a fixed, standard number of 1700 members. Vacancies are created by the deaths of members and by infrequent resignations; four of such vacancies were filled at the time of Dr. Maynard's election. Average age of the new members is 46-years. Dr. Maynard, however, is in only his 38th year.

New York City schools and hospitals are the scene of Dr. Maynard's training. He was graduated from the City College of New York in February, 1922, with the degree of Bachelor of Science. He completed his course in Medicine at New York university and Bellevue hospital four years later. He was first in his examinations and was among the first colored internes to complete training at Harlem hospital 1926-28.

Dr. Maynard has engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery since that time in New York City. He is Associate Visiting Surgeon, Harlem hospital and is affiliated with Manhattan General hospital and others.

In the New York State Industrial Commission's records he is rated "Specialist in General Surgery"—or "SAC"—which is concerned with compensation matters in its Department of Labor. His work in surgery has included activity in the fields of reconstructive surgery, skin grafting and vascular diseases.

Labor Strife Seeths in Motor City; Race Riots Threatened

DETROIT, Nov. 30—With dire threats of race riots, open CIO-AFL union warfare and a strike against Chrysler Corp's main Dodge plant, the auto city seethed with unprecedented labor strife this week.

According to national wire services, approximately 200 men, mostly Negroes, entered the Dodge plant Monday unmolested but under heavy police guard in a back to work movement.

It is the Negro's role here as a strike-breaker that has given rise to race riot fears.

The men passed quickly thru a picket line of an estimated 4000 men who booed and hissed but made no effort to interfere.

The back to work movement had been sponsored by the United Automobile Workers union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Pickets were members of the UAW, affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, the rival union which has been engaged in a production dispute with Chrysler for 53 days, and which Saturday officially ordered a strike on the Dodge plant.

Many of the colored workers said they were foundry employes. They had assembled a half mile from the plant in the early morning darkness. It was stated that police removed improvised weapons from some, including lead pipes and hammers.

Forming almost a solid wall for a block leading to the main gate, both mounted and foot police were on guard. At the gate

SCHOOL TO ADMIT NEGROES TO ALL DEPARTMENTS - SUPT. CAMPION

School in About-Face in Regards to Admission of Negro; Betty Hill Lauded

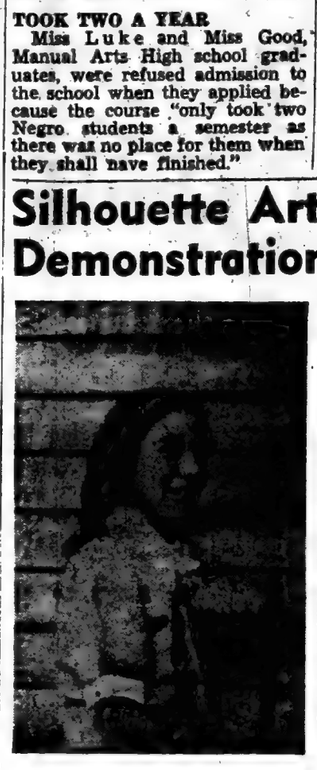
Credit and appreciation were showered this week on Mrs. Betty Hill, executive secretary of the Woman's Political Study clubs, following the change of policy at Frank Wiggins Trade school regarding admission of Negro students.

Resulting from the intervention of Mrs. Hill and a Citizens Committee, two Negro girls, Misses Billie Lukes nd Grace Goode, have been admitted to the dressmaking department.

A complete about face in the school's policy of limiting admission of Negro students to classes in several trades and barring them altogether from others, has been promised by the school officials and the Board of Education, headed by Vierling Kersey, superintendent of schools.

TOOK TWO A YEAR

Miss Luke and Miss Good, Manual Arts High school graduates, were refused admission to the school when they applied because the course "only took two Negro students a semester as there was no place for them when they shall have finished."



Following an appeal to Mrs. Hill, a committee composed of Dr. H. Claude Hudson, George A. Beavers, Norman Houston, Capt. Homer Garrott, and Mrs. Good, waited on the Los Angeles Board of Education last Sept. 20.

Negro students were being embarrassed and discouraged at Wiggins and told there was no place for them, Mrs. Hill told the Board.

Following the testimony, Kersey told Miss Good to report to Frank Wiggins the following morning. She was admitted.

A new policy has been formulated out of conferences with Howard Campion, superintendent of the Trade school. According to Campion, Negro students will be admitted in all departments and recommended for employment after graduation. All students, however, must have the required credentials, background and recommendations for admission.

Silhouette Artist Presents Demonstration at Trinity

MRS. PAULINE KEYS

Holding her audience spellbound, a young woman hailing from Missouri, known all over the country as a foremost silhouette artist, presented an unusual demonstration at Trinity Baptist church recently.

In Los Angeles for a series of appearances, fresh from triumphs at the New York World's Fair and the San Francisco Exposition, Mrs. Pauline Keys has attracted discriminating praise for her faultless cutting of silhouettes, without guides or markings. She performed at the Women's Day services of Trinity, cutting from memory Bible characters and scenes. She was presented by her husband and manager, Prof. David Keys.

A painter and cartoonist also, Mrs. Keys' forte, silhouette cutting, is one of the most difficult in the field of visual art, demanding unusual physical properties as well as talent and training.

CUT GOVERNOR

One of the silhouettes prized most by the artist is of Governor Carl E. Bailey of Arkansas. While cutting the silhouette, Mrs. Keys, working simply with a pair of scissors and a piece of thin black cardboard, was surrounded by an admiring and curious crowd.

Having appeared mainly in the South, Mrs. Keys has press notices from most of the large newspapers of that section. Comments that have been made of her work claim that "her portrait silhouettes have a finesse and show a sensibility to design that makes them superior to any silhouette artist." She is reportedly the only silhouette artist who cuts without previous drawing or designs.

During the Chicago Century of Progress, Mrs. Keys appeared daily and was billed as the "Wonder Girl."

Claims Undesirable Policy Comes to Light on Campus

In the melting pot of American Democracy there comes to the surface, every now and then, a scum of waste products. This is to be expected as all of the individual characteristics cannot possibly be converted into useful Americanism. As any housewife can tell you, the harm to your pure mixture lies not in the appearance of this scum at the surface, but rather in the failure to remove it as it appears. We must be on constant guard to keep our surface clean of this undesired element as rapidly as it is brought to light. It appears that there is cause to take the spoon in hand, as a very undesired policy is being brought to light on the U. C. L. A. campus.

The case of a local Negro student's treatment by the military department is finally bringing to light a condition that has long escaped its deserved treatment simply because it has not been allowed to come to the attention of the public. It seems that Arnett Hartsfield began his military training at Manual Arts High School in 1933. Under Major Wilson, he enjoyed a very successful three years, holding the successive ranks of corporal, plattoon sergeant, first lieutenant, and finally graduated as cadet captain. Besides holding these ranks, he won the distinction of being rated the best corporal in the battalion while he had that rank, served for two semesters on the fancy drill team, and, was active in the 'Non Commission Officer Club" and the Officer's Club." On his record of completion of the junior basic course in 1936 he was given the rating of excellent in both character and conduct.

When M. Hartsfield enrolled at UCLA in 1937, after working for a year, it seemed that he was to continue in the same manner. He was personally invited to join "Pershing Rifles," a national honorary military society, and transferred into this company. The stiffer competition did not entirely stop him however, because he became guidon bearer in this first semester with "Pershing Rifles," as well as attaining the rank of a corporal at the end of the semester. He was not discouraged from applying for the "Advanced Course", which leads to becoming an officer, but was turned down in spite of his accomplishments and splendid recommendations from all of his immediate commanding officers. Those of his fellow students from Manual, who had graduated as officers, were admitted, but it was termed as a rare occasion for one to make the grade in his first year.

The second semester was quite a bit like the first, including an extra drill hour every Friday morning from 7:00-8:00 with "Pershing Rifles," and a great deal of extra activity. Again an application was submitted with accomplishments and recommendations greater than before, and also a recommendation from Major Wilson, the Professor of Military Science and Tactics at Manual Arts.

This time Mr. Hartsfield was not only left out of the fifty some men accepted, but was rated 98th out of one hundred and two applicants. Among the names accepted into the course, appeared one on the condition that citizenship papers were taken out before the following September. Mr. Hartsfield was very disappointed at his failure but was ashamed, as a patriotic American, to admit that prejudice was the cause of the Board's action. He turned down the offers of his fellow students and several organizations to fight the action which he insisted was due to some unknown deficiencies on his part or at least to a misunderstanding.

The third semester resulted in the usual success on the field and in classes of Military Science. Mr. Hartsfield was to be seen repeatedly on the color guard raising the flag in the coliseum before the Saturday afternoon games. Many of the men who had served under him at Manual Arts had now made the grade and were his superior officers. He served as an acting sergeant during the term and received his warrent at the end of the semester. Every possible effort had been made by Mr. Hartsfield to seek an explanation of the affairs or the existence of any possible reason on his part to justify thse discouraging rebuttles.

At the close of this semester greater care than ever was taken to list all the achievements and activities to his credit. Nearly every eligible officers' name appeared on his list of recommendations. A very brisk campaign was put on by the Military Department for men who had completed their four semesters, or had sufficient training in high school, to apply since the present list was insufficient to fill the existing vacancies in the "Advanced Course". Two of the officers who had watched over "Pershing Rifles", while Mr. Hartsfield had been a member, were on the Board. One of these officers stated to the "Board" at the time of Mr. Hartsfield's appearance, that he, Mr. Hartsfield, could handle a platoon as well as any man in "Pershing Rifles". The other officer then stood and stated that he wished to back that statement.

Although Mr. Hartsfield had been repeatedly told that the decision was entirely up to the "Board", and that the whole thing was judged on a competitive basis, his was one of four names to be turned down. One of the other three students refused admission was another qualified Negro. During this time at least three other colored boys had been turned down for no given reason and no Negro students has ever been allowed to become an officer at U. C. L. A.

At least the bitter realization began to dawn on Mr. Hartsfield that the reason he had not been accepted was due to no fault of his own nor to any misunderstanding. He was told to apply again next semester, just as he had been told in the past, and that again he should have a very good chance. This time however, Mr. Hartsfield had decided to fight for what he considered to be his rights. His interview with one of the executive officers of the University resulted in agreement that the case was one of prejudiceness and in a confidential talk with one of the military men at school stated that part of the trouble was due to the problem of colored students not being wanted up at the summer camp in Monterey.

In spite of the fact that the "Board" was only, as told to Mr. Hartsfield, composed of three members, and two of them actually recommended him at the Board, which is exceptional, and the other officer stated afterwards that he had voted in favor his acceptance, he was one of the small number of four men judged as not qualified. It is also oddly enough a fact that Mr. Hartsfield was the only man from "Pershings Rifles" who was not rated among the top ranking men accepted. The following facts seem to be quite well established:

In spite of the fact that the "Board" was only, as told to Mr. Hartsfield, composed of three members, and two of them actuay recommended him at the Board which is exceptional, and the other officer stated afterwards that he had vote in favor of his acceptance, he was one of the small number of four men judged as not qualified. It is also oddly enough a fact that Mr. Hartsfiel dwas the only man from "Pershing Rifles" wso was not rated among the top ranking men accepted. The following facts seem to be quite well established:

1. According to the talk with the formerly mentioned University official, the Advanced Course is a companion course of the University and the Military Department. No name can be placed on the accepted list without the favorable judgement of the University which also has permission to suggest additional qualified members.
2. Some power or force is in existence which is more powerful than the individual opinions of the members of the "Board."
3. There is a condition in summer camp at Monterey which is so much against patriotic American minority group members that Oriental applicants have been sent to a camp in Hawaii.

All of these facts were either denied, or stated to be unknown of, by Colonel Severson, Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University, in an interview with him by Mr. Hartsfield, in the presence and with the help of Tom Bradley as a witness. Tom Bradley is the president of the University Negro club on campus, an active member in the campus YMCA, an ardent worker in the recent Minority Group Conference, and is also active among those attempting to make an "International House" a reality on campus.

Air School Designated in Illinois to Train Negro Pilots

CHICAGO, Nov. 30—A signal victory in the long fight for military participation came this week with the announcement by the U. S. Edgar C. Brown, president, United Government Employees, Inc., Washington, D. C.; J. Finley Wilson, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks; Cornelius R. "For God and Country"—For this purpose was the American Legion formed and two outstanding resolutions, approved and adopted by the National Body in convention in Chicago, September 25-28, are somewhat interesting and of great value in bearing this out.

Of the good work being done by this organization, the program on tolerance is near and dear to us all and we cannot but anticipate pleasing developments which will come from our own dear Comrade Past Commander, Norman O. Houston, and the Benj. J. Bowie Post No. 228. This program is intended to wipe out the stigma that has long held sway over the land.

Resolution No. 330.

"Whereas, there is a growing attitude of intolerance on the part of certain American and resident-alien classes toward race, religion and political beliefs of other American citizens;

"Whereas, this attitude presents a constantly increasing danger to the rights of these citizens and to the Democratic form of government under which we live in the United States: and,

"Whereas, the American Legion composed of all races, creeds and political partisans, is best organized to combat this intolerance,

"Therefore be it resolved, that the National Headquarters of the American Legion adopt as a principal phase of its 1940 outline of post activities throughout the various departments a program under the general theme of tolerance, designed to illustrate to the communities in which the individual posts lie, the threat to America imposed by this artificial setting of class against class."

The following resolution entails a duty that will demand the respect of all and should it become a law, which I pray it will, would materially reduce the sufferings of our widows.

Resolution No. 203. Reaffirm the Legion's policy with respect to completion of the fourth point of the 1933 4-point program, that no widow or orphan of a World War Veteran be without government protection.

This resolution has already interested Congress. Representative John E. Rankin, chairman, House Comittee on Veteran's legislation, introduced the American Legion's widows and orphans bill on October 23. "To Provide Government Protection For Widows and Children of Deceased World War Veterans." It calls for payment of compensation to the surviving widow, child or children of any honorably discharged person who served during the World War or with the Russian Expeditionary force. The measure also provides for widows and children of deceased World War Veterans who served less than 90 days but were discharged for disability in the service incurred in line of duty. If enacted it will be cited as "The World War Widows' and Dependent Childrens' Act, 1940".

FLASH! — FLASH! — FLASH!
NO BONUS EXTENSION

World War Veterans and their dependents—and there are about 150,000 of them—who have not made application for their bonus, or adjusted compensation certificates, are warned to do so before Jan. 2, 1940. Time for filing will not be extended. A bill passed for extension did not meet with Presidential approval and, under the present law, the time limit definitely expires on Jan. 2.

"DEMOCRACY NEEDED"

This article by Comrade Baxter S. Scruggs, which appeared in the Herald-Express, Nov. 24, editorial page, is highly commendable. The effort put forth some years ago to secure a Negro unit in the California National Guard is not dead,—however, this is not a one man job.

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

There are 84 Veteran facilities containing 71.00 hospital and domiciliary beds?

There are 342,000 service connected Veterans on the rolls of this number 84,000 are permanently and totally disabled, all drawing compensation.

There are 11,000 men, service connected cases, still in the hospital after 21 years.

There have been over 2 million admissions to Veterans hospitals since 1923.

DID YOU KNOW—John Mercer Langston, considered one of the greatest of Negro lawyers and one of the greatest lawyers of his day, was practicing before the Civil War, having been admitted to the Ohio Bar as early as 1854.

New Bus Plan Unsound, Group Says

The Citizens Committee against Proposition No. 1 is waging an intensive campaign on behalf of Los Angeles Tax Payers to defeat Proposition No. 1 (the Bus Proposal) at the special election on Dec. 12.

The committee points out that Proposition No. 1 gives almost unlimited powers to a new, inexperienced Board of Commissioners and eliminates the authority of the Los Angeles City Board of Public Utilities and Transportation and the California State Railway Commission.

The committee also states that the plan will congest downtown traffic and raise taxes, and that it does not state how large or what areas are to be served or how many or what kind of equipment will be purchased, nor does it show any frequency schedule for operating the proposed buses.

Bus propositions, very similar to Proposition No. 1, were defeated at elections twice before.

'another thin man' now on u. a. screen

Shifting with a deft pace from baby parties to bizarre crime, from martial mirth to murder thrills, and from palatial Long Island estates to the dives of New York, "Another Thin Man," latest of the sparkling "Thin Man" series, is now playing at the United Artists Theatre, 933 S. Broadway.

It teams that favorite screen pair, William Powell and Myrna Loy, once again as the shrewd and witty Detective Nick Charles and his charming but somewhat daffy wife, Nora. Their gay banter, which enlivened "The Thin Man" and "After the Thin Man," the other pictures in the series, gets away to a new high in this offering due to the introduction of a Thin Man, Jr., the baby, whose arrival was predicted at the end of the preceding picture. The laughs, centering around Nickie, Jr., as played by eight-months old William Poulsen, reach a hilarious climax with a baby party given in his honor by Underworld pals of Detective Charles.

Women: 'Build-Up' Way To Relieve Those Pains

A week, run-down, undernourished condition calls for attention!

Such a condition often enables functional dysmenorrhea to get its foothold. That's one thing which leads to much of women's suffering from headaches, nervousness, those cramp-like pains. A good way to relieve such pains, women by thousands have found, is by the proper use of CARDUI. It stimulates a lagging appetite, assists digestion and assimilation; thus helps build physical resistance to periodic pain. Taken just before and during "the time", many women also report that CARDUI lessens the pain and discomfort of the period.

HEALTH

By Dr. Ruth Temple

RUTH J. TEMPLE, M. D.
Broadcasting from Station KWA
(Keep Well Always)

THE COMMON COLD

Because of the great prevalence of severe colds at this time we continue this good instruction from Hygeia.

Many methods of prevention are backed by favorable statistics. But beware of statistics. Any methods has the virtue of making the subject cold conscious. That cold consciousness makes him more careful and will usually reduce the number of his colds.

A careful evaluation of cold vaccines has recently been published in The Journal of the American Medical Association. The reports seem to indicate that the cold vaccines now available are all useless. But are they useless? Both the vaccinated and the controls (those persons under observation but not vaccinated) had an approximate average of two colds last winter instead of the five they had the winter before. Vaccinated and unvaccinated seem to have benefited equally, but both groups thought they were being vaccinated. Does this not justify continuing the vaccine in the case of the lady with the curves?

But enough about prevention, particularly for those, who like myself, already have colds. What shall we do about it? Ambroise Pare wrote of his wounded: "I dressed them and God Healed them." After 400 years the medical treatment of colds is on the same principle: "Physicians make them comfortable and God heals them.' If the laity thinks this contribution of the medical profession is negligible in colds, let it remember the rule of Alexander of Tralles (sixth century): "The comfort of the patient is not foreign to his well-being.

And the means of making the patient comfortable improves almost daily. Besides, the statement only applies to the common cold and not to certain respiratory infections for which we now have a truly miraculous treatment.

The details of comforting you in your cold is beyond this effort. If you are properly comforted, you run less chance of having mastoiditis, otitis media, bronchitis or sinusitis, the common complications of a cold.

But you just won't have a doctor in, stay in bad as I am staying; comfort yourself without the use of drugs; dont blow your nose to hard, and if your throat is sore, gargle with some salt of soda solution. These things, at least, will do no harm. That is more than can be said with truth about many of the blithely recommended popular treatments.

Because the Doctors have not found a dramatic cure or prevention for colds, all the neighbors, the pseudo-scientific dreamers and the commercial sharpers believe themselves licensed to attempt to solve the problem. They know that a cold infection is frequently admitted via the nose and mouth; that there are some two dozen organisms living in the average mouth and throat; and, most important of all the commercial sharper knows that the cold victim is the ideal sucker. On this basis, the latter devises a mouthwash and gargle which will kill bacteria in the least possible number of seconds.

You know that the prevalence of colds increases in bad weather. True, you can do nothing about the weather. But if this article would stimulate you to do something about preventing colds yourself and others, my present affliction would become a valuable malady. I must confess, that possibility has made this particular cold almost enjoyable.

Signing off until next week. Your announcer, Ruth J. Temple, M. D.

Wedding Comes as Surprise to Close Friends of Pair; Groom Comes from Distinguished Midwestern Family

A simple announcement of the marriage of Herman K. Barnett and Miss Gertrude Therese Bertrand, was made to a small group of friends at a bridge party at their new home, Sunday afternoon. Rumors had been circulating for some time that the parties were engaged, but the announcement was a complete surprise to their friends.

MR. HERMAN K. BARNETT

MRS. HERMAN K. BARNETT

The marriage ceremony was performed Saturday at 11 a. m. by Judge Frank G. Tyrrell of the Municipal Court, at his home. Present at the ceremony were the following persons.

Dr. Bert L. Boswell and Miss Irma Lewis, who attended the bride and groom; J. G. Bertrand, father of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Norman O. Houston, Mr. E. L. Duffy, Miss Lucille Davin; Messrs. Cleonius Gadberry, Emile Williams, Buddy Parker; Mesdames Nona M. Burns and Clarabell Cash.

The bride, a native of Biloxi, Miss., is a daughter of J. G. Bertrand, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Beulah Morris of Milton, Fla. She is a graduate of St. Francis de Sales University, Rock Castle, Va. Upon her graduation she was appointed a teacher at the Mater Delorosa School at Biloxi, Miss., and continued her work there until coming to Los Angeles in 1936.

FROM DISTINGUISHED FAMILY

The groom, who has been a resident of Los Angeles for 8 years, is a native of Chicago, Ill., comes from a distinguished family. His father was Attorney Ferdinand L. Barnett, the first Negro to be appointed assistant states attorney, west of the Atlantic seabord. He served in that capacity for Cook County, Ill., for 16 years, until 1908 when nominated and elected the first Negro Judge of the municipal court of Chicago.

His mother, Mrs. Ida B. Wells-Barnett, was nationally known as a lecturer, clubwoman, and defender of Negro rights and liberties. Both are now deceased. Recently, a WPA low-cost housing project in Chicago, was named after Mrs. Barnett.

Barnett was educated at the University of Illinois and the University of Chicago and was admitted to practice law in June, 1920. He served in several important positions, and in 1926, was appointed as assistant states attorney of Chicago County, by Judge Robert E. Corwe, serving in that capacity for more than three years. He has not practiced law since coming to California, although he expects to open up an office during the coming year. For the past four years, he has been employed by the Department of Rehabilitation of the County of Los Angeles, and he is now employed by the Reemployment Training Project of the State Relief Administration. He is the founder of the 62nd Assembly District Democratic Organization and the California Civic Association. He has served continuously as Secretary of the Eastside Citizens' Committee since 1934, and is a charter member of Tau Chapter of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

After the ceremonies, a wedding breakfast for the party was given by the bride's father at the Clark hotel. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Barnett attended the UCLA-Oregon football game, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman O. Houston. They will reside temporarily at 4309½ S. Central avenue.

BLACK AND WHITE BLEACHING CREAM

The Delightful Side

By BILL SMALLWOOD

"Only God can make a tree . . ."
But maids are fooled
By poets
Like me.

At this particular cuff-note collection, Alice West and her attentive Robert Gilmore haven't, to my recollection, quite decided upon a date for their wedding . . . It'll doubtless be sometime betwixt now 'n' the Yuletide, for they DO know that the reception will get under way during eggnog week . . . Romantic, all of this, as these two have had a whirlwind courtship which completely upset Alice's prior plans to hie herself east to resume her catering business in Dee Cee.

Personally, I'm almost sorry about the whole thing, for Alice has also instructed her attorney to dispose of that cozy little New England place she owned just outside of Springfield, Mass. 'Twas MOST eye-filling and even had gables . . . and scads of us used to fill it well, indeed, when Alice would summon us up from NY for a week end of her hostess-playing two seasons back . . . ah, time . . . ah, romance . .

Meanwhile, the prospective hubby bears up well. He's one of our young druggists, you know.

All's official in the way of admission that the stork WILL be a March visitor over at Ralph and Betty Vaughn's! Doreasy grandmoose and grandpoose prospective Dr. and Mrs. Frye of Dee Cee will come out during the summer to welcome their grandchild. Flo Rucker is vaguely planning returning east to her home to stay. Recalling Exie Boutte's match-ing hostess-playing whilst Gonz Mosts was here from Chi Town, how village matrons can so effortlessly have a completely successful dinner party! Exie rings the welkin, but, then, Jimmy and Exie always were on our list of favorite people.

Miss gesture, this: Dramulit, after their recent coffee, sent gobs of sweetstuffs, etc. across town to the Eastside Boys Club. Brava! . . . Back east, Sascha Hourwitzy's wedding comely Gladys Spivey was a distinct though not altogether complete surprise across these miles. Sascha was perpetually being 'married-of' by Harlem's gabfesters, as I recall. They'll make a striking duo. Mrs. Hourwittz's first hubby walks away with this week's personal nomination for being really the number one heel-ache to see. He always reminded us of movie actor Melvyn Douglass. Howdy, Lew, wherever you are . . .

Speculation, with a sudden flurry about Strode: Only one human person do I know who impresses you so vividly as to role build. Joe Louis! Looking at them from a distance, you, somehow, don't get the same staggering impression of just how huge they really are. Not having personally met Strode I can't vouch for his off-the-gridiron gifts. But, Joe isn't lost as to his out've-the-ring talents. He's a camera addict, a horse-lover, a mechanic, an amateur drummer, likes to record his singing voice (hones'!) and is a movie flaw-finder of the first order. There's nothing better for Joe than to see a neighborhood movie with Duke Ellington.

Mentioning Duke, there probably isn't another person either in or out of the celeb fold who Joe likes better. They're inseparable. I've seen Joe sit in a barren backstage dressing room and be happy watching his pal shave. And when Duke returned from Europe last spring, Joe nearly died because he was tied up in a traffic jam and wasn't on hand to grab Duke when he came ashore. Too, if he becomes bored with the usual worshippers he'll hop a plane in a minute and join Duke and the boys wherever they may be, thinking nothing of it . . . Damon and Pythias with a million dollars to boot!

A . . . hoosnnah . . . here . . . for . . . the individual and decidedly attractive bids . . . for the annual Xmas charity . . . (bring-a-gift) ball . . . given by the Orchid Girls, slated for Saturday's sundown . . . Most novel in taste and still one of the village's finest gestures. You'll go, of course . . . Should be fun; et comment und wie. And how!

Mentioning gestures, why not an annual follies sponsored by the frats and sororities? Talent could be culled from the junior league and the fun-loving "oldsters". Picture a chorus of debbies and a jitterbug line-up of the Old Guard? Indeed, why not? Proceed could benefit a hundred causes. Some site like the Lincoln theatre could be donated, etc. 'Twould be keen fun and a wildfire idea.

Tremendously attractive: Betty Collins . . . Lan' sakes! . . . Look who's in our collective midst—delicious Lydia Burwell Johnson! Came in on the Iron Horse after longer than that in NY. Just by luck, still on the cafe society list. Temporary parking with a mofreienGIH t-HD5tping with some friends in Hollywood. Last I saw Lydia was at the Louis-Schmeling fiasco. Lydia, bless her, was in fine style, giving her who-is-that-over-there nod. Tremendously swish, she leaned over to remind me her skin stays so tender from idleness, she gets sunburned from a bright remark.

It was a year or after that when I ran across Lydia's ex-hubby, Paul . . . He came to lunch with me, in Harlem. We had a prolonged and rather pretty struggle for the check, with me capturing it triumphantly at last only to discover that I had prudently come away from home without any money.

Of many frequent encounters of sculptor Richmond Barthe I never see mention of the seven foot Gothic military figure in limestone in West Point's main dining room. What ho?

Comes word Mrs. Fletcher Hendrson arrives in February with friend hubby . . . that being that . . . period.

Foot Hygiene By Dr. Frank G. Zetar, D. C.

In speaking of the feet, I am reminded of the words of King Solomon where he said "The body is the temple of the living God." I say that the feet are the foundation of that temple. Now just think of that statement for a moment, let it enter your consciousness and you will get a true conception of the real value of your feet.

Some people never think of their feet until in the morning when they put their shoes on and at night when they take their shoes off or when the feet begin to ache and pain, which is nature's way of warning us that something has gone wrong. The beginning of corns, callouses, ingrown-toe nails, bunions, arch deformities, leg pains, backache, etc. We will illustrate here how one small corn can cause the third degree of arch deformity, when it is not properly taken care of by corrective procedures in the beginning.

Say that a corn had occurred on the little toe and that it has begun to burn and hurt, then you try to relieve the pressure by walking on the inner side of the foot and when you do that you can put a strain on the ligaments causing them to stretch beyond their normal range of movement and the stretching of the ligaments allows the bones that form the arch to become lowered from their normal positions. However, there is no actual deformity yet, only a general weakening. If that is allowed to exist long enough, the ligaments become permanently lengthened, the bones become dislocated by rotating inward or outward, causing nerve inpingements with aches and pains; then the blood circulation is impeded causing a discoloration of the skin, callouses occur on the side of the heels due to unnatural pressure, the ankles get weak and begin to swell. All of that happens in the second degree of arch deformity.

In the third degree, the pain begins to radiate up the back of the legs and thighs to the lumbar region of the spine, the feet get stiff, wide and flat.

First, find the cause, it may be that the shoes are too narrow or too short, causing pressure or maybe the shoes are too large, causing friction, or the feet weak due to illness and the weight of the body causes them to flatten out. Ill-fitted shoes cause about 90 per cent of all foot disabilities. I would advise that you let the selection of your shoes be a big event in your life. Take more time when you buy them. One can see from the foregoing conclusions that foot disabilities can be avoided to a large extent if a little attention is given to the feet in the beginning.

Other Negro Bishops Before Recent Two, Says Meehan

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (C)—Two Negroes among the twelve missionary Bishops recently consecrated by the Pope at Rome were not, as reported, the first Negro Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church, according to Thomas F. Meehan in a letter to The New York Times. Meehan wrote:

"Not only were there African Bishops in the Ages of Faith, but it is special interest to note that Francis Xavier de Luna Victoria y Castro, who was consecrated Bishop of Panama in 1751, Archbishop of Chuquisaca, was a Negro and the first native of the Western Hemisphere to become a Bishop. He was born in Panama in 1695." His Negro mother sent him to the Jesuit college "of which he was a brilliant graduate. He founded the St. Francis Xavier at Panama.

"The late Arthur Schomburg of New York Public Library, in his research work in the official archives of Seville, discovered documents relating to Bishop Victoria's career, and contributed a very interesting memoir of him in the Inter-racial Review for August 1937.

"Nearer home, and later, the second Bishop of Portland, Me. (1875), James A. Healy, 'a scholar, a master of oratory and a man of sanctity,' according to his biographer, was born in Macon, Ga., April 6, 1830, and had a mulatto mother. He was a graduate of Holy Cross College, and had a distinguished career as a priest of the Diocese of Boston before he was appointed Bishop of Portland. His brother, the Rev. Patrick F. Healy, was a Jesuit (1830-1910), named president of Georgetown University in 1873 and who during his incumbency modernized most of the buildings at that institution."

Individuals and organizations, including sororities and fraternities, have given excellent response and are sending in their money rapidly, officials said. Money from the seals will be used to bolster the NAACP's general legal defense fund.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast." These words of the Psalmist are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "God the Only Cause and Creator" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

A Bible citation in the Lesson-Sermon includes these verses about Jesus from Luke: "And it came to pass also on another sabbath, that he entered into the synagogue and taught: and there was a man whose right hand was withered. And the scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the sabbath day; . . . Then said Jesus unto them, I will ask you one thing; Is it lawful on the sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it? And looking round about upon them all, he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "The law of Christ, or Truth, makes all things possible to Spirit; but the so-called laws of matter would render Spirit of no avail, and demand obedience to materialistic codes, thus departing from the basis of one God, one lawmaker."

GROWING UP

Val Verde, the little resort outside Los Angeles, is going thru a transformation—preparing for the bountiful days just ahead.

Long a rendezvous for those of moderate means who can afford a cabin or cottage in its confines, the resort is better known perhaps as a caterer to club groups and organizations.

Recent developments there are making copy for newspapers.

A big and adequate swimming pool will be open to the public in the Spring. Work on the pool proper is about completed, with workmen presently readying the adjoining bath houses.

It doesn't take much of an imagination to guess the growing importance of the spot as a resort. Dudley's Inn, apparently anticipating the influx of pleasure-seekers, has added a commodious room for private dinner and dancing parties.

Persons who like to get away from the city over weekends are looking more and more to the place, surrounded by mountains, just a short drive from the metropolitan center.

HOSE TREATMENT

Ever since women first began to wear hosiery they have had trouble with what they call "runs".

This modern generation of females appears to have found a way to combat this bane of every woman—if what we hear is true.

From what we understand, the more thrifty of the young females of school age are keeping their purses bulging by buying cheap grades of hosiery and eliminating "runs" by using cold cream on their legs before pulling them on.

The cold cream isn't as sticky as some other applications might be and they do say that it really works.

GABBY BITS

Comes news of progress of the first annual poll to determine the Negro actors or actresses who have turned in the best performance of the year. Eddie "Rochester" Anderson leads in the comedy field; Rex Ingram in the dramatic, with Clinton Rosemond and George Reed not far behind. The Sepia Theatrical Writers Guild is sponsoring the novel poll . . . The revered memory of the late John Hope, former president of Morehouse college in Atlanta, Ga., is taking shape as something real, what with the now under construction John Hope Homes, a low rent housing project, in that city.

Culling the sports pages of newspaper files, it is easily noted that the majority opinion hopes that UCLA lands in the Rose Bowl and that Tennessee or Texas Aggies be invited to uphold sectional honors . . . What we consider the neatest piece of psychology we have seen all season on a football field was noted Saturday past when UCLA tied Oregon State college. Leo Cantor, as a result of fumbles in critical moments, was something of a "goat" in the minds of UCLA rooters. Coach Babe Horrell kept him in the game, however, and it was this same Cantor who scored the tieing touchdown, thereby becoming the hero of the game. It was the good sense of the Bruin quarterback, Ned Mathews, who realized that Cantor must have been fuming within himself and that if anybody could score it would be Leo "the lion" . . . Excerpt from the California Self-Help Plan: "Translating human beings into the fodder of war is not the answer to the unemployment problem so long as there are as many variations in human abilities and human desires as there are human beings" . . . Dr. E. I. Robinson, able and effective, who reminds one of big "Gawge" Godfrey in build, has made an interesting and comprehensive report on the health conditions of the Central Avenue district . . . Dr. Lois E. Gibson, the chiropodist of Monterey, who didn't think she was too far away to aid our cause in the recent employes' contest conducted by this newspaper, made our old pumper feel warm by responding (better late than never, Doc) . . . Jimmy Asendio, the p. a. of Argus Pictures, Inc., brings a semblance of bona fide respect for gentlemen of the Negro press, thru his work for that new co.

Jimmy Miller, of the impeccable tenor voice—"Swing Mikado", "Fra Diavolo"—stutters in ordinary conversation, but has perfect enunciation on the stage and in singing . . . Alain Locke, foremost critic of Negro literature, head of the English dept. at Howard U., author of that composite work of early 20th century literature "The New Negro", has promised to spend his summer's vacation in Hollywood, with a view to interesting producers in making good Negro movies . . . Speaking of movies, it does us good to see one who knows the field as does George Randel in a top position with International Road Shows combine, makers of all-Negro films.

DID YOU KNOW—A Negro, John S. Rock, was admitted to practice law before the U. S. Supreme Court as early as 1865.

U.S.C. Officials Quash Nazism Attempt

'CENSORED' SIGN PUT OVER USC DISPLAY RIDICULING MINORITIES

Display on Lawn of Frat House Attempted to Slander, Thru Burlesque, UCLA Stars

B-U-L-L-E-T-I-N

Quick action on the part of USC officials resulted in the removal of the home-coming display of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity early yesterday. Atop the "deserted" huts now stands a huge sign, "censored".

By FAY M. JACKSON

Big as life and twice as natural, the ugly head of Nazism has reared itself on the front lawn of a USC fraternity house at 642 West 28th street, as a feature of Home-Coming Week for the Trojan alumni!

Name of the frat is Phi Kappa Psi. Robert Herrmann is president.

The general motif of the exhibit, described by passersby as one of the most flagrant displays of hitlerism ever offered under the aegis of an American university group, attempts to slander, through burlesque, the Negro and Jewish football stars of the U. C. L. A. team.

A combination African village and Jewish merchandising mart was set up on the lawn of the frat house early Monday morning. Three grass huts are spotted in the background. One is titled "Alpha African", which takes a jab at the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity to which the Negro players belong. Gaudily painted figures of black savages wearing football helmets peer out from apertures of the huts. Another bore the sign, "Cantor and Cohen," Food Shoppe, Inc.," which related to the Jewish gridiron stars.

In the foreground there is a replica o an old ship "captained" by the figure of the traditional Trojan, significantly lettered, "S. C. Slave Ship."

Adding a gruesome touch to their exhibit, the enterprising Phi Kappa Psis have nailed grotesque figures to a giant palm tree in the center of the lawn. Their features are distorted to reproduce a minstrel effect and numerals corresponding to those of the gridiron positions of Kenny Washington, All-American UCLA player, Woodrow Strode and Jackie Robinson, appear opposite these figures.

Dangling by the neck from the tree are what might be construed as the effigies of the Jewish players.

While the "decoration" was yet in progress of completion, leading Negro and Jewish organizations were notified of its theme.

Vigorous protests against this shocking display quickly flooded the offices of President Rufus von KKleinSmid, the Dean of Men at USC, and the president of the fraternity.

Wired Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, through its graduate president, Honore Carey, "We are deeply shocked that a fraternity with the broad traditions of Phi Kappa Psi should stoop to ridicule and embarrass racial minority groups and another Greek letter fraternity as you have done in your Home-Coming display. We strongly urge that you reconsider and plan another display more in keeping with the good sportsmanship of your fraternity and of the University of Southern California."

The following telegrams were sent to Dr. Von KleinSmid and the Dean of Men:

"Delta Sigma Theta protests against the Home-Coming display of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. We feel that such a spectacle is a flagrantly un-American attempt to ridicule and embarrass racial minority groups, negating the spirit of Home-Coming Week thoroughly discrediting U. S. C. We strongly urge that the University use its influence to persuade Phi Kappa Psi fraternity to alter its theme."

At an executive board meeting of the NAACP, Monday night, President Thomas L. Griffith instructed the branch secretary, Zella M. Taylor, to send similar protests condemning the exhibit as fanning the fires of racial hatred.

Alpha Phi Alpha, oldest and one of the most distinguished fraternities in the country, which felt the brunt of the display, took immediate action by unanimous vote of all of its city chapters. Washington and Strode are members, Robinson, John Wynn and Ray Bartlett are Alpha pledgees.

The writer sent this message to university and frat executives:

"A USC alumna, I protest the spirit of nazi bigotry, Un-Americanism and unprecedented lack of sportsmanship in the Home-Coming display of Phi Kappa Psi house as disgraceful to the entire student body. This exhibit slanders two racial groups that have brought honor and distinction to USC and to this country. For the misery which hitlerism brings to Europe, American institutions can ill afford to condone racial antagonism here."

The Hollywood Anti-Nazi League, Motion Picture Committee and League of Women Shoppers were also notified of the thrust at the Jewish and Negro groups. By Monday night, the sign referring to Cantor and Cohen had been covered with straw and a larger head of a black savage took its place.

Michael Elkins, chief investigator for the Anti-Nazis, declared that efforts of the league would not cease with the removal of this stigma on Jewish students. "The Lampooning of Negroes is just as horrible to us and we shall continue our protests in their behalf."

It is freely admitted by university authorities that every Negro student and graduate of U. S. C. has achieved considerable note in community life of their respective cities. Regardless of this fact, Phi Kappa Psi's ruthless race-baiting is termed inexcusable.

Among those who claim USC as their alma mater are: the late James W. McGregor and Chauncey Townsend, journalists; Sam Danley, Gladys Harris, Hebe Mack and Juanita Ellsworth-Miller, outstanding as sociologists; Dr. Howard Allen; Attorneys Lloyd C. Griffith and Thomas L. Griffith, Bert McDonald; Rev. S. M. Beane; Ursula and Alonzo Adams, druggists; Paul R. Williams, architect; Katherine Kinzy, Edith Meaux, who scored the highest scholastic rating in journalism in the university's history and many others.

Sketch Subject: BESSIE BRUINGTON BURKE . . . Principal, Nevin Ave. School.

By THELMA O. DAVIS

Quiet and reserved, yet efficient and masterful without being imperious, as she moves from one desk to another; whether conferring with state officials, signing her judicious O. K. to various requisitions or patiently listening to an ambitious mother of one of her hundreds of pupils; in any of these roles Mrs. Burke seems to exalt her position rather than be elevated by it.

Born, reared and educated in the City of Los Angeles, Mrs. Burke is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bruington, pioneer citizens of Los Angeles and of the teaching profession. The late Mr. Bruington was one of the first Negro teachers during the reconstruction period. Mrs. Bruington (now in her eighties) still manages her own business of a large amount of rental real-estate. Such parents, undoubtedly, account for the subject's innate ability as an administrator.

In 1911, Miss Bruington graduated in the first full course class from Polytechnic high school. John H. Francis who was principal in those obscure days, has since become superintendent of schools.

From high school graduation, the young student's life reads like that of King Midas, only her gold was not the material gold of the mythical king, but gold that cannot be stolen: Education and achievement.

FIRST APPOINTMENT

Los Angeles State Teachers college (now UCLA) became her next alma mater. After the required years of studious application to the course, Bessie Bruington received her teacher's certificate. She then, took a city school examination and passed 7th on a list of 800.

Her first appointment was to Holmes Ave. school. Acquiring a school, however, did not mean that Miss Bruington's goal had been reached. She, then, began attending U. S. C.'s university college after school hours.

Following one achievement after another in such rapid succession, one is compelled to view this intellectual's career with admiration. In 1917 she received her administration credentials from U. S. C. As if the Board of Education were only waiting for her to acquire credentials so that they might make use of her administrative ability, in 1918 Miss Bruington was promoted from teacher to principal.

MARRIES

She immediately began work on a degree. In 1924 she did research work at Columbia university, New York City.

The next year Miss Bruington was married to Chester R. Burke, representative for Douglas Mutual Life Insurance company. With another duty added to her already full life, Mrs. Burke continued her work at the university and in 1928 received her well-earned Bachelor of Arts degree.

As if driven by some insatiable, relentless force this woman who had already climbed high up the "ladder of professional success", kept her eyes on the upper most rung. She now began her work on a master degree at U. S. C. and in 1936 again did work at Columbia university. In 1937 Mrs. Burke received her reward for much zealous work: the coveted Master of Arts degree. Despite the strenous program of principal, housewife and student, she wrote her own thesis, subject: "Social Maturity Grouping in Elementary Schools."

Before the master's degree could be framed and find its place on the wall of her home, Mrs. Burke had taken the next step toward the upper rung. She began work on a Doctor's degree and has now completed over half the hours toward it.

The next promotion that came to Mrs. Burke did more for Los Angeles than appears on the surface. This city now runs parallel with Chicago in the educational field. Chicago has its Bousfield family and Los Angeles has its Burke.

Beginning the scholastic term '39-'40, Mrs. Burke took her seat as principal of Nevin Ave. Elementary school. She is well liked and highly respected by a Democratic faculty of 22 teachers and 3 nursery matrons, of whom less than ten are members of her own race.

This successful rise to eminence in the teaching profession proves that higher education is the panacea for many of the problems of the race.

Out of a mere 24-hour day, Mrs. Burke still finds time to devote to civic and religious organizations. She is a member of NAACP, City Principal's club, National Educational association, Girl's Reserve of YWCA, Wesley Chapel Women's guild, Delta Sigma Theta sorority and the Urban League.

File Damage Suit Against Bakersfield in Man's Beating

Attorney Curtis C. Taylor returned Saturday from Bakersfield, where he had spent last Thursday and Friday addressing mass meeting and preparing for the defense of Leo True Renfro, Minneapolis Negro, who assertedly was beaten and flogged by police officers Vernon Furry, Benamin Vanderpool and Clarence McCraw of Bakersfield on Oct. 8.

Taylor addressed a mass meeting Thursday night at the Workers' Alliance Hall, called by the Citizens' Protective Association, formed since the reported police brutality.

The attorney also filed a damage suit against the city of Bakersfield, Chief of Police Robert B. Powers, and three police officers demanding $100,000 damages. Charges were filed in behalf of Shake Railback and Leslie McClellan, two other Bakersfield Negroes, against the same officers who have been ordered to appear before the police commission Saturday morning, and have a date for the hearing of the charges. Under the Bakersfield Charter, police officers accused of brutality must be tried before a police trial board before the matter can be taken up with the Civil Service Commission.

Renfro was charged with violation of the state poison act. He has entered a plea of "not guilty" and trial has been set for Dec. 7.

Cite Patterson in Alleged Contempt

CHICAGO, Nov. 30. (CNA)—William L. Patterson, associate editor of the Crusader News Agency and a vice-president of the International Labor Defense, was cited this week for alleged contempt of court by attorneys for William Randolph Hearst, millionaire publisher.

Robert Wirtz, editor of the Daily Record, on which Patterson, a Negro, is a columnist, was also cited by the Hearst outfit on the allegation that they criticized the injunction against the American Newspaper Guild in the local Hearst strike, and also criticized the court for issuing an order against the I. L. D. in the same strike.

Patterson and Wirtz were charged specifically with having sent out letters protesting against Judge Lupe's anti-Guild injunction.

SHOT-SHOTS IN SPORTS:

It is this pillar's opinion that the Bruins of U. L. A. have been concentrating on the Dec. 9 tilt with USC for the past several weeks, content to tie a game rather than lose it or even win it. Opportunities to score in the Santa Clara and Oregon State games were not taken advantage of by the Bruins. Both were ties. But when they needed a touchdown they went out and got it, which is something that has characterized Bruin play all season. They are still undefeated, and although USC's Trojans may be the more powerful outfit we have a hunch that when the final gun goes off, the Bruins will hold a win . . .

Amended and new rules from the State Athletic Commission: Rule 184, has been amended to read as follows: All amateur boxers must have attained their 18th birthday before being allowed to compete in any contests in this state. In addition to the foregoing, the old rule read: The only exception to this rule shall be in novice classes in tournaments when boxers who have attained their 16th birthday may be allowed to compete. Continuing amended rules and rule changes: Applications from clubs, matchmakers and managers will be considered only when these applications submit complete information regarding any and all persons connected with such applications . . . Added to Rule 144: Tickets marked 'ringside' must not be misleading as to their actual location . . . Adopted Rule: Doormen and ushers employed by any club licensed by this commission must meet with the approval of the commission. Ushers allowing unsold seats to be occupied by patrons not holding a seat stub for same cannot be employed thereafter . . . Commissioner Jules J. Basketball gets underway in the six city leagues tomorrow, with all games for the season scheduled to begin at 3:00 in the afternoon. In the seven games U C L A has played with Washington State college, the Cougars have walked off the field with a bagged Bruin five times. The closest score of the series was hung up by the Northern eleven back in 1928 when the series started, the score being 38 to 0. UCLA first won in 1933 by 7 to 0 and scored a 21 to 0 victory last year.

The University of Washington Huskies, who have the reputation of being somewhat of a nemesis to the Trojans of Southern California, have played 12 games since 1923 and been declared victors in nine, the last five of which have been in the past few years. The Huskies took their worst beating from USC back in 1929, losing by a count of 48 to 0.

Referee Reggie Gilmore penalized the flashy Louisiana boxer Richard "Young" Polite in his bout with Richard Lemos this week at the Olympic for using his shoulders to ward off his opponent's bull-like attack. The warning so confused Polite that it undoubtedly left him open to absorb punishment which forced him to drop a TKO decision. We seem to remember a great little champion, one who has held three titles concurrently, making much use of his broad shoulders in beating down the opposition. Tuskegee Coach Praised for Work in College Athletics

TUSKEGEE, Nov. 30—In a recent article in Sioux City (South Dakota Journal), Cleve Abbott, Director of Physical Education and head football coach at Tuskegee for the past 27 years, is praised for his work in college athletics.

The story:

"BROOKINGS (S. D.) Special to the Farmer State College athlete, Cleve Abbott, has gained prominence because of the record he established as coach of the football team of the leading Negro college in the United States, Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Alabama.

"Abbott is the most successful of all intercollegiate conference coaches. Abbott has turned out eleven conference winners and four national Negro championship teams since 1922.

"Many stars he produced in the course of the track team, Ellerbe, Tuskegee sprinter, who captured the Drake Relays and other national meets. Abbott entered State College in 1912, coming from high school at Watertown, S. D. He played football in his freshman year and competed in every grid contest in the following three years. He starred in basketball for four years and was elected captain during his senior year in 1916. The Negro ace was also a member of the Jackrabbit track team during his entire college career and lettered on the baseball team—to fulfill one of the most active sports career of any State College athlete—past or present."

'UNKNOWN' WINSTON WINS RENO BOUT

RENO, Nev., Nov. 30.—Eddie "Unknown" Winston, eastern heavyweight now campaigning on the coast, scored a three-round knockout Friday night over Tillie Taverna, Reno. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

FLOORED BY ILLNESS—Little Henry Armstrong, world's welterweight titleholder, won't get a chance to defend his bauble tomorrow night against Lou Ambers, lightweight king. Old Man Bad Cold, reportedly, has done what no one else has been able to do—floor the Mighty Mite.

'HE WON'T BE ABLE TO FACE AMBERS UNTIL JANUARY' -- EDDIE MEAD

Champion's Illness Brings Gloom to 20th Century Club As $91,000 Sell-Out Assured

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The Armstrong-Ambers welterweight title fight, scheduled for tomorrow (Friday) night at Madison Square Garden, was postponed Tuesday because champion Armstrong is in bed with a cold.

Promoter Mike Jacobs will substitute Friday night a 10-round main event between Young Allie Stolz of Newark, N. J., and Pete Scalzo of New York. Stolz is one of the country's outstanding lightweight contenders, and Scalzo is the outstanding featherweight challenger. The rest of the card will remain unchanged.

Henry Armstrong, the Bull-shouldered little Los Angeles fighter who has fought lightweight king Lou Ambers twice before, quit training and took to his bed Monday. His Manager, Eddie Mead, said Monday night, "Henry's condition is so bad that I am calling off the fight. I won't let him go through with it, regardless of what the Boxig Commission physicians say. He won't be able to fight Ambers until January.

When Armstrong's condition was revealed Tuesday, the boxing commission immediately sent three physicians up to Harlem to examine him.

Armstrong's illness brought gloom to the 20th Century Club where Promoter Jacobs said the advance sale virtually had assured the Armstrong-Ambers tilt of being a $91,000 sellout. Ticket prices will be cut in half for the Scalzo-Stolz 10-rounder which originally was scheduled for Dec. 22.

RUN-OUT CHARGES

Meanwhile Ambers' manager, Al Weill, charged that Armstrong "isn't sick at all. He's just takin' a run-out powder. He knows he'll get licked if he fights Ambers Friday night." Weill added that if the Commission permits a postponement, he will insist that it be only until Dec 15, "or else Ambers won't fight him at all."

Promoter Jacobs said he though "there is something screwy about Armstrong's cold," but he could give no reason why the Armstrong camp—always in need of money—should call off a sell-out fight unless Henry were really sick. Jacobs expressed certainty that there is no connection between Armstrong's illness and a proposed fight in Los Angeles on Feb. 22, which Mead and Armstrong want but which Jacobs has forbidden. That Feb. 22 bout would bring together Armstrong and Middleweight Champion Ceferino Garcia for Garcia's crown.

In the two previous Armstrong-Ambers battles, Armstrong wrested the lightweight title from Ambers in Aug. 1938, but Lou recaptured that crown from Armstrong in August, this year. Before this last August battle, which Armstrong entered wearing both the welter and lightweight crowns, it was stipulated that if Ambers won the lightweight title, he must challenge later for the welter title. This could prevent Ambers from trying to claim both crowns.

Royal Giants Nab Flag in Winter Loop

Aces Hurl Twin Wins Over All-Stars at Gilmore

The Philadelphia Royal Giants clinched the 1939 Winter League pennant Sunday afternoon at Gilmore field when they nabbed a doubleheader from Pirrone's All-Stars by scores of 5 to 3 and 4 to 0.

McDuffie and Harvey pitched the victories that gave the Giants the flag. It was a battle for first place with Pirrone's outfit just a half game back of the Giants in the loop race before the two-game setto.

In the opener McDuffie gave up only four hits, the most damaging being triples by Johnny Lindell and "Red" Kress, accounting for all of the All-Star scoring.

Harvey pitched the five-inning finale, shutting out the hard-hitting Pirrone's. Manager Pirrone himself essayed the twirling role of his club and was knocked out of the box in the first frame when the Giants reached him for all of their runs. Kress replaced Pirrone and shut out the Giants thereafter.

All-Vegetable Laxative Has Important Points

Most people want a laxative to do three things: (1) act punctually, (2) act thoroughly, (3) act gently.

Here's one that usually fills all three requirements when the easy directions are followed. It's an all vegetable product whose principal ingredient has medical recognition as an "intestinal laxative."

This ingredient enables BLACK-DRAUGHT to impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. And it is the main reason for the punctual, thorough relief from constipation that most often follows next morning after you take BLACK-DRAUGHT. The millions of packages used prove its merit. 25 to 40 doses: 25c.

UCLA BRUINS GIVE FANS NEAR-HEART FAILURE AS THEY TIE OREGON 13-ALL

Cantor Makes Up for Three Costly Fumbles When He Scores Tieing Tally

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Those exciting Bruins from the hills of Westwood, seemingly content to step out and get a touchdown only when they have to, did so in the last five minutes of play Saturday afternoon at the Coliseum to tie a rugged Oregon State Beaver 13-13.

Turned every way but loose for two periods by a hard-to-handle Beaver, All-American Kenny Washington and Leo "The Lion" Cantor, almost gave some 45,000 fans heart failure as they came from behind to tie up the old ball game.

The thrice-tied Bruins came within two yards of scoring in the first quarter. They were halted but came right back in the second stanza on an 86-yard drive in 11 plays to score the first touchdown of the game on a fourth down pass from Washington to quarterback Ned Mathews who ran 10 yards for the tally. Right guard Frawley kicked the goal.

2 FUMBLES

Recovering one of three fumbles by Cantor in the same period, Oregon State, with fullback Jim Kisselburgh and Morrie Kohler taking turns packing the leather, tied up the game. Kohler broke away for 30 yards for a first down on the UCLA 16 and then Kisselburgh hit the right side of the Bruin line for the remaining yardage, Jackie Robinson tearing off a piece of Kisselburgh's sweater on the jaunt. Younce's kick tied the score.

Threatening the goal line three times in the third period, Oregon State succeeded in going into a six-point lead when Kisselburgh hurdled the Bruin forwards from the one-yard line. Try for point was unsuccessful.

And then came the fourth quarter and near-prostration for everybody. Cantor broke away, with about six minutes to play, for 21 yards, but fumbled. The ball was recovered by Oregon State. The Bruins forced Kisselburgh to kick. From the Bruin 18, those exciting Uclans got underway with minutes to play.

EXCITING FINISH

Washington lost two. He passed to Woody Strode for 15. Passed again to Don MacPherson for 20. Cantor, trying to make up for his three costly fumbles, rammed the left side of the Beavor forward wall for 14 and lateralled to Robinson who picked up 11 more of the precious yards. Washington, an All-American in all his glory, raced around the Beaver left end for 16 yards when he couldn't spot a receiver. With the ball resting on Oregon's six-yard marker, Mathews called Cantor's signal. It was good psychology as it gave Leo the chance to redeem himself. And did he do it! He hit the line for those six yards as though it was made of tissue paper and fell somewhere around the goal posts 10 yards further.

Washington picked up Cantor on his back and carried him back onto the playing field, the Bruins were so happy. John Frawley, with a chance to win a game for the Bruins with a real story-book finish, missed the conversion.

PLAY COUGARS TONIGHT

But, the Bruins had a tie when it looked as though they were beaten and in doing so they punctured the Oregon line for the first time this season.

With two more games on their regular schedule, UCLA plays the oft-beaten Washington State Cougars tonight at the Coliseum and Saturday week, the gigantic of gigantics—USC vs. UCLA—will be played before a sell-out Coliseum mob.

Breaks Aid North in P-TA Win

75,000 See South Upset By North; Brown, Duke Star

Just as in the days when this country was young, the North again beat the South Wednesday of last week in the seventh annual P-TA band and football carnival staged at the Memorial Coliseum before approximately 75,000 persons.

The score: North 13, South 9.

This time, however, the North and South were high school city league teams battling to aid the 10th district P-TA in raising funds so that underprivileged children attending schools might have milk, lunches and clothing.

Lincoln, Franklin, Eagle Rock, Canoga Park, Hamilton and Los Angeles were representatives of the North, while Narbonne, San Pedro, Jordan, Roosevelt, Jefferson and Huntington Park upheld the colors of the South. The teams were selected on basis of performances in the six city leagues.

Breaks decided the game in favor of the North. Pass interceptions led to both northern touchdowns

In the first of the six periods, Myron Chenault of Lincoln intercepted a pass thrown by Alexander of Narbonne and galloped 68 yards to a touchdown. Jack Cobie, Lincoln tailback kicked the extra point.

Walter Brown, Canoga Park's great center, was responsible for the second northern tally. Hal Zinkin, Roosevelt fullback, dropped back to pass. Rushed by Canoga forwards, he tried to pass the ball as he was about to be tackled. Brown was on hand, gathered the pigskin in and was off on a 75-yard jaunt to the goal line. The try for extra point failed.

San Pedro tied up the game at 7 all in the second period against Franklin of the North. A 34-yard touchdown pass, Nakagawas to Villalovas and T. Croskey's perfect placekick evened matters.

DUKE STARS

Jordan's passing attack was clicking with Hubert Duke, Bulldog ace, pitching mostly strikes. When a Bulldog aerial was intercepted by Maxie Van Horn, Eagle Rock quarterback on the latter's own one-yard line, Jordan scored a safety as the pass from center sailed over Van Horn's head on an attempted boot from behind the goal line.

The South went into a 9 to 7 yead and it looked as though the game was cinched. Walter Brown spoiled such high hopes, however, when he intercepted a pass. Jefferson's Democrats, who were being counted on to add a touchdown or two to aid the South's cause, fizzled out against Hamilton, being outplayed throughout the 18 minute period.

RAMPAGING SPARTANS DEFINITELY IN MARKET FOR ONE OF 'BOWL' BIDS

Highest Scoring College Football Team Plays Des Moines Gridders at San Jose

SAN JOSE, Nov. 30—Definitely in the market for a "bowl" bid, San Jose State's unbeaten and untied football juggernaut completes its 13-game regular schedule here tonight against Drake University of Des Moines, Iowa.

The rampaging Spartans raised powerful argument for national post-season recognition when they blasted Fresno State from the ranks of the unbeaten and untied under an avalanche of touchdowns—42 to 7 at Fresno on Thanksgiving Day.

Highest scoring college football team in the nation with a total of 312 points, and only unbeaten and untied college team on the Pacific coast, the Pop Warner-Dud DeGroot coached Spartans have won 12 straight victories in impressive fashion—averaging one point every 2 minutes and 20 seconds of play.

ZIMMERMAN STARS

Leroy Zimmerman, San Jose's lanky fullback candidate for All-American honors, increased his claim to fame by his performance in the Fresno game. He scored two touchdowns and place-kicked an extra point to run his personal scoring total for the season to 53. He passed to End Buell Clement for a third touchdown.

San Jose's other candidates for national and coast recognition also acquitted themselvse well. Captain Bob Titchenal, 195-pound center, played brilliantly all afternoon. Big Don Presley, giant 6 foot 4 inch, 220 pound Negro guard, was a powerful force in the Spartan line.

A chart of the Spartan's individual scoring this season places Aubrey Minter, little colored back, in the higher brackets. Minter has scored 18 points by touchdowns. Johnny Allen colored end, has kicked three extra points.

Thoughts of Late Grid Star Revealed

Diary Tells What Jack Trice Felt Before Big Game

DETROIT, Nov. 30 — The thoughts of Jack Trice, star of the Ames, (Iowa) football team, the night before he met death from injuries received accidentally in the Oct. 6th game with the University of Minnesota were revealed this week by his parents from a diary, found among his possessions.

Sitting in Minneapolis Curtis hotel, Price wrote:

"My thoughts just before the real college game of my life:

"The honor of my race, family and self are at stake. Everyone is expecting me to do big things. I will. My whole body and soul are to be thrown recklessly about the field tomorrow. Every time the ball is snapped, I will be trying to do more than my part. On all defensive plays, I must break through the opponent's line and stop the play in their territory.

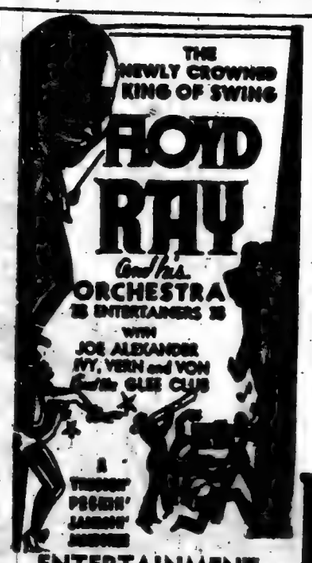
"Beware of mass interference. Fight low, with your eyes open and toward the play. Roll back the interference. Watch out for cross bucks and reverse end runs. Be on your toes every minute if you expect to make good."

'Force Wins Mid-West Crown

Green Wave Sweeps Over West Virginia State Turkey Day

WILBERFORCE, Nov. 30—The "Green Wave" of Wilberforce swept over the "Yellow Jackets" of West Virginia State college in their annual Turkey Day game 16-7 on the Wilberforce gridiron before a capacity crowd of rooters. This victory assured Wilberforce mathematically the Mid-Western conference championship.

Scoring early in the second period on a short plunge by halfback Castleman, Lebanon, Ohio. Wilberforce never was headed. Try for point after touchdown missed by Schnebly, versatile tackle from Overton, Neb. Wilberforce scored again in this same period on a long pass, Brown, quarterback, Woodbury, N. J., to Bell, end, Youngstown, Ohio. Try for point after touchdown good by Schnebly. West Va. came to life just before the close of the first half and marched down the field, aided by a potent passing attack and a 15-yd. penalty on "Force" to mark up its only score when Allen, sub guard, crossed the goal. Try for extra point was good by Lynch, sub tackle.



Wilberforce's final tally of the game came in the final period when Schnebly brought the crowd to its feet and gave them the long awaited thrill by place-kicking a 15-yard field goal, his fifth of the season.

This was the last contest of the season for both teams. Wilberforce finished with five wins, two losses as compared with two wins, three losses and one tie for West Virginia. Wilberforce made 12 first downs to 10 for West Virginia; completed six passes while W. Va., completed three; had four incomplete passes while W. Va., had 9 and had three passes intercepted while W. Va. had two intercepted. Force had 95 yards in penalties while W. Va., had 35.

Presentation of Miss West Virginia State college's Esther Dyson, senior of Dallas, Tex., majoring in physical education, AKA sorority, and her attendants, Jacqueline Thomas, Greenville, S. C., and Peggy Cooper, Atlanta, Ga., and "Miss Wilberforce" Gladys Green, senior, Chicago, Ill., majoring in social administration, AKA sorority, and her attendants, Lillian Russell and Harriette Duckette, was made at the half.

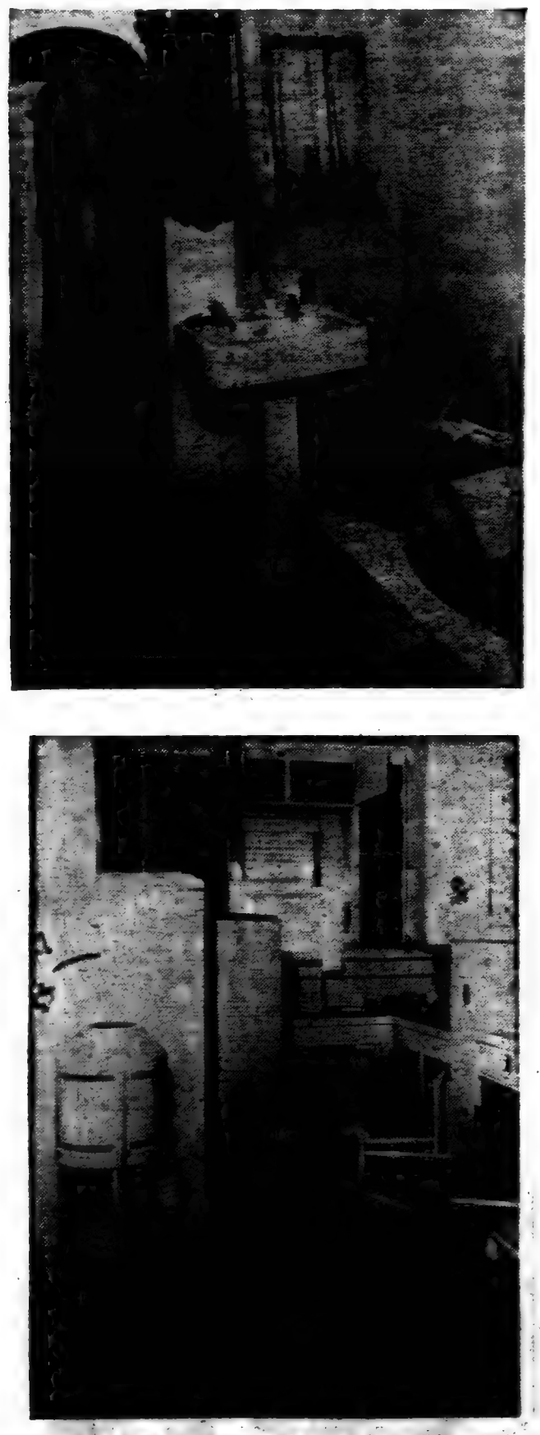
The Vernno Branch library, 4504 S. Central avenue, announces the following change in hours which will become effective Dec. 1: Monday through Fridays, 1 p. m. to 9 p. m.; Saturdays, 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. A drastic reduction in this year's library budget has made this change necessary.

Lemos Ends Win Streak of Young Polite in Thrilling Go

Boasting a record of never having lost a fight in 70 starts, 64 of which were won by knockouts, Richard "Young" Polite, the New Orleans lightweight, met more than his match Tuesday night at the Olympic when he was stopped in six rounds by Richard Lemos, two-fisted Mexican.

Apparently on his way to a close victory by the decision and possibly by a knockout, Polite was forced to quit in the sixth round without taking a count. Referee Reggie Gilmore stopped the battle to save Polite from needless punishment.

Polite had Lemos on the canvas for a six-count in the first round, but the hard-punching Mexican, got up to carry the fight to Polite. Gilmore warned Polite several times for using his shoulders as a defensive measure. The warning appeared to take something away from the southerner as he made gestures indicating the futility of it all.



Polite, who has made quite a name for himself in boxing circles because of his sensational style of throwing leather, suffered a cut lip during the latter stages of the thrilling main event, witnessed by some 8500 spectators.

Lemos weighed 128½, Polite 130.

Zeke Castro nodded Ulysses S. Grant Harris in the six-round semi-windup, but referee Frankie Van saw it differently, declaring the bout a draw.

Other bouts on the sparkling card: heavyweight Ralph Gwartney kayoed Don Metz in one; Frankie Kainrath got the duke over Clyde Alexander; Dub Bowen TKO'ed Willie Fields in the first; and George Dilworth dropped the opener to Gene Valenzuela by the decision route.

Next week, matchmaker Jimmy Murray pits Al Smith, Boyle Heights, against Al Hagar, Culver City, at 147 pounds in the 10-round main event. Both boys have made good in the Olympic, Smith never losing in 20 fights.

FUTILE SEARCH—Over-turned furniture, scattered pots and pans in the kitchen; clothing thrown into the bathtub of water and on the floor, such was the destruction caused by officers who went into the Roy Howard home in search of liquor law violations. They found only an out-moded "work-a-luck" machine.

four ink spots topflight play-singers

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—Topflight instrumental and vocal quartet today is the combination known as the Four Ink Spots. They are positive senders on the stage and air and their recent record releases, "Address Unknown" and 'My Prayer', are currently leading all record sales in 103 principal cities, a worthy follow-up to their sensational offering, 'If I Didn't Care".

The boys in private life are Ivory Watson, Billy Kenny, Orville Jones, and Charles Fuqua. The quartet made its debut on a Cincinnati radio station. In 1935 they toured with Jack Hylton and broke box office records in England.

Jones sings bass and plays the cello. Thirty-seven years old, he was one of the Three Peanut boys in Cincinnati before joining up with the Ink Spots. Watson sings the tenor lead and plays the tenor guitar. He came to the quartet from vaudeville.

Fuqua is the baritone and tipple player. A tipple is a cross between a ukelele and a guitar. Kenny is the top tenor of the quartet.

philly puts ban on hughes' play

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 30. (C)—Injunction proceedings to lift the ban on Langston Hughes' play, "Mulatto," were sought here last week by attorneys for the producer, with the aid of the counsel for the National Council on Freedom from Censorship. The play, dealing with the race question and miscegenation, ran for 15 months in New York City in 1937 and subsequently toured the United States. Censorship was encountered only in this city where the late Mayor Wilson banned it on the ground that it was "an outrageous affront to decency" and of a character to "incite race prejudice." When the management of the Walnut Street Theatre made known its desire to produce the play city authorities refused to lift the ban.

The first one of its featurettes, "Dress Rehearsal," was so well received that the Company has been receiving letters from exhibitors demanding that the second picture be put out at once.

Eddie Green, general manager of the Company says that by 1940 they will be on a production schedule of one picture every five weeks, giving work to many writers, composers and technical minded people.

HOW TO FALL IN LOVE

By JOHN KINLOCH, B. A., JH. D.

(Bachelor d'Amour, Doctor of Jive)

Students, today we will discourse upon the subject of Love and Romance, a couple of items that have occupied the historical limelight for many, many years.

But first I have a duty to perform. In the Nov. 16th edition of the West's Best, yours truly reviewed the concert of Miss Pauline Wilkerson, as a consequence of which Mrs. Beatrice Wilkerson penned a letter to Mrs. C. A. Bass (EAGLE editor) stating as how "anything like that write-up in the paper will damage any young person." After thinking the whole thing over in my mind, so to speak, I am in complete accord with Mrs. W. and herewith tender my apology for having exposed to public consumption a great quantity of literary corn. Excuse, please.

To return to the subject of Love, then. Before delving more deeply into this engrossing study, may I point out that my information is purely academic and most assuredly NOT based upon practical experiments like a session in a parked Model A at the corner of San Pedro and 120th street. In short, this is all highly scientific stuff.

One of the most important prerequisites of falling in love is the development of a "line," for without this vital asset, it won't do you any good nohow. There are many modern experts on the subject, but few really valid guides to the young and unitiated. So this column today is dedicated to those (male only) who are in quest of more or less elemental information.

First, a healthy imagination is essential. I find it convenient to divide our feminine population in four very distinct groups, to wit: (1) Gorgeous, (2) Pretty, (3) Passable (4) N. C. L. A. E. T. C. I? (Nature Can Lay An Egg Too, Can't It?) Now I would not seriously advise our romantic fledgling to waste valuable time and energy in classification No. 1, UNLESS he boasts a kisser like Power, a torso like W. W. Strode, or $750,000, U. S. currency. Bracket No. 2 also offers some difficulties and would best be ignored by the novice. After lengthy experimentation, No. 3 has emerged the natural element for Romantic kindergarten. (The less said about No. 4, the better). Now, No. 3 contains at the top those females with sufficient physical beauty really to qualify for Nos. 1 or 2, but who miss out on account of their mental capacity ain't exactly breathtaking; and at the bottom those ladies whose facial mishaps are compensated by vivacity, personality, fathers who lend them the family car, small appetites, and even rare cases of intelligence, a state of affairs which is practically extinct in the higher brackets. The use of imagination, then, is important to fill in whatever pulchritudinous lapses might occur in this classification.

Thus, we have discovered our most vulnerable point of attack (Bracket No. 3), we must now decide upon selection of weapons, the vital decision upon which rests the ultimate success or failure of the amorous campaign.

DO NOT:

There are several jivistic taboos that must be avoided at all costs.

Among them are references to limpid pools of moonlight, lips like wine and skin like velvet. Such comments are not very well received and often give rise to caustic remarks on the part of your Chosen One. Another attitude that is best avoided is the "Don Juan Complex," the tacit assumption that women can't resist you, the poor darlings. If you give the girl to understand that you are really pretty hot, she is liable to give you to understand that you can go to hell for her two cents' worth, where probably you'll get even hotter.

In this age of streamlining, the lover's technique must be in tune with the times: smooth, subtle, swift. Be ever so slyly humorous; let your deeper emotions flicker in the expression of your eyes, but never voice them in stilted language ("you are the dream of my life . . etc., etc.")

I could go on and on along these lines, but newspapers have Deadlines and this is it. However, with this bit of primary instruction, as it were, I feel sure you can find true happiness and lasting association with the One Girl.

Incidentally, has anybody seen my I'll hot tamale?—you know the one. Funny thing, had a date with her last Tuesday night (triple feature at the Rosebud, with a newsreel. Donald Duck, the March of Time, and Keno-$100 Jackpot); she never showed up . . .

Ah women! Ah, love! Ah, romance! Ah, NUTS!

flash records release discs by otis rene and four tones

Flash Record company this week announced the release of records featuring Otis Rene, nationally known songwriter, composer of "Sleepytime Down South", "Lucky Day" and "Dusty Road," from the M. G. M. picture "Let Freedom Ring", starring Nelson Eddy.

Rene is waxed singing his latest ballads, "Haste Makes Waste" and "What A Fool I Was". The composer-singer does a nice job on both songs, however the "Fool" song furnishes the greater variety as Rene is supported by the deep, rich bass voice of Dusty Brooks in a confession chorus that knocks you out. The Four Tones furnish the background harmony for Rene's voice.

Much has been heard of the record's growing popularity. Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew recently presented Mr. Rene in person and on the recording to the Gold Hour. The recording will be heard over Walter Lawson's hour over station KRKD Saturday afternoon at 4:15 p. m. Rene will be guest artist.

Flash Record company will have the records on sale at 988 E. Vernon avenue. They may also be obtained at the Music center, 4110½ S. Central avenue.

author of 'some of these days' takes talents to screen

By ALMENA DAVIS

Of the thousands of popular tunes written since the turn of the century, few are distinguished by public remembrance over any length of time. A public which dances to them, hums and sings them, forgets, with equal abandon, for the latest creation of the tunesmith.

One of the very few remembered is plaintive, haunting song-hit of three decades ago, "Some of These Days." The composer of "Some of These Days;" of "Darktown Strutter's Ball;" of "Walkings the Dog;" a vaudeville favorite, is now making his home in Los Angeles.

He is unassuming, studious looking Shelton Brooks, veteran of 35 years of "show business." Brooks has come to Los Angeles to live; with his family, which includes his mother, wife, son, Shelton Junior, and daughter-in-law, is occupying a comfortable home on the Eastside.

All of this might be considered in the light of a peaceful aftermath to a life that has included gay Broadway, footlights from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast; the musical comedy stages of Paris, London and Berlin, only Shelton Brooks hasn't retired yet, by any means. He is turning his talents and energies to a new field, one which is definitely pointing upward, all-colored movies.

WITH MILLER

Cinema-goers will soon see Brooks in his first movie role, portraying himself, famous composer and pianist, in the first offering of Argus Pictures, "Double Deal." Later, they will see him teamed with F. E. Miller of the old-time comedy team of Miller and Lyle, in a picture, authored by Brooks, "Darktown Strutters' Ball."

As is the fate of composers, Brooks' best known song, "Some of these Days," has become better known in connection with blues singer Sophie Tucker than with himself. Contrary to popular belief, Brooks didn't write the number for Miss Tucker. He didn't write it with any particular singer in mind. Purely inspirational, it came out as he watched two sweethearts bicker in a Cincinnati barroom back in 1910.

One of them left in a huff, flinging back over her shoulder, "You're gonna be sorry, some of these days." And thus in a honky-tonk barroom, out of a ribald scene, one of the gems of the popular portfolio was born.

The song has become a part of portly, wailing Sophie Tucker. So much so that she repeats often on her numerous broadcasts a little tribute to the composer and vows that she wants "Some of These Days" sung at her funeral.

Brooks had been playing boogie-woogie ("gut-bucket" piano, as he calls it) in the small-time pleasure spots of Cleveland for several years, but "Some of These Days" landed him near the front. He went to Chicago and started playing juvenile roles in stock.

(Shelton isn't American-born by the way. He hails from Canada, came here in 1901, but he's an American citizen now, alright.)

FAMOUS ASSOCIATES

Those days in stock were spent with now-famous names, Miller and Lyle, Abbie Mitchell, Rose McClendon, Florence Mills, Danny Small. He traveled with Small's historical "Hot Harlem Band" and was featured as a "humdinger" on the traps drums. He was prominent as a song and dance man among the cast of "From Dixie to Broadway," starring Florence Mills and Small, the first colored attraction ever to command $3.00, top price of admission.

Brooks kept on composing. His numbers were popular, even though none received the lasting popularity of "Some of These Days." But one can't have everything. One seemingly immortal song hit is enough of a record in this age of competition.

He did a number which Al Jolson sang successfully, "You Ain't Talking to Me." He was recognized with a coveted membership in ASCAP, famed American Society of Composers and Poets. His royalties on "Some of These Days" and the others are sufficient to maintain him comfortably even if he never works again.

To bring our word-photo of Shelton Brooks to the present, he's keenly enthusiastic about the future of all-colored movies; feels their greatest need is specialists, fewer of those would-be jacks of all trades who think they can write 'em, direct 'em, act 'em.

Before parting, the conversation got around to music and dancing's most controversial subjects, swing and the jitterbug. Swing is nothing different, the composer says, and illustrates his contention on his own Baby Grand piano, the vehicle, "Some of These Days."

Brooks claims that the sole difference lies in tempo, calls swing "long bass." He considers it definitely an improvement over jazz, but not a thing apart.

Jitterbugs, he said, are BRUTAL.

movie version of gulliver to set new marks

When Jonathan Swift sent his hero, Lemuel Gulliver, traveling all the known trade routes and then veering off those that were known into the realm of imagination, even the imaginative Swift didn't do as much for Lemuel as the modern movies have done. The movies this week sent Gulliver traveling through all the colors of the spectrum.

By the time Gulliver finally completes his film adventures, which he already has done except for the musical scoring and the "dubbing" of sound effects, the hero will have battled all the fury of the elements and outdone all the threats of man and beast in eight reels and 600 hues of Technicolor.

HUGE STAFF EMPLOYED

No animated motion picture that was produced before "Gulliver's Travels" ever attained quite the color impressiveness of Gulliver's film adventures, for the two-fold reason that previous animated pictures did not have Technicolor in its present stage of perfection, and no other animated film ever had as many men—3000 artists, inkers, animators, color experts, camera, sound and color technicians—working for as long a time—eighteen months—as Gulliver had.

Beginning with the initial shipment of color negative between the Miami, Fla., studios of Co-producers Max and Dave Fleischer, where "Gulliver's Travels" was produced, to the Technicolor laboratories in Hollywood, Calif., where it was developed, the reels of color and sound track flew 176,000 miles through the air. This, like the color element, sets a record.

MANY COLOR EPICS

Besides "Gulliver's Travels" whose final polish is now being administered in the orchestra scoring and sound "dubbing" rooms of Paramount studio, other up-to-the-minute productions in Technicolor which will receive release in the near future, include Paramount's "Typhoon," with Dorothy Lamour and Robert Preston; "Untamed", with Patricia Morison, Ray Milland, and Akim Tamiroff; "Dr. Cyclops," with Albert Dekker and Janice Logan; and "Northwest Mounted Police," with Madeline Carroll, Joel McCrea and Robert Preston; Walt Disney's animated "Pinocchio"; Twentieth Century Fox' "Blue Bird", with Shirley Temple; D. O. Selznick's "Gone With the Wind", with Clark Gable, Vivian Leigh and Olivia de Havilland; and M-G-M's "Northwest Passage."

noted singer in first of 4 concerts

DAR still refuses to allow marian in hall

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Marian Anderson, famed contralto, who still may not sing in the D. A. R.'s Constitution Hall in Washington, D. C., sang Sunday over the Coast to Coast broadcast of the Ford Sunday Evening hour, the first of four concerts she has been signed for with the program.

Accompanied by the Ford Sunday Evening Hour orchestra, Miss Anderson sang six numbers, three of the classical tradition and three spirituals. The classics were Verdi's "O Don Fatale," an Anderson favorite; Shubert's "Death and the Maiden" and "The Omnipotence," the latter sung obligato with the choir. The spirituals were 'Everytime I Feel the Spirit, Deep River," and "Honor."

Prolonged applause followed each of Miss Anderson's first renditions. The 1500 spectators to the broadcast were requested by the announcer not to applaud between spirituals, however.

TAYLOR'S WORK

Following the group of classical numbers and preceding the contralto's rendition of the spirituals, the orchestra played "The Bamboula," popular work by Samuel Coleridge Taylor, British Negro composer.

The contralto will be heard again on Christmas Eve, Dec. 24; March 31, and April 14.

Miss Anderson was the center of a nation-wide controversy last winter when the Daughters of the American Revolution forbade her use of their Constitution Hall for concert purposes because of her race. In answer to the episode, Miss Anderson gave a free concert on Easter Sunday at the base of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

In reply to a letter from the Marian Anderson committee, formed out of last year's controversy, Mrs. Henry P. Roberts, Jr., of Houston, D. A. R. president, was quoted this week as reiterating her organization's policy, stating:

"In view of the fact that many conditions affecting the action of last spring the same, the decision of the board must remain the same."

Seems like this is breeding season for pension plans. Anyone who hasn't got a sure-fire idea in his pocket is as out of date as a moustache cup or a Gibson girl. Of course the Townsend Plan and the Ham and Eggers are as familiar as the landlord on the first of the month;-but now some fellow wants to give everyone over 21 a hundred dollars a month and another fellow named Irving Fig Newton (not to be confused with the cookie of the same name) is talking loudly about financing a pension fund by running lotteries. There was a man in here the other day who advocated giving five hundred a month to everyone over 80—provided they were accompanied by both parents. He wants the government to license pickpockets to finance the scheme—to insure painless taxation.

Subscriptions of Eastsiders to Be Totaled and Made Public at 'Pay for Your Own' Luncheon at YMCA

Community Chest battalions soliciting funds to the charitable fund here will hold a "pay for your own" luncheon meeting at noon Saturday at the Y. M. C. A. 1006 E. 28th street, when the subscriptions of local residents will be totaled and made public.

Volunteers serving in the battalions of Mrs. Ida Aldridge, Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, Mrs. Genevieve Wade, Mrs. C. D. Frederick, and Mrs. Joan Johnston Willis are devoting as much time as possible to the local appeal this week in order to complete the local quota by the report date. Many workers are making plans to be at the luncheon.

Workers throughout Chest territory are engaged in the most strenuous period of the campaign as residential districts set the pace for production with 57 per cent of quota in hand. Receipts as of Friday, November 14, showed this group had returned 16, 343 pledges, totaling $94,471.00. Exposotion - Adams area, which include the local battalions, contributed $9897.00 from 1083 residents, 52 per cent of quota.

Total campaign results amounted to $1,091,130.00; 111,-709 pledges: 33.8 per cent of goal of $3,221, 720.

C LEADING

Mrs. Ida Aldridge, major of battalion C, now is leading all groups here with more than 52 per cent of her quota, attained. Mrs. Aldridge, speaking of the success of her group said: "It is the steady home-to-home calls that bring us in the contributions for the Chest fund. Residents here are generous when they are asked to assist in helping other neighbors and their children receive needed hospital and clinical services; children to have protection when their natural homes are broken; and families given the aid they require to help them remain selp-supporting. We all are proud of the fine men and women, boys and girls, to be found in the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and the YMCA and the YWCA. Many residents are well-informed as to the services of the Urban League, the Eastside Mothers' Club, the Children's Hospital, the Sojourners Truth Industrial Home, and want these services continued."

Pasadenans File Property Restriction Agreements

Pasadena's property race restriction campaign swung into high gear last week as a total of 340 restriction agreements limiting use and occupancy of property to members of the white or Caucasian race were filed with the county recorder by the Pasadena Improvement association.

The wave of race restrictions on property throughout the Pasadena area was brought by the recent Brookside plunge controversy. Negroes contended for equal use of the swimming pool, basing their attack upon residential factors.

Progressive elments look upon the restriction campaign as a serious outbreak of "American fascism".

The Improvement association has signed up 1250 property owners throughout Pasadena, City Director A. L. Stewart, secretary-treasurer of the body, announced.

Strongly pro-restriction, the "Pasadena Independent" recently pointed out, "many property owners are unaware that occupancy restrictions on their property will expire in the near future, if they have not already expired . . . it will be impossible to maintain property values unless owners sign restriction agreements".

The restrictions are described by backers as a "million dollar improvment" for Pasadena. The association's program has the endorsement of the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce, the Merchants association, the Civitan club and the Realty board.

To Wage Determined Drive Against Prop. 1 on Dec. 12

Again the people will be asked to go to the polls at a special election on Dec. 12 to cast their votes on a proposition which they have defeated twice before.

Again promoters have succeeded in placing on the ballot and calling a special, costly election in hopes they may be made high-salaried commissioners in a proposed bus transportation company to be paid for out of City funds, and to be raised through taxes and bond issues, and to be managed, without supervision, by three inexperienced men who are named in the proposition, which appears as Proposition "1" on the ballot.

This is practically the same Proposition that the voters repudiated in 1935 and again in 1937. The fact that this same Proposotion comes before the people for the THIRD time in four years seems to indicate that the California Initiative and Referendum laws are being used by promoters for private enterprise.

Again, as before, a determined campaign will be waged against this dangerous, destructive measure with a strong Citizens Committee in charge of Campaign strategy to bring out the "NO" vote. —Adv.

APPEAL NOT INDICATED

Whether the Anne Arundel County board of education would appeal the court's decision, was not disclosed. George Fox, county superintendent, who was defendant in the case, was quoted as saying after he learned the decision:

"The question of expense for further litigation will be influential in the board's decision."

The decision of Judge Chesnut was hailed by the NAACP as a victory of far-reaching significance in that it provides a standard of measurement for public employment and directs that salary scales may not be based upon race and color. Judge Chesnut's opinion is expected to affect not only the State of Maryland but to have an important bearing upon the whole system of racial salary differentials now in force throughout the southern states having separate schools.

At the same time, the NAACP officers warn that there is grave danger that the association will have to curtail its activities for equalization because of lack of funds.

"The public must know," said Walter White, NAACP secretary, "that these legal campaigns are costly. The association has been assisted by the state teachers' associations in the states where legal action is being undertaken, but in order to secure the widest benefit of these decisions, the association must have the financial and moral support of the public at large."

praise for town hall debut dorothy maynor wins high

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—Miss Dorothy Maynor, the 28-year old soprano, who made her debut before a packed audience at Town Hall here Nov. 19, "proved that she had virtually everything needed by a great artist—the superb voice, one of the finest that the public can hear today; exceptional musicianship and accuracy of intonation; emotional intensity, communicative power."

This was the glowing tribute paid the former soloist of the Hampton Institute choir, who won the praise of Serge Koussevitzky and member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at a special reception given by the composer at the Berkshire estival last Summer. The tribute came from Olin Downes, famous music critic of the New York Times, who devoted a full-length column to Miss Maynor's concert.

Despite the nervous reaction in some of her numbers, due no doubt to her consciousness of the fact that this was a critical debut audience that had come to hear a singer whose praises have been sung up and down the land during the past several months, Downes concluded his review, the youthful soprano "should be able to reach almost any height as one of the leading concert singers of her generation."

HURSTON WRITES WITH "WEIRD BEAUTY"

"A weird beauty of its own," is achieved at times, by the writing of ZORA NEALE HURSTON, a reviewer said recently of her latest book, "Moses, Man of the Mountain." Miss Hurston's fifth book, published by Lippincott, "Moses, Man of the Mountain," tells the story of the Hebrews delivery from bondage at it might have occurred hal Israel been inhabited by black folk.

XMAS BONUS

Additional compensation in the form of a Christmas bonus for employes of Calfiornia Bank was authorized by the bank's board of directors at their November meeting.

According to Arch W. Anderson, president, all officers and employes who have been in the organization's employ one year or more will receive one-quarter month's salary with a maximum payment of $50. Those who have been employed less than a year will share in the distribution proportionately, he said. The bonus will be paid on or about December 15.

DID YOU KNOW—First Negro appointed judge in Massachusetts was John Lewis Ruffin, (1834-85). Judge Ruffin also served two terms in the State Legislature and in the Boston City Council.

DID YOU KNOW?—the local for the placement of the first Urban League is responsible two Negro employes in the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. Eighteen or more jobs are to be made available in the future for Negro workers as a result of the successful performance of these two men, it is reported.

Ground has been broken for the erection of the new home of the Metropolitan Funeral System Association, Chicago, Illinois. This new ultra-modern building will be located on one of the busiest thoroughfares in the Windy City, South Parkway at 45th street, and when finished will be one of the most modern office buildings in the City of Chicago. It will be ready for occupancy some time during 1940.

The Association is headed by Robert A. Cole, President; T. P. Harris, Vice President and General Counsel; and Fred Lowing, Secretary and General Manager.

LARY Tells Traffic Problems

Problems of traffic management were discussed by L. A. Reeves, Director of the Los Angeles Railway Bureau of Public Service, this week at a meeting of representatives from all parts of the city.

"The Los Angeles Railway employs the finest traffic experts in the country," Reeves said. "Between the rush hours of 4 p. m. and 6 p. m., nearly 750 streetcars operate on or cross Broadway, 498 of them crossing at 7th and Broadway.

"It can be readily seen from these figures," Reeves continued, "that only the most capable of trained men could handle the routing. The great masses of citizens which the Los Angeles Railway transports from point to point during the busy hours each day is comparable to moving great armies in wartime."

Reeves also said that nearly 1000 cars operate in the downtown area during the evening rush hours and that more than 6000 enter the downtown district during each 18-hour day.

Questioned regarding the general use of buses in business centers, Reeves did not comment other than state that, because nearly two and one-half buses are required to carry the load of one street car, the congestion of traffic during rush hours would render the streets practically impassable.

Detroit Strike Threatens Riots

they kept a lane open, holding back pickets who were lined up 20 deep.

The marchers arrived at the plant closely bunched. A UAW-CIO loudspeaker on top of a building across the street blared out "Let them in, boys, they can't build cars and they know it".

A few minutes after the group entered about 40 came out. They said they had been turned out because they did not have badges.

The company announced that 187, including six white men, had entered and gone to work.

After the men had entered, the picket line began to disperse and police were ordered off duty. One union man who said he had seen all strike activity in Detroit in recent years, said Monday's concentration was the largest he had witnessed.

Negotiations in the production dispute will be resumed today.

R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO faction, charged Homer Martin, president of the AFL faction, with having organized 1000 Negro foundry workers into the "back to work" movement. Dodge supervisory employes also were accused by Thomas of seeking to split the workers along racial lines.

Thomas urged K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler corporation, by telegraph, "to advise Negro workers publicly that the plant will not be open for work.

"The threatened outbreak of race riots," Thomas telegraphed, "would be a disaster to the city."

A spokesman for the corporation said that the plant would be opened and would furnish work to those workers wishing it. He said the company had nothing to do with the "back to work" movement.

Thomas charged that supervisory employes of the Dodge foundry had advised the 1000 Negro workers to "round up as many Negro acquaintances who want to work' for a concerted charging of the picket lines."

Dear Editor:

To often we overlook the value of advertisement in our local papers.

While I was yet in my youth, I observed the very fine service the EAGLE was giving this community. At that time my observation was casual and stimulated but little real appreciation on my part.

However, I recently went into business, independently, establishing the first Negro Ambulance service. My advertising was restricted to the pages of the California Eagle. I expected good results, true enough; but what I REALLY got, out-ran my greatest expectations. Immediately, business began to "Hum."

I am happy to state that, thru the medium of my EAGLE advertising, the ROBERSON AMBULANCE SERVICE has become a recognized and integral part of the community's medical life.

I cannot recommend too highly the drawing power of my CALIFORNIA EAGLE ad.

Yours sincerely,
THEODORE W. ROBERSON.

Dear Editor:

We thoroughly enjoy your program. Sepia Sportcast, as given by Mr. J. Cullen Fentress.

Each broadcast is eagerly looked forward to. We sincerely hope the program continues.

Dear Editor:

I enjoyed the play which your anouncer, John Kinloch presented on Africa. The play brought out so many interesting facts about the geography, climate, the people, and how they live that I am not very familiar with.

I must tell you that it helped to broaden my knowledge in those particular fields.

I am hoping there will be more plays presented like this one, in order to familiarize us more with the continent of Africa.

Yours truly,

Eastern-Columbia Execs in Meet; Wien Talks on Service

A. B. GIFFARD

Starting with a "pep" breakfast in the headquarter store's cafeteria at Ninth and Broadway, Eastern-Columbia executives held a convention to discuss means of speeding up Christmas service. All branch store managers as well as members of the Governing Board attended.

Mr. Wien, manager of Eastern at 45th and Central, stated, "The holiday business has already started. Such a trend is welcomed by my store as it tends to lessen the last minute rush. But, even with this condition, our store has taken steps to give the late comer every service. With the consolidation of Eastern-Columbia, wherein clothing and home furnishings can be charged to the same account, it takes but half the time for each transaction." Mr. Wien further stated that the entire holiday stock is now available and that faster delivery service had been instituted.

VICE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Mr. J. M. Sieroty, vice president of the firm stated, he was happy to report that all the toys and most of the gifts, purchased in the last few months, were American made. He said in part: "This early rush is an indication of big business to come and the return to prosperity. We have been of the opinion for some time that this would be the case and have laid our plans to render efficient service for the holidays."

Better business conditions created a spirit of optimism at the convention and each speaker became more spirited than the one preceding him.

A. R. Giffard, executive of the firm, presided.

Roy Howard Seeks Complaint

Civil rights' defenders look hopefully to the petition for a complaint against the officers this week. However, it is pointed out that in previous cases the City Attorney's office assertedly has been reluctant to issue such complaints, holding that insufficient evidence is offered. But a recent decision states that, failing to receive proper attention from the City Attorney's office, citizens may go directly to judges.

Unlike most other metropolitan cities, it is stated that Los Angeles police investigate their own discrepancies, rather than allowing outside groups to probe. Out of this system have grown many accusations that the department "whitewashes" itself instead of pursuing militant investigations. Recent articles in nationally distributed magazines have thrown the floodlights of nation-wide publicity upon asserted irregularities in L. A.'s police department.

It has been pointed out locally that Ross R. McDonald, in charge of police investigation, holds a reputation as a "Negro-baiter". Assertions state that McDonald was the subject of many protests during previous years.

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Nov. 30. (By Charles L. de Lay)—Colorful Xavier university Gold Rush closed a perfect home season with a 10-0 victory over a powerful Lane College, Jackson, Tenn., eleven. More than 4000 fans witnessed the Thanksgiving Day Classic at Xavier Stadium as perfect grid weather permitted the Xaviorites to show one of the finest teams ever seen in the South.

children of Israel out of Egyptian slavery into the promised land, at no time found fault with his fellow sufferers. His whole thought was to unite them in action. They had to make a path through the Red Sea. This could not be accomplished with some traveling in one direction and others in another. If we move in army formation, said the old man, with God's help we will make it through. And when we shall have landed on the other side we shall drag from the bed of the stream 12 stones and build a monument to commemorate the rolling away of our bondage.

What was true of the Israelites in that ancient period of history may be applied to Negroes today. They have come half way through the Jordan of bondage in this nation, but in the middle of the stream, they have divided into small groups, often pulling against one another.

Any hope for absolute unity is both unwise and futile. However, a plea for some degree of cooperation on vital issues is not out of place.

Getting together, in the strict sense of the phrase, is an impossibility for most of humanity . . . but the signs along the highway still enjoin us to "GET ASSOCIATED".

Claim Roberson Co. Service is 'Luxurious'

"Luxurious comfort" is the way the large number of patrons have described the service of the Roberson Ambulance company, first of its kind to be established on the Eastside.

Not only is this the first colored ambulance service on the Pacific coast, but it is also the finest and most modern in comfort and convenience to be had in the city. Beautifully streamlined and pleasing to the eye, the interior is air conditioned, with oxygen tanks, aromatic strechers, sponge mattresses, and all the miracles of modern medical transportation and care.

There is also equipment for breath-taking emergency, and special apparatus for quiet, comfortable movement. Highly trained male and female attendants place the Roberson Ambulance in the front rank of medical service. Prompt, efficient and courteous service is assured by the new company both day and night.

RED-CAUS SUE RAILROADS

Wonder's never ceases. The March of progress is a relentless steamroller which crushes all tradition and precedent in its path. In Washington, D. C. last week, the Red-caps at the Union Station filed suit against the Washington Terminal Company for one year's back pay, in the United States District Court. There are many of us who remember most vividly a time not so far back, when Red-caps worked for nothing, even in many instances being compelled to slip something in the Head-porter's hand for the privilege of hustling baggage. And to think that now, they can sue the Railroads even, and not live in deadly fear of being canned for so doing. Opportunity is surely throwing forward passes in every direction during this New Deal era. Wake up young Afro-Americans and snag some of them.

PROHIBITION THREATENS AGAIN

According to Stanley High, a nationally known writer, the nation"s dry forces are mustering again.. He states that since Franklin D. Roosevelt's repeal in 1933 nearly 10.000 towns and villages one fourth of the nation's total have voted dry. The figures of Gallup Institute show that the percentage of citizens who would vote back prohibition—now 30 per cent.Jhas increased in every poll since 1936.

Many old time roysterers who formerly cavorted almots nightly in the 1000 and 1 buffet-flats that dotted every city of any size may hail this prospect with secret glee. I fear they will be disappointed however. For if put to the test by a crucial vote, I am firmly convinced that the Nation remembering the Valentine's Day masscare in Chicago, Al Capone's over-lordship, and the New York gang murders, will overwhelmingly defeat any such backward move.

JAP EMBARGO PROPOSED

Senator Key Pittman of Nevada announced on last Saturday that he will seek passage early next session, of his resolution empowering the President to EMBARGO export of war commodities to Japan. His proposed resolution is challenged by two Republican members of the Foreign Relations Committee, Borah and Vandenberg, who favor negotiations with Japan for a new treaty supplanting the old one which expires January 26, 1940. Some of Secretary's Hull's advisers have also privately expressed their opposition to an EMBARGO —which on the face of it appears to be more or less of a Black jacking threat. Others however insist that the Embargo policy is the only course that will induce Japan to abandon her conquest of China, and accomplish the primary issue, that of opening up that vast market to America trade which at present is greatly restricted.)

The question, Will It? And how will the sturdy Japs react to such a diplomatic "STICK UP". Will they give up an objective which has already cost them millions of Yen, and the lives of over a hundred thousand brave soldiers? This writer does not think so. Time will tell whether my guess is right or wrong. International politics are quite screwy to the mind of a layman. What fundamental difference can there be in selling airplane guns and ammunitio to England and France to strafe Germans, and in selling them to Japan to exterminate Chinamen.

From a Nordic point of view it would seem more laudable to try to preserve the White race, and to cheerfully give every assistance to the Yellow Peril in their efforts at self-destruction. To anyone who carefully analyzes the irrational moves of modern international diplomacy, there can be no doubt but that some INVISIBLE HAND is guiding the moves on the international checkerboard; and that Some where, farther down the line from this seeming universal chaos a New Order of Life affording greater Opportunity for the masses of all races, will be evolved.

Central Ave. District Realty Board
We have come a long way in our search for the secret of building good will for Real Estate. I hope it is less of a secret than it was before. The one thought above all other, that I should like to leave with you this afternoon, is a very cheerful one. It embodies the kernel of everything I have said. In this days' generation, service pays; the more you do for your customers, the more you will do for yourself, for of necessity, if you render service, you will put your business on a scientific and a truly professional basis, you will render more service and you will have more good will. And good will is the asset of your business that brings the greatest total profit and the highest price in case of a sale.

These are the ambitions and requirements of the following members of the Central Ave. District Realty Board.

By MIRIAM MATTHEWS

"The Sea Tower," by Hugh Walpole, famous English novelist, is the answer to a librarian's prayer. Ever since DuMaurier's "Rebecca" became such a favorite with the reading public we have been bombarded with requests for something just like it. "Jamaica Inn" and other titles by Daphne DuMaurier have been worn almost to shreds. We welcome the opportunity to recommend "The Sea Tower" as another study of strange and violent human relationships. It concerns Christina, a young girl from the teeming streets of London, who marries a young man from Cornwall, and is carried to his home near the old sea tower to live with his mother. Because she has always completely dominated her sons, the mother resents her daughter-in-law and her hate for Christina continues to grow until it affects her mind. Her struggle for power reaches a stormy and dramatic climax in this beautifully written story that shows the competent handling of a master psychologist.

Sholem Asch's latest book, "The Nazarene" is a powerful and compelling book which has been in preparation 30 years. It presents a sweeping panorama of Jerusalem and the provinces nearly two thousand years ago during the time of Christ—the most dramatic period of human history. It molds the dry dust of history into life again, recreating the splendors of the wealthy and the despair of the seething populace crushed under the iron hand of Rome. Mr. Asch tells his story so that we see it from three different angles—that of a Roman, of a disciple of the Nazarene, and of a young man of the people in Jerusalem. "The Nazarene" is a book which undoubtedly will reach a wide audience.

"Western Union", published shortly before his death, is one of Zane Grey's finest novels. It is an historical narrative based on a graphic page in American history which is filled with color, romance and fast action. The central character is Wayne Cameron from Harvard who fell in with a group of Westerners on a journey to the Middle West and helped them in the desperate enterprise of carrying the line for Western Union across the continent through a thousand miles of wilderness. The threat of outlaws, Indians, buffalo stampedes, prairie fires, swollen rivers and a thousand perils added to the excitement of this dangerous undertaking. A bit of romance adds the final touch to this book of heroic achievement which records a definite milestone in the development of our country.

Borrow these books from the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 S. Central avenue and the Nelson Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2230 Naomi avenue.

PROLIFIC COMPOSER

Allan Jones, Mary Martin, and Susanna Foster appear in 15 scenes from Herbert operettas in "The Great Victor Herbert," which Andrew Stone is making for Paramount. Actually this prolific composer wrote 41 separate operettas all of which were produced.

WELLMAN AUTHOR, TOO

William A. Wellman, who is both producer and director of Paramount's "The Light That Failed," is an author as well and has written seven books or screenplays in addition to numerous of his own stories which he has filmed himself.

GLASS GLITTERS

Because real diamonds didn't glitter enough, phony diamonds made of glass were used in Paramount's "Diamonds are Dangerous," which co-stars George Brent and Ida Miranda. The imitations appear better on the screen than the real gems.

Eagle Carries Full Page of Real Estate Values

Did you see it? What?

Well, turn to page EIGHT-A right this minute!

Therein, dear reader, you will find a sign of the times—good times. A full page advertisement is a very nice thing, indeed, from the standpoint of a newspaper publisher. It involves the transfer of quite a few sheckels. And that's what you will see.

But this particular full page advertisement has a pecular significance. To wit, Mr. Seth B. Ray, real estate broker, is doing one whale of a lot of business.

Of course, there is nothing very mysterious in this, but it is a comforting thought in such an age. Mr. Ray has long represented the "tops" in the local real estate dealers' realm. Asked to explain his many years of successful operation, Mr. Ray states, simply, "Value." And that seems sort of elemental, and we tell him so. But Mr. Ray repeats "Value." That's his story and he's stuck with it. Yeah. Stuck with the best real estate business in town!

ALHAMBRA CHURCH YOUTH GIVE SURPRISE BREAKFAST

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 30—A surprise Thanksgiving breakfast, honoring Rev. and Mrs. G. Albert Miller, was given by young people of the Alhambra Baptist church last Thursday morning. Miss Lesnder Scott headed the movement.

Rev. Miller left following the breakfast with young people for Riverside to attend the Young People's Sunday School and BYPU Congress of the Western Baptist State Convention of the National Baptist Convention, Inc.

Sunday evening, the Alhambra Gospel Chorus sang at First Baptist church (white) Ventura. With Prof. Wm. T. Wilkins as director, the chorus is taking its place among the best in the West. Dr. Miller preached to some 1200 worshippers in Ventura, his subject, "Nothing shall be impossible to them that believe."

GOSSIP—

Monterey street is a-gog, wondering who the love bug will bite next . . . Miss Alva Washington is still counting the stars . . . . Margaret Autry is still carrying that love-lorn look in her eyes pointing to the pastor's son, Bobby . . . Fred is ga-ga, liiking for a new mamma for the twins. Pep Boys Fete Employes at Dinner Dance

The Pep Boys, Manny, Moe and Jack of California, one of the leading auto accessory companies in the state, gave their employes an enjoyable dinner dance last Sunday at the Elks' temple, 40th and Central avenue. Music was furnished by popular George Brown's band. Master of ceremonies was W. W. Walton.

All the boys are very grateful to Mr. M. Rosenfeld, the general manager, who spared no pains in making the affair one long to be remembered. Hats off to one of the greatest fellows of all times, H. W. Edgar, popular supervisor of the Pep Boys. Pop Rosenfeld was one of the many special guests of Mr. Walton. Here's wishing the Pep Boys a Merry Xmas and a Prosperous New Year.

G. L. McMullin Club Entertained

A lovely time was had last Sunday when Mrs. Ella Price, 1431½ E. 22nd street, entertained at a house party for her club, the G. L. McMullin club. After an hour of business, po-ke-no and bridge were played.

A pleasing hostess, Mrs. Price served her guests with highballs, cigarettes, nuts and gum during the game. A buffet supper climaxed the evening.

Guests were Mmes. Lorena Wilson, Katherine Gautt, Sophia Crawford, Eula Brausaw, Willie L. Perkerson, Lizzie Robinson, Daisy P. Williams, president; Wertie C. Weaver, secretary; Fanny Stamps, treasurer, and Miss Ruth Taylor.

HOLLYWOOD'S GAIN

Maury Maverick Faces The Music

The popular conception of the southern legislator fits Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio perfectly —in reverse.

Maverick is Mayor of his home town on a "reform" ticket--a political entity hitherto unknown below the Mason-Dixon Line.

Maverick voted "YES" on Anti-lynching bill; the only southern legislator to do so when he was a member of the U. S. House of Representatives.

Maverick is a paid up member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, an organization that is the hated nemesis of most southern politicos.

Maverick has opposed: lynching, poll taxes, disfranchisement of the Negro.

Today San Antonio's fiery red head is on trial in his home town on a charge of illegal purchase of poll-tax receipts, which are required of voters in Texas.

We have no notion whether Maverick is guilty or not—if he is, no great moral offense has been committed. However, we must look at this trial as the first step in a campaign to remove from political sway a southerner who has the courage to voice a clarion call in defense of the Negro.

For years, the "Texas LaGuardia" has been a thorn in the side of traditional, grafting, Negro-baiting Dixie legislators. During his terms in Congress, Maverick repeatedly upset the apple cart of a "solid south" when he espoused progressive causes.

Indeed, they thought he was "down" last year when he lost his seat in the House of Representatives. Less than eight months later, however, that man Maverick was back again as Mayor of San Antonio after upsetting one of the oldest political machines in the South.

This fiery Texan is the hope of the progressive South. With his g e n i u s for attracting national publicity, he can do much to undermine the rotten political machines that have kept southern legislators mediocre for the past three generations.

Growing Up

Preliminary estimates of the population of Los Angeles County, made public this week by the California Taxpayers' Associataion, reach a total of 2,805,000.

The figure shows an increase of 596,508 over the 2,208,492 persons at the time of the 1930 census, or a gain of 27 per cent.

Perhaps this amazing increase, one of the largest in the nation, can be attributed to the very brilliant advertising campaign of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce which, apparently has convinced that portion of America non-resident in Southern California that this area is a cross between the Garden of Eden and Utopia.

It is a fact that thousands have been attracted here through a tremendous national "bum steer" that this section of the country is economicaly able to support thousands more.

In addition to the tragic "Okie" invasion, (indigent farm workers) heralded so beautifully by John Steinbeck in "The Grapes of Wrath", there are many thousands of artisans and even professional people here who are unable to find a niche. The vast publicity campaign sponsored for the benefit of Los Angeles has served to increase our problems to the discordant tune of 27 per cent.

THANK GOD, WE'RE AMERICANS!

• THE WORLD THIS WEEK

DOC STORK KEEPS AHEAD

California's Doctor S t o r k is handily outdistancing his arch-foe, the Grim Reaper.

A special vital statistics report just released shows that births lead deaths by more than 25,000 last year, with births numbering 101,884, and deaths, 76,187.

Testifying to increasing medical care in one field was California's infant death rate, the lowest in 11 years. But the enigma of cancer, for which preventive methods still outrank curative ones, resulted in the highest toll of deaths in 11 years. Yet the ceaseless research being made into the nature and causes of that disease give sound reason for believing that cancer, like tuberculosis and other diseases which formerly claimed many more lives than they do now, will be checked and eventually conquered.

Next year is the census taker's field day. It is likely he will find that Doc Stork, medical science, and migration, have maintained California's progress as a pace-setter in population growth. For 88 years California has enlarged its State family with an average of 70,000 new members annually. Since the second great rush to the West began in 1920 that ratio has so increased that reliable forecasters expect next year's census to credit California with a population close to seven million!

HOLLYWOOD IS WOOED

Fiery Mayor La Guardia has launched a campaign to woo the motion picture industry into "coming back home" to New York.

However, it's been so long since movie makers stopped hanging up their hats in Manhattan studios and calling New York "home", that we seriously doubt Gotham's siren call will induce Hollywood to strike camp and t r a n s p o r t a multi-billion dollar industry to the Empire State.

California still has the sunshine, the fame, and filmdom's enormous investment. California still has the scenery and the finest weather. Its name has a glamour that New York for all its size, cannot surpass.

No one, of course, can blame Easterners for toying with the idea of staging a "kidnaping de luxe" and making off with California's most colorful industry. They can recognize a big source of income, employment, and fame when they see one. But so does California. That's why she's determined to hang onto it!

SCHOOLS IN TROUBLE

When deficits grow to such proportions that schools are jeopardized, it is time to ask for an accounting of ourselves and our officials. Otherwise California may not be spared the American tragedy which has overtaken Toledo, O., this week. All its public schools have been closed due to lack of funds. America is proud of its schools, its progressive education, but they cannot survive if their life blood is cut off. Unless government practices thrift and economy, that threat will continue to face them.

ANASTASIA'S SHEARS

The French have a name for censorship. They call it "Anastasia", with Anastasia depicted in cartoons as a sharp-nosed, elderly spinster gleefully wielding a pair of long shears. Under today's war-time conditions, with its bungling censors and ministries of "information", Anastasia's shears have been busier than ever. But that busybody, both in England and France, has at least provided entertainment for people whose nerves are ragged, waiting for the frightful "blitzkrieg" which mysteriously does not strike. Censors' ever-ready scissors and blue pencils, slashing into dispatches with reckless enthusiasm, so cut one story to bits that when finally "edited" it read: "General X is a true hero. . . He has not washed for fifteen days." That, at any rate, is the story going the rounds of Paris. It will take more than air raids to black-out laughter over Anastasia.

IT WORKS FOR STATES, TOO!

For states, too, it pays to publicize and turn the spotlight of attention on what they can offer millions of vacation bound people. In that regard California was exceptionally fortunate this year in having a sumptuously beautiful World's Fair to offer in addition to its scenic charms. The results of 'telling the world" came to light last week in the report of John F. Forbes, president of California's Inc. They likewise proved exceptional. The greatest influx of tourists the State has ever known visited California this year. During the 254-day life of the Exposition, 1,455, 721 visitors poured into the Golden State, spending $212,-380,124 in California. Measured against the 1938 record, that represents an increase of 25 per cent in the swelling tides of tourists, a gain of 22 per cent in tourist-dollars spent here. Against the vigorous competition of a large and spectacular World's Fair in New York, California proves to have much more than held its own.

• GUEST EDITORIAL

Ed's. Note: The following letter, written by Baxter S. Scruggs, executive secretary of the 28th Street Branch Y. M. C. A., was published in the Nov. 24 issue of the Los Angeles Evening Herald-Express and is reprinted here.

We have read with profound interest your editorial of November 15, appearing under the c a p t i o n of impoverishment: "GUARD NEEDS AID—State Neglects Her Reserve Soldiers". The validness of your opinion thus expressed should gain fervent support and requires no further advocacy from us at this time.

However, your editorial has produced a two-fold effect upon me. First, a new awareness of the urgency of our Guard's indigent plight, and secondly, an inspired ambition to rewrite the editorial in the name of democracy while standing dwarf-like in your journalistic shoes. In lieu of the title, "GUARD NEEDS AID" etc., we woul paraphrase to read, "Guard Needs Democracy—State Neglects Her Negro Citizen-Soldiers."

As a minority citizen group, the Negro finds himself in a fetish dilemma for the active participation in California's National Defense program. For more than fifteen years, arduous efforts have been expended to persuade the State and Federal governments that a well-balanced democratic army should include all citizen-groups. These efforts have made very intangible gains, although they have run the gamut from California to Washington, in every administration for more than a decade and a half.

Every battlefield from the American Revolution to Flanders Fields has been drenched with the patriotic blood of these citizens so unjustly sentenced at the bar of National Defense. Their heroic efforts alone should command an equal opportunity to acquire in times of peace adequate military skills to be employed in times of war. But California's National Guard declines to offer equality of opportunity either through an integrated enlistment or by means of a unit composed of these minority group citizens. On such a basis wartime sacrifice without peacetime training is something other than patriotism. It is either idiotic nonsense or sacrificial crucifixion to atone for the ways of one's oppressors in the game of democracy.

It is to be hoped that the state senators will not alone inquire into airport needs but also the question of full citizenship participation in the military forces. Until this is accomplished, every minority group, and liberty-loving citizen should vigorously oppose any increased appropriation of state tax funds, designed to aid the National Guard from which they are totally barred. A little internal exercise in genuine democracy may prove far more valuable than shooting-up the taxpayers' money sham-battling against an imaginary enemy.

The National Guard must have sufficient funds to provide the material of war, but in the final and crucial moment of conflict, equipment alone will not terminate victoriously a war for democracy. With popular government tottering on "the abysmal brink of destruction in a current world conflict, one is alarmed at the letharg with which California and America, approach their practices in democracy. Yes, the 'Guard Needs Aid," but most of all, the Guard Needs Democracy.

Very truly yours,
BAXTER S. SCRUGGS
Lieutenant, Field Artillery,
A. E. F.

• OTHER PAPERS SAY:

Maryland Morality

Marylands law against mixed marriages exacted a ten year suspended sentence from a Negro man and a white woman at Anhapolis last week. The Maryland law brands such marriages as "an infamous crime" although the laws of that state have never been fashioned to control the illicit relationship between white men and Negro women which for three centuries has littered the commonwealth with mulatto children.

Those who know the history of Maryland wonder, in the light of this recent decision, whether the land of Lord Baltimore is reaching to higher realms of morality or going backward. In the days of Lord Baltimore white men bred indentured white women to Negro men, without fear of mob violence or angered public sentiment. Three hundred years later on the Eastern shores of this great state it is an infamous crime for a white woman and a Negro man to enter into the holy bonds of matrimony.

Perhaps the startling declaration above should not be made without offering substantial evidence of the outrage white men perpetrated upon white women in the early colonial history of Maryland.

"Irish Nell", one of the white servants sent to Maryland by Lord Baltimore was sold by him to a planter who had come from England. Following the custom of other white masters who held white women as servants, the planter soon married "Irish Nell" to a Negro named Butler to produce slaves. Upon hearing this, Baltimore used his influence to have the law repealed which made children of such marriages the slave of the master of the sire.

There was much social confusion during those early days in Maryland. White women bound out to unrequited toil were quite naturally opposed to the slave system and the men who controlled that system. They gave expression of their violent reactions by openly marrying Negro slaves rather than free white men. In order to offset this tendency the Colonial Assembly passed an act prohibiting such marriages and fixing penalties. The preamble to this law states exactly what the situation was. It follows:

"And forasmuch as divers freeborn English women, forgetful of their free condition, and to the disgrace of our nation, do intermarry with Negro slaves, by which divers suits may arise, touching the issue of such women, and great damage doth befall the master of such Negroes, for the preservation whereof for deterring such free born women from such shameful matches,

"Be it enacted; That whatsoever free-born woman shall intermarry with any slave from and after the last day of the present assembly, shall serve the master of such slave during the life of her husband, and that all the issues of free-born women, so married, shall be slaves as their fathers were.

'And be it further enacted; That all issues of English, or free-born women, that have already married Negroes, shall serve the master of their parents, till they be thirty years of age, and no longer."

Calhoun in his "Social History of the American Family," page 94, will substantiate the assertion here made that "Planters" of early Colonial Maryland often married white women servants to Negro slaves in order to transport their offspring into bondmen.

One, however, should turn to the enacting clause of the Maryland Assembly, just referred to. It will be noted that the main issue with those who controlled the assembly was that "divers suits may arise touching the issue of such women, and that great damage doth befall the master of such Negroes."

Get that? No argument was made than that damage came to white women, injury befell the master, who was confused as to how to enslave the offsprings of such marriages. In other words, when it was economically profitable, it appears that our good white Marylanders did not give a hoot three centuries ago what happene dto white women.

In 1787 two children of "Irish Nell," Mary and William applied for their freedom, and it was granted. All of this information can be secured by anyone who studies carefully the early colonial history of Maryland, and our readers are requested to consult Harris and McHenry Report, I pp. 374; II pp. 26, 28, 233.

We would not reach back into the closet of white men to drag out these skeletons but for the unwillingness of many of the dominant group to recognize the fact that there is more morality and virtue in matrimony than in the filthy gutter of illicit relationships as has characterized the white man's attitude in this country, not only towards black women but to females of their own color and blood.

Laws today which prohibit the two races from marriage are not intended for the protection of white women. Such laws are intended to protect white men when they approach Negro women. Under the protecting wing of anti-marriage laws, white men may consort with Negro women without requirement to give these helpless women or these women's children their name.

"You Done Me Wrong"

The very first of a considerable number of surprising conditions that newspaper publishers and editors must reconcile themselves to, is that everybody else in the world knows more about how to do what the newspaper folk are doing than they do.

The profession stands alone in that it is the only business operated in which outside folk—who have never made a success in anything they ever attempted —can advise exactly as to what should be done and s a i d, and how it should be done and said.

And e d i t o r s and publishers never realize just how little they know until something—unfavorable—creeps into print concerning somebody who is laboring under the delusion that he is a person of importance. Then the distinguished p e r s o n a g e, with furious indignation, strides majestically into the office, and, with g r e a t lamentation, pulling of hair, and grinding of teeth, proceeds to cry out how badly he has been wronged, what a dastardly injustice he, and especially w h a t he represents (usually nothing), has b e e n done. The editor is told that the w h o l e thing wasn't worthy of print in the first place, that this and that paper doesn't do it, and ends up, invariably, with a dramatic exclamation of, "You have got a g r u d g e against me! You don't like me!"

Sadly, newspapers, we repeat that which we have said on past occasions, don't make the news —they only print it. If Brother Hotshot steals the lodge's money and loses it playing seven-up at Sister Happy's, it is indeed, an unfortunate state of affairs—but the newspaper folk had nothing to do with it. If Deacon So-and-So gets drunk, backs into a fireplug, knocks down three telephone poles, runs over a traffic officer, and smashes into a plate blass window, it is to be remembered that the newspaper f o l k sold him neither the liquor nor the gasoline.

It might also be remembered that newspapers, in their various constituent parts, and entireties, are very, very busy institutions —much too busy to have time to carry grudges against unimportant persons, and "not like" petty figures, particularly to the extent that this antipathy is reflected in the columns of the paper itself. Such persons flatter themselves, indeed, to think that an institution such as a reputable newspaper, fully cognizant of its responsibility to the thousands of readers it s e r v e s, and well aware of its power to mould and direct public opinion, would expend its valuable energies feuding with nonetities.

But newspapers do print the news.

And newspapers are going to continue to print the news.

The Barnyard Convention

By SHAD FROST

The Barnyard held a convention
In 1939
The first they have ever held
Since the beginning of our time.
The fowls all gathered behind the barn
A mighty feathered flock,
They came from all the neighboring farms
The finest feathered stock.
First came the Turkey, big and proud,
His brain was in a whirl,
Then came the Drake, short and fat
His tail turned in a curl.
Then Mamma Duck, she waddled in
As dense as dense could be ,
Then came the Guinea, wild and wise
To see what she could see.
The Goose came slowly trucking in
The Gander by her side
The Rooster and the Hen came next
The Fryer tried to hide.
The Rooster was the speaker
He climbed upon the fence
He looked the congregation over,
They all were in suspense.
Ladies and Gentlemen The Rooster cried,

I've called you here today,
To help me solve a problem
Te help me find a way.
We have a wonderful president
Our Congress is o'kay,
But where do they get the authority
To change Thanksgiving Day?
We have stood for all the New Deal,
W. P. A. and Relief
But this is unconstitutional,
And against our own belief.
Last Wednesday we were settled down
To live until Thursday week,
When farmer Brown came in the yard
I chanced to hear him speak.
"We will kill off all our Turkeys,
And kill them right away,
Our Ducks and Geese must also go
For tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day."
I gave you all the warning
You flew off to the woods
The farmer came out with his axe

But he couldn't find the goods.
Xmas may come in January
New Years day in May
The Fourth of July in April
Unless we find a way.
So don't forget November
When election comes to town,
And each one do his little bit
To turn our world back around.

Pasadena, California

Dear Editor:

The narrow, bigoted, prejudiced papers here are promoting propaganda among the masses, fighting a people, American citizens, simply because a few tried through the proper medium, the courts, to get certain inalienable rights.

If the proper leadership in this city would act rather than have mass m e e t i n g s, making fine speeches, there could be things done that would hurt these bigoted "Nordics" more than all the preaching and p l e a d i n g that could reach their ears. MONEY.

From what I learn, there are approximately 4000 colored people here. Many are home owners.

Why not quietly divert their buying to Los Angeles, over 12 miles away, such as clothing—even food stuffs. It could be done very easily, the number of autos owned by this people could do trading for those close by who are not fortunate enough to possess an auto.

Four-thousand suits, pairs of shoes, dresses, hats etc., would be felt very soon by t h o s e "Nordics," the Chamber of Commerce.

Some Negroes would call this "regimentation," but t h e y are certainly being regimented by restrictions of property, theaters, restaurants, etc., here.

Let t h e s e people do a little regimenting themselves and results will come very speedily.

But have you the colored leadership to quietly promote such an idea?

Your NAACP, your churches, lodges, clubs c o u l d carry this idea out. It would soon get results.

I am fully aware that newspapers do not print anonymous letters in the personal columns, so I am not asking your paper to take the "risk." A spy among the enemy never makes himself known. So being among the enemy here, from persons reasons, I cannot make myself known at present, but later I shall be in the open.

I hope after reading this you may glean some idea that will help these people.

What your people really need are some leaders, men and women who understand organization, regardless of station of life. Let is be quiet, convincing to all. Then and there things worthwhile could be done. Think it over.

TRIBUTE TO WOMEN

Dear Editor:

For many months I was confined to the Veterans' hospital in West Los Angeles, suffering from a nervous ailment that had been growing on me for years. I truly believe that if the condition had not been found and had I not been cured, it would have resulted in a serious mental derangement.

But our government, at times, is kind to veterans, and its surgeons are able—so once again I am permitted to enjoy the pleasures of the out-of-doors.

While out there I noticed the loyalty that our women showed the colored veterans. Really it was remarkable. So much so that it started me to thinking back, and recalling the numerous wonderful things our women have done. And when Marion Anderson was chosen to sing for England's king and queen. . . I got the inspiration to pen the oration, (or what I intend to be an oration) which I am now sending to you.

Perhaps it is somewhat fantastic, but when we take into account the virtues of our women, and also the high regard and respect I have always held for them, a little imagination expressed in a wish, can do no harm. And too, I wrote it while convalescing in a wheel chair (smile). But what's most important—I am sincere.

I would to God that every Negro woman in America could have a copy of this TRIBUTE presented to her in the same spirit and in the same conscientiousness with which it was written.

I am pleased to remain sincerely yours,
VERNON W. REYNOLDS, A. M.

Dear Editor:

I listen to your program on Wednesday night, November 15, and I thought it was very interesting. There were many things mentioned on the program, which I didn't know before.

It will help me in my study of the geography of Africa. It will be a pleasure as well as a help to me, to listen to programs of this kind as often as possible.

Yours truly,

ON THE AIR

Dear Editor:

Mr. John Kinloch is certainly to be congratulated on his efforts to acquaint the people of Los Angeles and vicinity with the progression of the younger Negro in a few weeks. You are also giving the students a chance, a real chance, to show others what they can do. Unwaveringly, I can say, that the last program entitled "The Policy of the Company" was a big hit with me and many of my friends. My only regret is that I wish the program could be lengthened to thirty minutes, instead of 15. Hoping you will continue to keep up your good work, I remain

by c. a. b.

THIS IS THE United States of America, and by the statement of most authorities a democratic nation. Moreover, this is the State of California known as one of the most enlightened spots in America. Our schools teach the tenets of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Our politics rise to verbal heights in describing our freedom. This is a democracy.

At one of our universities, military training in R. O. T. C. units is compulsory during the first two years attendance. This compulsion extends to all students, regardless or race, color or creed.

A young man who has always been interested in military science, who studied it while still in high school, has recently been turned down in his application for work on the military Advanced Course at the University.

Boys with whom the young man has worked during high school and preliminary university training have been accepted and rated highly. His marks always have been good, his conduct exemplary, his qualifications even above the average. But this young man has been refused—and more than once—by the "Advanced Course Board". No explanation has been given him, no hint of any specific deficiency which he might remedy.

This young man is an American, born in these United States. His father before him was an American, and his granddad, too. His entire belief is American. He wanted to become a part of the armed forces of the nation to defend America and its democracy But he was refused. You see, he is a Negro.

None of these things were told our military aspirant, but we know them to be true. He was refused admittance to the "Advanced Course" solely because of racial considerations. The Board feels that it is dangerous to permit this lad to attend the army camp. In the case of Oriental applicants, the Board in its great wisdom has sent them to far-off Hawai for camp life. But so much trouble is not taken with the Negro; he is simply refused.

As I tell this true story it may not sound very entertaining to you or even very interesting. There is no way that I can really bring home to you the stark horror of what is happening to this young man. Youth is the springtime of ideals, the brief moment when we form the philosophy—the code of beliefs—by which we shall live. Certainly, there is no higher aspiration than service to the nation—the complete, life-demanding service of a military career. When youth makes such an offer, it brings to us a bright, shining idealism that is a challenge in itself. But when this great offer is harshly cast aside, denied without explanation, it is tragedy that goes deeper than the shock and disillusionment of one person and reveals to us the unwanted fact that we are not a democracy and differ from the other nazi nations only in degree.

Is this statement extreme? Perhaps. But isn't point-blank refusal to allow a young man to follow his chosen career equally so?

Let us once more consider the attitude of the Board of the Advanced military Course who rule upon admissions. It is understood that our young man was refused because members feared that difficulties might grow out of his free intermingling with other students at camp. Very pat, very smug, and very convenient, this contention; but, unfortunately, subject to many doubts.

In my humble opinion, the Board members, instead of fearing difficulty, fear that there will be no difficulty if our hero is admitted. I do a good deal of my work with young people, black and white. I find among them a surprising tolerance, a growing sentiment that racial differences are best ignored. In defense of present day youth, I doubt very seriously that there would be any real trouble were this young Negro permitted to

Committees Wait Upon Johnson

California Senator Suggests 3 Groups 'Watch the Record'

Los Angeles civic leaders yesterday commenced their portion of the concerted drive, in progress all over the country, to pass the Gavagan-Fish anti-lynching bill by Congress and onto the Nation's statute books as a Federal law.

Firing the first gun, locally, in what leaders say will be a "fight to the finish", three different committees yesterday and Tuesday served notice on Senator Hiram Johnson that favorable action from hir is expected when the bill becomes Congressional business in January.

In his suite in the Biltmore Hotel, Senator Johnson, noncommittal to date, was waited upon Tuesday morning by one committee, later that afternoon by another and early yesterday by still another.

Queried frankly by all three committees as to his attitude on a Federal law against lynching, Senator Johnson remained noncommittal, suggesting to each battalion of questioners that they "watch the record" for what he will do. By "the record", it was presumed the Senator meant Congressional proceedings on the bill.

QUERIED ON CLOTURE

Anticipating a repeat performance of the filibuster which last year rode the anti-lynching measure out of the Senate after it had successfully passed the House, committee members asked Senator Johnson how he would vote on cloture, rule limiting debate. He voted last year against the "gag rule" which would have brought the measure to vote and proabable victory.

Thomas L. Griffith, Jr., president of the local branch NAACP and member of Committee No. 2, reported that the Senator "indicated he could assist in the cloture vote, but would not say whether he would, or not". A Republican, Senator Johnson is credited with 'considerable influence among the conservative members of his party in the Senate.

Democratic Senator Sheridan Downey loomed as the next legislative figure to be approached by California proponents of the anti-lynching bill. Senator Downey, elected last year to succeed Wm. Gibbs McAdoo, is understood to be in favor of anti-lynch legislation, but has not yet had an opportunity to vote on it.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS

Members of Committee No. 1 which verbally bombarded Senator Johnson, included William Nickerson, Jr., president of the Golden State Insurance company; Norman O. Houston, official of the same institution; Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, EAGLE edi-

Mrs. Rose Fowler, Pioneer, Dead in Oakland

Mrs. Rose Fowler, pioneer Californian, died last Thursday in Oakland after a long illness, it was learned here this week. Her son, John W. Fowler, well known ciivc leader of Los Angeles, left the city last week for the funeral rites. Fowler had left his mother's bedside a few days previous to her death. Funeral servcies were held Monday.

Mrs. Fowler was the widow of the late Rev. Jasper Fowler, founder of the Friendship Baptist church of Pasadena.

Protest Graves As Possible War Secretary

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Expressing concern over reports that President Roosevelt might appoint Alabama's former Governor Bibb Graves to a cabinet post, possibly as Secretary of War or Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People urged the Chief Executive to abandon any plan for the appointment of Graves to any federal post.

In a letter to the President, the Association gave three reasons for opposing any consideration of Graves: his attitude toward Negroes would be calculated to increase discrimination against this group of citizens in the country's armed forces and in agriculture; his complete repudiation of "unequivocal promises" to free the remaining Scottsboro Boys, while he was Governor of Alabama; and the "undenied charge" that the former governor "was a member of the Ku Klux Klan."

Laborer Dies from Heart Attack

Apparently the victim of a heart attack, Fuller Slaughter, 40-year old laborer, 1207 East 28th street, died early Monday afternoon after he had been treated by his wife, Mrs. Christina Slaughter.

Mrs. Slaughter told Newton Street officers C. E. Crites and E. Atkins ,that her husband had complained of not feeling well and she had given him a dose of medicine. Still complaining of pain, Slaughter went into the bathroom, she stated, and fell to the floor.

Examined by Newton street ambulance attendants, Slaughter was pronounced dead and removed to the county morgue.

WOULD COMMEMORATE FAMOUS CONTRALTO'S EASTER CONCERT

Mrs. Roosevelt Says She's Sure Edward Bruce Idea Will Meet With Response

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.—Expressing approval of the drive to raise a Fund for a Mural commemorating Marian Anderson's Easter Sunday concert, Mrs. Roosevelt recently asserted in her column, My Day, that "This seems to me a fine occasion to commemorate and I'm sure his (Edward Bruce's) idea will meet with an enthusiastic response."

Organized by Edward Bruce, Chief of the Section of Fine Arts, Procurement Division of the Treasury Department, the Marian Anderson Mural Fund Committee is appealing to the youth of the country for contributions of pennies, nickels and dimes with which to defray the expense of executing and installing in the Interior Department a Mural depicting Miss Anderson's triumph here.

SEND CONTRIBUTIONS

Adults as well as school children and other young people are invited to send contributions either individually or through their organizations to the Committee's Treasurer, Jesse H. Mitchell, president, Industrial Bank of Washington, D. C.

Under the caption, "A Mural Painting of an 'Unforgettable Scene," Mrs. Roosevelt wrote in her column:

"A letter from Mr. Edward Bruce, Chief of the Section of Fine Arts in the Treasury Department, tells me of a project which he is starting. He was so impressed by the singing of 'America' by Marian Anderron in front of the Lincoln Memorial on Easter Sunday that he felt 'The solemnity, grandeur and challenge of that moment' should be captured for posterity.

"He is raising a fund to which he is asking every youngster who can afford it, as well as their elders, to contribute pennies, nickels and dimes in order to have a mural painted of what he considered 'An Unforgettable Scene.' This seems to me a fine occasion to commemorate and I am sure his idea will meet with an enthusiastic response."

NAACP to Present Book Fair at Meet Sunday at Church

A unique array of Christmas ideas and suggestions will be presented at the regular meeting of the local branch of the NAACP, Sunday, Dec. 10, at 3:30 o'clock, at Hamilton Methodist church, 18th and Naomi streets.

A highlight of the meeting will be a miniature Book Fair arranged and presented by Miss Miriam Matthews, Miss Dorothy Bibb Graves to a cabinet post, C. Guinn and Mrs Hazel G. Whittaker. Dorothy Guinn, executive secretary of the 12th Street YWCA, will be the speaker for the Miniature Book Fair. The Fair will include a collection of rare and fine books written by Negro authors. Miss Guinn, who has had some of her writings published, will give brief suggestions on the fine points of the books included in the Fair. Miss Guinn, who is well known as an interesting and informative speaker, will aim to encourage those present to include books by Negro authors in their Christmas gifts. Miss Matthews and Mrs. Whitaker will arrange and direct the exhibit section of the Miniature Book Fair.

NAACP Christmas Seals will be available at this meeting, Dr. H. Claude Hudson, former president of the local branch, will tell the purpose of the NAACP Christmas Seals sale. Mrs. Elisabeth St. Charles Edwards, general chairman of the NAACP Christmas Seals sale, and a group of NAACP workers will supply members and friends of the Association with seals.

Walter Gordon, local real estate executive, will discuss the importance of the sale of the Crisis magazine, official organ of the NAACP. Mr. Gordon has done pioneer work as a representative of the Crisis and is well prepared to inform the public of the merits of the magazine. Officials of the Association suggest that a subscription to the Crisis would be a fine Christmas gift.

The New Negro Community Theater, founded by Langston Hughes, will receive worthy commendation. Dorothy Vena Johnson, city school teacher, will give a brief informal talk on the objectives and play offerings of the New Negro Theatre.

The four speakers, Miss Guinn, Mrs. Johnson, Mr. Gordon and Dr. Hudson, for the afternoon will aim to interest Association members and friends in the above mentioned items.

John Kinloch, newscaster of the Negro Newspaper of the Air, will give the current news items. These news items will be taken from the activities of the NAACP and released from the National office in New York.

The choir of the Trinity Baptist church, of which Rev. L. Caston is pastor and Mrs. Margaret Hoard, director, will sing a special anthem. Vivian Fudge and Edgar R. Brown and a representative of the John Gray School of Music will render special music for the occasion. The public is cordially invited to be present.

Bethel AME 2nd Oldest Church in San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 7—The people of San Diego were invited to join Rev. Louis H. Owens and his congregation in a celebration of the opening of the New Bethel AME church at 31st and K streets Sunday afternoon.

Historically, Bethel AME is the second oldest Negro church in San Diego. The new edifice is a step forward in church building at this naval base, which at one time threatened to steal the spotlight from Florida's Miami. In design and arrangement, it is an institutional type church. It was built at a cost of nine thousand dollars, and pastor Owens announced last Sunday that only two thousand of this is unpaid. The Methodists of Southern California are doffing their caps to the pastor of the New Bethel in praise of his foresight and enterprise.

Eli Brown and Al Morgan First to Serve

Marks First Time in History of State Negroes on Jury

Shattering legal precedent in the State of California, two Negroes have been drawn and qualified to serve on the new, special Grand Jury, it was revealed this week.

Eli Brown, 2126 W. 31st St., and Al Morgan, 1125 E. 21st St., are the two colored citizens who share the honor of being first of their group to serve on a California Grand Jury.

Brown was employed by the E. A. Pierce Stocks and Bonds company for several years and is prominent in religious activities.

The special Grand Jury has been called to sift charges brought by Ass't Attorney Generals from Washington who have been investigating anti-trust law violations by Southern California contractors and builders. The Grand Jury session promises to be one of the most important in state history, and grapevine reports indicate that "hot" evidence will be presented the Jurors.

Twenty-three citizens comprise the special Grand Jury. Harry Beal, Ass't Librarian at the Federal Building, explained the method of selection to EAGLE reporters. Drawings were made from a box containing two thousand eligible names Tuesday. Out of the two thousand an estimated sixty-five were Negroes. Surprisingly, however, three colored persons were drawn in the first pack of two hundred. Two of these, Brown and Morgan, survived the tests for qualifications and will sreve.

The presence of the Negro jurors was accredited to U. S. District Court Judge Paul J. McCormack's recent order to include more colored citizens in the "grab bag" through which Grand Jurors are selected.

Judge McCormack's order was the result of claims by Negro leaders that colored citizens had been purposely slighted in Grand Jury drawings. In some instances, Negro prisoners have based their pleas here on the argument that "equal protection under the law" has not been accorded them because of the lack of black members on California Grand Juries.

The development was looked upon here as a significant stride in racial progress.

Grand Juror Brown stated yesterday afternoon "Well, I couldn't be more pleased with it."

Court Reverses Murder Conviction

COLUMBIA, S. C. Dec. 7.—Press Bibbs, one of the 7 defendants in South Carolina's "Scottsboro Case" won a new trial before the State supreme court here last Thursday.

Last January Bibbs and six companions, all Negroes, were indicted by a grand jury and charged with murder of Lewis Leslie, white farmer and storekeeper, of McCormick, South Carolina, on Oct. 12, 1938. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People accepted the offer of Joseph Murray, well known white attorney, of McCormick, to defend the men.

Despite the intimidation of defense witnesses, the case was appealed to the State Supreme Court, after an all-white jury sustained a first degree murder charge against Bibbs last February. Conviction of first degee murder in South Carolina carries with it an automatic death penalty in the electric chair.

John Baker and Arthur Patterson are two other defendants whose cases are on their way to the State Supreme Court. Four other men charged with complicity in the crime have not had their cases tried yet.

Death of Prominent Medic, Chas. S. Diggs, Shocks City

Death of Dr. Charles S. Diggs, prominent physician and first Negro to found a hospital in California, shocked Los Angeles this week. Succumbing to a long illness, Dr. Diggs died early yesterday morning at his home, 736 E. 18th street.

Sixty years of age, the physician had been ailing more than a year. He had been confined to his bed more than a month.

With Dr. R. S. Whitaker, Dr. Diggs founded more than 15 years ago the Dunbar hospital in Los Angeles. One of the few hospitals in the U. S., privately owned by Negroes, the Dunbar closed its doors several months ago. It was rumored that Dr. Diggs' failing health was a large factor in the institution's failure to remain open.

A native of Mississippi, Diggs came to California years ago. He had been edu ted at Lincoln university, Pennsylvania where he pla end on the football team; Mel ry Medical school and the U versity of Chicago.

Mrs. Lily Diggs, wife of late physician, died in 1937. couple had been married years. Their two children, Gwendolyn Diggs Russell, of Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister; and Dr. Charles Di Chicago physician, survive.

Funeral services will be h Monday at 11 a. m. from Inc pendent Church of Christ, tored by the late medico's in-law. Smith-Williams M tuary is in charge of arran ments.

'Colored' Rated Above Natives in Africa

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA, Dec. 7. (C)—Certain religious denominations in this area make a distinction between Colored and native in keeping with certain customs recognized by the Government, according to recent published accounts of segregation in this area. "Colored" is designated as those of mixed European and native blood and other racial intermixtures. The natives are known as the Bantu. There are two other distinct groups. the Dutch and the English. 90 per cent of the Colored population live in Cape Province and is allowed to own property, vote in the elections and enter the University of Cape Town.

"While the Colored teacher or government worker does not get as high pay as the white man, he receives less than the Bantu," said the report, published by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Society and the state alike are embroiled in the hopeless tangle of a wrecked morale. The people of this country are the unfortunate victims these last few years of a system which has spiraled downward economically with apparently no prospect of a change.

Our Governmental officials, elected and appointed, are running hither and thither seeking subterfuge programs to sugar-coat the bitter pill of more debt-spending.

We cannot pay our lebts as formerly. Inflation, industrial booms, and expedients of that kind threaten day by day to drag our country to the lowest financial levels. No longer do the people breathe the free air of confidence. Only a sound financial system and less reckless spending can restore that confidence so badly needed to get our economic machine going again so that all may find jobs at decent wages.

With these menacing shadows hanging over them, 1940 seems a long way off. Undoubtedly, present trends indicate a willing and eager desire on the part of American voters to get away from the confusions of this day and time. They are hoping that a new Federal administration will soon emancipate them, and thereby relieve the uneasiness which at present fetters and discourages them, and restore that free play of energies and abilities which have made America great.

Colored voters, especially those in the Northern and Western states, where their votes are desired and counted, have a patriotic part to play in the struggle just ahead of us. They, along with other citizens of the Republic, will be called to answer the question—Is Democracy Safe in America?

This is the state of California, not Alabama. It is unlikely that young men who have shared equally with Negroes in their educational life and many outside pursuits would suddenly develop to such a degree of intolerance that they would not permit a Negroe's presence in their army camp. Even so, this is about the only phase of army life wherein the decision is left to the men, and superior officers bow to their ruling. Army officials assure us that, personally, they have no objections to non-segregated troops, but that they fear the attitude of the men.

This is a very old stunt and not a very convincing one. It was used in one case in New York. Paul Robeson, the world renowned Negro actor and singer, was scheduled to appear in a Eugene O'Neill play dealing with intermarriage about fifteen years ago on Broadway. Editorials feared a straightforward handling of such a subject by so honest and competent a playwrite as O'Neill. Obviously, they could not restrain O'Neill on general principles, so they used "the old army game". Daily, for three weeks prior to the opening night, this publication fumed, demanding that the police close this show before it opened, since, they said, it was plain to see that the play would only inspire a terrible series of race riots. The New York police pay no heed. Opening night came, New York's 400 turned en masse, the play was a shattering hit, and Robeson's performance was hailed throughout the nation.

I think the Advance Course Board at our universities would find that no more difficulty would accompany the admittance of the young Negro to an army camp than occured in New York fifteen years ago after the New York publication's race-baiting campaign. In the words of Abraham Lincoln "The colored population is the great available and yet unavailed force for saving the union. . . . and American democracy."

• LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

Did you know that the average Los Angeles resident pays 78 cents a year for library tax and borrows 3 and a half books. Although a dollar is the minimum per capita tax recommended by the American Library Association, the Los Angeles Public Library with its 78 cent tax ranks as follows among the libraries in cities of more than 900,000 in the United States: First in area served, second in per capita book circulation; second in percentage of population registered; third in books owned; third in books circulated; and fourth in registered borrowers. It maintains 48 branches and 67 stations to serve all parts of the city.

If you are not counted among the 385,186 card holders in Los Angeles who have taken advantage of the valuable services their public library has to offer, you may be interested in knowing that hundreds of people actually discovered their public libraries for the first time when they decided something had to be done about a job. They came to study for a civil service examination and then continued to use all the other departments of the library. Every neighborhood branch library posts on its bulletin board, announcements of all city, county and state civil service examinations and includes in its special civil service handbooks information on city mail carrier, post office clerk, railway mail clerk, probation officer, police officer, fireman, elevator conductor, customs inspector, custodian, librarian, matron, supervisor, cook, attendant, investigator, junior and Bishop Emmett M. Walsh of clerk, telephone operator and many others as well as complete courses in civil service which give practical lessons covered in first, second and third grade examinations with suggestions for study and sample questions.

The library also provides for the business man books on finance, manufacturing, patents, trades etc.; for the laboring man, books in his special occupational field; for the professional man, books of general interest in his speciality; for the housewife, books on home-making, cookery, care of children, and cultural interests; for the school child, books for school projects; for the whole family, reading for fun, for hobbies and sports.

Visit your neighborhood library today and find out for yourself how it can help you. The Vernon Branch Library is located at 4504 S. Central avenue and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch library at 2330 Naomi avenue.

A section of the Los Angeles Memorial coliseum should be set aside at fotoball games for the Junior and Senior High school students at a minimum rate consistent with the cost of operation.

This is the belief of Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough and he stressed this opinion in a resolution submitted to the Board of Supervisors this week, and the resolution was unanimously approved.

McDonough said that "during the annual fotoball season, there are always thousands of seats vacant in the Coliseum and many thousands of junior and senior high school students are denied admission because of the cost of such admissions.

No. 3 Blue Law Menaces Many Innocent Games

"Although the ordinance proposed by Proposition No. 3 at the Dec. 12 election is presumably aimed at pin-ball and marble machines, it is a trick law, which would go so far as to hit card games in the home and also ban charity bazaar raffles and other innocent amusements."

Burrel D. Neighbors, for 35-years a prominent local attorney, made this statement today in replying to a request of the Women's Better Government League for an opinion on the proposed law and its possible effect on other amusements besides pin-ball and marble games. The report was made public by Mrs. Martha W. Campbell, president of the league.

"All of this talk about No. 3 being designed solely to ban pin-ball and marble games is a smoke screen to conceal its real purpose," declared Neighbors. "A calm, impartial analysis of the measure reveals that it will prohibit all kinds of innocent amusements, even home card games, if chips are used. It would actually make it the duty of the police to enter every home, by force if necessary, and seize and destroy all articles of furniture used in connection with the playing of card games, and other like games now enjoyed by many families.

"Popular parlor games, such as backgammon, in which dice are required, would be subject to seizure and destruction, if the players even as much as played for one-cent among themselves."

Attorney Neighbors pointed out that Section one, Paragraph C, of th proposed law states that "any article used in violation of Municipal Code sections 43.00 to 43.16 inclusive, is declared to be a nuisance and must be seized and destroyed by the police.

"These Municipal code sections," Neighbors said, "make it unlawful to maintain any house, room or apartment, knowing such a game would be played there. This law would make it mandatory for the police to seize and destroy pool and billiard tables, bowling alleys and similar devices, if the players were found making side bets among themselves on the outcome of their scores."

Ceterans' raffles and other contests for raising money for charitable purposes will also be hit by the law, Neighbors explained.

The ordinance would even provide for the destruction of printing presses which printed tickets for a bazaar raffle, he said.

It is apparent that City Hall politicians supporting the measure are actuated by selfish motives. My constituting themselves the moral czars of the community, these politicians, he said, will be able to monopolize and dominate the whole Los Angeles Amusement world.

"Motion picture bank nights, contests of all kinds and newspapers publishing reports on sweetstake winnings will be blacked-out by this Blue-Law reign, unless the theater and business operators are able to 'fix' things with the right City-Hall big-wigs. In fact, the entire, law, with its sly, tricky provisions, will serve to create an underworld rule in Los Angeles, with all of its shady, evil ramifications."

Neighbors added:

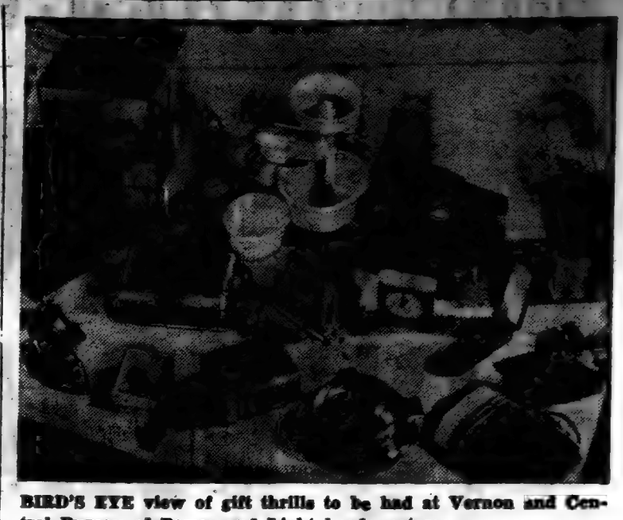
"The proponents of the measure contend that pin-ball and marble games are gambling devices, and therefore should be barred. This is the crux of their whole argument. Yet it is not true. There are numerous court decisions holding that these marble games are not gambling, but games of skill. And if these marble machines were gambling devices, they would be barred by existing laws, as there are numerous laws on the state and city statute books, prohibiting gambling."

He pointed out that the measure, as phrased, is vicious class legislation, in that it will deprive the poor man of the fun of playing a pin-ball machine in the corner store, but will permit the rich man to play one in his private club.

The contention of proponents of No. 3 that pin-ball and marble games constitute a police problem was ridiculed by Neighbors.

"They say that it is necessary to maintain a large police force to see that pin-ball players do not gamble," Neighbors said. "It is just as sensible to argue that the City of Los Angeles should have policemen following golfers around the golf courses to see that they do not gamble, and also have an army of snoopers watching all of the city's bridge, checker, chess and ping-pong players to prevent gambling. Most thoughtful citizens realize that it is impossible to legislate morality, and that public welfare would be better served if the police were devoting their energies to preventing and solving major crimes, instead of Blue-Law snooping."

Business men and labor representaties are urging a "NO" vote on Proposition No. 3 for still another reason. Its passage they point out will endanger the jobs of more than 30,000 wage-earners, and will deprive 3,000 reputable, neighborhood merchants of an honest source of income and force hundreds to close. They ask you to vote "NO" on No. 3.



Urban Women's Auxiliary Tea Big Success

The special get-acquainted tea, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Urban League at the 28th Street branch of the YMCA on Sunday, was one of the most colorful affairs to be given in the city. More than 150 persons crowded into the beautiful "Y" lobby to listen to an outstanding program and participate in a reception to and for the new members.

Miss Laura Slayton, chairman of the Women's Auxiliary, presented Miss Pauline Slater as mistress of ceremonies. Outstanding musical numbers were rendered by Miss Gloria Roberts, pianist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Roberts. Master Thomas A. Greene, son of Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Greene, gave violin selections, and there were several selections by Richard Harvey, nationally celebrated Jewish baritone. Frederick Roberts gave an address on "Know Your League," and Albert Baumann, president of the League, presented, first, Dr. George M. Day, Professor of Economics and Sociology at Occidental College, in whose department the speaker, Dr. Broadus M. Mitchell, is an instructor.

FORCEFUL MESSAGE

Dr. Mitchell was introduced by Baumann and gave one of the most forceful messages ever heard in this community. He outlined the struggles which he had made over the years to get his Alma Mater, Johns Hopkins university, in Baltimore, to admit Negroes into its classes. He called attention to a special file which he had built to present to the Board of Regents, including a letter from Kelly Miller, who was the first and only Negro student at Johns Hopkins more than 53 years ago. Dr. Mitchell called attention to the fine work done by the Baltimore Urban League, under the direction of Ed Lewis, and expressed very warmly and sincerely his own ambitions for America to develop a true democracy, giving the Negro his well-earned place. The audience applauded again and again in their expressive tribute to the fine character, attitude, and spirit of Dr. Broadus Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell also accompanied him and sat in the speakers' circle.

Fay Allen to Call School Policy Meet

First of Series of Conferences Set for Holidays

The first of a series of conferences to which Mrs. Fay E. Allen, member of the Los Angeles City Board of Education, will invite public-spirited citizens and community leaders, for the purpose of discussing many of the problems in the public schools of Los Angeles, will be called during the holidays, according to information given this week.

It is Mrs. Allen's belief that these conferences will be the occasions for "honest and sincere discussions of policies and practices in public schools which give rise to protests based upon misinformation."

"It has been surprising to find," Mrs. Allen said, "that racial discrimination cannot be charged against certain methods used by school authorities in establishing eligibility for students wishing to take advanced or special training. The merits of these methods which are the basis of school policy should be understood and discussed by parents and citizens as well as by educators."

What has been accomplished during the first six months of Mrs. Allen's term in public office will be related to each conference group in order that the community might know firsthand what is being done that is conducive to the best interest of her constituents.

Among the members of the Women's Auxiliary who served as hostesses for the affair were Miss Lois Towns and Mrs. Jessie Elmore at the tea table, Mrs. Bessie B. Burke, Mrs. Corona Baumann, Miss Theresa Dixon, Mrs. Louise Robinson, Mrs. Maude Broady, Mrs. Cora E. Rollins, Mrs. Alma Covington, Mrs. Portia Griffith, Miss Birdie Lee Bright, Mrs. Naomi Hooker, Miss Luella Green and Miss Laura Slayton, chairman. Miss Esther Brown, member of the Auxiliary was responsible for the beautiful cakes baked for the occasion.

"avenue" will celebrate 'big game'

With the "big game" between the USC Trojans and the UCLA Bruins, set for Saturday, Central Avenue is busying istelf for one of its biggest celebrations. Come what may, the celebration following the game, is slated to be tops in hilarity.

Rivalry between the two schools is keen. Both have their loyal alumnus and followers. The outcome of the game is watched keenly, because to the winner goes the added honor of representing the West in the annual Rose Bowl game at New Year's.

Topping all other celebrations is the "Pigskin Parade" and dance Saturday night at the Club Alabam. To this affair have been invited members of the opposing elevens. Spencer J. Brown, Jr, chairman of the committee, states the affair will be collegiate in every respect, even to pom, poms and balloons in the colors or both schools.

Veteran Newsman Praises Golden State Mutual Service

Ira Smith, former member of the editorial staffs of the Topeka Plaindealer and the California Eagle, who has had thirty years of newspaper experience, praised the unsurpassed service of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company in a letter to the Company's president and claim supervisor last week.

During the last year, Mr. Smith has been confined to his home because of an accident in which he suffered severe injuries to one of his legs. Hospitalization, operation, and subsequent medical care were made possible by his policy in Golden State Mutual and he expressed his eagerness that others might know how he felt.

TEXT OF LETTER

The text of the letter received from Mr. Smith follows:

"Gentlemen:

I wish to state here briefly that it would take more words than I have at command to convey—and more time than you could spare to listen to—my deep appreciation and sincere gratitude to your great Company.

"I was struck down by an automobile one year ago last October, sustaining a very serious injury which has confined me to my bed ever since and almost cost me the loss of a leg. Four ambulance rides, care in two private hospitals, an operation by two surgeons: Dr. Frank R. Whiteman, and Dr. M. George Henry, bone specialist; numerous X-Rays, nursing care and countless other expenses that follow as a natural result of a grave injury—these were all made possible and only possible by reason of an accident policy that I was fortunate enough to carry with the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company. My family and I realize more and more each day the inestimable value of this policy.

"I want also to pay tribute to your Claim department, headed by that wizard, Mr. Hunigan. In my experience in the newspaper field I have had many years observing the workings of insurance companies as well as several years' actual dealing, and I can truthfully say that the Golden State service leads them all. They not only settle their claims according to the terms of the policy, but do so with astounding promptness.

I am watching with interest your rapid growth and development and I long to see the day when the banner of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company will be waving in every State of our Union."

The letter was signed by Mr. Smith who resides with his family at 742 E. 31st street, Los Angeles.

Mr. Smith's letter was described by the Company officials who expressed appreciation for it as one of the finest of the hundreds of unsolicited communications from policyholders ever received.

NYA Negro Students Win Honors

High Rating of Negro Told By Mary Bethune

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.—Students participating in the National Youth Administration's Student Aid Program not only keep pace with but also, in many instances, excel other students both scholastically and in extra-curricular activities, it was announced today by Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Director of Negro Affairs of the National Youth Administration. A survey of outstanding institutions revealed that many NYA students have won the highest scholastic honors, have been elected to or selected for important positions, and have received the most covted school or college awards.

"This survey," said Mrs. Bethune, "was conducted in order that we might learn to what extent students were rally taking advantage of the opportunities offered them through the National Youth Administration. The results of the survey are most gratifying and indicate definitely that the federal government's money has been well invested in these NYA students."

At Kentucky State college for Negroes, this NYA survey showed, Louise Comer, who as NYA worker was assistant librarian, graduated Magna Cum Laude in 1939. At Lincoln University in Missouri Ethel Rhodes graduated Summa Cum Laude, June 1939.

NYA student Sallye M. Bell, at Miles Memorial College, Birmingham, received her B. A. degree with honors.

At State A. & M. Institute in Alabama NYA student Lucindia Bullard made an "A" average for the second quarter, and NYA workers were members of the Varsity Debating Team for three years.

"This is merely a superficial survey of honors attained in some of our Negro schools by NYA workers", Mrs. Bethune said.

Class in Radio, Electricity at Jeff Hi May Be Permanent

Teachers and principals of both day and evening schools at Jefferson High school are proud of its strides.

Last Friday at ten a. m., the school auditorium was the setting for a very fine musical program.

Among stand-out numbers presented were "Come on Down South," "Crowning of the Queen," "Amapola-Mexican Folk Song," and "South of the Border," arranged by Samuel Brown.

Dances featured Adeline Gallegos and Lupe Ortega. The rendition of "Water Boy" was roundly applauded.

The program reached a fitting climax with Mr. Brown's nocturnal fantasy arrangement which was a serenade in song.

Jegerson Night school, under the leadership of Principal Edwin L. Martin, is stepping right up in the limelight. Subjects taught in the evening school include bookkeeping, shorthand, typing, arts and crafts, costume designing, cosmetology, business English, journalism, public speaking, short story writing, and a class in radio and electricity said to be the only one in the system in which Negroes may study radio. The class is under the supervision of Mr. Emile Milles, who has had training in both this country and France. There has been some talk of discontinuing this instruction, but the demand for it has grown so strong that educational observers believe the Board of Education will see that the class continues.

Some member of the EAGLE staff will visit either the evening or day department of Jefferson High school each week for news flashes.

Avenue District Keeps Pace With Modernized Service

Probably no section of Los Angeles can boast as many culinary experts as that generally referred to as the Central Avenue district. Certainly, none has in it a greater number of serious-minded students of home economics.

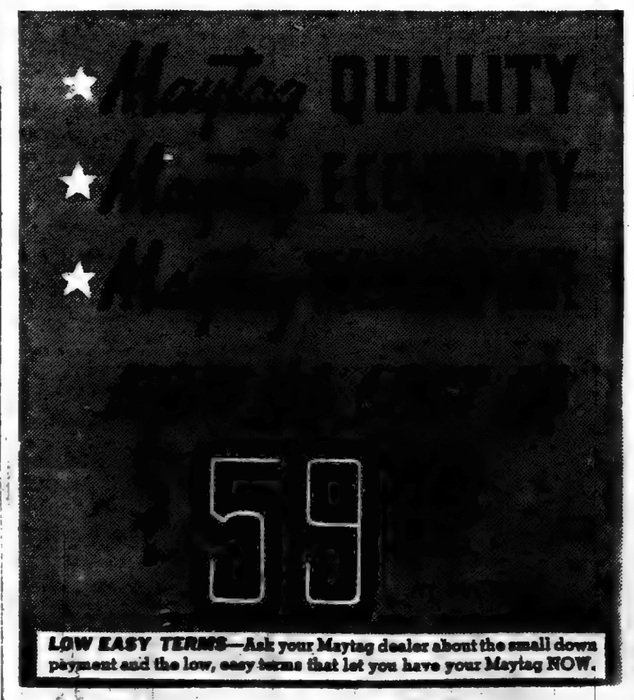
Mrs. Epsie Lee Hayman, home economist of the Bureau of Power and Light, points to the fact that the Central Avenue district supplies more well-trained women in home service than any other area of similar size on the Pacific Coast.

Among the agencies credited with playing a most important part in aiding those seeking home service employment is the Esther Brown cooking school, held at 2814 Paloma street, where thorough instruction is given homemakers and domestics in the use of electric home equipment.

HIGH PRAISE

After a recent visit to the school, where she presented a demonstration of electric cookery, Mrs. Hayman bestowed high praise on the work being done there and for those conducting classes. "There was in evidence," she said, "the keenest interest I have ever found in a group of the kind.

"Primarily, of course, the interest shown may be ascribed to the fact that the majority of those in attendance realize that the surest and shortest cut to the best positions to be had is an ability to make the best possible use of equipment found in homes where they obtain employment.



"The many things taught relating to the proper care and operation of electric home equipment makes classes like these highly valuable to those who earn their living in home service. No class can realize quite so much as do domestic help the time and labor-saving advantages provided by modern electrical home equipment, such as "matchless" electric ranges."

COVINGTON MEMBER OF YOUTH FACULTY

The Executive Director of the Urban League, Floyd Covington, will serve as faculty member of a State-wide Youth Conference, convening in Ontario, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. He will return to speak on the "Cause and Cure of Prejudices" Monday morning at the Huntington Park High school.

Nora Holt, Former Toast of Music Halls, Opens Salon

NORA HOLT . . . opens Westside beauty salon.

Nora Holt, who is mentioned in E. Simms Campbell's "Blues Are the Negroes' Lament," appearing in this month's issue of Esquire magazine, and has been the subject of many an author's sketchbook, announces the opening of a beauty salon at 1104 W. 35th street, near Vermont.

Not unlike the career of the glamorous Miss Holt, the salon is streamlined in every detail. Modish in line, with elegant appointments, the shop is designed for comfort and utility as well as for beauty and smartness.

FIRST NEGRO BUSINESS

The Nora Holt salon will mark the first entry of Negro business in the heart of the Vermont-West Jefferson district. Residents include Japanese, pioneer colored and white families. Forty per cent of the district's trade is said to be colored.

Miss Holt's enterprise is expected to receive wide support from all groups, since she has, for the last five years, contributed much of her extraordinary talents in music and teaching to the general cultural uplift of the community.

Prior to coming to California, she traveled all over the world and was the toast of Paris, London, New York and Shanghai music halls as the entrepreneur of sophisticated music by Cole Porter, Dwight Fisk and George Gershwin. She was married to George Holt of Chicago, and Joseph Ray, late secretary to Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate.

Charles S. Morris Weds Irene G. Freeman in Phoenix Ceremony; Professor and Bride to Live in L. A.

Los Angeles and Southern California social circles were aflutter with excitement today when news of the marriage of popular business woman and socialite Mrs. Irene Givens Freeman to Satchell Morris, II, of Tennessee State College, Nashville, was received through the proverbial grapevine.

Just three months ago the popular Tennessee educator and nationally known orator and clergyman reached the Pacific Coast to deliver addresses at a number of church anniversaries throughout the State. It was understood that he expected to remain a month then return South to resume his duties at the Tennessee institution. Into the picture came the charming Los Angeles socialite whom he had met originally on a previous trip to California 15 years ago. Polite rumor romantically linked Morris' name with Mrs. Freeman, member of one of Los Angeles' first families. The weeks slipped away and Morris did not return South; instead he filled even more numerous engagements throughout the Pacific Coast. It was generally understood that he had applied to President William J. Hale of the State College for a leave of absence.

On Sunday morning, Nov. 12, Dr. Morris addressed a 'farewell' gathering at the Independent church. It was learned that the following Tuesday, the couple quietly slipped out of Los Angeles for an unknown destination.

Although the former Mrs. Freeman is an Episcopalian and Dr. Morris a Baptist clergyman, they were married by the Rev. Dr. C. L. Upthegrove, veteran pastor of the Tanner Chapel A. M. E. Church, Pheonix, Arizona, the following morning. Dr. Upthegrove was pledged to the strictest secrecy. Only two witnesses in attendance were the clergyman and Mrs. Upthegrove. The morning following their marriage the new Mrs. Morris quietly returned to her home in Los Angeles while her husband embarked on a speaking tour which will keep him away for fully three months. The couple will make their permanent home in Los Angeles.

MEMBER OF PIONEER FAMILY

The bride on her paternal side is a descendant of the late Rev. Philip Givens who founded the Second Baptist church of Newton County in Missouri. Her father, the late Philip Givens, was a leading agriculturist and business man in Southwest Missouri. On her maternal side, Mrs. Morris is the daughter of Mrs. Cordelia Perry Givens who is also of a pioneer Missouri family. She is the sister of Mrs. Paul R. Williams, wife of the internationally known architect. Mrs. Morris was born in Missouri but was brought to California by her parents when quite young. She attended the public schools of the city and was later graduated from the Los Angeles Hi school as well as Woodbury's Business College and the Kurtz Business College. Later she attended the University of California at Los Angeles.

Mrs. Morris is a member of the Committee of Management of the local YWCA, the Business and Professional Women's Committee and adviser of the Business and Professional Girls Club of that institution and a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. She is also popular socially as a member of the Twelve-Thirty-Three Club and the January Club. She in a communicant of St. Phillips Episcopal church. Mrs. Morris is an efficient and progressive young business woman and is the manager of the Lincoln Memorial Park cemetery.

Dr. Morris is the son of the late Charles Satchell Morris Sr., former pastor of the Abyssinia Baptist church, New York city, who once was secretary to Frederick Douglass and who later married his granddaughter. Dr. Morris is also a grand nephew of the late Bishop Daniel A. Payne, founder of Wilberforce university. His venerable circuit-riding grandfather, the Rev. Dr. Charles Satchell founded the Tulane Avenue Baptist church in New Orleans, Louisiana, and the Third Baptist church in San Francisco. His grandmother who graduated from Oberlin in 1865 was the first colored teacher at Wilberforce.

The new benedict attended a fashionable preparatory school at Nyack-on-Hudson, New York, was awarded a Master of Arts degree from Columbia where he also completed the residence requirements for the Ph. D. Later he attended the Oberlin Graduate School of Theology. During the World War he was National Executive Secretary for French War Orphans.

Dr. Morris has been professor of English at Virginia State College, Petersburg; Tennessee A. and I State College, Nashville; dean of Virginia Seminary and College, Lynchburg; head of the Department of English at Bluefield (W. Va.) State Teachers College; educational adviser in the C. C. C. under the Federal Government and is now holding his second professorship at Tennessee State.

The orator is now engaged in an intensive swing through the deep South, delivering a series of more than 40 addresses. It is understood that he has accepted a commercial position with a firm in this city effective as of Feb. 15. He will be accompanied from New York by his mother, Mrs. Charles Satchell Morris, Sr., who will reside here.

The marriage was the second for both parties, the first Mrs. Morris having died more than six years ago at Roanoke, Virginia.

Course in Parliamentary Procedure, Logic Attractive

Announcement recently at Jefferson Evening High school of a new course—"Parliamentary Procedure and Logic"—is expected to attract widespread interest among educational authorities, according to Edwin L. Martin, school principal.

Classes will begin Friday at 6:30 p. m. Since three credits may be earned by satisfactory completion of the course, enrollment will therefore be limited.

Subject matter of the course, which it is believed will be of inestimable value to leaders in religious, civic and political groups, as well as to those aspiring to such leadership, will include the following:)a fundamentals of logic; b) fundamentals of argumentation; c) technique of debate; d) fundamentals of procedure in parlimentary transactions and disputes; parliamentary law; e) basic notions of democratic legislation; f) procedures of various legislative bodies throughout the world; g) consideration of the benefits derived from organized rational procedure and deliberation; h) significance and history of famous United States court decisions.

Jefferson Evening High school faculty spokesmen pointed out that logic (the science of valid thinking) has heretofore been available only to university and college students, and only rarely offered in adult education courses. But under the new course offered, the study of logic is coupled with class room practice in debate as well as topical surveys of various law-making methods, thus bringing greater opportunity for self improvement to adult students who have not received college training.

Half of Month for Shooting Pigeons

Pigeon season opened Dec. 1 in the State and closes Dec. 15, advises the outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Because pigeons are classed as migratory birds, the Federal regulation of no shooting between sunset and 7 a. m. is in force. A three-shell limit is placed on guns, with a daily possession limit of 10 birds and a weekly limit of 20.

Birds have been reported numerous in Monterey County, along the coast range of Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties, and on the ridges above Camp Nelson and Pine Flat in Tulare County. Thousands of pigeons have invided the territory west of King City and Salinas causing heavy crop damage in this area. The opening of the season will be welcomed by the farmers in this locality.

Jefferson High Prepares Xmas Baskets

Thomas Jefferson High school is preparing 50 Christmas baskets for needy families of the community. Each student is busily taking part in the extensive preparations. The advertising classes, under direction of Miss McDonald, are taking care of the promotion. Decorating of boxes is to be done by the cosmetology girls. Packing is assigned to the Who's Who honor scholarship society, under the direction of Miss Katherine C. Schmitt. The Knights' organization will deliver them.

Girl students are all sewing on doll clothes and stuffed animals in preparation for the doll show, held before the dolls are given away. The boys are repairing toys and making new ones. The Home Eco-Eds are having a bazaar on Dec. 12, to raise money. On Dec. 7, a tin can assembly at which the price of admission is a can of food, will provide canned foods for the boxes.

Next week, each day has a special meaning. On Monday, each student will bring one or more potatoes to school. On Tuesday, cereals will be given; and on Wednesday, nuts and sweets will be brought.

The Parent-Teachers' Association is furnishing from three to ten pound roasts, according to the size of the family, for the boxes. The Japanese club is providing milk. Clothing classes have made suitable articles which will be included.

On Thursday, Dec. 14, the school cafeteria will be decorated by the art classes and there will be a huge Christmas tree for the children of 7 years of younger of the adopted families. Santa Claus will present each child with toys and a bag of sweets and an apple. The apples are provided by the Cosmetology club. The Girls' League will entertain the children, who will be transported to and from the party by members of the faculty.

Jefferson has provided Christmas baskets since the school was built. However, only 20 families were cheered until last year, when the number was extended to 50.

Jeff Eve High Tells Story Behind News

The story behind the news is always more interesting than the printed story. To know the story behind the news is of the greatest importance in determining the difference between truth in the news and propaganda.

Among the topics discussed and studied at Jefferson Evening High School are "Indications of Facism in the United States, Why doesn't Britain drop bombs in Germany; What is the matter with Negro business in Los Angeles?; Does big business support Adult Education? If not, Why not?; What is the history of Negroes in the Army and Navy, and are there indications of future improvement in his status in these fields?"

New classes at Jefferson include, woodshop on Monday, Wednesday and Friday by Mr. Lewis, parlimentary law and logic, Negro history, public speaking, arts and crafts, typing, short story writing and journalism on Friday evening.

Legion Objects to Facts in Textbooks

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Dec. 7. (CNA) — Should school textbooks present the realities of American life?

This was the main issue of a hearing this week of charges brought by the American Legion post of Haworth against the textbooks of Dr. Harold Rugg, Professor of Education at Teachers College University. The hearing was held by the Parent-Teacher Association at Cleveland school here, with Dr. Rugg himself as chief of the defense of the books against charges that they are "un-American." George West of Haworth led the prosecution.

Chief example of "un-Americanism" offered by West was a quotation from a question book accompanying Dr. Rugg's text: "Is America the land of opportunity for all the people?" From a key West read Dr. Rugg's reply, "No, not for all the people," a statement he contended was un-American and the reverse of truth.

To which the Rev. James A. Mitchell, a supporter of Dr. Rugg, queried of West: "Were you ever in the South? Have you never seen the sharecroppers? If you have do you still contend this is the land of opportunity for all the people?"

'Matchless' Gifts Win Popularity for Christmas

Out of doors, as well as in, electricity will this year play a more important part at Christmas than ever before in Los Angeles, according to Burdett Moody, Business Agent of the City's municipally-owned electric system.

"There are many evidences even this early in the pre-holiday season," he declares, "that the 1939 record of electrical merchandise purchased will eclipse the totals for 1937, which was the largest in volume of sales ever experienced by the industry."

Many things contribute, Mr. Moody says, to his forecast of a better yule season electrically. "First," he points out, "there is the generally appreciated fact that electric gifts are 'matchless' in more ways than one.

"There are, of course, numerous items available and appropriae for each and every member of the family, and practically all such 'matchless' gifts embrace the merit of being useful, economical and efficient either as conveniences, labor-savers or in a recreational way.

"Each year sees new items of electrical merchandise added to the exsiting list, this year being no exception. Among recent arrivals is the electric blanket, a covering so fashioned that just the exact, desirable degree of warmth may be controlled thermostatically by setting a simple switch. Results which have proved so satisfactory in hospital use have prompted manufacturers to make them available for the home."

Attention is called by Bureau of Power and Light executives to the many electrical gift suggestions which may be obtained by visiting the "Matchless" Electric Home, 3956 Wilshire Boulevard, which is open to the public daily except Monday from 1:30 to 9:30 p. m., and on Sunday afternoons from 1:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

Happy Yule Season Made Sad By Most Traffic Deaths

If history repeats itself December again will be California's peak traffic accident month.

Paradoxical as it may seem, the Christmas season, imbued with the spirit of "Peace on Earth, Goodwill Toward Men," is the deadliest traffic accident periods, warns the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Last year 3700 motor vehicle accidents resulting in death and injury were reported during December, the highest number for any month. December consistently has been the high month of the year in California since 1930.

REASONS LISTED

Many reasons combine to make it so.

Pedestrian injuries and fatalities climb during December. This is largely because many persons on foot are loaded down with packages and more intent on balancing their load than upon their own safety.

Darkness during the peak evening traffic rush, and slipoery streets due to the advent of the rainy season are two other important causes for the seasonal increase.

Potentially the most dangerous of all causes is the habit of many motorists and pedestrians to give the matter of Christmas "cheer" a liquid interpretation. The drunk driver and pedestrian constitute a major problem for law enforcement officers during the holidays.

Local Building Contractor Dead

Said by his wife, Armentina Morris, to have suffered all night with pains in his chest, Henry A. Morris, 45-year old building contractor, succumbed early last Thursday morning at his home, 1158 E. 53rd street.

Unable to reach the family physician earlier the same morning, Mrs. Morris called the Newton Street ambulance. Upon its arrival the contractor was dead. His body was removed to the county morgue.

Long Beach Prize Won By Ben Bowie

Negro High School Boys Refused at Hotel; Plan Probe

LONG BEACH, (By Darthula V. Bouggess)—Long Beach was inspired and thrilled by the appearance of Ben Bowie Post No. 228, American Legion, and of Negro youth in other bands, marching in the parade of the city's third All-Western Band Review, last Friday night. The swank appearance of the drum and bugle corps in their blue and gold uniforms, preceded by the post members with rifles, the smart drum major and chic majorette, the lilting tones of the trumpets, the steady throb of the drums—gave a feeling of pride and joy akin to exaltation as Ben Bowie marched by.

And this cup or pride and joy was filled to the brim and overflowing when the Legion post was awarded first prize in its class. Long Beach was proud of the colored boys also playing in the various school bands, and especially of Zenas Butler, a member of the Long Beach Junior College band.

But a discordant note has been struck and Long Beach is aroused and indignant over a rumor that colored high school boys—members of out of town bands—were refused lodging at the Hilton Hotel with their white mates and had to accept improvised quarters in the Municipal Auditorium. The matter will be investigated promptly by the irate citizenry.

WITH THE CHURCHES

Grant Chapel A. M. E. Church

Last week the pastor, Rev. H. Hayter and Mrs. Hayter, his wife visited the Imperial Valley, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gillum of Calexico. The couple spent Thanksgiving Day in El Centro and were dinner guests of Mrs. R. W. Kirkpatrick. While in El Centro they attended union services held by all the Negro churches of that city at Johnson Chapel A. M. E. Church— a church built during the pastorate of Rev. Hayter there. On Monday, Nov. 20, they were in attendance at the first anniversary banquet of the Eastern Star in El Centro, and, on Wednesday visited the schools in that city.

Last Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, Rev. L. G. Robinson of Los Angeles, president of the Angelus Funeral Home, preached to a crowded house, a wonderful sermon from the Parable of the Sower. The County Custodian's Quartet sang to a highly appreciative audience. The program was sponsored by Mrs. M. Clay, and Grant Chapel is hopeful that Rev. Robinson and the quartet may be induced to return soon.

Dr. and Mrs. Calvert of San Diego were the guests of Rev. Hayter and wife Sunday afternoon.

Sunday night the regular monthly musical program was rendered by the choir. Wednesday afternoon men of the church captained by Mrs. Marie Clay, served a turkey and chicken dinner, and that evening Mrs. Clay presented Mrs. Bilbrew and her entertainer in an evening of song and dramatic recitations.

Second Baptist Church.

A guest minister, Rev. Chalmers Gaithers occupied the pulpit at Second Baptist Sunday morning. Members and friends of the church were made very proud Sunday evening over the general intelligence shown by its delegates, Letitia Estelle, Ruby Lane, Clark Estell, Justine Moore, J. D. Simon, Josephine Davis, Levi Howard and Mrs. Hazel McCowen—to the Sunday School and BYPU Congress in Riverside. Much gratification was expressed over the powers of observation displayed and the ability shown by the young people to record mentally and report verbally in the activities of which they were witnesses and participants. Second Baptist feels pleased and honored, also, over the selection of its pastor, Rev. Thurston Lomax, at the Congress Fellowship Banquet Friday evening. Friday morning Mrs. Lomax was the director of song service. Mrs. Malinda Cohen, also, was in attendance at the convention.

Nov. 19 Mrs. Henry Armstrong wife of the boxer and Mrs. Peter Jackson were present at Sunday services. Recently, the Rev. Lomax, Mrs. Lomax and Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Kirkpatrick were dinner guests at the Armstrongs' at their home in Los Angeles.

AN ANGEL STEALS THE SHOW

Unprecedented in screen history, two popular Hollywood screen stars, Linda Darnell and Tyrone Power, yield the center of the stage to a newcomer—the 1939 Christmas Seal. Explaining this unheard of phenomenon, Miss Darnell says that "no actor or actress would attempt to compete against an angel of such rare beauty as the one which the noted artist Rockwell Kent designed for this year's Christmas Seal." In Power's opinion, "everyone will surely be more than eager to use this attractive seal on all holiday letters and packages and make possible the important work which the tuberculosis associations in California do in guarding the health of us all."

400 ENROLLED IN S.S. AND B.Y.P.U. CONGRESS SESSIONS IN RIVERSIDE

Dr. Marshall A. Talley, Dean of National Baptist S. S., BYPU, is Guest Speaker

By W. A. PAYNE

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 7.—The Sunday School and BYPU Congress, directed by the Western Baptist State convention, enrolled more than 400 young people and adults at the Fifth Annual Session in the city of Riverside. The Congress was the guest of the Second Baptist church of that city, Rev. W. M. Thomas, pastor.

Sessions Friday and Saturday, Nov. 24 and 25, were held in the First Baptist church. Sunday's session was held in the auditorium of the University High school.

Guest speaker was Dr. Marshall A. Talley, Dean of the National Baptist Sunday school and BYPU Congress, and Secretary of the Departmer of Religious Education, National Baptist Convention, U. S. A. Dr. Talley delivered a series of inspirational addresses. He also directed a number of helpful workers' conferences and instituted a trial, a court scene in which Youth indicted the adults, charging neglect in their Christian Culture and Social Security. This proved interesting as well as mirth-provoking.

SECTIONAL CONFABS

Ten sectional conferences were conducted and taught by experts in the several fields. The courses were "Young People in Prayer Life," Miss Albertina Parrish; "Social Plans for Christian Young People", Rev. Frank James; "Young People Making a Home", Mrs. Blanche Carter; "Developing a Program for Personal Religious Living," Mrs. Madeline Carter White; "Being Christian with Other Racial and Cultural Groups," Dr. W. R. Carter; "Advantages to Young People in the Study of Personality", Prof. L. J. Stewart; "Opportunities for Social Work for Christian Young People", Rev. G. A. Miller; "World Wide Missionary Enterprises," Mrs. H. H. Chiles; "The United Adult Movement," Rev. G. W. Reed.

Entertaining feature was the Fellowship Banquet. Yells, songs and stunts given by the several groups afforded much hilarity and entertainment. Saturday afternoon through the efforts of the local comittee the delegates and visitors were given an opportunity to visit the U. S. Government's Aviation field; the Indian School; and the Mission Inn.

Young people were given a greater opportunity for self expression and contribution to the program. Friday evening the Rev. Thurston Lomax of Long Beach, Jesse Dumas of Pasadena, Joel Johnson of Santa Monica, and Manly Johnson of San Diego delivered addresses that were real contributions to the work of the Congress. Miss Benzelle Graham of Los Angeles delighted the Friday evening audience with whistling musical selections. The Young People's Choir of Trinity Baptist church added inspiration to the several sessions by their splendidly rendered numbers. Directed by Miss Virdes Shortridge, directress; and accompanied by Miss Ineze C. Smith, they ably proved the excellence of their training.

Many young people declared the Consecration sermon preached by Dr. W. D. Carter of Pasadena and the Consecration service that followed, one of the momentous events of the meeting.

The sunrise praise and communion services witnessed many young people in attendance. The Sunday School conducted in the school auditorium proved a mammoth one. Visitors from all over Southern California attended Sunday services. The Coronation sermon preached by Rev. Charles H. Hampton, State President was a fitting climax to a great meeting. He used as his theme, the Convention theme, "Loyalty to the Church." His plea to the Young People to make First things First in their lives met a hearty response.

Sunday Dr. E. W. Moore will fill the pulpit at Second Baptist church in the morning and in the evening Rev. J. W. Clay.

On the third Sunday the Vesper Choir will present its Third Annual Xmas musical. The All States Tea under the auspices of the "Boosters" Mrs. Vassie Reese, President, was a great success. Mrs. Elizabeth St. Charles Edwards was named Miss Second Baptist; Mme. Mozalle Te Outley, Miss Los Angeles and Mrs. Hawk, Mrs. Second Baptist Sister.

Last Sunday will linger long in the minds of those who attended any of the three services ot Wesley Methodist church. At the morning worship which was largely attended, Dr. E. W. Rakestraw inspired his great audience with a convincing message. Music lovers from all parts of the city filled the auditorium at 3:30 p. m. were thrilled by the offerings of several artists who presented a variety program. Ladies of the church and from other churches and organizations were the hostesses. Mrs. Rakestraw and the Parsonage Committee were the sponsors. The Monthly Union Service between Hamilton and Wesley was very inspirational. Hamilton Church furnished the service. Next Sunday at the morning worship Dr. Rakestraw will speak from the subject "The Unburied Dead". At the evening worship he will speak from the subject, "The Sufficiency of Grace".

The 2nd AME church, 1736 E. 53rd street, Rev. C. W. Smith, pastor, is on the upward trend. Interest manifested by most of the members is apparent. All auxiliaries of the church are engaged in their work for the year a ndthe church is proud of the young people who are actively serving in the church.

At Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, Vernon and Hooper avenues, Rev. E. E. Lightner, pastor, will fill the pulpit at 11:00 a. m. this Sunday. At 7:30 p. m., Pauline Keys, "The Wonder Girl," will present the program.

Two fine services were held the past Sunday. The pastor spoke at 11:00 a. m. on "Adventuring in Religion." The choir, directed by Mrs. C. D. Frederick, rendered very effectively "Send Out Thy Light." Little Thomas A. Greene, Jr., played a violin solo which added much to the services. At 7:30 p. m., a travelogue in moving pictures was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Warner of Claremont. You are cordially invited to worship with us at all times.

The annual week of prayer begins Dec. 9 at the Adventist church, 40th place and Wadsworth avenue and will attract hundreds to the night services at 8 p. m. in the church auditorium. The pastor, Elder P. G. Rogers, will conduct all services and a very special topic will be presented Sunday night. Sabbath (Saturday) services will be conducted as usual except that the 11 o'clock devotional hours will be given to the Prayer program. All are invited, hundreds of visitors attending week after week.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text is from the Psalms: "The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore."

Among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon are these words of Jesus from the Gospel according to John: "Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed. . . . Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Moses gave you not that bread from heaven; but my Father giveth you the true bread from heaven. For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy includes the statements: "In divine Science, man is sustained by God, the divine Principle of being. The earth, at God's command, brings forth food for man's use. Knowing this, Jesus once said, 'Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink,'—presuming not on the prerogative of his creator, but recognising God, the Father and Mother of all, as able to feed and clothe man as He doth the lilies."

On last Thursday night in the Social Hall of the church as had been planned, there was a real reunion of the 48 states of the Union. Friends and acquaintances came out to meet and chat of the good old times of yesteryear.

And they were all there; even from Cuba and Canada. Each state vied with the other for the most exact replica of its own state. In making a tour of the states it was the decision of the

VASSIE D. REESE

Judges G. A. Miller, Jessie Terry, Mable Gray, E. V. Leonard and S. B. W. May that Kentucky was choice as it reproduced everything common to the state from blue grass, fine horses to pretty women. Mme. Mozelle Te Outley, chairman of Kentucky won the title, Mrs. Los Angeles; Texas the Lone Star State with the covered wagon and oxen etc., had everything in keeping with the state. Mme. Madie Funchess, chairman of the Texas group won the title, Mrs. Santa Monica.

It was also found in the tour that Louisiana with its sugarcane and molasses was the wealthiest state represented. Mrs. Elizabeth St. Charles Edwards, Past State President of the California Federation of Colored Women's Clubs was the chairman of Louisiana; with her group they raised over $80.00 and Mrs. Edwards won the distinction of being Mrs. Second Baptist. Oklahoma with its oil wells and fertile farms was the next wealthiest state, with Mrs. Margaret Hawk as chairman, with her group raised over $60.

The Chairmen of all the States are to be congratulated for the work they accomplished in the short period of a little over a month. The total sum being over $750.00 with some states yet to continue their reports.

The stage in the social hall was transformed into the White House at Washington, D. C. The table was set with beautiful white carnations in the center and white candles. Mrs. Elmyra Spencer as First Lady was able assisted by her co-hostesses Hassie Reed, Viola Hubbard, Elizabeth Sneed, who were all gowned in white and served the guests in a most courteous manner. They were also assisted by Mrs. Nora Kendall and Messrs. Malmoreis Hibler and C. E. Harris.

The Program was presented from a stage in the center of the Hall with Mme. Outley in charge and Mrs. Luvenia H. Dones accompanist. Old Timers gave the history of their states in flattering expressions, throwing in some musical and literary talent that some of them possessed. The trains arrived at 6 P. M. as had been reported by the chairman of Publicity, Mr. Wm. Alvin Hall and the reunion continued without cessation until much after 10 P. M., when the call was given, "All aboard," and each with a degree of regret boarded the "Specials" for their respective abodes, looking forward to another annual reunion. Mrs. Vassie D. Reese, Conductor, on behalf of the Tours' Committee wishes to thank the tourists who packed the social hall for their good behavior, loyalty and cooperation which made the trip a tremendous success.

Work of Federated Colored Catholics Hailed By Bishops

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Appreciation of the work done by the Federated Colored Catholics of the United States to right the social wrongs of the colored people and to promote a wider knowledge and practice of Christian social justice, is expressed by the archbishops and bishops of the Administrative Board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference in a letter to Dr. Thomas W. Turner, of Hampton Institute, president of the Federation.

"Your activities foster the hope in us that you will be a great force, gathering strength with the years, to break down customs and practices which have placed on our colored brethren the ugly burden of crushing social injustices," the bishops write.

The letter is signed on behalf of the Administrative Board of Bishops by Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch of Milwauke and Bishop Emmet M. Walsh of Charleston, S. C.

The members of the hierarchy likewise express the hope that the "Christian family will emulate the charity of Pope Pius XII towards the members of the Negro race." They call attention to the fact that in his recent letter to the American Hierarchy, Pope Pius said: "We confess that we feel a special paternal affection, which is certainly inspired of Heaven, for the Negro people dwelling among you."

Recent figures reveal that there are aproximately 300,000 colored Catholics in the United States at present and that their number is increasing rapidly year by year. Although there are few Negro priests in the United States the number of colored young men who are making collegiate and seminary studies preparatory to the priesthood is likewise increasing. The 221 Negro Catholic churches in this country as well as the many missions conducted for Negroes are under the direction of 200 priests.

Sketch Subject: DANIEL L. JONES . . . Tile-Setter.

By LILLIAN JONES

An early marriage furnished the spark of ambition for Daniel L. Jones, which sent him quite unexpectedly into the trade which has become his principal occupation—tile setting.

Jones had been a private chauffeur for W. J. Northcross, head of a large tile contracting firm in his home town, Memphis, Tennessee. Stimulated by his desire to provide a more comfortable living for his wife than could be afforded on a chauffeur's wages, Jones requested from his employer the more lucrative job of truck-driver for the firm. It was necessary to wait for a few months until an opening in this line was available, and Northcross suggested that in the meantime Jones go down and help out at the tile shop.

After three days, the shop foreman informed Northcross that Jones was the "best green helper" the firm had ever had. Northcross suggested that Jones stay on and learn the trade. He did, and within a very short time his efficiency was rewarded by a raise from the "green" helper's wages of two dollars per day, to that of an experienced helper of four dollars per day. Moreover, during his apprenticeship, Jones was given an opportunity to learn not only all phases of the tile-setting trade, but of the tile contracting business—information which has been an invaluable asset to him in his own work.

MEETS JIM CROW

After a year and a half, Jones was ready to start out as a regular mechanic—but then he was confronted with an obstacle which would have halted the career of one less determined. The prejudiced refusal of the tile setters union to admit him to membership drastically curtailed his employment possibilities. Nevertheless, during the next two years, Jones taxed his ingenuity to the limit to secure enough work to provide himself with that practical background of experience he knew to be vitally important to his efficiency as a workman. At the end of that time, he felt himself qualified to start out on his own.

Since he couldn't work for others he would work for himself. He made his contacts with builders and owners, and secured enough work so that he had to hire others to help him. Very shortly Jones' crew was doing enough work so that the organized workers were quite willing to take him into the union.

With that hurdle behind him, Jones set out to build up a business—and he did. His reputation for reliability, efficiency, and excellent work enabled him to build during the several years that he remained in Memphis one of the most flourishing of the several tile-contracting businesses there.

Lack of work was never one of his difficulties. For, tile is widely used in building in the southern United States. Floors, front and back porches, sun parlors, kitchens, and bathrooms are often set with tile. Although initially expensive, the durability of the material makes its use much favored in those sections where houses are expected to last for generations.

Friends of Jones' who visited California returned with wonderful stories about the beauty of the country, the agreeable climate, and the fine possibilities for business and employment here. Like many another easterner and southerner, Jones curiosity was aroused—and he finally decided to come out and see for himself. He picked Los Angeles in preference to other California cities.

His first several months in Los Angeles were spent in "looking over the territory"—an important preliminary for anyone planning to start a business in unfamiliar territory.

When Jones finally started into business locally he found that the problem of convincing people of the value of tile in building was considerably more difficult than in the South. Here, tile is definitely considered a luxury, because of its expense, and one of the tile contractors' major problems is to convince the builder of its value and attractiveness. He had to become a selesman as well as a tile-setter. And, because he has for his work the real aesthetic feeling which is the mark of the true craftsman, it was not too difficult for him to convince California's builders of the beauty and practicability of tile.

SELLS TILE

His ability as a designer was a considerable help in "selling" tile. So, with the high degree of mechanical skill which this trade requires, Jones has an additional exceptional quality—a feeling for design. There are few problems either mechanical or artistic which he has not had to solve in his nineteen years as a tile-setter. Examples of his work from Beverly Hills to Central Avenue can testify that he has solved such problems effectively.

The development of modern architecture—most noticeable in the design of building fronts, has recently provided an extended new field for tile use. One especially attractive example of this type of work Jones has done is the remodeled front of Allum's Drug Store at Vernon and Central avenues. The beauty of tile has transformed this former eyesore into one of the most attractive business buildings on Central avenue.

An example of the more traditional use of tile is the Thriftown Market at Adams and Central—also done by Jones.

Judging from his own experiences, Jones can testify that tile-setting is one of the most lucrative of the building trades. He advises regular trade school training for the youngster of today, even though his own experience was secured in practical work. He points out, however, that trade school trained helpers are preferred by the contractors, and that apprentices with trade school background can get the starting wage of five dollars per day.

Since there are very few Negroes engaged in the trade locally, he would especially like to see more Negro young men secure training as tile-setters. Employment possibilities have always been good, and with the increased use of tile in modern architecture and the general upswing in building, the future should offer even better possibilities.

Pickets Against Death

By Julius Rosenthal, condensed from The Chicago Record Weekly.

Tallis Turks is dead.

He gasped his last, tortured breath on Aug. 2, on a bed in Cook County hospital. His lungs were three-fourths full of hardened silica dust; his chest burned agonizingly. He gasped for air—but there wasn't any room for air. Inside him, in his lungs, it was as if everything were clogged up by rock.

There wasn't anything the doctors could do. Turks was doomed—he had been doomed a long time ago by the Harbison-Walker Refractories in East Chicago, Ind.

Harbison-Walker, largest brick manufacturing firm in the world, could have done something about it a long time ago. But they didn't. So Tallis Turks choked to death at the age of 34. And many other men, also employes of the Harbison-Walker Co., have choked to death—all victims of the dread silica dust—all victims of the criminal negligence of the company, which has refused to install adequate health protection for the workers.

Today, the huge Harbison-Walker plant in East Chicago is shut down. It has been closed for almost a month—since Nov. 2—by the strike of all 500 workers, Negro and white, who are determined that they will not enter its gray and red brick walls until they are sure they are not entering a death-chamber.

At least 72 employes of the company have died from silicosis since 1927.

The firebrick death-house has been in East Chisago for more than 30 years. But the silicosis casualties before 1927 are difficult to trace, because in 1927, the East Chicago public records of these cases were all destroyed by fire.

The East Chicago Department of Health has death records of at least 29 of the silicosis victims. Only four of these were more than 50 years of age. Fourteen were under 35.

Tallis Turks, a Negro, is survived by his widow, Mrs. Minnie Turks, 32; an 11-year old son, Idorthus, and two daughters, Annie Pearl, 10, and Louise, 8.

"My husband was a handmolder at Harbison-Walker for 11 years," Mrs. Turks told the Record-Weekly.

"He often complained of the dust. He took real sick on Nov. 8, 1938, but he kept on working until the 15th."

The company, she added, did not pay any of the doctor or hospital bills or funeral expenses, although, according to the union, it is required by the Indiana Occupational Diseases Act to pay 55 per cent of the patient's weekly salary for 500 weeks, if the patient lives that long, and to continue the payments for 300 weeks after death.

Dr. Roscoe Giles of 3541 S. State street, Chicago, who was in charge of the autopsy of Turks, declared:

"His lungs were about three-fourths filled with the silica dust from the plant. Tuberculosis developed, and later a cardiac condition set in."

Stories like this are repeated everywhere you turn in the vicinity of "the brickyard." The pickets tell of dust-filled rooms in the plant, of worthless "dust masks" which have leaks and which press too hard against the nose for the necessary deep breathing in the hard labor.

Library Book Club to Meet

Cooperatives has been chosen by popular demand as the topic of discussion for the Dec. 15th meeting of the Vernon Library Book club. The most recent book on the subject, "The Lord Helps Those. . ." by Bertram Fowler will be reviewed by Edgar A. Curry, a staff member of the State Relief Administration, Bureau of Self-Help. This will be followed by a motion picture based on the book, "The Lord Helps Those" which will be shown by Harrq W. Mercer, Assistant Education Director of the Bureau of Self-Help. This film shows the actual operation of co-operative experiments in Nova Scotia and will bring to those in this community much needed information on the subject since the first Los Angeles Co-operative store will actually open on the Eastside on Dec. 18.

This book club meeting, to be held on Friday evening, Dec. 15, in the library club room, 4504 S. Central avenue at 8 o'clock, will mark the close of Co-operative Education Week which will be celebrated from Dec. 7—15. The public is cordially invited to attend.

HAS SWEETHEART

Eddie (Rochester) Anderson, Negro comedian working with Jack Benny in Paramount's "Buck Benny Rides Again," has a romance of his own in the production.

"INVISIBLE MAN"

Despite the fact that he has made four pictures, Burgess Meredith can't quite get used to the idea that he is not acting on the stage. Repeating instructions from producer-director Lewis Milestone for a difficult scene in the Hal Roach production "Of Mice and Men," Meredith said, "I get it, I walk in stage left, stop stage center and move up to about row 8."

The scene was the poorly-lit shack of Crooks, the Negro stable-buck in the Hal Roach production "Of Mice and Men." Lon Chaney, Jr., who plays the childlike giant Lennie, comes in and looks around for colore actor Leigh Whipper, who played the role of Crooks in the New York and Los Angeles companies of the play. But Chaney, who couldn't spot Whipper immediately in the rehearsal, said, " I can't see you, Leigh. Will you wave a white handkerchief so I can tell where you are?"

"Wait a minute," Whipper good-naturedly returned. "I'm not saying I'm so light you can see through me, but don't stand there and tell me I'm so dark that I'm the Invisible Man."

WANTED—MORE OF THIS

History shows it has been a long, aggravating and slow process, but we believe democratic processes are becoming real and vital—but definitely.

In Chicago last week, a blind and poor Negro junior high school student heard members of that city's Kiwanis Club call him a representative of "true America."

Occupying the seat of honor at a luncheon of the Kiwanis, Billy King was acclaimed for his outstanding essay on Americanism, adjudged the best of any written by a high school student in Cook County.

His father dead, Billy King helps his mother eke out a bare living when not in school.

Awarded $25 for his effort, "What Constitutes a True American," King heard the cheers of several hundred ring in his ears when the president of the club said: "Billy King represents true America."

A DISCRIMINATING POOCH

Only pedigreed pup to hold a membership in the exclusive Tailwagger's club in Hollywood and not be the property of a movie star, a requisite to membership, is the wirehaired terrier belonging to Miss Agnes Barnes, a colored Bel Air domestic employe.

The pooch, called "Rumpus," was owned by Eddie Cantor up to a few weeks ago. Paradoxically, "Rumpus" doesn't like men, but couldn't get along in the Cantor household, which is made up mostly of women.

Pedigree and all. "Rumpus" was presented to Miss Barnes, the only person he does like, by Cantor who visits occasionally with the Bishops of cracker fame, for whom "Rumpus'" new mistress works.

GOOD NEWS

'Tis good news that's coming out of Hollywood these days.

Eddie Cantor, who jokes about being the father of so many girls and who has given a number of sepia actors and actresses a start on "the big time", has reportedly turned over 50,000 smackers to Clarence Muse to ready an all-colored musical for local, Broadway and national consumption.

Theme of the production will be Cantor's own philosophy of world tolerance, a worthy one, and top names in show business will be starred.

It has been a long time since we've seen anything that could approach "Lucky Day", another all-colored musical of the early '30s. "The Mikado—in Swing" of this year was the nearest to it.

The talent's here. And now, what to do about it. Maybe, Cantor and Muse have the answer.

IT WAS ONLY A SCRATCH!

In the files of thousands of physicians and hospital clinics lies overwhelming evidence that the infection of minor wounds is one of the most heart-rending and unnecessary of human ills. Easy to prevent, infection is difficult, often impossible, to cure. In case after case it causes dismemberment and death, disability, worry and heavy expense—usually because of a mishap that seemed too unimportant to bother about at the time it occurred.

A young married man, father of two children, scratched his hand while repairing a screen door and thought nothing of it. But 12-hours later his hand was painfully swollen, and the doctor was called in. With fearful speed, the inflammation spread, and the next day, the patient died of streptococcus infection.

A woman pricked her thumb, while working in her flower garden. The injury was so trifling that for some hours she was unaware anything had happened. Then she was alarmed by throbbing pain and a high temperature. A doctor administered antitoxin and rushed her to the hospital, which she left after weeks of battling for her life, minus one hand. The cause: gas gangrene.

A boy of 9, while fixing his toy train, stuck an ice pick into his leg. The small wound hurt little and bled less, so he bore it like a soldier and told no one. A few nights later, he was wracked by convulsions and high temperature, and doctor came—too late. The death certificate read: "Tetanus infection. . . ."

A young father scratched his finger on a safety pin while changing the baby's diaper. He said later that even if he had thought to disinfect the minor skin break he would not have the time, because his wife was away, and he was too busy with the children. But the entire family soon faced the serious consequences. An infection that started in the finger spread to the hand itself. For a time, it looked as though the whole arm might have to be amputated, if the man was to live. Then, thru some combined miracle of nature and surgery the infection was halted and cured. Amputation was unnecessary, but today the young father carrier a "frozen" hand which is a serious handicap.

A boy playing on a high school football team developed a blister on his heel. The blister broke, and in his eagerness to continue practice, he strapped adhesive bandage over the heel and played for several days with what he called a "game leg." It was not a blistered heel, but a streptococcus infection of the leg, which sent him to the hospital and finally resulted in his death. The case closely parrelled that which resulted in the death of young Calvin Coolidge, Jr., son of the late President.

A housemaid cut her finger on a discarded razor blade while washing the bathroom floor. She promised her employer that she would go to a local clinic and have the finger treated if it was not "better" the next day. She died of septicemia (blood poisoning) less than 24-hours later.

Every year, largely as a result of inattention to pin pricks, trivial cuts and scratches, splinters that hardly hurt, thousands of Americans lose their lives, and thousands more lose hands, legs, arms or fingers. The victims and their families, appalled by the swift, vindictive fury of infection, cry out, "But it was only a scratch! It didn't even bleed!" Yet doctors and hospitals whose files bulge with just such "unaccountable" tragedies, know that the trifling wound is the most dangerous of all, because it puts caution sleep. Nine out of every 10 cases of serious infection spring from injuries so small that they seem negligible—and are therefore neglected. Doctors shudder when they hear the word "small." They are inclined to remind us that the bite of the yellow fever mosquito is small too, and that a small leak sometimes gives off the fatal fumes that find their way into the lungs of the unsuspecting motorist. "So long as infection is possible, the smallest injury can be mortally dangerous," the doctors say. "It often causes more trouble than the large bloody wound."

GABBY BITS:

It has long been known that there are more women here than men, the ratio being something like three to one, we understand. Other sections of the nation, of which we know, boast a shortage of women and an over abundance of men. Which brings us to the point: What's the average of marriages of Golden State lovelies with men of sections other than the West? . . . Sorry we missed Alphonse Henningburg, whom we knew when we were matriculating at the school made famous by Booker T. Washington. We did, however, grasp the hand of R. O'Hara Lanier, an old teacher of ours, who is now occupying a post with the National Youth Council.

SC AND UCLA—THE WINNER

The "Big Game" of the coast conference—and DON'T mean California vs. Stanford—will be ayed here Saturday between the University of uthern California Trojans and the University of alifornia at Los Angeles Bruins before a sell-out or the first time this season) Coliseum.

A glance at the records of games between these o cross-town rivals reveals that they have played total of five, four of which were won by USC and remaining a 7 to 7 tie, played in 1936.

In three games of this series, the Trojans real- mopped up on the boys from Westwood. The top- avy scores: 1929—USC 76, UCLA 0; 1930—USC , UCLA 0; 1938—USC 42, UCLA 7.

The most thrilling USC-UCLA game to date s the one in 1937 which the Trojans barely won, -13. That was the year Kenny Washington threw care into Troy by completing the longest pass in nference history to Hal Hirshon. The pass was od for 73 yards (62 yards in the air) for a touch- wn. A Washington pass to Strode in the final nutes of play which would have meant a tie or was too hot to handle.

Which brings us up to date:

In attempting to predict who will win the year's biggest game after tomorrow our better judgment dictates without hesitancy y's mighty Trojans. But—and this but does loom big—the type eotball the Bruins have played this season leaves no room for er judgment, so out the window it goes.

On occasions, the Bruins have looked and played like a team able of beating any team they faced. It is not too much to ex- them to put all of these little occasions into one big occasion knock over USC for the year's biggest upset.

Since the Texas Christian University game which the Bruins by a score of 6 to 2, Babe Horrell's lads have only used a com- atively small number of plays, featuring Washington off tackle round end or throwing passes, Robinson around end, and Can- r Overlin thru the middle. It has long been this pillar's opin- n this regard that Coach Horrell would take his place beside craftiest strategists of the year (as the USC-UCLA game would w) by fielding a team the likes of which has not been seen this on for this mammoth struggle Saturday. In other words, we ldn't be surprised to see the Bruins uncork a new, unscouted dazzling, running and aerial game.

We can't help but bring up a statement we heard backfield h Jim Blewett make several weeks ago. He said he was a t believer in determination, especially as it applies to a foot- team. If both USC and UCLA are determined to win, Blew- believes the more determined club WILL win.

On this basis look for a MORE determined Bruin ball club. Off the record for the '39 season, USC has the edge in the line, UCLA in the backfield, but as we said at the beginning of this e, throw records out the window. They don't mean a thing. YTHING can happen—and probably WILL!!

'LL BE MISSED!

Six foot four inch Don Presley, all 225 pounds him, is one of the 16 San Jose State seniors—nine hem first stringers—who played their final game week against Drake university's Bulldogs from Moines, Iowa. Needless to say, the Spartans loped the Bulldogs for their 13th consecutive ory.

Playing regular left guard on the nation's high- scoring eleven, Presley, who hails from Monrov- has been as good as his size indicates for the past e seasons.

Two of the three sepians on the present squad rn next year. They are John Allen, regular left , and Aubrey Minter, the fast-stepping substi- e halfback.

As this is written there is some talk of San Jose ing in the "Olympic" Bowl (the Coliseum) in a t-season game.

ORTS IN SPORTS:

We paid $1.65 plus an additional thin dime for something or Saturday afternoon, trudged way up into the stands in the end zone and saw USC barely beat out a stubborn U. of Wash- n Huskie 9 to 7 in the Coliseum. If they did nothing else the from the Northwest proved that the boys from University ue are NOT invincible—they can be beaten. And except for McAdams' one bad kick in an afternoon of the year's most tional punting, and an error in judgment on the part of Ernie e, Washington would have walked off the turf victor by seven s. McAdams is easily the best punter we have seen in the ons, or anywhere else for that matter. His longest boot was yard spiral . . .

The All-Americans so far announced by NEA, UP, and Hearst, g others, fail, in our opinion, to give Kenny Washington his due. The three mentioned here relegate Kenny to the second . Hearst places USC's Grenny Lansdell ahead of "The Gen- ", observing that the lack of kicking ability on the part of the r is responsible. Kenny, for our penny, out-runs, out-passes, blocks, out-tackles, and out-defends, any gridder wearing s, more than making up for his deficiency in booting the perk- The All-American selections to date are probably a bit pre- ire. They should have been released AFTER the game Sat- y when Kenny Washington and Grenny Lansdelle will no t settle the issue for good . . .

If the Bruins scalp the Trojan and go into the Rose Bowl, it be the first time a team with a Negro star or stars has played e Pasadena classic since Fritz Pollard, the Brown university rtal, did so in 1916. That year Brown lost to Washington 14 to 0. It was the second Tournament of Roses football , the first being staged in 1902 when Michigan walloped Stan- 49 to 0. Both games were played before the Pacific Coast erence was organized, which was in 1916 . . .

These who have been wondering about the whereabouts of gie Crouch found an answer last Friday night as news came in victory in a Madison Square Garden six-rounder . . . Just good is Jackie Wilson, the lad who is as much of an artist the paint brush as he is with the boxing gloves? The answer probably come next Tuesday night when he squares off against Chavez at the Olympic in what should be the year's best bout. . . . After-thought: UCLA's democratic football team should kind to local practices of professional football and baseball . . . They turn out to watch talent, not red tape, or blue la- -tape-dom.

MENTAL ATTITUDE TO BE DECIDING FACTOR IN USC-UCLA "BIG GAME"

103,300 Expected to Fill Coliseum to See Conference King, Rose Bowl Team Decided

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Eleven young men from the University of Southern California and a like number from the University of California at Los Angeles, all bent on accomplishing the same result, will have at each other Saturday afternoon at 2:15 in the Memorial Coliseum to decide the Pacific Coast conference football championship and the western representative in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

It is generally conceded that it will be a titanic struggle, one which besides offering a brand of football designed to thrill, will draw the year's largest crowd, 103,000 (count 'em).

KENNY VS. GRENNY

Both teams came down the stretch without a defeat.

It will be USC power against UCLA speed.

It will be Grenny Lansdell versus Kenny Washington, both All-Americans.

It will be USC's tough forward wall against the offensive thrusts of UCLA's more deceptive backfield.

But most of all it will be MENTAL ATTITUDE.

The team which won't be denied is the team that will come out ahead.

UCLA, known for fighting hardest when "the chips are down,", in our opinion, has a greater desire to go into the Rose Bowl and uphold the standard of the West than has Troy, if for no other reason than this is the last year of play in college athletics for Kenny "The General" Washington, one of the most popular wearers of UCLA colors and admittedly the greatest footballer the school has yet developed.

WANT IT FOR KENNY

In other words, the Bruins want to win this one for Kenny, who, incidentally, will be running, passing and defending to bring it about. They went to Hawaii last December and they said then that they wanted to go into the Pasadena classic this year.

Other offensive threats the Trojans will have to watch are Bill Overlin, Leo Cantor, Ray Bartlett, Chuck Fenenbock, Ned Matthews and, last but not least, Jackie Robinson, the speed-burner.

On the other hand, the Bruins will have to stop Amby Schindler, Lansdell, Bob Peoples and Doyle Nave—on the ground and thru the air.

Head Coast "Babe" Horrell and his assistants, line coach Ray Richards and backfield coach Jim Blewett, have developed a team adequate offensively and defensively, when it plays up to its capabilities. The UCLA forward wall, while not as blessed with reserve material as is that of USC, now boasts reserves tested under fire in games past this season.

KENNY'S AVERAGE

From the spectator's point of view, it will be the appeal of Washington's and Lansdell's and Nave's passing and running and the running of the other Bruin threat, Robinson.

So far this season, Washington has averaged 5.23 yards for 141 scrimmage attempts and has completed 32 of 76 passes for 497 yards, an average completion of 15.53 yards. Robinson has an amazing average of 9.7 yards for 37 luggings of the pigskin.

Secret practice sessions were the order this week at both schools. Most if not all of Troy's injured and bruised stalwarts (including All-American Harry Smith) will be ready by Saturday. The same applies at UCLA.

The team that wants this game most—(mental attitude)—will win it.

San Jose State Steamrollers Drake U.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 7—Remaining undefeated and untied this season, San Jose's Spartans steamrollered Drake university 12 to 0 here last Thursday nite.

It was the 13th consecutive victory for San Jose State, having scored 324 points to lead the nation's grid teams in scoring.

The Spartans scored in the second period when Carlton Peregov plunged over center from the four. San Jose scored again in the fourth quarter on a two-yard plunge by Dick Hubbell, the ball being placed in position as a result of a spectacular 21-yard run by sepian Aubrey Minter.

Comptor Jaysee Captures Title

With quarterback Clarence Mackey, Jack Morrissey and Bill Bushee sparking the attack, Coach Tay Brown's Comoton Junior college Tartars won the Metropolitan championship last Friday night when they defeated the favored Long Beach Vikings, 12 to 6 before 8000 spectators.

The Tartars' 12 points came by way of a field goal, touchdown and safety.

Giants to Play at White Sox

The Philadelphia Royal Giants, champions of the Win telergaue champions of the Winter league for 1939, come to White Sox Park Sunday afternoon for a double-header with Lin Storti's Long Beach Stars.

White Sox is the old stamping ground of the Eastern Negro nine, having appeared there each Winter League season until this year when Gilmore field, home of the Hollywood Stars, was their home also.

The first game starts at 1:30.

Hank to Defend Welter Laurels

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—Henry Armstrong, welterweight champion, was signed this week by Promoter Mike Jacobs, to defend his title against Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico at Madison Square Garden, Jan. 24, in a 15-round bout.

Sepia Boxers Win Glove Honors

Sepia boxers gathered in the majority of trophies, medals, robes, etc., in the 1939 Golden Gloves finals Monday night, sponsored by a morning daily.

Alston Hoosman, Urban League A. C., won the heavyweight title; Homer McGrew, lightheavyweight champion; John Thomas, unattached, captured the featherweight crown; Bobby Carroll, unattached, walked off with flyweight honors—four sepia winners in eight divisions.

Melvin Crisp, unattached, dropped a close one to Bobby McKibben, in the welterweight final.

Smith TKO's Hagar in Four

In the 10-round main event at the Olympic Tuesday night, Al Smith, of Boyle Heights, technically knocked out Al Hagar, Culver City, in the fourth round. Referee Abe Roth stopped the contest to save Hagar from needless punishment.

Smith weighed 149½, Hagar an even 149.

In the preliminaries: Bobby Yannes dropped the duke to Charley Murray, losing by a TKO in the fourth canto; Hut Thompson was nodded by Gene Valenzuela; Kid Lester lost to Babe Hernandez; Red Shannon was decisioned by Terry Orchard; and Jack Townsend was shaded by Dave Johnson.

N. Y. Gets New Boxing Ruling

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—From now on, as far as the New York State Boxing commission is concerned, a boxer can hold only one title at a time. The new ruling is a result of the twice-postponed Henry Armstrong-Lou Ambers bout for the welterweight championship of the world.

Promoter Mike Jacobs has had to cancel the bout in November because Ambers took unto himself a bride and again Dec. 1 because Hank was suffering from a bad cold.

GODOY DRILLS FOR JOE LOUIS BOUT

SUMMIT (N. J.) Dec. 7—Challenger Arturo Godoy of Chile started training here last Wednesday at Madame Rey's camp for his heavyweight championship bid against Joe Louis at Madison Square Garden Feb. 9.

LARY is Largest Employer of Negro

A careful check of employment of colored labor in California industry reveals that the Los Angeles Railway employs more colored labor than any other local concern and probably more than any other industry in the entire State.

At the present time the Los Angeles Railway employs 147 colored men at a total annual wage of $174,558.00, and in every case where colored labor is used the men are supervised by colored foremen.

"The jobs of many of these men are in jeopardy in the Dec. 12 special election which again brings the same old bus proposal that we voted down and defeated twice before," it was claimed by one of the men this week.

"A "NO" vote on Proposition 1 on December 12 will protect these men in their jobs." —Adv.

Fla. Rattlers Meet Wiley in Bowl

Wiley in Orange Classic as Season Comes to Close

BY R. E. DIXON

DALLAS, Dec. 7—Finis was written to Southwestern conference football for the current year with a pair of games over the Thanksgiving weekend. Arkansas State put Beale Street in its deepest indigo mood, avenging last years' 12-0 defeat at the hands of LeMoyne with a 12-7 triumph Thanksgiving in Memphis.

Florida A. & M. got an early jump on Ted Wright's Xavier Gold Rush over in Florida and after Bill Bell's Rattlers had scored early in the first period on "Hank" Butler's brilliant 65-yard touchdown jaunt, the Florida eleven was off to the races in a stunning victory that saw the final score swelled to 33-0.

Sam Taylor's Prairie View Panthers journeyed from Texas to Baton Rouge where they upheld their traditional myth of November invincibility with a 13-0 victory over A. W. Mumford's Southern University Jaguars.

For the second time in a row, and the second time since 1924, Fred Long's Wiley College Wildcats succumbed before an inspired Bishop College eleven Saturday by a 7-6 score in a Homecoming fracas that was postponed from Thursday until Saturday because of rain in Marshall.

As a result of Prairie View's victory over Southern, the Texas State college went into a tie with Arkansas State for second place in the final standings of the Southwestern loop. Langston was already the undefeated, once-tied champions, having closed their season last week against Prairie View in a 7-all draw.

FINAL STANDINGS

TEAM	W	L	T	Pct.
Langston	5	0	1	.917
*Prairie View	3	2	1	.583
*Arkansas State	3	2	1	.583

†Bishop College	2	2	2	.500
Southern Univ.	1	4	1	.250
Texas College	1	5	0	.167

*Tied for second place
†Tied for fourth place

Somewhat as an anti-climax to the current season, Bill Bell's dangerous Florida Rattlers must contend with a surly Wiley Wildcat Saturday, down at Orlando, Florida, in a gala intersectional Orange Bowl classic.

Bruins Skin WSC Cougar, 24 to 7

UCLA Comes from Behind in Fourth Stanza for Margin

Unleashing an attack in the final period which had lain dormant the preceding three stanzas, those exciting Bruins of U. C. L. A. skinned a Washington State Cougar 24 to 7 Thursday night at the Memorial Coliseum before 35,000 fans.

UCLA thus goes into its titanic struggle for the coast conference championship and Rose Bowl bid with the University of Southern California Trojans day after tomorrow undefeated—six wins and three ties.

STRODE SCORES

A pass in the first quarter, from All-American Kenny Washington to end Woodrow Strode started UCLA's scoring. Washington, standing on the Cougar 44, whipped a 14-yard pass to Strode who out-distanced the Cougar secondary for the touchdown. John Frawley missed the try for point.

Waashington State boomed right back into the picture, however, in the second quarter when fullback Dick Renfro went over for the Cougar's lone touchdown. Brown ,who played a good game all evning, kicked the extra point.

Enjoying a one-point lead, the Cougars played defensive ball the remainder of the second quarter and all of the third.

Coming to life in the fourth quarter, as usual, the big guns of the Bruins got in motion. With Washington, Robinson and Leo Cantor carrying the ball, UCLA reached the Cougar 25 where Kenny flipped a short pass to Robinson who eluded several Cougars and went over for the touchdown. Jackie's placekick was no good.

ROBINSON AGAIN

Several minutes later Robinson galloped 35 yards for the thisd tally. Effectively screening the ball on his wide run around his own left flank, Jackie was well past the scrimmage line before the harassed Cougars woke up to the fact that he had the ball. Once in the open Jackie usually takes care of himself, which was the case in this instance. The misty night helped him befuddle the State scondary. Again the try for extra point failed.

Coach Babe Horrell jerked both Washington and Robinson at this point, sending them to the showers to tumultuous applause from the stands.

On their way out, the Bruin aces saw Chuck Fenenbock, elusive halfback, throw a pass to Jim Mitchell, end, who snagged the ball on the Cougar 2 and scored the Bruin's final touchdown. The point was again missed.

Babe Hollingberry's Cougars presented a fast-charging line and a fast and tricky backfield whch had the Westwooders stymied for three periods. Brown, Renfro, Dick Emerson and Bill Sewell were Cougar standouts.

Crouch, Chalky Win N. Y. Bouts

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—Lightweight Georgie Crouch and featherweight Chalky Wright, both of Los Angeles, won their bouts under the Petey Scalzo-Allie Stolz main event at Madison Square Garden here Firday night.

Crouch, 139, nodded Mike Martinez, 136¾, Denver, Colo., in six rounds, and Chalky, 127¾ outpointed Everett Rightmare, 129, Chicago, in a six rounder staged after the main go.

FOR SHOES, MEAT AND MOVIES

* The salaries and wages paid to Edison employees in 1938 amounted to $24,396 a day, or nearly nine million dollars for the year. Much of this money was spent in Edison territory for the daily necessities of life—food, shelter and clothing—and for automobiles, entertainment and ice cream, too. Since 1910, the Edison payroll has more than tripled, yet this increase is not shown in electric rates, for Edison rates have steadily decreased in the same period.

. . . ABOUT PAUL ROBESON . . .

Every night, some years back, in a little theatre far from the theatrical center of London, a number of people went mad over 'All God's Chilun Got Wings', which was acted by our Paul Robeson and their Flora Robson. It was one of the most thrilling performances that was ever seen, although it labored under great disadvantages.

To have white folks playing colored folks is bad enough; but to have them played by English white folks must be sheer misery. The ineptitude of the performer at the Church Social descends upon us, and is hard to bear by audiences that are not united and disciplined by a common bond of piety. And furthermore, there is a quality in the English voice which is actively inimical to the lovely quality of the Negro voice, which has the deep mellowness of Burgundy.

When a white American assumes our speech I have a sense of an entity vainly aping its opposite. There is to English ears an exquisite music about a certain aspect of American speech--an aspect which, oddly enough, I have seen presented most plangently by no living performer, but by Minnie Mouse. When, in the old Micky Mouse called "Building a Skyscraper," Minnie whisked about offering "Box Lunches, 15 cents," there was in her shrill yet gentle cry such a wealth of gallant responses to life, such hope, such stoicism, such diligence, such wistfulness, such determination to take bitter things sweetly, as has rejoiced me in many voices of my racial brethren . . .

Thru that dreary cast Paul Robeson passed, like a Michelangelo figure seen among drawings in Punch. He put all the forces of his vitality behind his conception of O'Neill, and built a character so vast that in the memory one must see him as larger than life--size. He drew him as a modest giant with pigmies playing around his knees, who, out of his modesty, lends his ears to their squeakish allegations htat there is something monstrous in his greatness, who hears whispers that his darkness is shameful and, not having cynically accepted the knowledge of man's malice and idiocy, holds up his black hand and regards it with the awful fear that maybe these things are true and it is guilty.

A Titanic creature bound by doubt as by ropes, making weak and despairing motions that bear witness to his indestructible magnificence.

OVERMAN GROWS WHISKERS

With three consecutive roles calling for him to wear a stubble of whiskers, Lynne Overman has decided to grow his own, instead of putting on false ones each morning. It started with "Union Pacific," he's now wearing them in Paramount's "Typhoon," with Dorothy Lamour and Robert Preston, and he'll wear them again in "Safari."

'housekeeper's daughter' at u. a.

One of the gayest and most exciting motion pictures to reach the screen within recent months is now playing at the United Artists theatre, 933 S. Broadway, under the title, "The Housekeeper's Daughter." Produced by Hal Roach for United Artists release with a capitally chosen cast headed by Joan Bennett, Adolph Menjou, Peggy Wood, John Hubbard, Donald Meek, William Gargan and Lillian Bond, the new film is a fast-moving, lively romance, smartly fashioned to contain all the elements of entertainment.

Miss Bennett, portraying the alluring housekeeper's daughter, leaves her underworld boy friend flat to return to her mother, who works for the socially prominent Randall family. Learning that the family has left town for the summer, the heroine is pleasantly surprised to discover that the young and handsome scion of the family, played by John Hubbard, one of the screen's new leading men, has decided to stay in town and brave the summer heat. Young Randall is determined to break into newspaper work and he accomplishes this feat very easily by using his father's influence.

Aided and abetted by the housekeeper's daughter, he attaches himself to a murder mystery and from then on the new film proceeds at a terrific pace, introducing merry mix-ups and unexpected complications. High comedy is blended with rich romantic interludes.

As a companion feature, the United Artists Theatre, 933 S. Broadway, is showing 20th Century-Fox's "The Honeymoon Is Over," starring Stuart Erwin and Marjorie Weaver.

osa johnson keeps house among savages

The only home Osa (Mrs. Martin Johnson had for 15 years, a house on the edge of the African jungle, will be seen in the Columbia picture, "I Married Adventure," dealing with her thrilling experiences among wild men and savage animals in remote and dangerous corners of the earth.

Constructed of stone by the adventurous Kansas couple and a crew of naked black native workers, the picturesque and comfortable house near Nairobi became the farthest outpost of American house-keeping. Mrs. Johnson expects to return to her African home early next year for further exploits in the jungle.

eddie still holds para contract

Anderson receives second billing to Jack Benny in Paramount's forthcoming picture, "Buck Benny Rides Again," slated for release in May. Locale of the film is Nevada. Others in the cast include Phil Harris and Andy Devine.

MacMURRAY AVOIDS CIRCUS

The first time Fred MacMurray, now co-starring with Barbara Stanwyck in Paramount's "Remember the Night," went to a circus, he saw one clown apparently knock the head off another, but couldn't be lured back inside a "big tent" again for years.

Erskine Hawkins signed for early broadway showing

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (C)—Erskine Hawkins, who with his trumpet and orchestra have set a new, all-time high in attendance since returning to the Savoy Ballroom on Thanksgiving night, has been signed to play a leading role in "Young Man With a Horn." Rehearsals are scheduled to begin in New York Dec. 12.

Ella Fitzgerald, who is one the road touring with her orchestra, will also have a part in the play, singing and a few lines which is based on the life of a famous trumpet player, white, who died several years ago, Bix Beiderbecke.

h'wood casting experts need knowledge of race history

A casting director in Hollywood these days would do well to take a course in anthropology. The way pictures are being produced with locales scattered all about the globe it takes an expert on races and race history to keep things straight.

William A. Wellman, with a fiendish delight in foreign locations, keep the casting office in an uproar.

DEMANDS FUZZY-WUZZIES

No sooner did he finish "Beau Geste," which required a flock of Touareg natives, than he galloped off to New Mexico to film Rudyard Kipling's "The Light That Failed" for Paramount.

"Bring me Fuzzy-Wuzzies!" demanded Wellman, quoting Kipling. There wasn't a Fuzzy-Wuzzy in Hollywood, as far as the casting department knew, after discovering in the dictionary that "Fuzzy-Wuzzy" was British army slang for the native Sudanese warriors of the Hadendon tribe. However, a number of New Mexico Negroes, properly decorated by the makeup department, proved capable substitutes.

ROYALTY RECRUITED

They threatened the lives of Ronald Colman and Walter Huston with splendid effect, and recklessly charged the invincible British square, and otherwise conducted themselves in a manner to make Mr. Wellman remark that they were the "best blankety-blank "Fuzzy-Wuzzies" he had ever seen.

More native African tribes were needed for "Stanley and Livingstone," and Paramount recently signed a real bit of African royalty in the person of Prince Modupe to give technical advice on West African tribes for "Safari."

DEC. ANNIVERSARY OF SHERMAN'S LIBERATING "MARCH TO THE SEA"

Completion of "Gone With the Wind" Cause of Telling Story Behind March

By ELISABETH LAWSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 ,(Crusader News Agency) —December, 1939 brings the 75th anniversary of Sherman's march to the sea. There is an urgent reason for the immediate telling of the true story of the siege of Atlanta in the Civil War, and the famous march that followed it. That reason is the completion of the film 'Gone With the Wind", which is, from all preliminary accounts, only too faithful to the historical falsifications of the anti-Negro novel on which it is based. If present reports are correct, the film will contain a fantastic distortion of Sherman's campaign. The Grand Army of the Republic, veterans of the Civil War, has voted to boycott the picture. We hasten to tell the tale of a siege and a march that constituted one of the greatest pieces of military strategy in one of the most progressive wars ever waged.

The frst two years of the war had brought defeat after bitter defeat to the Union forces. No other result was possible as long as the Union failed to conduct the War frankly as a war of principle, emancipating and arming the slaves, purging the army of traitors, and placing in command officers whose loyalty to the Union was beyond question. But for two years the army was under command of General McClellan, whose sympathies were all for the Southern aristocracy, who in the very midst of war returned fugitives to their masters, warned the Negroes against aiding the Union, and spoke openly against the Emancipation Proclamation.

Lincoln's sudden decision, in 1862, to sweep the army clean of traitors, resulted in an immediate turn in the war. Grant, Farragut, and Major-General William Tecumseh Sherman reconquered the West and freed the Mississippi River. Then Sherman moved on Atlanta, the most important remaining source of supplies for the South. Those sections of the city that the Confederates had used and might use again for military purposes (especially arsenals, depots and railroad machine shops) Sherman ordered burned to the ground. But whatever further destruction occurred in Atlanta was the work of civilian marauders who moved in on the city when Sherman departed.

CUT REBELL TERRITORY

Now Sherman decided to put into operation the bold plan he had been maturing--a plan then entirely new to military science. He would break all railroad and telegraph communications with his rear and start on a march of 300 miles to Savannah on the coast, destroying the Confederacy's last line of communications and supplies and cutting rebel territory into two hopelessly divided sections.

The strength of Sherman's forces was 5,329 infantry, 5,063 cavalry, 1,812 artillery—in all, 62,042 officers and men.

The food for this immense army, which started with only 20 days' supply of rations and five days' supply of cargo, came from the fields of Georgia itself. Soldiers, especially selected for the task—they became known as "bummers"—gathered the crops and drove in the livestock. In view of the long-standing slander of Sherman's foragers ,the General's exact orders, contained in Special Field order No. 119, are of special interest: "Soldiers must not enter the dwellings of inhabitants, or commit any trespass . . . In districts and neighborhoods where the army is unmolested no destruction of . . . property should be permitted; but should guerillas or bushwhackers molest our march . . . the army commanders should order and enforce a devastation more or less relentless, according to the measure of such hostility. As for horses, mules, wagons, etc. belonging to the inhabitants, the cavalry and artillery may appropriate . . . without limit; discriminating, however, between the rich, who are usually hostile, and the poor and industrious, usually neutral or friendly."

All along the route the Negro people, who understood the nature of the conflict from the beginning, who provided 186,000 men for the Union cause, gave Sherman a memorable welcome. He wrote in his "Memoirs" that he found them "simply frantic with joy." About four miles east of Covington, the army made camp. "Here we made our bivouac," Sherman wrote, "and I walked to a plantation house close by, where were assembled many Negroes, among them an old, gray-haired man. I asked him if he understood about the war and its progress. He said he did; that he had been looking for the 'angel of the Lord' ever since he was knee-high, and, though we professed to be fighting for the Union, he supposed that slavery was the cause, that our success was to be his freedom. I asked him if all the Negro slaves comprehended this fact, and he said they surely did."

THE SUBJECT OF WOMEN

By JOHN KINLOCH

Biblical sources contend to the effect that the original Woman, a dish named Eve, was concocted from a rib of the original Man, Adam, which he unfortunately lost one night while in the arms of Morpheus. This should forever settle the question of whether women can take a rib.

Since that time, however, mankind has suffered a series of mental, moral, physical, and financial reverses that have led several philosophers to the viewpoint that Adam really should have padlocked his guts. Be that as it may, it is pretty generally conceded today that Woman, like War, is here to stay.

Of course, it has been pointed out that things could have been worse. Supppose, for instance, the looting of Adam's interior had extended beyond one rib--suppose two or three had been lifted with, perhaps, a portion of intestine or the alimentary canal thrown in. What would we have had then? Obviously, the thought is too gruesome for words.

Anthropologists have come to the conclusion that the human race has flitted about the surface of this planet for about fifty thousand years, hand running. This contention was verified by Professor Alfred Grebber Gohltz one sunny afternoon about 4:30 p. m. in the little town of Parsnip-on-Avon in the county of Sussex, England, when he discovered a particle of cranium from the head of prior pre-Glacier period man. By the side of the piece of head was a piece of chin which was definitely identified as part of prior pre-Glacier period woman. Certain London wags at the time intimated that the chin was symbolic of the female last word. The comment was considered corny then, and nothing since has occurred to alter the original opinion.

At any rate, here is the situation: man and woman have been hanging around together for about fifty thousand years now. Clearly, it is about time to essay some honest evaluation of this lengthy association. In other words, what's it gotten us, outside of the next generation?

Women being the deadlier of the species, this is a very dangerous subject to chatter upon individually. Thus, I have conducted a poll upon this subject that would run Gallup ragged, so to speak. Unbiased and impartial, this survey is an accurate reflection of local sentiment upon the subject of women.

Mr. Titus Alexander, bureau of Power and Light: "Women are God's greatest gift to the Universe."

Mr. Algonquin Speerhead, professor of biology: "Women are a chemical conspiracy against Man."

Mr. Henry Hull, actor: "There is only one way to bring law and order to the West: line up all the women and shoot 'em down like dogs!"

Miss Mildred Walker, career girl: "Women are alright, but I like men better as confidential friends and business contacts."

Miss Almena Davis, EAGLE writer: "Women are alright, but I like men better in everything."

Mr. Eugene Henry Huffman, humorist: "I think many things about women; I'd better not say any of them."

Mr. Marshall Anderson, merchant, "I think women are like the Dutchman's horse. You know, once there was a dutchman who had a horse to sell. He said that there were two faults with the animal, but he wouldn't tell what they were until after a sale was made. Well, experts came around to look at the beast and found him a very fine animal. Finally, someone bought the horse for the $400 the Dutchman wanted for him. The new owner then asked what were the two faults. The Dutchman answered, "In the first place, he's hard to catch. In the second, place, he ain't worth a durn after you catch him." (Mr. A. is the husband of a wife and the father of a daughter. When last heard from he was sinking rapidly.)

Mr. Walter Lawson, politico, "I dont know a thing about women. I'll give you some good advice—stay away from them."

Carl Primus, 11, newsboy. "They ain't no good."

Ann Anderson, student, "Women are the greatest creation."

FINAL CONCLUSION

'swingin' the dream' a hit!

BY TED YATES

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. C)—Whether the title "King of Swing" belongs to any particular one of the band maestros, many of whom have been highly overrated, it was definitely shown to a packed house first-night audience at the Center Theatre here last Wednesday night (Nov. 29), at the premiere of Erik Charell's "swingin' the Dream," that Benny Goodman is Tops. That is, when you are rating the ofay swing-frenzied exponents of the modern version of jazz. But, Goodman shared only one-third of the credit for making "The Dream" that came true a nightmare for Bill Shakespeare, as those in the know will tell you.

Wise First-Nighters will tell you that Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong and Maxine Sullivan came in for their rightful share of the plau"ts of the theatre crowd.

Supported by Eleanor Lyman and Boyd Crawford ,the cast of one hundred with "BG", Satchmo and lovely Maxine (who, incidentally, is doubling at the Cotton Club), the swing version of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," produced by Erik Charell and Jean Rodney with several Goodman comoositions is New York's latest "Must" on the list of shows. Borrowing a slang paraphrase, I would say, The Dream's a "solid" Dream—a smash hit!

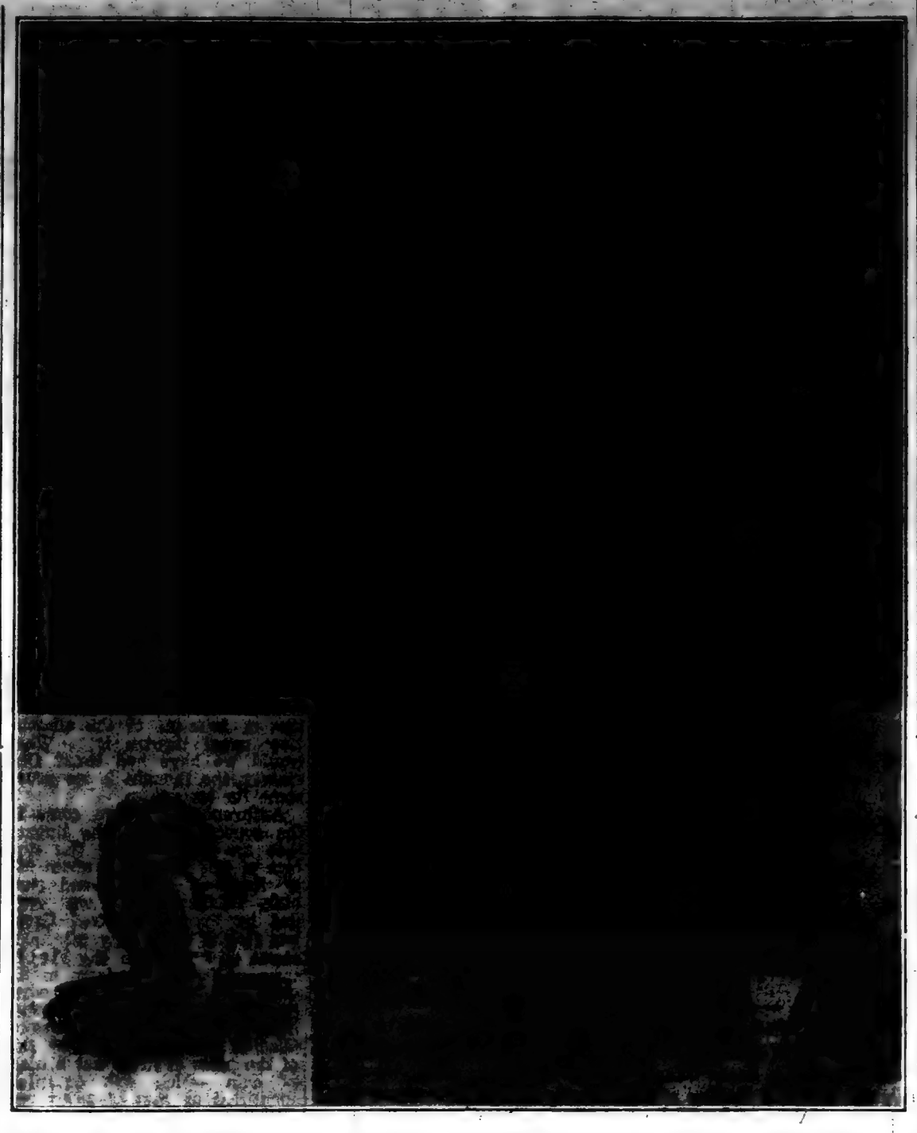
Over $1,000 Credited to Chest Unit

Emergency Call Urges Further Appeal for Funds

Although the local Community Chest meeting scheduled for last Saturday was unavoidable postponed, reports for Division 44, including Central area battalions, have been tabulated and show $1049.00 credited to the local workers.

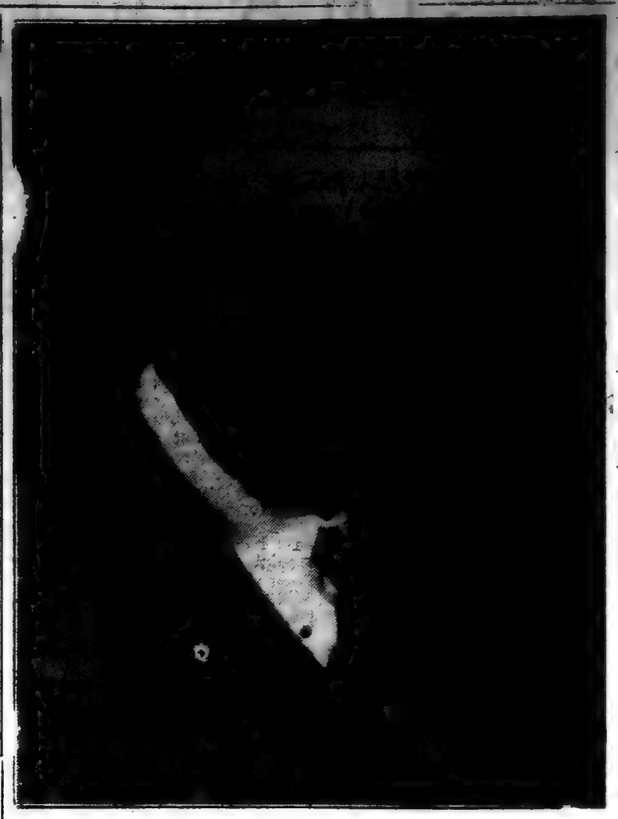
Mrs. Alvia Brockway in commenting on the return stated that more than $633.00 of this amount was received from the special prospect list of larger donors, leaving approximately $400.00 reported from all workers. As the division now has less than 50 per cent of its pledged quota, Mrs. Brockway, in a recent meeting with majors and colonels here, has asked the utmost cooperation in completing all assignments.

As a result of this request, local majors, Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, Mrs. Joan Johnston Willis, Mrs. C. D. Frederick, Mrs. Genevieve Wade and Mrs. Ida Aldridge, have sent an emergency call to all workers here to call back at all homes and business houses where subscriptions were not made, and make a further appeal for funds to help the children and adults who are receiving services from Chest agencies.



PENNY A DAY

One group of workers, Mrs. Brockway added, "but all these 'pennies-a-day' put together will make it possible for crippled children to have necessary operations and care, other sick children receive hospitalization and service in clinics, and families helped in many ways."



Any local resident who has not been called upon and wishing to help through the "penny a day" plan is asked to visit Chest headquarters at the YMCA, 1006 E. 28th street, where the donation will be welcomed to help in the work.

Campaign totals as of Tuesday, noon, showed 173,668 contributions, totaling $1,751,277.00 which is approximately 70 per cent of the entire amount contributed last year.

Noted at the Chest report luncheon at the Biltmore Friday, were Mrs. R. C. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Eliza Leeom, Mrs. Lela Follis, Mrs. Ida Aldridge, Messers. Baxter M. Scruggs, L. G. Robinson and the Rev. E. E. Lightner.

M. Antoine Bervin of Haitian Body, Holds Conferences

INSTITUTE (W. Va.) Dec. 7—M. Antoine Bervin, Secretary of the National Haitian Commission of intellectual cooperation is holding a series of conferences at the West Virginia State College. His coming is the result directly of President John W. Davis's attendance at the Inter-American Conference on Education held at Washington recently. Interest in Haiti has been increased since the coming last year of his Excellency, M. Elie Lescot, Minister of Haiti.

The enrollment of four Haitian students in West Virginia State College for courses in English from the French in the Department of Romance Languages and in vocational subjects in the Department of Trade and Technical education has aroused renewed interest.

M. Bervin is a graduate of the University of Paris, served in the International Labor Office in Geneva, Switzerland and is now in the United States after a tour of Canada, where he addressed the French population. He comes to West Virginia after a tour of six New England States and lecture engagements at Columbia university and New York university.

In an interview this morning, M. Bevin announced that his country through its minister, M. Lescot, is seeking to promote economic and intellectual relations with the United States.

Comercially Haiti hopes to increase its business with the United States. More than 65 per cent of imports to Haiti come from the United States. She hopes to sell at least 40 per cent of her coffee to the United States.

Xmas Tree Lane to Be Decorated

During the heavy Yuletide season this year, more than 2500 sparkling Christmas Tree lights will again decorate Los Angeles' only permanent Christmas Tree Lane, located in Exposition Park.

Christmas tree lane was definitely and permanently established in 1936 by Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough This special lighting that year was considered a valued impetus to the spirit of outdoor Shristmas lighting.

The lane itself, consists of 36 trees all over 35 feet tall, and extending from the peristyle of the Memorial Coliseum to Figueroa street.

Nigthly, during the Christmas holiday season, many groups will be assembled beneath sparkling Christmas Tree lights to sing Yuletide carols while thousands of people visit the park to enjoy the beautiful lighted lane of cedar trees.

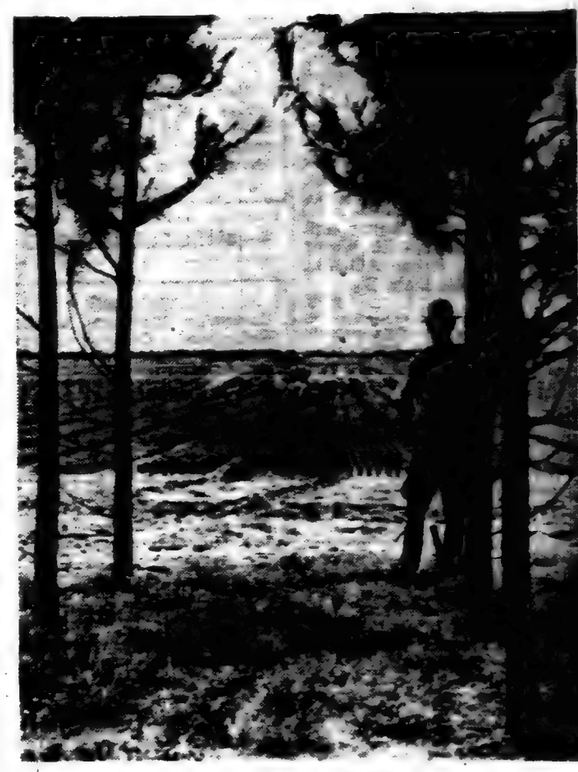
PRESENTING THE WIDE WORLD IN PICTURES

Wide World Photos, Inc.

OWNERS LINE UP FOR PAY CHECKS AT COOPERATIVE COLLIERY: Some of the 450 miners, who at the suggestion of the Rev. Frederick Trafford, local Episcopal Church rector, formed a cooperative company and for the past three months have profitably operated an abandoned coal mine in Minersville, Pa., visit the paymaster to collect union scale wages at the rate of one day's pay in stock and four days in cash.

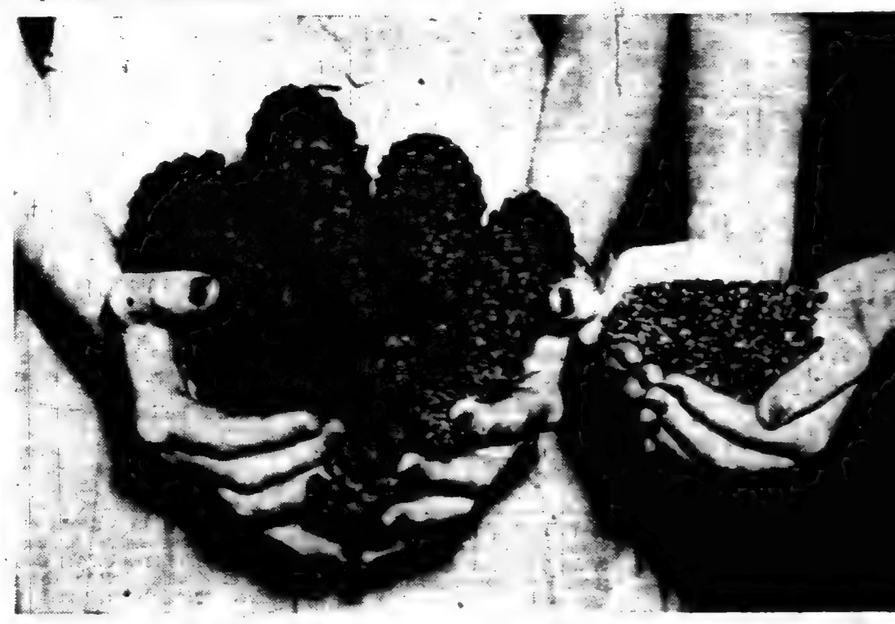
BRITAIN'S EFFECTIVE WEAPON IN WAR ON NAZI SUBMARINES: Members of the crew of a destroyer hoist a depth bomb into position for discharge in a demonstration at sea for American and Canadian newspaper men. The result of the explosion of the "ash can" is shown in the picture at the right.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN AN "ASH CAN" EXPLODES: A huge geyser of water shoots into the air as a depth bomb, thrown into the sea by a British destroyer, explodes. The picture was made during a demonstration of anti-submarine weapons for American and Canadian war correspondents.



MAKING "EARS" FOR PLANE "PREDICTORS": Paraboloids, used by anti-aircraft battery crews in locating the position of approaching enemy planes, are inspected in a "shadow factory," one of the armament plants operating in areas not likely to be visited by air raiders.

MID-SEASON PARIS STYLES: The mid-season fashion openings were held as usual this year despite the war. Shown above are three outfits from the Winter collections. Left: A monk's habit inspired this hostess gown in amaranth-red wool, piped with silver and girdled with wool cord and tassels. Center: This sports suit in "plane gray" woolen has big pouch pockets. It is worn with bright "legion red" corduroy knickers and hat. Right: A Spring-like ensemble in "olive branch" green wool. It is trimmed with tiny tucks and black buttons.



RAISING SEEDLINGS FOR FEDERAL REFORESTATION: Scene in the Stuart Nursery, at Pollock, La., where young pine trees are being grown for the Kistachie National Forest in Northern Louisiana, to retimber thousands of acres which have been denuded by logging operations during past years.

WHERE POLICE DON'T BREAK UP FIGHTS: Thomas Duffy, captain of the Sheffield Avenue Police Station, Chicago, refereeing a bout in the boys' club he started three years ago to check juvenile misdemeanors in the neighborhood. Because of its growth the club which has been occupying the station's second floor, was also given use of the third floor, which was equipped by merchants of the district.

THE SOURCE OF NEW FORESTS FOR THE SOUTH: Pine cones (at left) from the Kistachie National Forest in Northern Louisiana from which seeds will be extracted for planting by CCC enrollees in the nursery of the United States Forest Service at Pollock, La. Each bushel of pine cones produces about one pound of seed (at right). Cones require two years to mature on the trees and are gathered only during "good crop" years.

"THE MOST DELIGHTFUL PERSON I EVER MET": John Barrymore, photographed in a Chicago theatre with his eldest daughter, Diana, 18, whom he had seen only twice before. Diana is the daughter of his second wife, Michael Strange, now Mrs. Harrison Tweed, and is an actress. She is appearing in a theatre adjoining one in which he is starring in "My Dear Children."

BATTLESHIPS OF BRITAIN'S HOME FLEET RIDE AT ANCHOR IN A SCOTTISH LOCH: A photograph, passed by the British censor, of the H. M. S. Nelson and other craft of the Royal Navy in an unidentified naval base off the coast of Scotland.

SCIENCE STUDIES THE DEADLY WATER MOCCASIN: Professor H. V. Brown photographed in his University of Chicago laboratory as one of the reptiles, by striking a bottle's edged rubber cover, yielded venom which he will use in his researches that may provide the answer to control of blood pressure and certain types of hemorrhages in human beings.

The ASTROLOGER

To Assist You In Making Wise Decisions

Specialized Study of Your Personal Problems

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 29 to Dec. 19

People born under the sign of "Sagittarius" are usually sportsmen. Their love for activity is one of the outstanding characteristics.

They usually have a happy and intensely good-natured outlook on men and things in general; rather flamboyant in expression, but very ambitious. Other noticeable traits are, honesty, general indendence and frankness.

However, they also have their chief faults, some of which are false pride, over-confidence, lack of dependability and a spirit of revolt against established things and customs.

All professions concerned in anyway with sport or outdoor life and some work and professions connected with law are his preference to any other occupations.

If you are born under this sign, perhaps the following hints will aid you in making a success out of your life. The right choice of objective; encouragement of concentration and the sharp disciplining of the enthusiasms.

Write Prof. Herman, if you are interested in knowing more about yourself and your future.

L. L. P. I received your letter sometime ago, and simply wish to state that I am surprised at the good results and luck that has come to me. I shall lose no time in sending for more of your Prayer and Meditation. My friend in New Jersey has written me just as you said he would, and many other things have come to pass. May others be blessed as I have been.

V. J. P. There is some valuable information which I can give you in regards to your question, but my space is limited. If you will write in for a private reply I will be more than glad to send it by return mail.

I. M. T. Who took the money?

Ans. In answer to your question I find that the person you suspect did take the money. They are weak and the temptation was too great. In the future be more careful with your money.

G. S. Does he mean well?

Ans. It appears that this fellow means you well and intends to give you your ring for Christmas. He will make a good husband and you will not regret your making this decision.

P. B. Will I obtain a job?

Ans. According to your lucky star and guiding planet, you will get a job during the holidays, and it will consist of the work you desire.

M. M. E. Is it really love?

Ans. Concentrating upon your question I find that if you were not sincere in your affections, you would not take up your time with this person. There may not be as much 'romance' as you would desire to have but sometimes this proves to be a steadier love.

E. I. C. A few weeks ago I received my Charm Bag from you. I was to start on a new job, and I was afraid I would not get it. The Charm Bag gave me courage and with its help I knew I could not fail. I got the job, thanks to you. I will send back for a double strength one when the 3 months is up.

D. S. Will He come back?

Ans. It seems that your friend is doing quite well in his present locality, and is hoping that he will be able to send for you the latter part of next year to get married.

C. N. M. Will I have success in the field I am studying in?

Ans. According to your Zodiac you will be successful in agriculture. It appears that you are now studying this subject at P. V. college, and should have no trouble in succeeding.

J. T. Is there a treasure there?

Ans. It comes to me that there is no buried treasurers on your premises, this was told in a joking manner and was not true.

A. S. L. Will I find the book?

Ans. It appears that if you will go back to the library and inquire you will no doubt find that the book has been returned by the person who found it.

FRIENDLY COUNSELLOR

Dear Friendly Counsellor:

I was tremendously interested in your answer to Miss S. J.'s letter appearing in a recent issue of the California Eagle, because I am involved in a similar case.

The woman I would love to marry is also a "business girl". And you certainly hit the nail on the head when you stated that a fairly successful business woman has so many disturbing ways of making a man feel that she doesn't necessarily need him. And if it were not for the fact that I find myself unable to see any other woman I would have given up my business girl friend a long time ago. Then, too, she seems to detect when I'm just about ready to rebel against her eternal preoccupation and "independence", and grows as warm, coy, and sweet as a milk maid. But as soon as all is well again she immediately reverts to the cold austere independent business woman, who find little or no time for pleasure, happiness and love.

It so happens that my business girl has been fortunate in accumulating just a little more of this world's material goods than I. Therefore I often suspect that she entertains a notion that I am attracted to her possessions rather than herself. It is an exasperating situation. Notwithstanding I am madly in love with her.

Would you advise me to have a little more patience with her, or determine to forget her?

Yours with a troubled mind,
"DAN"

ANS.

MY DEAR "DAN":

Yours is the eternal modern story wherein a man permits himself to fall in love with a woman who has managed to acquire more material possessions than he.

My conscience would not be clear should I advise you to abandon hope for a happy consummation of your admittedly trying love affair It would be well for you to remember that a faint heart never won a fair lady. Obviously the lady does care for you or she wouldn't soften when you show signs of rebellion. We are living in an age when every situation in which we find ourselves must be analyzed in the light of past history in order to get proper hearing.

The historical position of women in society has naturally made them selfish and self-seeking. For centuries women were taught that upon marriage they were to be picked up and carried across the threshhold of their new home. And once inside to live there in gracious compliance to her husband's desires and demands for the rest of her natural life. But now that historical evolution has compelled a complete about-face in the situation in many instances, few women find it impossible to rise to the occasion with gallantry. She broods over a "Lost Paradise" and involuntarily looks upon her possessionless suitor with a curious mingling of sentiment, suspicion, feminine scorn and contempt. She blames his lack of material asquisitions on his personal shiftlessness rather than upon changed economic circumstances. Again, she cannot get the notion out of her head that her suitor is far more desirous of her material possessions than herself. There is nothing that enables us to master a situation like understanding. Verily, "Understanding is a well-spring of life."

All medical science is based upon the idea that once the CAUSE is discovered the remedy can easily be determined.

So, lots of luck, DAN.

Recognize Right of Negroes to Attend U. of Kentucky

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Recognition by the Kentucky Governor's Advisory Committee on Negro Education of the right of Negro citizens of that State to attend the University of Kentucky was regarded as a direct result of the campaign waged by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to open the doors of state universities in southern and border states to all persons without regard to color.

The Governor's Committee pased a resolution at a meeting held in Frankfort, Kentucky, last week which recognized the right of Negro citizens to take courses at the University of Kentucky not accepting scholarship aid from the state to take such courses outside of Kentucky.

The committee's report called attention to the U. S. supreme court ruling handed down Dec. 12, 1938 in the case of Lloyd Gaines versus the University of Missouri.

According to an Associated Press report carried in the Louisville Courier Journal, the committee resolution named a subcommittee to draw up plans for the 1940 Kentucky General Assembly which would include a provision to determine the "actual difference" in cost to Negroes taking higher educational courses in states that admit them and to determine how these courses might be provided for them in Kentucky. The comittee also instructed the sub-committee to survey the courses given at the University of Kentucky and the Kentucky State Teachers College that are not duplicated at the state college for Negroes, and to determine how many Negroes desire the higher courses.

President Raymond A. Kent of the University of Louisville, was chosen chairman of the committee in place of President Frank L. McVey, of the University of Kentucky State College for Negroes was named secretary.

THE FIRST PARTY

A young friend of mine came to me the other day all agog. She is going to her first big party and, to make it even more exciting, she is going with an "older" boy. He's finished school and has his first job. But the thrill and excitement is a bit overshadowed by the fear that she might not measure up—that she might seem too young and unsophisticated and awkward. What must she do? Mentally she is counting how many boys she will know there and of that number how many will dance with her. She is figuring out what all the other girls will wear and is panicky lest they outshine her. No slight reassurances will do. She wants a well-ordered routine of how she must look and act from the time she starts dressing until she says goodnight. And since, with the Christmas holidays coming on, many of you are in the same predicament, I thought you might be interested in the advice I gave her.

Youthful Looking Dress Most Appropriate

First of all, if you are going to get a new dress, don't try to get the most sophisticated-type dress possible. There is nothing more absurd than a sixteen-year-old would-be siren. There are many dresses in the shops that are neither little-girl nor woman-of-the-world. Bear in mind that your youth is half your charm, hard though it may be for you to believe now. Dress your age, neither several years younger, nor ten years older. Select a shade that is becoming to you—white and the pale pastels are most becoming to younger skins. When you get older you will have to watch the shades that bring out your better features and do not emphasize the lines and shadows in your face. Now is the time to wear all the colors of the rainbow with a clear conscience.

Make-Up Should Be Natural

And when you have decided on the color and style and selected your dress, give serious thought to cosmetics. Your skin is young clear enough to have a definite beauty of its own. Don't try to hide under a mask of make-up. Choose powder that matches your tone and use it lightly to bring the beauty of your skin, not means of hiding your natural ing. Find a rouge and lipstick blend with your skin tone and these sparingly as well. The ement of the occasion will give natural glow. Remember, in effort to be sophisticated, the most charming women apply make-up so carefully that it is cult to detect. The secret lies selecting the proper shades and plying them carefully and spar

And don't forget your deodo If you do, the unaccustomed ment might wreak havoc to personal charm and your brand dress. It only takes a few mi and is something that no fast woman of any age can affo overlook.

Be sure, too, that your hair meculately clean and well-gro Clean, shining hair is becomi almost any style it is worn. it or have it washed either th of the party or several days vance of the party according to particular requirements.

This just a rough draft of of the externals. In my nex umn I'll give you some hints I hope will add to your poise peace of mind. In the mean if you have any particular ques let me know.

They are to be given dictatorial powers to spend millions of tax money for a project of which they know little or nothing and ARE NOT ACCOUNTABLE TO ANY OFFICIALS OR TO THE PEOPLE FOR THEIR ACTIONS OR EXPENDITURES.

Oh, to be a property-owning friend of one of these inexperienced commisioners! According to the Proposition, the Board will have the power and duty to "buy, lease, or otherwise acquire, rent, use, operate, maintain, manage, control and/or sell or lease motor buses, automotive vehicles, equipment, garages, shops, works and PROPERTY." very snugly hidden, that.

Further powers include that the Commissioners may "acquire by purchase, lease, conditional contract, equipment trust agreement, CONDEMNATION OR OTHERWISE any and all property that may be necessary or convenient for such purposes . . ."

Proposition No. 1, Section 10, subdivision (F) paragraph 3, states that the Commissioners may spend money "for reimbursement to any other department of the city government, PERSON, firm or corporation on account of SERVICES RENDERED, or material supplies, equipment or funds furnished."

Who knows what value these promoters, who ar eto become dictatorial Commisisoners under Proposition 1, will place upon the "services" THEY or their political henchmen have given in promoting this proposition on the December 12 ballot?

Masquerading under false liberal arguments, the advocates of the Municipal bus lines are attempting to bring into Los Angeles' already turbulent political scene a new devastating machine. To be born with a ten million dollar silver spoon stuck squarely between the teeth of very suspicious promoters, this new organization, supposedly a bus line, would function only as an annual parasitic growth on the civic treasury.

The very words of the proposal state that the Municipal Bus set-up will be permitted to fed off tax receipts to the tune of two hundred and fifty thousand dodllars annually.

Expense of government in the past year has shot up tremendously. Last week it was revealed that California's state deficit had surpassed its last peak mark by over two million dollars, the total doubles any similar debt in the state's history. That can mean but one thing: increased state taxation. Due to increase in public service demands, the county and city governments are in dire financial straits, which can mean but one thing: increased county and city taxation. With such a tremendous tax load already in the offing, can the Los Angeles voter afford an additional quarter million dollar expenditure?

Then, of course, there is the cold ten million which must be handed over at the out-set . . .

The notion of Municipal ownership was once fought on moral grounds. The idea was held to be un-American, socialistic, communist, crcak--pot, and screw loose. The nation has grown up since that time. Today, we know that Municipal ownership isn't such a terrible idea, handled properly. Bungled, however, popular ownership can be a financial loadestone heavy enough to weigh down the community for decades.

THE NEW YORK EXPERIMENT

The great city of New York is having a great deal of trouble with its municipally owned subway.

Because construction was handled from the standpoint of politics rather than engineering efficiency, faults in the new system are becoming more apparent as it grows older. The privately owned I. R. T. and B. M. T. subway lines, built more than a quarter century ago, are generally in far superior physical condition than the brand new municipal system. Thousands upon thousands of New York City taxpayer's money was spent to line Municipal subway stations with tile. Already large portions of the tile wall have fallen off. They were eaten away by water sepage, a mishap almost unknown in the private lines.

It has been estimated by no less a New Yorker than Walter Winchell that a ten cents tax is paid for every five cent fare on the municipal subway.

In other words, politics ruined what might have been a fine, efficiently run subway line. As it is, New York taxpayers will be footing the bill for years.

Don't let this happen to Los An...

(Incidentally it would be well to remember that the much maligned L. A. Railway Company employs more Negroes than any other firm in the state of California.)

BONANZAS!

There's still gold in "them thar hills"—plenty of it!

On the same day recently that discovery was made public of one of the richest pockets of gold ore ever found in California, Georgia showed that her hills could produce a rich gold strike, too.

Way down South in Dahlonega, Georgia, a lode of bonanza ore, assaying at $60,000 a ton, has been tapped.

The great strike in Georgia, as in California, occurred in no new gold field. The Dixie bonanza was laid bare in a century-old mine that was long thought to be exhausted. California's rich find was unearthed in an Eldorado county mine that had been worked for more than 50 years. This newly discovered pocket of gold is believed to contain one million dollars worth of high grade ore!

As far as the earth's most sought after metal is concerned, California has never lost her right to the name of "Golden State". The hardy Argonauts and the red-shirted miners of the 'fifties are gone, but great stores of the rich ore they sought still remain. Only last year California's gold production, reaching $45,889,515, was the greatest in value since 1859, and the greatest amount since 1862.

There's no denying there's plenty of gold yet "in them thar hills!"

SHOP AT HOME—NOW!

Christmas 1939 should have a spirit of thanksgiving in it as well, for the period of gay holly and mistletoe looms more brightly this year than in recent seasons past.

National income, shaking off its lethargy, is beginning to climb upward. Roger Babson, analyst of the business world, predicts that America's shoppers will buy more this year than in any holiday season in the history of the country! And Mr. Babson declares his prophecy is not based on rosy hopes but hard facts. Another bit of Youletide cheer: The nation's Christmas Clubs will soon be distributing $350 million to some seven million depositors, with California members claiming a plump $18,900,000 share of that sum. That figure testifies to a seven per cent increase over 1938 in the size of the Christmas Clubs' "basket".

This all ads up to two important facts. Let readers jot them down in their date books: Shop early—and shop at home! With a busy, bustling shopping season just 'round the corner, NOW is the time to get a head start in Christmas buying and avoid the twelfth-hour rush.

Gone are the days when Christmas shopping necessitated journeying to some distant metropolitan center. Local stores have made unstinting efforts to provide shoppers with variety, quality, and low cost in their Christmas stocks. Today the alert independent merchant, like the locally managed network store, have brought big city prices to the home community. Don't forget, either, that it is these stores whose taxes, rent bills, and payrolls, keep the home community a going, thriving concern.

Do your bit toward making it a "Merry Christmas" for all concerned by shopping early—and shopping at home.

ITALIANS WEEP OVER FINNS

Italian Fascists in uniform, staged a protest demonstration against Russia in Rome last Saturday. According to press report, there were more than three-thousand in the crowd which congregated before the Soviet embassy and shouted anti-Soviet epithets. Later, they marched to the Finnish legation and cheered the Finns.

Without doubt, the sympathies of the entire civilized world are with the sturdy, peaceful Finnish people. But this sort of demonstration when staged by Italians seems more or less of a burlesque. It indicates that the Dagoes have little or no sense of humor. After the brutal strafing they inflicted on helpless Ethiopians with their bombing planes—a nation who, by the way, did not possess a single anti-aircraft gun—they certainly exhibit a lot of gall in scoring the Russions for following in their footsteps.

The ways of the civilized white man are truly inscrutable, and the dark and devious path by which he meanders to many of his conclusions is often impassable to the less subtle minds of the darker races. Ethiopia was the tiny end of the long fuse which finally smouldered its way into the European powder-keg. Finland may be the charge of T. N. T. which will explode it, scattering the debris of civilization in every direction. There should be no indecision as to the policy America should follow. The European powers concocted the stew, so let them eat it. We should stand by neutrally, yet ever watchful and see what happens.

A WORD TO THE WISE

Three thousand men will be laid of WPA rolls in L.A. County this month, according to District Administrator Herbert C. Legg. Four thousand more will be discharged in January. Needless to say, a goodly number of these will be members of our group. This is far from being pleasant news just on the eve of Christmas. Many homes will be bereft of Christmas cheer, the hearts of many tiny tots, sad and downcast. All on account of pressure brought to bear by local contractors—according to Legg—which succeeded in inducing the County to refrain from putting up the necessary 25 per cent to cinch the U. S. Government allottment of $500,000 for WPA projects.

Another item in the same newssheet recounted a recent decision of Federal Judge Yankwich, wherein he gave a Mexican laborer two years in Federal prison. The case was one in which a bank-clerk gave a Mexican $2700 too much money when he turned in his bank-book recently. Judge Yankwich explained his decision by citing Title 12, Section 588.B., Sub A of the U. S. Penal code. It reads: "Whoever shall take and carry away with intent to steal or purloin any property or money or any other thing of value exceeding $50, belonging to or in the custody of any bank, shall be fined not more than $5000 or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both."

This law in effect, throws the whole weight and majesty of the Federal Government behind every bank in the United States, placing them practically in the same category as the Postoffice department.

A fine law, no doubt, designed to give accumulated capital sterling safeguards. But it appears to this writer that it would be equally as fine for the Government to afford its unfortunate citizens on relief, similar protection by placing a stiff penalty on any selfish lobbying interest that seeks to obstruct the Federal Government in its efforts to aid its needy citizens. If it were not for the constant, strenuous efforts of the People ,every bank in the U. S. A. would soon have to go on Relief. Surely the Creators should be at least accounted of as much importance as that which they themselves created.

"UNFORGETTABLE SCENE"

Dear Editor:

As you may doubtless know, there is afoot an exceptionally fine movement emanating in Washington, D. C. to record in mural form Marian Anderson's historic Easter Sunday concert to be placed in onc of the government buildings in the Nation's Capital. We citizens the country over are being asked to contribute to the fund necessary for the national anonymous competition open to all American artists and conducted by the Section of the Fine Arts of the Treasury Department. Mr. Edward Bruce, chairman of the Marian Anderson Murial Fund Committee, has written to me to ask if I would assist in the Los Angeles area. Through your columns I am passing on this splendid appeal to the citizens of Los Angeles and surrounding communities.

Any contribution, large or small, will be greatly appreciated. The drive will last from Dec. 10 until Dec. 20. During that time I am asking contributors to either send donations to me, at 2179 W. 28th Street, or to you, at the Eagle office. Our contribution must be in Washington no later than Dec. 25. Needless to add, may I ask veryone to help make our local sum a large one?

Let the youth of America join in the triumphant parade of Democracy!

Yours very truly,

CHARLES A. BLACK

Dear Editor:

Permit me through your wonderful weekly to give what I believe a true and unbiased analysis of the employes of the division of garbage collection. By not being an expert writer, it will be hard for me to put in written words the true circumstances and what is wrong with this group of public employes.

For more than a decade for business reasons, I have been associated with these employes and have become intimately acquainted with them and their problems, have been to their organization meetings, known most of them by name, have offered my humble advice when trouble arose.

I have seen the division grow from a few employes with the mule-drawn wagon to a three-ton truck, carrying three men as a crew, one driver, two loaders. I have seen them go from six a. m. to nine p. m., at which time they were being paid for overtime that gave them, although many long hours of labor, a chance to make a sustaining wage. I saw them lose this extra pay and heard them complain thereof. I saw them go from the three-man truck to the present two-man truck, which was believed at the beginning, by some, to be impossible of operating successfully and was aimed directly at reducing the personnel by making the driver load. This proved to be just the opposite, for where they had one big three-man truck, they put from two to three two-men trucks, thus making way for promotions for old loaders who otherwise would never have gotten the chance.

This proved of great advantage to the group as a whole, but at first the old drivers who seem to control the organization opposed this truck without any sympathetic thought to his fellow loader, and the loaders, trying to be loyal to their organization, joined in the opposition.

Then up popped the proposal for the one-man truck. This time the old driver knew his time was up if it went through. He would either be forced to leave his safe, comfortable seat and load, or use every means at his command to block it regardless of what or who it cost. Hence, they called upon every civic leader of the race, who immediately gave their support without making a thorough investigation, which resulted in making it a political issue, and as they have many times more, made themselves easy prey and stepping stones for selfish office-seeking politicians. They could have, under wise and unselfish guidance, used this as a stepping stone to climb high on the economic ladder.

One of these employes told me that public officials for 20 years have acknowledged that employes in this division work harder and get less pay than any other group of city employes. If the group had wise and progressive leadership, it could easily capitalize on this acknowledgement, and get the division reclassified and get wages and everything they were entitled to. He claimed that instead of opposing the one-man trucks on the ground that it would reduce the personnel, a plan should have been drawn up, asking for reclassification of the division and half the saving this system would make. This, he claims, would either give them a decent wage, destroy the proposal or give them a bloc against political exploitation. He advised me to watch results of this fight and see if the politicians don't take advantage of the situation.

Sure enough, five weeks from the day he gave his arguments, I saw a line of men at the bulletin board where one of them was pasting an article of a truck crew and Commissioner Borough. On the same sheet was a long article by the Commissioner, which brought smiles from most of the men. Some claimed that the whole thing was a political gesture. Some that perhaps are better fighting soldiers than diplomats, yelled out, "Join the Union." Of course this brought silence. The word "Union" seems to create great confusion.

It has been acknowledged that the collection of garbage is as important to the welfare of city or community as police and fire protection. Then why not put it in the same wage category? To this, I believe the public as a whole, will agree if the group doing the work will prepare and make a proper presentation. There seems to be no better way of doing this than by affiliating with trade unions.

This is my honest version of this group and their problems.

DERIVES PLEASURE AND PROFIT

Dear Editor:

I listen with the greatest pleasure and profit to the coments of Mrs. C. A. Bass, editor of the California Eagle. Her news is so informative and so forcibly delivered that I am requesting that you give your radio audience the pleasure of hearing more of her.

Her messages are timely, spiritual, intellectual and highly heartening in such times as these. I shall look forward to hearing her often in spiritual interpretations and application of things current at home and abroad in this world of tumult and its culminating effect on the human family.

Dear Editor:

I have been loaned to the Census Bureau for a short while by the National Urban League and OPPORTUNITY magazine for the purpose of impressing upon the Negro public the importance of full and honest cooperation with the enumerators who will take the 16th Census of the United States early in 1940.

I am sending you herewith a bulletin of general information about this Census, with the suggestion that you publish in your news columns whatever you feel will be of importance to your readers, and at the same time point out editorially the confidential nature of all Census information and the precautions taken to prevent its misuse.

Negroes will have to stand for the next ten years on their record as revealed by the approaching Census. These figures will be an important factor in determining insurance rates, the extension of governmental assistance on the basis of need, and other economic considerations. Therefore I feel that this is a matter of grave importance and would deeply appreciate any cooperation that you may extend.

Sincerely yours,
EDWARD LAWSON,
Consultant, Dept. of Census.

I Think That
By Melvin C. Webb

I THINK THAT—The Negro is still America's major problem, but with the modern freedoms, liberties, and education that we as modern Negroes enjoy, we are apt to forget existing struggles and obstacles that still must be overcome.

We Negroes have had legal freedom some three quarters of a century. Generally speaking, the progress of the black man has been amazing. I, too, am of this opinion, but I also think that we have been partially if not entirely swept along with the great tide of modern progress. I do not intend to take honor from those who have sacrificed with their life blood that we might take our rightful place alongside the other races of the world. But I do contend that each Negro in his individual freedom and right today has forgotten that there is yet work to be done. I maintain and there is ample proof that the modern Negro is forgetting his Race individuality and is tending toward imitation of his white brother in frivolities.

The Negro has lost many of his excellent racial quarities because has had to undergo the taunts and ridicule of the white man who has tabooed, made fun of, shunned, scorned and done all in his power to make him feel as tho he were vile and unimportant. This has been going on for decades, and the effect has been most demoralizing. True enough we would do well to mimic some of the characteristics of the whites, for example, their "stick-tuitive-ness" until perfection is reached.—(In our struggle to be acclaimed, we are apt to be self satisfied with the first success), their ability to accept leadership in order that a great goal be attained and other such qualities.

The Negro, as a descendent of the natives of Africa, has certain traits and qualities that equal in character and progress those of any race. We must remember that we have nothing of which to be ashamed.

There are three forces that are constantly working in our favor, amalgamation and time.

Education elevates one's mind making one realize there are far better things to be had from life than petty jealousies, racial hatred and self-pity.

Amalgamation is a force that is brought about through a process of Osmosis. For countless years this force has been at work. We are able to perceive from the history of the United States that things are upon the upward trend.,

Time—the two aforementioned forces are ones over which we have the least control. The third is an instrument with which we have the power to either use to our advantage or to our disadvantage. Remember that ancient adage, "Time brings about many changes" but for those changes to be favorable for us, we must do that which is conducive to bringing this about. We must be so well educated that when mingling with other races our conduct and conversation should be of such a nature to merit respect. We should realize that the concensus of opinion is that the Negro is still in the stages of illiteracy and ignorance. We know how wrong this is and it is our duty to correct this misthought.

I do not propose any concrete solution to these problems but rather would like to recall to your minds those conditions that exist and ask why some reasonable solution isn't forthcoming. We have a number of brilliant Negroes in this city and it has puzzled me no end why they do not seek each other out and combine their knowledge for the benefit of the common cause. The race is more important than the individual member.

Let us recall the Marcus Garvey proposal. What a pity we were not able to realize the tremendous opportunity in this plan. Had the American Negro gone back to Africa, Negroes who had been enrolled in the army here would have had a chance to exercise his knowledge to the fullest. Build up an army that would have been second to none. Germany issued a statement after the world war saving how courageous and heroic the Negro soldier was in battle.

The Negro sailors, who at the present are finishing their courses on American battleships, would be capable of putting a fleet on the ocean second to none.

Our doctors and scientists would have been able to contribute their share to the world of medical science. Our lawyers would have been able to formulate a governing plan. But there was a hitch somewhere. Because of the inability of the Negro to take a definite stand on anything, a great opportunity was lost.

Every successful race has certain traits for which it is known. The Germans are patient and plodding, the English diplomatic, the Oriental steadfast, united, and the Negro—— for their ability to do NOTHING!

It is true a precious few are in possession of the majority of the wealth of this world. Why? Because they used diplomacy and every conceivable way and means of accomplishing their motive. Lest we forget, these objects of man's desires are still upon and in this earth. Let us then plan some way to obtain for us and our posterity a place on God's earth.

The Foreign Stamp of Approval

From the New York Age

The Negro Press is hailing a "new" artist in the person of Miss Dorothy Maynor, soprano, who made her New York debut on Nov. 19. Last summer Miss Maynor sang before Serge Koussevitsky, famed director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and was hailed by him a a "native Flagstad." Since that time, she has been receiving enconniums from the white and Negro press and the musical world in general.

We do not begrudge Miss Maynor the honors she is receiving and feel that after twelve years of study, she is but receiving a reward long overdue. What we would like to point out, however, is the tendency on the part of our music critics and the public generally to hesitate about according full recognition to an artist until she has been abroad and been acclaimed or has received the plaudits of some foreign musician in this country.

Miss Maynor was a discovery of Dr. R. Nathaniel Dett, now head of the Department of Music of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., but that time director of the Department of Music at Hampton Institute. She was soloist with the famous Hampton choir which went on a European tour in 1929. She was encouraged by Hampton friends to study at the Westminster School at Princeton, N. J., and under private tutors until her art was fully developed.

In similar manner, Prof. Arthur Calhoun, a music teacher now living in Harlem, laid the foundation for Roland Hayes' future success as a concert artist; and Negro friends in Philadeuphia helped Marian Anderson get her start. But neither the Negro or white public was ready to acclaim these artists until they had won a foreign stamp of approval.

We hope that the day will come when we shall feel confident to recognize musical genius when we see it.

by c. a. b.

TUESDAY, the Board of Public Works, consisting of Carl B. Wirsching, Reuben W. Borough, Edwin B. Cassidy, B. L. Taylor, and Col. C. B. Worsnop, conducted an investigation into alleged irregularities in the street Maintenance Dept.

Chief bone of contention was the accusation that one executive, night superintendent of a dump yard, has been profane and unreasonably violent in the discharge of his duties. Under this man are many veteran Negro employees of the street Maintenance Dept. It is asserted that he often used insulting epithets when addressing these men.

Tuesday's investigation has been in the offing for many months. Grapevine reports of dissention in the department have been coming through for a the inquiry represented only the final explosion.

One of the highlights of the hearing was testimony taken from certain City Councilmen. In all cases ,the testifying Councilmen gave the offender a clean slate. To their knowledge, stated the civic legislators, he is a very competent workman and a credit to the Maintenance department.

However, later evidence revealed that special attention had been given sidewalks and streets fronting Councilmen's homes through the accused official. There were, as a result, some highly embarrassed public servants who somewhat ungraciously beat a retreat from the hearing.

This condition in the Street Maintenance Department is something that should receive the attention of all earnest citizens. Despite the fact that jobs in the department are predominantly menial, there is no excuse for the profanity and persecuton to which many workers have been subjected. All street cleaning and maintenance workers in Los Angeles are Civil Service Employes and are entitled to the respect of their superiors. If assertions concerning the foreman are true, there is nothing in our civic life more disgraceful. When men work hard earning their daily bread, they are fulfilling a fundamental job in organized society. To rob a worker of dignity in his labor is an unpardonable insult to all American ideals of justice and fair-play.

Aside from the specific Walker case, there have been rumors recently that the Street Maintenance Dept. is wallowing i. a maze of incompetence. Some sources hold that only the experience and integrity of the common worker is sustaining the good reputation of this department. Inefficiency and bungling are charges hurled at Superintendents. It is pointed out that yards which once worked smoothly under a single foreman now suffer the effects of two or three "bosses"--incompetent triumverates that often issue vague and conflicting orders.

Be that as it may Tuesday's revelations are food for thought, very serious thought. It was revealed, you recall, that special attention had been given sidewalks and streets fronting the homes of City Councilmen. Such a procedure is a violation of the very spirit of public works. There can be very little respect for superior authorities on the part of common workmen if they perceive "higher-ups" scurrying for favor through such a petty medium.

To me, personally, the idea of Councilmen receiving special attention from the street maintenance department is especially repugnant. For many years I haev lived and conducted a business on the Eastside of this city,--in the heart of the area known as the "Central Avenue District." In all these years, there has never been adequate sanitation, street care, or cleaning equipment here. The area is one of the most thickly populated in Los Angeles. Congestion is the rule, not the exception. If any part of our great metropolis needed "special attention" it was —and is--the Central Avenue District. Yet, we find at a public hearing that City Councilmen, probably living in the more select neghborhoods, have been receiving special favors from the street cleaning brigade.

Here on the Eastside, a little added attention might result in tangible benefits: the lessening of disease and death, provision of extra play areas for children, and the general moral uplift imparted by a prettier community. To me, who must see the shocking lack of proper sanitation in the Central Avenue District daily, the special attention given City Councilmen is an unspeakable injustice.

When we think of the vital necessity for increased work by the street cleaning department East of Avalon, any corruption in this division of city government becomes a major disaster.

LeSesnes in Court Tiff

Edna LeSesne Sues for Divorce

Charges Set Forth in Previous Actions Ruled 'Immaterial'

The blow, allegedly given Mrs. Edna Comathiere LeSesne, prominent society matron, by her husband, Harold LeSesne, last June 19, which resulted in the loss of her eye, does not count against LeSesne in the divorce suit filed against him and heard in Superior Court this week.

Because the LeSesnes, who are suing each other for divorce, became reconciled last July 9 and on Sept. 8, dismissed their cases, Presiding Judge Clarence M. Hanson last week ruled as "immaterial" any charges set forth in the previous complaints.

Facing this tenuous legal web this week were attorneys for both parties, Lloyd C. Griffith of the Eastside firm of Griffith and Griffith, counsel for Mrs. LeSesne, and James B. Fredericks of the legal staff of the Southern California Edison company, for which his client, LeSesne, works.

MISSIONARY'S SISTER

Charging cruelty and infidelity, Mrs. LeSesne, member of a prominent Southern California family, is suing LeSesne for divorce. A social worker, Mrs. LeSesne is the sister of Dr. William R. Carter, general Baptist missionary and of Mrs. Vernita Moore, member of the State Board of Cosmetology.

LeSesne, in a cross complaint, seeks annulment of the marriage, on the grounds that Mrs. LsSesne was not divorced from her first husband when she married him. The couple married in 1937. They resided before the separation at 1209 W. 36th street.

Their attempts at reconciliation fruitless, the LeSesnes filed new suits for divorce and annulment one day after dismissing their previous suits, it was learned this week. In his decision, handed down last Wednesday, Judge Hanson, presiding over the law and motions court of the Superior Court, ruled that they cannot claim any of the injuries listed in the previous complaints as they "are immaterial" to present divorce action.

Griffith explained to curious reporters this week that Mrs. LeSesne, the former wife of A. B. Comathelere, New York actor, is not liable to bigamy, if her husband's claim is proven true, because of the California Statute of Limitations, which provides that a person may not be accused of bigamy if three years or more elapsed between the marriages.

Chicago Ex-Convict Nabbed Here

Robs Local Clothing Store; Caught With Junk at Junkyard

Miles Barner, ex-convict from Chicago, pulled one job too many last Saturday night.

On Oct. 4, Barner walked into a clothing store at 2415 S. Central avenue, ordered a complete new outfit, changed into the new clothes, and politely requested that the contents of the cash register be forwarded to him. After tying up two protesters, Barnum ransacked the cash register and started to leave. At this point, he encountered customer J. H. Henderson, who suspected trouble. A healthy fist fight ensued, with the criminal emerging victorious—or, at least, absent.

The robbery was reported to Sherlocks at Newton Street Police station, but nothing was seen of Barnum until Saturday night, when he was apprehended illegally removing junk from the Beacon Truck Wrecking Company at 32nd and Hooper.

Upon booking, he was recognized as the culprit of the clothing store and now faces a substantial prison term.

So, you see, Barnum was ruined at a wrecking yard.

Laborer Held As Assault, Rape Suspect

Seen by the woman he allegedly attempted to attack the day before, Obie Lewis, 27-year old laborer of 1474 East 42nd street, was arrested and booked Monday afternoon at City Hall by Newton Street officers C. S. Broady and E. L. Conway on suspicion of attempted rape and assault, police said today.

Mrs. Ernestine Jones, 1132 East 22nd street, told police that Lewis had attempted to ravish her following a card party early Sunday morning at which both were guests.

Riding to her home with Lewis and an unnamed driver, Mrs. Jones said that when the car stopped for Lewis to get out he assertedly forced her to get out also, after a struggle. Lewis is said to have asked the driver to join him in the contemplated act but he drove away.

Upon the approach of another car, the attention of which was attracted by Mrs. Jones' screams, Lewis fled before being successful in his attempt, she told police.

France Recruits Battalions of Colonials for Infantry

PARIS, Dec. 14. (By Nancy Cunard for ANP)—Announcing that a fuller report would be made public on the part which French colonial troops are playing in the war, Monsieur Mandel, French minister of colonies, recently said "Our Empire constitutes one of the main elements of the strength of France" and referred to "the magnificent effort furnished by North Africa."

Over 3,441,000 tons of various products, said the minister, had been supplied by the colonies between 1914 and 1918, while, by the beginning of September last a total of 3,500,000 tons had been arranged for and was available. This comprised things as different as wood, coal, rubber, cereals, oils, tea, cocoa, etc.

The colonial minister also gave out that the French government had increased the military manpower in its colonies by nearly 50 per cent and that 100 battalions of exclusively colonial soldiers had been recruited for the infantry alone. From Indo-China, Tonkin, a first contingent of 70,000 workers have been sent for.

San Diego Boy Saved By Rare Surgery; He's Thankful

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 14—No longer does Bernard Pollard, 19-year old Negro boy of Dehesa, look forward to an untimely death. Today he is happy, free from the ravages of arterio-venous aneurysm.

Last August Bernard was hunting squirrels near his backcountry home when the gun accidentally was discharged, the bullet penetrating his thigh. The result was a hole in the femoral artery and vein. Left unattended, an early death would result.

The condition known as arterio-venous aneurysm, is corrected only after a delicate operation. On Nov. 15, Dr. Emile Holman, professor of surgery, Stanford university, and world renowned authority on arterio-venous aneurysm, was in San Diego to address physicians of the County Medical society.

Bernard's case was called to his attention, and at the suggestion of local doctors, the visiting physician agreed to perform the needed operation.

Not only did this decision provide for Bernard the best surgical talent in this part of the nation for his affliction, but it provided local physicians the opportunity to witness the technique used by Holman. A preliminary examination by Holman disclosed that local attending physicians had made a perfect diagnosis and that their decision to operate within a few days was in accord with the latest known scientific methods of correcting the comparatively rare condition.

OPERATION SUCCESS

Bernard was moved to Mercy hospital, where Holman successfully removed a section of the femoral artery and vein and tied the ends, thus permitting free flow of blood to the boy's leg through new arteries and veins which had formed since the injury.

Bernard's heart, which had become dilated an inch in diameter as result of the injury, now is nearly normal. The operation had been successful.

Today Bernard is thankful—thankful to Holman, to local physicians who invited him to perform the operation, and to Mercy hospital for its operating room facilities and the room afforded him until he had recovered sufficiently to be moved home.

Avenue Dentist Charged With Misleading Public

Decision of the Board of Dental Examners to revoke the license of Dentist Harry Smulson was upheld Tuesday by an opinion from Judge Emmet H. Wilson of the Superior Court.

In a heated bout before the Board recently, Smulson's right to practice his profession was removed for a period of two years. He was accused of placing advertisement containing "statements tending to deceive or mislead the public, and claims of professional superiority."

Judge Wilson's opinion will stand as precedent, and observers believe will tend to eliminate false or exaggerated advertising of dental services.

Dr. Smulson's advertising copy was said to have contained the statements "plates personally designed for you by Dr. Smulson" . . . wrinkles around the mouth are "given painstaking care in the making of dental plates by Dr. Smulson", and that the plates were made "after Smulson personally takes impressions and makes a study of your case."

According to Judge Wilson opinion at least one witness tified that an impression taken and a plate made for which did not fit and a sec plate was made, all by some other than Dr. Smulson; that did not know the name of person who did her work, had no knowledge of the fact he was not Dr. Smulson the work was completed. person's plate was not "pers ally designed" by petitioner, was not given "painstaking ca or any care by him, and he not personally take the impression or make any study of case.

WM. GREEN DUCKS BEHIND RED ISSUE IN COVERING UP JIM CROW -- NAACP

Charge AFL Proxy Stooped to Red-Baiting in Effort to Stymie NAACP Probe in Florida

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—That William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, stooped to Red-baiting in an effort to "stymie" an investigation conducted by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People into Jim Crow practices of A. F. of L. shipbuilding unions in Tampa, Florida, resulting in the loss of 500 jobs to Negro union men, was charged here today by Walter White, secretary of the Association.

In a letter sent to Green, White refers to a statement made earlier by A. F. of L. head, in which he said that Frank McCallister, secretary of the Florida branch of the Workers Defense League, was a Communist.

According to a previous letter in which he stated that the A. F. of L. could have nothing to do with Communists, Green quotes an A. F. of L. investigator whom he sent to Florida to probe the Jim Crow union conditions, as saying that Walter White was unable to meet Charles Silva, president of the A. F. of L. trades council in Tampa last Summer to discuss the Jim Crow problem in the trade unions there because Frank McCallister made the appointment and Silva had always refused to deal with McCallister because the latter was a Communist.

"A LIE"

Branding the accusaton as "a lie", White pointed out that Silva, not only knew McCallister, but gave as the real reason for his not wanting to talk to White the fact that he "did not want to talk to any Negro from Washington." "This is the South", White quoted Silva as saying, "and we know how to handle situations like this down here."

Disposing of the Communist accusations made in Green's letter, the NAACP secretary pointed out that the A. F. of L. investigator's report of the rotten conditions in the AF of L unions in Tampa was not only untrue, but a "whitewash".

Following an investigation last July, when White went to Tampa to investigate the matter, the NAACP has sought to get the AF of L to conduct an investigation of the freezing out of 500 Negro AF of L union members who formerly worked in the Florida shipyards.

The unionsinvolved are local 1207 of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union of America, whcih was formed in May, 1938 in Tampa after 13 workers, 12 of whom were Negroes, went out on strike against the Tampa Shipbuilding Compnay.

Pay Poll Tax on Installments

RICHMOND (Va.) Dec. 14. (ANP)—Because many eligible voters cannot pay their poll tax of $1.50 in a lump sum, the City Democratic league and local NAACP have worked out monthly installment plan.

Members of civic and social groups pay into their organization treasuries 10 cents monthly. When the deadline for paying poll taxes arrives, organization officials return the money to members in a lump sum to enable them to qualify for voting. Because of this, Negro registration here for 1939 seems destined to set an all-time high.

Elk High-ups in Heated Debate

BAYONNE (N. J.) Dec. 14. (ANP)—A verbal flare-up in which Deputy J. Mercer Burrell of N. J. Elks and former exalted ruler of Newark Elks James H. Fultz, contested against each other over the rulings of Perry W. Howard, grand legal advisor, caused a disturbance at the Past Exalted Rulers counsel of Northern New Jersey in Bayonne at the Pride of Bayonne lodge last week. The argument was so heated that Burrell offered to fight Fultz with his fists.

The conference was held pertaining to J. Finley Wilson's ruling after the recent grand lodge that all life memberships would be abolished as Howard had brought to his attention that, according to the by-laws and constitution, there is no provision for them.

Many Join MRA Movement

NEW YORK, Dec. 14. (ANP)—Many Negroes are joining the Moral Re-Armament movement, better known as the Oxford movement, it was revealed here last week.

Among the newest colored recruits is Mrs. Arenia Mallory Belden, field secretary for Bethune-Cookman college and assistant to Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune. Mrs Bethune is also a member.

Freed were William Hazel, superintendent of the State Training school of Boley, charged with forgery and W. C. Owens, charged with neglect as an election official.

Makes Record as Owner of Rosana Frock Shop Here

Mrs. Ruth Ennis, only Negro owner of a Rosana Frock Shop, located at 4359 S. Central avenue, has proved again that Negroes can compete with white businesses. Since Mrs. Ennis purchased the Los Angeles Rosana store last August, her store has regularly been leading in sales over all the Rosana located throughout the Western States.

The shop is the only outlet in this city for Rosana dresses. This store also carries many Mode O' Day styles in dresses, slips and hosiery.

For 7 years, Mrs. Ennis has worked on the Avenue and is known for her pleasant and efficient service. She was employed five years at the Quality Shoppe and for the past two years had managed successfully the shop which she is now the owner. Her business career started at the age of 16 in the office of her father, S. B. May, real estate agent. The commercial course which she took at Jefferson High school has been a great benefit, Mrs. Ennis stated.

Employed in the store at the present time are Mrs. Evangeline Davis-Spear and Miss Catherine May.

Prisons Give Editor His Best Talent

Qualified Employes Come from Prisons, Roscoe Dunjee Says

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 14.—"Penitentiaries today furnish me more qualified employees than our schools and colleges", declared Editor Roscoe Dunjee of the Oklahoma Black Dispatch, in an address last week at the Oklahoma conference of the A. M. E. church.

"A young man came into my office yesterday and said he would like to be my staff photographer and said he knew he could do the work," Dunjee stated.

'I asked him where he learned the art and he said, 'Well, I just got back."

'I asked him what he meant by that and he said, 'I have just returned from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth.."

"The young man went on to tell me that while in prison, he also learned the cleaning and dyeing business.

"Five years ago when I was in dire need of a linotype operator and after I had written several of our schools, without the desired results, I received a letter from the Kansas reformatory and from a young man who said he had learned the printing trade while confined there. He stated that he was eligible for parole if someone would offer him gainful employment.

'I signed a formal request for this young man's parole," said the editor of the Black Dispatch, "and in a few days I had one of the best linotype operators in my employ it has even been my pleasure to secure.

WINS 2ND AWARD

NEW YORK, Dec. 14. (C)—DETECTIVE JOHN E. ROBERTS, above, who last year became the first Negro to win a Police Departmental Medal of Honor, received last week an award of honorable mention, along with two other colored officers in the same honors category, Detective Sidney S. Cusberth and Patrolman Sanford W. Johnson. Cusberth, Roberts and another patrolman entered an apartment under gun fire and killed a man who had barricaded himself behind furniture after slaying a friend in the same apartment. Johnson is cited as having assisted two other policemen in killing three bandits who were attempting to hold up a cellar apartment in Harlem.

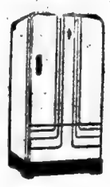
Burden of Fight for Rights Rests on Negro, White Says

DURHAM (N. C.) Dec. 14.—Because wealthy white philanthropists are less and less willing to spend money for purposes that are calculated to disturb the status quo, the only hope of carrying forward an uncompromising fight to gain equality of educational opportunity for Negro citizens in this country lies within the broad ranks of the Negroes themselves.

This was the view expressed by Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in a speech delivered here Thursday, before an education conference sponsored by the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for Negroes.

Pointing to the Rockefeller-sponsored General Education Board, and the Carnegie Corporation as examples of huge foundations whose 1938 annual reports show that they are spending principal and not interest with a view to eventual liquidation of their resources for philanthropic purposes, White told the educators that the nation-wide drive to open the doors of higher education to Negroes in southern and border states is facing a crisis unless Negroes themselves bear a major portion of the financial burden.

GETS 4TH SETBACK IN RAPE HEARING



NEW YORK, Dec. 14—The fourth postponement of a hearing will assure Willie Lee Lewis, 14-year old youngster, whom the Georgia authorities are seeking to extradite from New York to stand trial on a charge of rape, another chance, according to Donald Crichton, who is defending him for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Crichton said hearing has been postponed until Dec. 20.

Library Exhibit on Life of Paul Laurence Dunbar at AU

ATLANTA, Dec. 14—The fourth in a series of traveling exhibits on the Negro in American life, which is available to the schools in the Atlanta University system by the Case Extension Circuit Cooperative of New York, opened in the foyer of the Atlanta University library Dec. 10, and is on view through Dec. 28. The current exhibit concerns the life of Paul Laurence Dunbar.

Selection of the great poet's life was chosen because he is typical of the period in which he lived. All of the material on view was taken from the collection of the 135th Street Branch of the New York Public Library.

Dunbar was associated with many eminent personalities of his day. Frederick Douglas employed him when he was a penniless writer to serve as clerk for the Haitian Exhibit of the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago. William Dean Howells, leading literary critic of the day and Dunbar's greatest literary friend, devoted his entire column in Harper's Weekly of June 28, 1896, to the then unknown poet.

VOLUMES ON EXHIBIT

Dunbar's first published work, "Oak and Ivy," appeared in 1892. This volume of poems was followed by 12 others. In the current exhibit are two of the most popular in this group: "Lyrics of Lowly Life" and "Lyrics of Sunshine and Shadow." The latter was one of the events in the history of American Negro literature. The introduction was written by William Dean Howells.

Though Dunbar's reputation as a writer rests upon his poetry, he wrote four novels. In the exhibit are two of these: "The Sport of the Gods" and "The Uncalled." The latter first appeared in Lippincott's Magazine in 1898.

Included in the exhibit are a photograph of Dunbar, an advance! poster of one of his first appearances after he became famous, and a picture of the bronze plate marking his grave in the Woodland Cemetery in Dayton, Ohio.

Convicted Killer of Lincoln U. Student Gets Chair Jan. 8

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Death in the electric chair during the week of Jan. 8, was meted out Monday to Wally Paige, 23 year old convicted killer of Bobby Forbes, Lincoln university student.

In a sensational case that has gripped Harlem interest since trial began Nov. 6, Paige, called one of the most 'cold-blooded' killers on record, was convicted by a "blue ribbon" jury of first degree murder.

For the first time in New York history, conducting the prosecution of a major murder trial was a Negro Deputy District Attorney Francis E. Rivers.

JUSTICE DONE

"I think justice has been done and although it won't bring Bobby back, the handling of such people for like crimes might make a Harlem a better place to live," commented Frank Forbes, athletic director and father of the slain youth.

Young Forbes was murdered Dec. 29 of last year, while at home for the Christmas holidays. With friends, the youth had gone three days before the murder to a basketball game at the 135th street YMCA. At the game an argument started with Paige and Forbes as principals, but was apparently settled.

Three days later, however, as young Forbes was walking on 8th avenue in Harlem with Miss Julia Bennett, he was attacked by two youths, one of them identified as Paige, and stabbed to death.

Miss Bennet, one of the State's most important witnesses, died suddenly and under mysterious circumstances two days before she was scheduled to be called as witness. Another of the State's witnesses, Miss Gloria Rahm, an eyewitness, moved suddenly to the West Indies.

Wilbur Paige, brother of Wally, is in Sing Sing prison, under sentence of 10-20 years for a murder committed in a restaurant in 1935.

Housewives Present Xmas Skit

An interesting skit, "What's In Your Christmas Basket" was presented by the Literary department of the Thrifty Housewives' club at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Taylor, 5127½ McKinley avenue.

Guests lauded club members for the excellent presentation of the "intangible values of the Spirit of Christmas".

Guest soloist, Mrs. Marguerite Boston, climaxed the program, singing traditional carols. She was accompanied by Mrs. Zula Somerville, teacher at the Gray Conservatory of Music.

Other guests present were: Mrs. Margaret Taylor of Baton Rouge, La.; Mrs. Ardelia Anglin, first vice president of the California State Federation of Colored Women's clubs; Mrs. Dora Maynard, club mother, spoke on "Love and the Spirit of Unity in the Club". A delicious chicken luncheon was served by the hostess.

Annual Christmas dinner of the club will be held in the Blue Room of the Clark Hotel, it was announced.

● BRIDGE POINTS

In the realm of masterful bridge, there are only two types of players, the strategist and orthodox. The former versus the latter in the course of a normal number of rubbers will usually emerge the victor, because he is able to compare relative values and use them to his advantage. E. O. Morris submitted the following hand for the correct response to a Jump Over Call example:

South, one heart; West, two spades; North, pass; East, holding S. XX H. XX D. K10XXXX C. XXX. A pass is correct for the strictly orthodox since the hand does not conform to any of the correct responses:

(A) 3 trumps and a singleton, or three trumps with ½ H. T. and a doubleton to raise.

(B) With one H. T. or more bid N. T. if the hand does not contain adequate trump support or a biddable suit with the required H. T. However this bid does not necessarily show opponent's suit stopped.

(C) With ½H. T. and a bidable suit, even though you have adequate trump support, bid your suit first since this bid guarantees a minimum of 1½ H. T. and is the most encouraging bid at the same level or one higher, except a N. T. bid at a higher level.

The strategist would respond with 2 N. T. because this would be the lesser of two evils between a pass and a ½H. T. short. Since partner showed a minimum of 3½ H. T. and two 5 card bidable suits, or a strong rebidable suit, opponents should bid hearts. Other suit would have to be diamonds or clubs. So you see the open, for if he has to rebid in the same suit the consequence insofar as relative values of loss and gain is concerned, the percentage is in the responder's favor.

—NOTE—

The public is invited to the L. A. School of Bridge dinner Saturday night, 5208 Latham St. Duplicate and Contract will be played. Phone Ye Scribe, CE. 25554 for any information concerning duplicate play.

Big Bean Feed to Climax Year's Work at 28th St. Y

Climaxing the year, the 28th Street Branch YMCA is preparing to stage a mammoth bean feed Dec. 30. Beans will be served to free to all men and boys.

The bean feed is expected to be the biggest event put on by the local "Y" in several years. The last was a successful big picnic at South Park in 1935.

ELABORATE PROGRAM

For the afternoon's entertainment, several interesting events will be staged. Among them will be swimming pool demonstrations and competition including open swim periods for those who attend. In addition to Ralph Cooper and George Harpole acting as the masters of ceremony, singers, dancers, comedians, gymnasts, wrestlers and boxers of note will perform.

FOOTBALL STARS

UCLA's football stars will be invited to appear as special guests. Most of the colored stars of that team have been and are yet members of the 28th Street YMCA. Kenny Washington and Woody Strode, along with other college men, attended the 28th Street "Y" summer camp at Little Green Valley as camp counselors in 1937. They were also admitted to the YMCA Raggers Society, a national honor organization in the YMCA. Incidentally, the "Y" is looking to this event as sort of a home coming occasion for all its Raggers and old members.

"The primary and sole motive for this affair is to draw as many men and boys to the "Y" as possible. It is not a money making affair and there will be no charge for admission, eats, entertainment or participation in events," officials stated.

Askew-Moss Nuptials Were in Error!

A report of the Askew-Moss nuptials, (EAGLE, Dec. 7) erred in several instances. The former Miss Sarah Askew is not the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan C. Askew, but to Mr. and Mrs. Ben C. Askew. The Askews do not live in Los Angeles, but in Columbus, Ga. and were not present at the ceremony, performed not at their home, but at the home of Mrs. Ludie Whiteside, with whom the bride had been living.

Father Jinkins of the Holy Cross Catholic church performed the ceremony.

For these and sundry errors, the EAGLE apologizes. . .

* The salaries and wages paid to Edison employees in 1938 amounted to $24,396 a day, or nearly nine million dollars for the year. Much of this money was spent in Edison territory for the daily necessities of life—food, shelter and clothing—and for automobiles, entertainment and ice cream, too. Since 1910, the Edison payroll has more than tripled, yet this increase is not shown in electric rates, for Edison rates have steadily decreased in the same period.

• LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By MIRIAM MATTHEWS

There's Christmas in the air . . . and many are puzzling over what to give mother, father, sisters, brothers, cousins, uncles and aunts, not to mention a long list of friends. Why not make them all happy with the most enduring and personal of gifts—a book?

If you are in doubt about which book to select, consult your librarian. She will be happy to recommend books for all ages and tastes. Here are a few general suggestions:

Start your list with "Black Folk—Then and Now", by W. E. B. DuBois because it will make a suitable gift for any adult on your Christmas list. Dr. DuBois presents there not only the history of the Negro peoples of the world, but an account of the culture they created, the economic and sociological factors which bear upon them today, and the challenge which they offer to the modern world.

Another headliner for your consideration is John Gunther's "Inside Asia" which explains how the problems of Asia, the most complex of continents, are inextricably dovetailed with those of the rest of the world. It sketches both the old and new imperialisms in Asia, keeping a close balance between politics, religion, economics and personality. Give it to your friends who like to keep abreast of the times.

NEGRO WRITER

In the fiction field there are several recent titles which will suit various personalities. Zora Neale Hurston, a young Negro writer, has just published an unusual adaptation of the Biblical story of Moses. It is called "Moses, Man of the Mountain" and draws a striking parallel between the early persecution of the Hebrews by the Egyptians and the later persecution of the Negro race.

"The Web and the Rock", a posthumous novel by Thomas Wolfe, is a beautifully written love story, filled with passion and poetry.

Dorothy Canfield writes in her latest novel, "Seasoned Timber", of a Vermont which is as liberty-loving today as it was two centuries ago. The second-youth love affair of an academy principal and a township election are the storm centers of this story that contrasts free-thinking tradition with rising intolerance.

In "The Nazarene", by Sholem Asch is told the story of Jesus against the beautifully realistic background of Palestine. This scholarly work, covering the greatest period in the history of the world, is presented with great reverence in the words of three different men who lived during that time.

For further suggestions, visit the Vernon Branch library, 4504 Central avenue, and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch library, 2330 Naomi avenue.

USC-UCLA Tie Occasions Many Parties

The traditional and thrilling meeting on the football field of UCLA and USC was the incentive for much letting-off of steam socially as gay ones celebrated last Saturday night, either the ending of the football season, the "amicable" settlement of the Westwood-Trojan feud, the beginning of the Christmas season . . . . or just celebrated.

In Avenue night spots, at dance halls, in private homes, grandstand quarterbacks replayed the game and lauded its heroes until the wee hours of the morning. Party-ing began with the final gun, ending the ball game and lasted until Jack, the Bell Boy's bedtime, somewhere about five a. m.

Out at Westwood, one of the largest crowds on record, frolicked and paid tribute to grid immortals Kenny Washington and Woodrow Strode, as guests of the combined University Clubs of UCLA and USC.

GIANT TROPHY

Dancing to Al Adams' music, and gay chatter was interrupted after midnight as William Nickerson Jr., president of the Golden State Life Insurance company presented Kenny Washington, Uclan great, with the Company's trophy, a gorgeous thing at least three-feet tall, in recognition of his outstanding college career.

Co-chairmen of the dance committee were Tom Bradley, president of the Bruin University club and Cato Robinson, Trojan club prexy.

josephine baker completes triumphal French front tour

PARIS, Dec. 14. (By Nancy Cunard for ANP)—Soon Josephine Baker will open in a new revue at the Casino de Paris. She has just completed a triumphal concert performance at the front—exact whereabouts are not mentioned. Her famous song which is a great favorite in France, "J'ai deux amours" (I Have Two Loves), was sung by her while hundreds of soldiers listened enthusiastically and joined in the choruses.

They gave her golden colored dahlias and made her sing all her songs, and the reporter who wrote it up in "Paris-Soir" said "I'm going to admit it was very moving indeed; there she was, the pretty quateroon, in her sliver dress and her white laces and heavy bracelets and earrings singing and singing to the French soldiers who had cleaned and smartened themselves up for her so that the occasion looked like a military review". Josephine's French husband is at present under arms at the front.

LETTERS

Dear Editor:

Open house of the Southern California division of General Motors at their South Gate plant this week disclosed many interesting things. Most interesting to the writer was the TOTAL lack of the Negro worker on the giant assembly lines. Absolutely no black worker took part in the assembly of chassis, motor, body, upholstery, or even cleaning or polishing the finished product.

Thirty-three units per hour is the output. The Buicks, Pontiacs, and Oldsmobiles are touched by some 1800 hands before completion. Accsessory workers at the plant, including foremen and office help number some 200 more.

The lowest paid worker earns 75 cents per hour, the highest paid receives $1.25 per hour. Of the 2000 workers here, there is one Negro janitor. His yearly income is $1600—the price one Negro pays for ONE of the better General Motors products in California.

In contrast, Henry Ford is truly the friend of the Negro, for he employs a fair ratio of colored workers—and in every capacity, from janitor to research men. In Detroit, 10 out of every 100 workers is a Negro. The employment of black workers by Ford is not out of sympathy for him, bue because he has been found to be efficient.

Viola Pollock Honoree at Birthday Fete

Surprised honoree of a birthday party last Thursday evening was Mrs. Viola Pollock, president of the Willing Workers Guild, at the home of Mrs. Josephine Curry on East Vernon avenue.

A delicious Spanish supper was served, and Mrs. Pollock received many cards and gifts. She was greatly surprised when she walked in the darkened house to find suddenly the lights switched on and the guild members shouting "Happy birthday!"

Those present reported a delightful evening.

Claims Pastors Should Take Active Part in Politics, Etc.

Ministers should take an active part in politics, claims young religious student Melvin Webb, in an article submitted by him this week to the California Eagle Public Opinion department.

Asserting that a "true minister will not be swayed by corrupt racketeers . . . and vote seekers," and thus would have the "common good" at heart, Webb revived an age-old argument, debate on the preacher's place in community life.

His article follows in part:

"The minister is looked upon as a leader in the community. He is looked up to as much, if not more, than other leaders, both social and civic, such as councilmen, supervisors, teachers, clubmen. This is true because the minister is closer to us, and because of this, the minister should wield the greatest influence in our lives.

"It is generally thought that the minister should remain in the single field of religion; but this is a misconception, for as a minister of the Christian religion, he is allowed a great liberty. Christianity teaches us how to live together as brothers and neighbors, and how to improve our lives. Therefore the minister is allowed the privilege of investigating any and every movement, civic or social, that will affect the lives of his followers.

TRUE MINISTERS

"I am speaking of ministers in the truest sense of the word. If there is a man who professes to lead a congregation, yet cannot walk into a gambling den without participating, cannot enter a liquor establishment without indulging, cannot meet any temptation without weakening, he is unworthy of his congregation and it should turn their backs on him.

"There is one place we all will go and that is to church. The ministers should take advantage of this situation, not only to raise the moral standards, not only to inspire, BUT to enlighten listeners on civic matters which are of vital importance in their lives.

"Yes, I am advocating that the ministers take an active part in politics because I have faith that as a minister he will not be swayed by corrupt racketeers, officials and vote seekers. I have faith that he has the common good and interest of the people at heart.

"The economic, as well as the moral problem, should be so imbued in the hearts of ministers that they do every earthly thing possible to feasibly solve it. While talking to a minister the other day, I inquired why a ministerial alliance had not been formed which would enable them as a group to investigate everything affecting the lives of the people. He informed me that such an alliance had been formed for some 20-odd years, but because the ministers were not able to agree on anything, he spent his time elsewhere. IMAGINE! 20-years AND NOTHING COOKING! If the leaders can't get together, what are the people going to do?

"Individually, there seems to be a number of ministers in the city who are doing a great work. We, as intelligent people, can see the good that would be derived if the ministers united for a worthwhile purpose. As thinking people, we should cast our lots with active ministers."

The pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church, 40th place and Wadsworth avenue, Elder P. G. Rogers, will speak Sunday night on "The Place That Christianity Should Hold for Christmas". This will be a great picture sermon and as there are so many screen illustrations the service will begin sharply at 7:45 p. m. Pastor Rogers states that he has a standing challenge to anyone who can prove that what he has to say about this winter festival is not both biblical and historical truth. Sabbath (Saturday) the Communion service follows the morning sermon at 11 a. m., Sabbath School at 9:25 a. m.

Calculated to appeal to all, the sermon subject of the Rev. S. M. Beane Sunday morning, will be "Why Christians Should Belong to Church".

At the Epworth League service at 6:30 p. m., Claude Lovell will deliver the address. Regular worship service and sermon by pastor is scheduled at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at Hamilton Methodist church, East 18th and Naomi.

At Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, Vernon and Hooper avenues, Rev. E. E. Lightner, minister, will speak at the morning hour this Sunday, using as his subject: "Practical Religion." At 4:00 p. m. the choir under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Frederick will render a program of Christmas music, in a Vesper service. This program promises to be one of the outstanding features of the year.

On the past Sunday the pastor spoke at the 11:00 A. M. service on "Sharing Your Wealth". At the evening hour Pauline Keys "The Wonder Girl" presented a pre-Christmas program.

"Who Lives in You," will be the subject of the sermon delivered Sunday morning by Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, pastor of Wesley Methodist church, 8th and San Julian. In the evening, a lecture on the life of Christ will be delivered by Rev. Rakestraw and illustrated with pictures.

Inspirational services were enjoyed Sunday at Union Baptist church, 1812 E. 110th street. Rev. E. S. Johnson, pastor, preached in the morning, while Rev. R. M. Rev. George A. McCallum, pastor of the Coronation Community church, 1252 E. 41st street, will speak Sunday afternoon at three p. m. from the subject "Safety First."

Services at Unity Truth center will follow the usual order Sunday, with Sunday School at 9:45 a. m., sermon at 11:15. The Center conducts services throughout the week. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

These words of the Psalmist, "All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord; and thy saints shall bless thee. They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power," are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The question, "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject.

Paul's words to the Corinthians are included in the Lesson-Sermon: "For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. . . . For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day. For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal."

Among the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy are the statements: "Man is, and forever has been, God's reflection. God is infinite, therefore ever present, and there is no other power nor presence. Hence the spirituality of the universe is the only fact of creation."

TRUTH CENTER HAS ANNIVERSARY

An outstanding affair was the second anniversary program of the Sunlit Way Truth Center, 1021 E. 25th street, given Nov. 19. Mrs. Maybelle Oliver, teacher, was presented with many lovely flowers and gifts.

Mass Meet Set in Monrovia

MONROVIA, Dec. 14—Under the auspices of the Adult Education department, a mass meeting will be held Sunday at 3 p. m. The general public and persons interested in classes in domestic science and first aid are invited to attend. Classes in both subjects will be formed if interest is sufficient.

MISCELLANY:

The Evangelical Chorus of Second Baptist church presented a splendid program Sunday. Features were Christmas carols and a play, "Christmas Memories." Leading soloists were Mrs. LaViolet and Mrs. Vance.

IN PRE-CHRISTMAS BENEFIT CONCERT

THE GOSPEL CHORUS of the Trinity Baptist church, W. 36th and Normandie streets, whose singing has been a sensation this Fall, will be heard in a repeat performance of their latest success, "The Rhythmn of Strong Hearts," in a pre-Christmas Benefit, Friday night, Dec. 22, at their church. Young people of the city are cooperating and will be "on holiday parade."

Skinner Sings at Second Baptist

Famous Baritone Will Be Heard on Sunday Evening

Sunday evening at 7:30, the public will have the privilege of hearing one of the outstanding baritones on stage, screen and air, marking the first time in 12 years that Fred Skinner has appeared before an audience of his own race.

Skinner has the distinction of being a long-time soloist of both the Columbia and National broadcasting companies, and at present is the evening soloist at the Ambassador Hotel and over Station KFWB. Many are anticipating the privilege of not only hearing but seeing him. He has been a member of the Second Baptist church for a number of years and many of the old-timers will remember him as the son of a Baptist minister, Rev. James Skinner.

Ernestine Wade, lyric soprano, is the other soloist of the evening and will render selections by Gounod, in keeping with the season. Mrs. Wade is the soprano regularly heard on the Amos and Andy program and is one of California's outstanding singers. The Second Baptist Octette, needing no introduction to the Los Angeles public, will sing carols of Sweden, Holland, Portugal and Bohemia and costumed representatives will accompany them. The Vesper Choir, for its third season, will sing excerpts from some of the popular present-day oratorios and traditional carols with the Descant work, Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, directing, Kathryn Owens, pianist and a young composer, and practice teacher at Jefferson Evening High school, will preside at the piano. Geneva Mae Bass, organist, will be at the controls of the organ while Anna Griffith Morrow is the director and in charge of the evening's affair.

The streamline processional will begin promptly at 7:30.

The Fashion Show and Tea, introducing the Independent Guild of People's Independent Church of Christ, held last Sunday afternoon at the Boys' Home on E. 50th street, was one of the most enjoyable of the winter season. An unusual array of winter styles delighted the capacity crowd that attended between the hours of two and six in the afternoon.

Clubs, churches and organizations cooperated to make the affair a financial success. The Musicians' Union assisted with the music. Mrs. Myra White was chairman of the program, and Mrs. Leontyne King supervised the Fashion Show.

After the sermon by Rev. Wilson, the Elks were complimented for their wonderful principles being so beautifully exemplified in South Los Angeles. All went home declaring J. B. Bass Lodge and Sunshine Temple real true Elks. Deputy McCollum says it does not yet appear what we shall be, just be sure to meet us at our public installation at Odd Fellows Hall early in January. Many outstanding artists of the city will appear on the program.

We were very happy that we had no deceased members, yet we paused for a while to pay tribute to J. B. Bass, the noble character for which the lodge was named.

• GOOD HEALTH . . .

By Dr. Ruth Temple

Your announcer—Ruth Temple, M. D., broadcasting from Station KWA (Keep Well Always).

WHAT OUR FRIENDS ARE SAYING

It is very gratifying to observe that our "radio audience" is growing and that from out of town as well as in our own home town, we have interested listeners. The following words are very encouraging from Dr. Edna L. Griffin of Pasadena:

Dear Dr. Temple:

I just read your good health article in The California Eagle, of Nov. 2, in broadcasting from station KWA. I did so much enjoy this article and wish to congratulate you on the same.

I enjoyed practicing in Pasadena more than two and a half years. I heard you were going to speak at the Seventh Day Adventist church in our city, and I rushed over with the express purpose of hearing you speak and having you see my office, but you did not arrive that night.

This talk comes as a congratulation on your very fine work and an invitation to visit me in your visit at Pasadena at your earliest convenience.

Fraternally yours.

Thank you, Dr. Griffin. We shall be happy to visit you in Pasadena very soon. We invite you to return to station KWA with a larger broadcast in the near future.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

I would like to call attention this week to the 33rd annual sale of Christmas Seals now going on in Los Angeles. These little holiday stickers provide the money to finance the fight against tuberculosis, waged by the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health association.

Among the projects made possible by Christmas Seals is the East Area Health program, about which you have heard much. As a member of the Citizen's Advisory committee of the project, I know the good work that is being done.

Christmas Seals also provide for the tuberculin testing of school children to find out whether they have taken the germs of tuberculosis into their bodies. Those who react to the test are X-rayed to determine whether the actual disease has developed.

Other health-giving and life-saving Christmas Seal activities include public health nursing service, rehabilitation, research and a year around educational campaign.

3RD SUNDAY COMMUNITY HEALTH DAY

The other special event for this week will be the regular "3rd Sunday Community Health Day." A day of health and happiness—a fine program of skits, music, games, "Dollar Quiz," Free Blood tests and Free Milk at the Temple Health Institute, 4920 S. Central avenue, CE-22330, on Sunday, Dec. 17, at 3:00 p. m. All seats are always taken. You must come early for a seat. All are welcome.

Signing off until next week, Your Announcer, Ruth J. Temple, M. D., Station KWA(Keep Well Always).

Gold Hour Variety Program Points to First Anniversary

A milestone of 10 months "on the air" was passed Dec. 1 by the Gold Hour, popular variety program sponsored by the Gold Furniture company, Washington and Central avenue. Airing nightly, except Saturday, a half-hour's broadcast from 6:30 to 7p . m. over KGFJ, the Gold Hour is pointing to its first anniversary Feb. 1, having been heard 261 nights.

Only variety program designed especially for the Negro community of Los Angeles, the Gold Hour has rendered a program of inestimable value to the community. Guiding spirit is the talented Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, who, as co-director, is largely responsible for the popularity of the program, its well-planned effectiveness, its note of sincerity and genuine interest in the community advancement.

In the short life of the Gold Hour, several sensational scoops have been scored in the presentation of new and different features. The signing of Miss Ruby Elzy, nationally known singer and actress, as the Gold Hour and actress, as the Gold Hour soprano, attracted many music lovers. Misss Elzy appeared twice weekly until mid-November when she was called East to play the lead, opposite Paul Robeson, in the Broadway production of "John Henry." Miss Marguerite Chapman, who succeeded her, and William Gillespie, Gold Hour baritone, continue the Gold Hour's musical poularity.

$1000 CONTEST

A$1000 contest to find the best Negro pianist in Los Angeles focused city-wide attention on the broadcast last Spring as Miss Ruby Lyle, talented young musician, won out over 42 contestants. Miss Melba Hannah was second and 11 other winners were picked from the enthusiastic entry. To Miss Lyle went a $400 RCA Victor radio and phonograph combination. To Miss Hannah a $200 Gibson electric refrigerator and to the place winners, 11 Philco Pal and Packard Bell radios.

DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS

Presentation of distinguished speakers, local and visiting, keeps fans turning nightly to 1200 on the dial. A cordial welcome is maintained too all community leaders with a constructive program.

Recently, the Gold Hour "scooped" the networks with presentation of four of the famed UCLA football players. The youths were interviewed on the broadcast's newest feature, "Views of the News," presenting local newswoman Almena Davis, who has since interviewed famed composer Shelton Brooks and Miss Jeni LeGon, motion picture star.

One of the Gold Hour's most poular items has been the Gold Armchair playhouse. In thrilling drama, incidents in the lives of Booker T. Washington, Sojourner Truth, Frederick Douglas and George Washington Carver, outstanding figures of Negro history, have been presented. Author of the first four was Miss Davis, while Mrs. Ruby Berkeley Goodwin, well known writer and lecturer, penned the last one and has submitted for production tonite, another, based on the life of Blanche K. Bruce, renowned Reconstruction legislator.

The Gold Hour has been a service to the community, just as the Gold Furniture company has rendered a service to the community for 21 years. In the presentation of the various items on the Gold Hour; the Community News, the speakers, talented young people; the program's sponsors have kept in mind a three-point service: education, entertainment and profit, not only to themselves, but to the community from which the financial success of the Gold Furniture company is derived.

In commenting on the approaching celebration of "one year" on the air," Morris Gold, owner and founder of the store, promised to the Eastside community a bigger and better Gold Hour for as long as an appreciative demand for it is evidenced.

The LAUNDRYMAN

Hello, folks! I'm going to talk to you this week on the subject of STREAM-LINED SERVICE.

Epoch-making events of times unfold so quietly, so evenly within our midst, that we frequently fail to grasp their import. Time after time I have heard the plaint "Why can't our group open up something else besides restaurants, barbecue parlors and smoke shops on Central Avenue?"

In direct answer, an energetic young colored man has recently launched a STREAM-LINED gasoline service station which--with the proper support--could easily become in point of money-turnover, one of the largest businesses operated by an individual race-man in our Angel city. The young man inquestion is stocky, sepia-colored, quick moving George Moore, and his STREAM-LINED gas station adjoins the Elks building at Santa Barbara and Central Avenues.

Genial George himself, is far from being streamlined. In fact he is of such sturdy build that I have no doubt that he could have pierced the Trojan line on a center-buck last Saturday, and scored a touchdown for the Bruins from that fateful two-yard line. His gas station however, is a marvel of streamlined beauty, and what is more important, of streamlined service. His gas tanks, grease equipment, hydraulic hoist, tire-racks, are of the very latest design. Every piece of his varied equipment is kept highly polished, and reminds one of the gleaming decks of a moddern battleship. The brands of gas and oil handled, compete successfully with any standard brands on the market.

And Believe it or Not, the Service tendered by his assistants is in every way comparable to that of the Standard Oil stations, noted throughout the length and breadth of the United States for their unfailing courtesy. Some one of them contacts you the moment you enter, courteously inquiries as to your needs, and then proceeds to supply them with dispatch. Even Standard Oil can do no more.

In addition to the usual Cash and Carry plan of gas stations, young Moore is actively soliciting credit accounts from reliable people. All in all, George Moore's gas station is a glowing credit to Central Avenue, a race enterprise to which we can all point with well justified pride. It can't remain there however, unless WE support it. Young Moore has demonstrated his faith in his people by investing his money in this enterprise. With around thirty-five or forty thousand cars owned and operated by members of our group in Los Angeles, the all-embracing type of service offered by this young promoter deserves hearty, unhesitating support. It is up to us to vindicate his faith by giving it.

¾ of All LARY Employes Live East of Main Street

Employes of the Los Angeles Railway live in every section of the city, many of them owning their homes and each of them adding his purchasing power to the district in which he lives, H. A. Perryman, Los Angeles Railway Director of Research, disclosed this week.

"The Los Angeles Railway employs more than 4000 men and women," Perryman said. "If imaginary lines were to be drawn east and west on Slauson and north and south on Figueroa, we 1000 company employes live in each of the quarters of the city thus formed."

Perryman also said that these thousands of employees make better, than the average wage and that, as a group, they are among the most desirable as tenants and neighbors.

"We keep a close check on the housing of our employes for statistical purposes," Perryman said, "and we have discovered that their living conditions are very high as compared to the conditions of employes of similar companies."

The report further indicated that the majority of these men and women spend the greater part of their wages in the communities in which they reside. —Adv.

DID YOU KNOW—Harry T. Burleigh, baritone singer of note and composer of more than 100 musical pieces, once sang a Paderewski composition to the piano accompaniment of the famed composer-pianist himself.

The Social Whirl. . .

By Lillian Johnson

Well, after such a victorious week, (and it has been a very victorious week even though the Bruins didn't win the USC-UCLA game Saturday, they were victorious in every other way), I'll try to give you the social news for the last two weeks.

Giving the social ball a push Hall Johnson and his renowned chori honored Eddie Coleman, Morris Caver, Gus Simons, professionaly known as the "Rigolletto" trio, touring the coast with one of Major Bowles' units, at a dinner party at The Harlem in So. Los Angeles. Over 300 guests were there to welcome the trio and to help Hall Johnson and his choir celebrate a preview of their 15th anniversary to be held next year. The trio will be remembered as first appearing with Hall Johnson when he organized his first aggregation in 1926. Since then they have been appearing on circuits in Europe with the Kentucky Chori, but due to the war, were forced to return home last week.

Beautiful Elk's Hall was the setting of the Orchid Girls' Sixth Annual Charity Ball Saturday evening, a week ago.

The Orchid Girls, wearing the latest Hollywood and Paris creations, were introduced by Ivan J. Johnson, III. Laura Slayton, president, wore black taffeta moire; Romelle Bagneris, vice-president, white taffeta, Marion Guess, corresponding secretary, white taffeta; Hope Bennett, black and white; Adele Weaver, repotter, red taffeta. Members were: Marion Booker, white taffeta moire; Juanita Moore, white satin; Marjorie Reed, white net; Edith France, red and white. All the girls wore orchids, the traditional club flower.

Dr. Curley, a classmate of Dr. Hill's recently returned to America and opened a suite of offices in the Wilshire Towers on Wilshire Blvd.

Mrs. Mary Jones entertained the wives of The Gay Cavaliers' at her lovely home Saturday with a get-together . . . Helen Carter and Jullette Smith entertained friends Saturday with a cocktail party on W. 36th street . . . Viola Sutton entertained Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tramble at her lovely home on Trinity avenue with a party, Sautrday night. Among the guests noted were Chas., May, Iola Sutton, George Wilkerson, Bobby Robinson, Garland Fields, Lawrence Swain, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Procello, Bill Roberts.

Miss Gloria Jones of 218 N. Alvarado was the hostess for the Belmon Tri-Y at their semi-annual spaghetti supper. Many of the Tri-Y and Hi-Y members of different schools were quite in evident. Among those noted were Misses Josephine Marshall, Gloria Jones, Alphonso Paltron, Edith Hill, Daisy, Avery, Blanchat Bundiee, Ruth Avery, Gwendolyn Williams, Dora Silvres Dora Lee Armour, Henritta Joseta, Gloria Drake, Martie Poe, Tatora Bell, Marcellia Grisson, Abi elsom, Jimmy Lewis, Ernestine Brown, Johnny Hill Marie Hampton, Elizabeth Jones, Arbezine James, Mattie Lewis, Emily Jane Green, Ruth Cornish,, LeRoy Solder, William Elkins, Clyde Mayfield, James Lawson, Sylvania Laws and Anita Jones.

Thanks for all the lovely letters and calls. Just remember I am always your Social Whirl Reporter, and at your service. Call REpublic 6300.

Good taste is not confined to a fat purse but rather in the swing of things and do you note that grace and charm in the rolled fur front of this simple modelled coat. It gives that something that you used to dream about, but now you can wear about and like it. It seems as though it is swing from head to foot aided by that streamlined appearance on everything. These new turban style hats just invite your every look and those tiny toes with extreme heels that decorate Mi-lady's feet are just the thing to finish off a well dressed woman.

Courtesy

HOW one appreciates courtesy! It may be expressed in one's opening of a door, in a smiling "Thank you," in the gracious doing of a commonplace duty, or in listening with interest to another's views. Courtesy includes deference and respectfulness. Yet, is there not something more than deference and respect involved in genuine courtesy? Indeed there is. It is love for mankind. Henry Drummond has spoken of courtesy as "love in little things."

If one truly loves, does he not express that love in even his least contact with others—in thoughtfulness for others, in deeds of kindness, in little helpful acts, all of which constitute what we are pleased to call courtesy?

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, in her "Miscellaneous Writings," says (p. 250): "Love is not something put upon a shelf, to be taken down on rare occasions with sugar-tongs and laid on a rose-leaf. I make strong demands on love, call for active witnesses to prove it, and noble sacrifices and grand achievements as its results." And she also says, "As a human quality, the glorious significance of affection is more than words: it is the tender, unselfish deed done in secret; the silent, ceaseless prayer; the self-forgetful heart that overflows."

The Apostle Peter admonished thus (I Peter 3:8, 9): "Be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous: not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing."

The dictionary defines "courtesy," in part, as "an act of kindness, or favor performed with politeness." But what, then, is the source of inherent kindliness and considerateness? . .

The real man is not the mortal, so-called man, who may or may not be kind. The man of God's creating is His own image and likeness, as stated in Genesis. And since God is Love, man is the forever expression of Love; hence love and kindness are inherent qualities of the real man.

But one may ask, Why do some persons appear to express much of love, while others seem almost devoid of it, and at times may be even discourteous and disagreeable? May not the logical explanation be that some are allowing man's true being as Love's reflection to find expression through their thinking and living; while others may have their thoughts so filled with a false sense of evil as real that love and goodness are not manifested through their thinking or living?

True courtesy expresses love. And loving consideration expressed to another arouses a kindred response from that one. The writer witnessed an example of this in a crowded streetcar one evening. Two women were standing in the aisle when a seat was vacated. The one who was obviously a worker made no attempt to take the seat, evidently expecting the other to do so. But instead, noting the telltale bag of the domestic servant, the other asked, "Have you been working all day?" To which there was a meek, "Yes, ma'am." "Then you take the seat," was the response. Soon the other was also seated, and when the worker arose to leave the car, she bestowed a most gracious and appreciative smile upon her courteous benefactor.

Is not the test of true culture, which must include courtesy, found in the respect with which one treats others?

All of God's children express equally His infinite love. Hence God loves all, and forever expresses through men His universal goodness and love. All men are in reality the children of God, subject to His love and care. When this is comprehended, one is enabled to look through and beyond the false sense of personality, differences in social standing, education, and race, and to see and love the man of God's creation.

Such a one will always be found manifesting loving thoughtfulness, consideration, and kindliness to all, even in the least of human affairs—in that expression of true culture which is known as courtesy. And need we add that he who includes all in his bestowal of courtesy has glimpsed the love which characterizes the real man, who reflects and expresses God, divine, impartial Love?—The Christian Science Monitor.

Women's Breakfast Club Pledges Support to The California Eagle's Annual Newsboys Christmas Party

By MILDRED L. WALKER

Two long tables, immaculate in white lin measuring the full length of the second floor au torium of the YMCA building, while a third c measured the actual width, represented the huge attendance at the Woman's Breakfast club Sunday morning. Seated at them was a portion of the cream of Los Angeles' intellect, including: Mrs. Bessie Bruington Burke, principal of Nevins school; Miss Pauline Slater, teacher in one of Los Angeles' High schools; Mrs. Georgia Robinson, president of Delta Mothers; Mrs. Vivian Marsh, head of National Youth Administration; Mrs. Maude Bratton and daughter, Nadine; Mrs. Williams, organizer of the Outdoor Life and Health association; also Mrs. Seth Lee, president of the same organization. New members of the executive board of the Breakfast Club included Nee Gladys Harding Windsor, Mrs. Brown and many other outstanding civic and social leaders throughout our city and county.

It is very interesting to know what an important part the young ladies of the city are taking in the Breakfast Club. Present were business women and social leaders, dressed in the height of fashion and a very representative group from Henrietta's beauty school, whose coiffeurs were the last word. Mistress of ceremonies was charming Mrs. Ollie May Carter, one of the younger members of the board. President of the organization is charming and efficient Mrs. Faustina Johnson.

Dr. Paul De River, psychiatrist, was guest speaker, speaking on the general philosophy of life.

The Woman's Breakfast Club's Christmas tree will be located at 42nd and Central next to the People's Funeral home, Friday, Dec. 22.

IRONY—MORALS & QUARTERS

Fuming with righteous indignation, our Girl Friday dashed in just before the deadline with the following sad commentary on the moral values of our so-called "best people".

Two well known social service workers were lunching in an Avenue drug store. One of them had a quarter with which to settle for her lunch and which she suspected as not being the real McCoy. She called the waitress and asked her opinion.

The quarter proved fake under the acid test and the waitress, under the mistaken impression that she had given it to the woman in change, made it good, handing out one of the Uncle Samuel-minted 25-cent pieces.

The two women saw the girl's mistake even as they accepted the good quarter. In fact everyone within hearing distance watched the little drama, but everyone, outside the parties involved, obviously felt it beyond their right to interfere.

To make a long story short, after conferring with each other and offering each other a sooth to whatever conscience they might have possessed, the two paid their checks and walked out.

It's even over and above the basic question of truth and honesty to observe that the salary of one of the social service workers more than doubles the waitress' stipend and that the waitress undoubtedly was required to replace the phony quarter from her own pocket.

SPORTS OPENING WEDGE IN ANTI-JIM CROW DRIVE

We have long had the notion that sports, as inculcated in the educational program of the nation's universities, especially those of the East, Mid-west and West, would do more than any other single thing in killing once and for all the bugaboo of discrimination that makes young and old servants to customs and prejudices designed to make a mockery of the Constitution under which we live.

Bringing fair play and true sportsmanship about are the boys — Negro boys — who by their conduct on and off the fields of play command the respect of every human being who has an ounce of sporting blood in him.

These boys who sacrifice and struggle, break the ice, as it were, against apparently insurmountable odds can't make the fight alone. In truth, they can but start it.

The schools and their personnel — teachers, coaches, and other officials, play an important role. More important, however, is the role played by the nation's sports editors and reporters, and sports announcers with national outlets.

Sports writers on great news and wire services, nationally released magazines, sportscasters on the great chain radio networks — these are the men upon whom the real burden of clinching the case against discrimination falls.

Thank goodness, it becomes increasingly apparent that these molders of public opinion are assuming that burden —and wholeheartedly.

It is now up to those who want to see tolerance and justice practiced on the field of sport to back and support these sports writers and announcers at every opportunity. That can be done simply, easily — just by mailing a penny postal card.

This country has always been known as a sports loving nation. How better can the public be reached than thru sports? If such be the case, why not then make the fight against injustice, intolerance, and all other foreign and false notions thru the medium of sports?

Now is the time, the iron is hot. Write your Bill Sterns, Sam Balders, of the air-waves; your Dick Hylands, Sid Ziffs, Art Cohns, of the Fourth Estate. They have the large mediums, reaching more people; they are the ones who can do the most good!

GABBY BITS:

The football spirit as manifested out on the UCLA campus last week was a thing marvelous to behold. At an impromptu rally Friday afternoon, the students showed the "American Way" of sportsmanship — demonstrating that they were backing to a man one of the most democratic football teams in the country. Even this pillar was asked to say a word . . . John R. Williams, former Los Angeles newspaperman, wrote the other day from Memphis, sending us a clipping of the Press-Scimitar sports column, in which a letter written by the one-time local scribe was printed in full. John R. was telling George Bugbee, the sports editor, all about UCLA and her chances of "trouncing Troy" and going to the Rose Bowl. On an enclosed card, John R. wrote: "These dailies here pretend not to know anything about UCLA. Of course, they think I am white." . . . By the by, did you notice that Joe E. Brown, probably UCLA's most ardent booster, wore Kenny Washington's immortal "No. 13" on his jersey in the film "$1,000 A Touchdown"? . . . A press luncheon last week on the set of "House of Horrors", the coming Hollywood Production thriller, gave scribes an idea of what may be expected of Alfred Grant, Lucy Bufford, Zack Williams, Laura Bowman, et al.

CALIFORNIAN BAKES 125-POUND CAKE FOR CHICAGO SCHOOL KIDS

Giant Pastry Is Exact Duplicate of One Sent President Roosevelt

CHICAGO, Dec. 14. (ANP)—Pupils of Teacher Allie M. Hall's grade 5-A class at Forestville school, this week were given the thrill of their young lives when they received a huge cake weighing 125 lbs., and insured for $250, baked specially for them and presented by Bill Baker of Ojai, California.

Baker's cake sent the school kiddies, was the exact duplicate in size and mixture, of a similar one he recently sent to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Interviewed last Thursday by an ANP newsman to get the class' reaction to Baker's gift, little Delora Davis, 10-year-old pupil of the class waxed eloquent and with childish enthusiasm gave a glowing description that would challenge the best efforts of an adult.

"The pupils of our room started an English project last March. We noticed a picture in the Weekly Reader published in Columbus, O., by the American Education Press, of the beautiful cake baked by Mr. Bill Baker of Ojai, Calif.

"Mr. Baker baked a beautiful cake of art for the San Francisco Exposition last year. It weighed 1,000 pounds. Our class wrote him many letters concerning this cake—just how long it took to make it—and many other questions.

"We think we are the luckiest kids in Chicago, for when we expressed a desire to buy some of the cake for our Xmas party, Mr. Baker wrote us that he did not bake cakes to sell, but if we would let him know the date of our party, he would send us a whole cake—and a bg one at that!

"It is decorated with roses and has a representation of Santa Barbara Mission on top."

RTS PUBLIC DEMANDS THE BEST

We are mainly concerned with two things this k and both have to do with football and Kenny shington.

Number 1: Why shouldn't Kenny be among players to represent the West in the East vs. t classic in San Francisco January 1?

Number 2: Why shouldn't Kenny be drafted g with other college seniors by the teams that e up the National Professional Football league? Add the name of Woodrow Strode to that of shington in both of these queries.

Since the UCLA Bruins failed by two yards to nto the Rose Bowl and a $100,000 pot of gold, ny and Woody were deprived of an opportunity lose already illustrious careers in the biggest of ge gridiron plums. On the same day in San cisco, college seniors of the East meet college ors of the West in a charity game played for Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children.

Art Cohn, liberal-minded sports editor of The land Tribune, has already gone to bat for in- on of Kenny and Woody in the lineup of the t. Both Bruins, as are all seniors, are eligible. Cohn writes: "Fourteen East-West games have played. But no Negro, no matter how out- ding, has ever played in them. It is an unwrit- aw, immutable as the commandment that bars roes from organized baseball. Yet the Shrine ital . . . always has and always will be a haven he unfortunate and underprivileged, regardless ce, creed or color".

When he spoke to one of the directing officials e game, Sports Editor Cohn says he was told, in t, that since the classic was more than a sports t—being of a social nature, also—it would be arrassing to all concerned if the policy were ged. In closing his column, the northern writ- ys he "shall continue to fight with the last th in my body . . . to make this Shrine game be- all criticism . . . to give it the respect of all les . . ."

Well said, sports editor Cohn, and this pillar a hearty second to the motion for no athletes ve this additional glory as do Kenneth Wash- n and Woodrow Strode.

Sam Balder, thru his Phillies sponsored "Inside orts" nationwide nightly broadcast, has taken officials of the National Professional Football ue to task for not drafting Kenny Washington ridiron duty next season as a member of one of ecgue's teams.

In his Tuesday night broadcast, announcer er told the league prexy and officials he was ting a statement (defense, too) of policy". the announcer's contention that it is the busi- of the public, in its desire for fair play and equal rtunity, to see the best the game has develop- erform.

Like Mr. Cohn, Mr. Balder deserves the sup- — and lots of it — of every American citizen ese campaigns for justice in sports.

The Monday morning quarterbacks, not to tion the signal callers of Saturday night, have telling all who will listen what they would have if they had been in Ned Mathews' place when Bruins were two yards away from pay dirt in the ie with USC. Under the same pressure e Uclans at that moment, they probably would done the same thing. CLEVELAND, Dec. 14—Bull-shouldered Henry Armstrong, the world's welterweight title-holder from Los Angeles, scored a technical knockout victory over Jimmy Garrison, Kansas City, here Monday night, in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round contest.

San Jose Will Field Good '11' in 1940

John Allen and Aubrey Minter in Starting Lineup

SAN JOSE, Dec. 14.—When a football team that has won 35 out of 39 games over a three year period loses 15 key men by graduation, it is not amiss to assume that prospects for next season are not so hot.

Not so, however, with San Jose State's Spartans, only Pacific Coast college football team to complete its regular season unbeaten and untied. The 1939 Spartans won 13 straight games, scored a grand total of 324 points, highest in the nation.

True, the 1940 Spartans won't have quite the brilliance of manpower that marked the superlative 1939 team, but there are going to be enough good boys around to make it interesting for whomsoever they encounter.

PRESLEY TO BE MISSED

Gone will be All1Coast and "Little" All-America Fullback Leroy Zimmerman, gone the hard running halfbacks Morris Manoogian and Herman Zetterquist. Gone too will be Captain Boi Titchenal, stellar center Don Presley, giant Negro guard; Bob Bronzman, the play wrecking tackle; "Chuck" Johnson, the steady end.

Ordinarily such losses would wreck a football team, but San Jose supporters don't figure it that way.

Five men who strated a majority of the 1939 games return. Filling the holes left by the others will be members of a well-seasoned string outfit that saw abundent action in the lon g1939 campaign. All in all, 29 men who gained varying degrees of experience during both 1938 and 1939 will be back.

Here's the probable starting line-up for 1940 as it appears at the current writing:

ALLEN GOOD

John Allen, Negro left end, has bee ndeclared by Co-coach Pop Warner to be one of the best in the business. He won All-Coast mention.

Aubrey Minter, "stutter-stepping" little Negro halfback, was one of the sensational "finds" of the 1939 season. He won All-Coast mention.

Up from the frosh comes another Negro halfback, a 175 pound boy from Berkeley by the name of Sammy Miller who may give Minter a run for his money.

UCLA'S EXCITING BRUINS AND USC'S TROJANS BATTLE TO 0-0 DEADLOCK

Troy Wins Championship and Bowl Bid; Both Clubs Could Have Won Titanic

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

More people than have seen a football game all year anywhere in the nation—103,305—saw one of the best and most thrilling games of the year Saturday afternoon in the Memorial Coliseum as the battling University of California at Los Angeles Bruins fought the favored University of Southern California Trojans to a scoreless deadlock.

The tie cost the Bruins the conference championship and the Rose Bowl bid, members of the conference selecting USC to represent the West in the Pasadena classic because Troy finished the season with fewer ties in conference play, two, while UCLA's season's record is marred by three.

SCORING OPPORTUNITIES

The tie score doesn't begin to tell the story of the thrilling p'ay on the Coliseum turf. Both clubs had opportunities to score.

Troy's opportunity came in the first period when USC's All-American quarterback, Grenny Lansdell, pulverized the right side of the Bruin forward wall to reach the one-yard line where he was tackled so hard by Ned Matthews and Jackie Robinson that the pigskin scooted out of his hands into the end zone for an automatic touchback. USC never got that close to the goal line again.

In the fourth quarter, UCLA marched 78 yards to Troy's 2 but got no closer as a touchdown pass from All-American Kenny Washington to Don MacPherson was knocked down by Bob Robertson.

Both clubs battled each other to a standstill, the Bruins stalking up 11 first downs to the Trojan's 10, the majority of the former's coming as a result of the long march engineered by Washington in the final period.

KENNY, SMITH STAR

The two standouts on the field are men who merited highest football honors of the land—Washington and Harry Smith, U. S. C.'s great guard. It was Smith's flawless line play that stymied UCLA offensive thrusts time and time again. Washington, of course, rang down the curtain on his collegiate career with one of his greatest performances.

Coach Babe Horrell, in a fine gesture, pulled Kenny with but 15 seconds of play remaining, ostensibly to allow him to receive the plaudits of the year's greatest crowd.

But three yards from pay dirt in the final stanza and four downs to make it in, second guessers criticized Bruin strategy for not attempting a field goal instead of throwing a pass. It was brought out however, following the game, that the Bruins, in a huddle, voted six to five to try the pass.

Florida Rattlers Drub Wiley, 42-0, in Orange Bowl Frolic

DALLAS, Dec. 14.—Sepia collegiate football sang its swan song for the 1939 season in far flung points on the Gulf Coast Saturday. Bill Bell's Florida A. & M. Rattlers proved that their 33-0 triumph over Xavier's Gold Rush Thanksgiving day wasn't by any means a fluke when they lured Fred Long's Wiley College Wildcats down to Orlando, Florida and proceeded to give an Orange Blossom frolic with the Marshall eleven that ended 42-0 in favor of the Rattlers. This is the second—and most complete—rout sustained by a Wiley team in the past 20 years. Kentucky's 34-0 victory over the Cats in 1934 over at Marshall was the other runaway scrape.

After a three year cessation of athletic relations, Xavier and Southern renewed hostilities in a colorful intersectional tilt sponsored by the local Lions Club that ended with the Xavier Gold Rush on the comfortable end of an 18-6 score. The brilliant passing of Tommy Mills of Los Angeles; the super brilliant kicking of the same young man, plus a superb aerial attack and aerial defense of the New Orleans outfit insured the Wright men a well earned victory.

Xavier drew first blood midway the first quarter when Karl Downs leaped high in the air to intercept a Southern pass thrown by Aldridge and wend his way up the side lines for 65 yards and a tee dee. An attempted pass for the extra point was grounded.

The Rush got down to business in the third period. Driving from their own 23, Tommy Mills began heaving the ball with unerring accuracy to his receivers, who in turn lateraled in razzle dazzle fashion with reckless abandon that brought the spectators to their feet. After three successful heaves in a row, the Catholics had reached the Southern 8. On third down Tommy Mills cracked center for the touchdown.

Soon after the ensuing kickoff, Mills intercepted a Southern pass in the latter's territory. After reaching the 12 yard line, Allen Elliott dropped kicked perfectly from his own 23 to give the Wrightmen three points more.

The same situation was duplicated in the last quarter when Mills intercepted another Jaguar aerial and returned it to the Southern 7. Three plays saw a charging Southern defense set the Catholics back on their 12, and again Allen Elliott dropped back and booted another drop kick squarely between the uprights from his 23 yard line and at a difficult angle. This ended the scoring for the day although each team threatened once more to score.

Xavier's next game is against Sam Taylor's Prairie View Panthers on Jan. 1, down at Houston, Texas in the Panthers' Annual New Year's Day classic.

Public Won't See Joe in Exhibitions

Managers Cancel Tour; Say Public "Froze Up" on Joe

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Claims that the public wanted none of Heavyweight Chapmion Joe Louis in exhibition bouts, were advanced here this week as the Louis management's reasons for cancelling the champion's barnstorming tour.

The public "froze up" on a role it didn't want to see him in", a newspaper quoted Louis managers as saying.

In Chicago now, resting and relaxing, Louis will commence training shortly for his Feb. 9 defense of his title at Madison Square Garden against Arturo Godoy, Chilean challenger, who arrived in New York a few weeks ago.

Gody, whose best fighting weight is about 194 pounds, came to New York scaling 200 pounds and confident of taking the title back home with him.

BRAGS

Managed by Al Weill, the manager of Lou Ambers, Godoy has been bragging in the last few weeks about a "great left hook" he has developed since he last appeared here in 1937.

"Tony Galento had Louis on the floor and almost knocked him out with a left hook," the South American spouted.

"I fought Galento twice when I was in the United States in 1937. I fought 16 rounds with him and beat him twice, but he never had me on the floor.

"Now I hit much harder with my left hook," Godoy continued, "and I'm a lot tougher than Louis. Nobody ever knocked me down as long as I've been fighting (8 years) so you can figure out why I'll take the title from Louis without much trouble."

Gody is due to go to Madame Bey's camp out in Summit, N. J., soon to begin his training grind. Louis will do his setting up exercises as usual at Dr. Bier's camp at Pompton Lakes.

HEY, MIKE! OUR JACKIE WILSON IS READY TO DO HIS STUFF IN GARDEN

Stringbean Lightweight Titular Threat Decisions Rough and Tough Tony Chavez

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

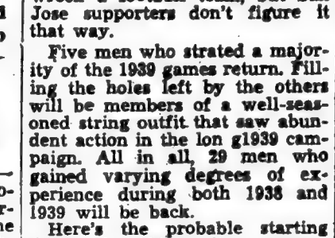
Mike Jacobs, the best lightweight contender developed on the coast in the past several years, is now ready to fight for you in Madison Square Garden. He'll make for you and himself quite a few shekels, because he has what the public likes to see—knockout drops.

This great lightweight prospect who should be banging on the door to the lightweight throne room in the next 12 months is Jackie Wilson, the string-bean knocker-outer, who just this Tuesday night put the quietus on rough, tough Tony Chavez, the veteran Mexican, in 10 rounds of enthralling action.

Chavez, whose impressive record boasts innumerable ding-dong battles with Henry Armstrong, the present welterweight champion, was rightly expected to give Jackie the acid test. He did so and Wilson came through with flying colors, winning all but two rounds to gain referee George Blake's approving nod.

In superb condition, Wilson beat Chavez at his own game--in-fighting--and did it well. All through the bout, Tony was forced to back off Wilson as the latter's rights and lefts bounced off his chin in the clinches, rendering Tony's best attack--swinging with both hands to the midsection in close--impotent.

2 ROUNDS EVEN



The fourth and ninth rounds were Chavez's best as he gained even breaks in both sessions. Wilson, who had scored 11 straight kayo wins up until Tuesday, night, had Chavez on the verge of a knockout in the 10th, the Mexican reeling about the ring as a result of a steady tattoo to the body and steaming right crosses to the head.

Wilson tipped the Fairbanks at 136½; Chavez staggered out at 139.

Big Boy Bray, State heavyweight champion, made his first appearance in some months at the downtown club in the semi-windup, and scored a one-round knockout over Frankie Limas. Andy Vasquez shaded Serio Mendoza but got a draw in four rounds. Dub Bowen nodded Soldier Stanley. Eddie Mosette hung a second round kayo on Eddie Rivera. William Metcalf, Eddie Anderson's importation from Chicago, TKO'ed Jimmy Brock in the second heat.

Anderson, "Rochester" of stage and screen fame, and his side-kick Johnny Taylor, had the 8500 crowd in stitches as they went thru their comedy routine before and after the Metcalf-Brock prelim.

Just before the main event, spieler Dan Tobey introduced UCLA heroes Kenny Washington and Woodrow Strode, both of whom are handy with their dukes, to the accompanying roar of the near-capacity crowd.

By HARRY T. MORGAN

I SEE where almost every writer in the country is beginning to pick an All-American football team. It's kind of fun to check over the lists, because the names sound like a roll call for the Foreign Legion. Half the names end in a sneeze and most of the rest of them look like they've been cut off with a pair of blunt sheers. I heard the other day that the Senate is considering a bill to make all football stars who land on the All-American team take out their naturalization papers. However, don't quote me on this.

Sally Rand, the dancing lady, is telling a judge that she is completely broke. It sort of looks as though Sally has fanned out.

... SO ... I SAID TO YOU ...

Success Story No 63527: Swing King Goodman tells feature writers that he has the best steel guitarist in the country, and he knows it. Charley Christian is the lad. Charley joined up with the Goodman outfit here, last summer. It seems as if Mary Lou Williams was in Oklahoma City and heard him playing one night. She wired John Hammond, impresario deluxe, (he helped free Scottsboro boys before discovering Basie) back in NY. John hopped a plane pronto.

A week later Christian showed up at the Victor Hugo where Benny was holding forth. Shy, dressed to kill and with a lone guitar under his arm. He got to work and within another week had the razzle-dazzle crowd out there all but swooning under the tables with enjoyment. Flew east with the band, went into the Waldorf, was hailed by the recording crowd at Victor as terrific stuff, got his picture plastered in every trade journal for miles around, got a salary raise for his Camel Caravan work and went into the current B'way hit, "Swingin' The Dream".

Now he'll be back to town again next month with Benny to take over the Victor Hugo once more. And a film.

I talked with Charley at the N.Y. World's Fair and got a rather vague impression but the kids got what it takes, no fooling, when it comes to producing the goods. He's slender, talks less than the sphinx, likes to dress, has an Oklahoma drawl and reads every weekly in sight.

Not bad for a year's work, eh? Less than a year, on second thought ...

I'd like to hear Wm. Grant Still's 6-minute tone poem via the radio. Orchestrated for a full symphony, it has a spirited finale of nearly 2-minutes of chorus. Still worked over 2 months, using a time sheet and a metronome. A tone expression, it was timed, at the Fair, to the split second with the developing action of the changing vision.

Paul Robeson's "John Henry" opus which was slated recently for a Philly opening had script trouble in its last throes of rehearsal. Robeson's version will be a heretofore untried twist to this famous Roark Bradford character of river life. Let's see now—was it Bradford or Green? Oh, well, we DO know Robeson is the pivotal character, and, as usual, has our frantic wishes for a smash run.

Mentioning the 'Swingin' The Dream" smash hit: Among the players is Muriel Rahn, who is the talented wife of Dick Campbell, who did a good job of making Harlem little theatre conscious. Troy Brown is in it; Oscar Polk, Nicodemus, Juano Hernandez (remember him as John Henry on the radio?), Bill Bailey, Herb White riotous knock down 'n' drag out Lindy Hoppers, the Dandridge sisters (they're the 3 Pixies), Jackie Mabley (she may not be familiar to localized Angelenos but she's a house afire east of the Rockies), Alberta Perkins (she's Peaceful Pearl—shades of Father Divine!)

Satchmo is Bottom, wearing a fireman's helmet and carrying his trumpet around. Maxine Sullivan, so they tell me, tears the roof off Mr. Rockefeller's Center Theatre with her fine jackpot-hitting performance as Titania, Queen o the Pixies, with a World's Fair guide chair as her throne. Walt Disney's fairyland ideas were used as settings, the tunes are mostly old ones, with the following new tunes as the best bets:

There's Gotta Be a Weddin', Singin' A Dream, Love's A Riddle, and Darn That Dream (which is the best tune of them all).

The locale is in N'Orleans in the 1890's, at the birth of swing—there's that argument again, boys! LA's pride and joy, Lionel Hampton, has his name listed high with the score writers. His "Pick-a-Rib" seemingly breaks the show's timing up for a good deal of encoring and whatnot. All in all it's pretty much all right for $2.20 top. SO I HEARD.

Addenda: Butterfly McQueen, also in the show, plays the role of Prissie in "Gone W.T.W." did you know? Funny thing, she had to be "taught" her Dixie accent since she's been a Harlem resident most of her life!

Satchmo and Benny Goodman fought over top billing in their show, rumor goes. But unofficial.

Startling listening: The firm which advertises itself via KMTR, "for the exclusive use of white women only!"

Deplorable: The handful of 'teen age rowdies who are making otherwise tranquil things racially tough for respectable neighborhood folk who attend Westside theatres. Because of this, in recent weeks, more than one neighborhood management has openly indicated marked discourtesy to sepias. It's a most unfortunate situation and one which probably will be even more so in time to pass.

'gang war' goes before cameras

"Gang War," Million Dollar Productions-Gold Seal's new all-colored cast picture, starring Ralph Cooper, went before the cameras today.

After testing over one hundred girls for the feminine lead, the company was forced to start shooting without a leading lady. The part calls for a 19-year old girl who can sing, dance and act. Meanwhile, scenes will be shot around her, with the hope that one filling the requirements will be cast in the next few days.

"spirituals to swing" dec. 24

NEW YORK, Dec. 14. (CNA)—The second annual "Spirituals to Swing" concert will take place on Christmas eve at Carnegie Hall, under the sponsorship of the Theatre Arts committee, it was announced this week. Benny Goodman will appear as guest star.

The program will be devoted to "uniquely American music", and will be produced, as was the first, by John Hammond jr. It will feature many noted jazz players in music which has come from the Mississippi levees, plantations, backwoods and honky-tonks.

Among the players will be Count Basie and his orchestra, Albert Ammons, Meade (LUX) Lewis and Pete Johnson, the "boogie-woogie" pianists; James P Johnson, pianist; Ida Cox, blues singer; Sonny Terry, blind accordionist; Big Bill, the Golden Gate Singers and the Kansas City Six and Seven.

new cotton club chorus draws rave

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Most notable feature of the New Cotton Club show, premiered last week is the restoration of the chorus line, critics were agreed this week.

Co-starring the show are Louis Armstrong and Maxine Sullivan, successfully teamed in the motion picture, "St. Louis Blues" and now playing in "Swingin' the Dream", Broadway musical.

Eight, tall showgirls and 16 dancers compose the New Cotton Club chorus. Also well received is Bobby Evans, versatile tap dancer.

Beginning with the Charleston craze of 1924, Evans demonstrates to a novel musical pattern the shim-sham-shimmy, the "mess-around", the truck, the Susie-Q, peckin', and the latest fad, the boogie-woogie.

Announce Book of Spirituals

LONDON, Dec. 14.—John D. Cramer and Co., book publishers, have just announced the publication of a book of Negro spirituals by John Payne, American Negro resident now of England.

Noted singer of folk songs and Negro spirituals, Payne has sung for the late King and Queen Mary.

Marian Anderson Will Sing Sunday

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—Her first concert of the season in Carnegie Hall, Nov. 29, a record-breaker, Miss Marian Anderson will be heard again at Carnegie Sunday night and again on Jan. 2.

La Anderson chose to wear a new coiffiure that included curls atop her head; included Spanish Russian, French and English songs in her program.

wife is "awfully tired" of him, she charges

Of "Willie, handsome Willie", Mrs. Willie Bryant, wife of the actor and orchestra leader who is pictured above, gets awfully tired. This week, Mrs. Bryant announced from Philadelphia that she is suing for divorce.

"Willie practically deserted me and our little girl", Mrs. Bryant stated.

Bryant, popular band leader, is playing a feature role in "Mamba's Daughters", starring Ethel Waters, which reportedly will make the West Coast on its current tour.

critic says 'swingin' the dream' just a vodvil show, a jitterbug's dream come true

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—'Swingin' the Dream', jitterbug extravaganza "taking off" Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream", "shoves further into the distant future the day when Negro actors and Negro art will be recognized without lampooning and burlesque", declares Phillip Carter, critic on the New York Amsterdam News.

Writing a detailed criticism of the Broadway production which stars almost a half-dozen headliners in the world of popular music, Carter charged the "Dream" with being "pure and simple a vaudeville show and not a play."

Stars of the "Dream", which opened Nov. 29 are Louis Armstrong, famed trumpet player and band leader; Benny Goodman, "the king of swing"; Maxine Sullivan, swing stylist; Lionel Hampton, drummer and vibraharpist in the Goodman band; and Fletcher Henderson, pianist and arranger for Goodman.

"Before the final curtain, the dream turned into a nightmare of Lindy Hoppers and buck dancing," Carter wrote.

"It must be admitted however, that here is a jitterbug's dream come true, having finally corralled the top exponents of swing under one roof. Whether or not this concentration of talent means that like elephants, they have come home to die, seems to be the biggest problem, for the "Dream" can easily be the obituary of swing with the autopsy reading—overdose.

LOUISIANA LOCALE

The story, what little there is of it, is that of the coming wedding of a Gay-Nineties Louisiana governor. His two secrataries are in love with his cousine's daughter, leaving another Southern belle who loves one of the lads, out in the cold. The plan tion hands arrange to give a play as the wedding entertainment and guess what —they choose "A Midsummer Night's Dream". The four lovers wander into the magic woods where their love affairs are first entangled and then straightened out by the magic Oberon, King of the Pixies (Juan Hernandez).

All of this forms a background for Jackie Mabley and her company of actors to stumble thru the lines of a mock rehearsal of their play. Whether it is the direction or a habit, most of the principals substitute mugging at the audience for acting. Miss Mabley, a fine comedienne when permitted to sneak in her side-splintting ad libs, seems particularly lost in reciting a script from which there can be no devittion. Also, it is no secret that Armstrong is the king of trumpet players, but the "Dream" seems to have missed that point and presents Louis the actor for which the audience has to suffer, and Louie is robbed of an opportunity to really "get off".

MAXINE HITS HIGH SPOT

Maxine who as Titania, Queen of the Pixies in the enchanted forest, does four songs, finds some difficulty in manouvering to microphones hid in the strangest places. Her rendition of "Darn That Dream" which soon will be on the nation's lips is a high spot.

Needless to say, the Benny Goodman Sextet which includes Lionel Hampton, Charles Christian and Fletcher Henderson, solid rift when turned loose on their jam session. And mark you, the "Dream" if at all, will be remembered for the grand work of squeaky-voiced Butterfly McQueen and the bubbling personality of Lionel Hampton.

MILLION DOLLAR MAID TRAVELING

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Enroute to South America this week is Mrs. Laura Grimes, Milton, Pa., maid, who allegedly inherited a $1,000,000 estate from a former employer. Assertedly already in possession of $100,000 of the amount, Mrs. Grimes shopped in exclusive Fifth Avenue shops before embarking.

ban showing of 'mulatto' in Philly

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—Shown only to a selected few in a preview to allow city officials a chance to determine "the wisdom" of allowing it to be shown "Mulatto", stage play by Langston Hughes will definitely not be presented in this city.

Declaring that he 'personally", would like to see the play produced, Judge Curtis Bok last week dismissed a bill in equity action brought by Joseph Becker, theatrical manager, seeking an injunction to restrain Acting Mayor Connell from interfering with presentation of the play here.

A parade of witnesses which included various ministers and dignataries, asked to opine whether showing of the play would induce race riots, as has been charged, was placed in the shade by the frank testimony of a six-foot youth, John Devoe, who claimed already to have gotten embroiled in a fist-fight over the play.

Chauffeur to Rev. Marshall Shepard, prominent Negro minister, who had already endorsed the production, young Devoe asserted that the appearance here of "Mulatto" would result in "bloodshed and rioting" because "the Negro youth of today is different than the older folk and they fly off easy."

MISS GILBERT TESTIFIES

Summoned to testify was Miss Mercedes Gilbert, who plays the leading feminine role in the hotly-debated stage vehicle that has a mixed cast. In the play, she is "Cora Lewis", mulatto mistress of Col. Norwood, wealthy Georgia plantation owner.

Obviously indignant, Miss Gilbert, who has been with the play since 1935, called Negro opponents to the play "dumb."

"'Mulatto' is the first play some of these people who are protesting have seen", she said. She added that the play was a "Sunday School piece in comparison to Eugene O'Neil's "Desire Unde rthe Elms".

Scoring Negro Philadelphia for what she termed its "inhospitable social attitude", the actress pointed out that when she was a member of the 'Green Pastueres' cast and had a 10-weeks run in the city, she and other members of the cast failed to receive a single social invitation from Negroes in the city.

Condemnation was also received from the Police and Firemen's Social club and by recently re-elected Magistrate Edward Henry, only Negro judge in Philadelphia. Magistrate Henry condemned the play as a "lewd piece of work that debased Negro womanhood."

"Mulatto" played successful runs in Milwaukee, Chicago, Columbus, Springfield and Cincinnati, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Detroit, Atlantic City, Newark, Boston and Hartfield, Conn. No riots in any of the cities mentioned, resulted, according to record.

The late RICHARD B. HARRISON, shown above in his last and greatest role, "De Lawd" in "The Green Pastures", is the subject of a bust, to be made by sculptor Augusta Savage for the Harlem branch of the Public Library.

board of censors to judge all-colored motion pictures

Formation of a Negro Board of Censors, to pass judgement upon motion picture plays, was one of the chief topics of discussion Thursday afternoon when civic leaders and members of the Press were invited to a studio luncheon on the "Horror House" set by Hollywood Productions.

It was pointed out by Laura Bowman, distinguished actress, that some sort of check should be placed upon pictures.

Clarence Muse said: "There are many things which are objectionable to all people. They have taken steps to rid their race or nation of derogatory types and stigmas. Italian, Chinese, Mexican, or other nationals cannot be depicted in a villanous light, or anything that is offensive to the particular group."

"PRONE TO ERR"

Spencer Williams, jr., stated: "We who produce pictures are prone to err. Such a body would serve as the necessary check for us. Hollywood Productions would welcome such a group of representative citizens to help us protect our race."

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass prominent publisher, said: "I can seen o reason why there should not be a Negro Board of Censors to read the scripts of the all-colored cast film companies, thereby curtailing certain little quirks in pictures intended for Negro consumption. It would be a step forward."

Floyd Covington, head of the Los Angeles Urban League, voicing his sentiments, was heartily in accord with such a move.

Others who attended the studio luncheon and confab were: Mrs. Jessie Terry, member of the Los Angeles Housing Commission; Attorney Herman K. Barnett and his bride, Miss Lillian Jones, secretary of the National Negro Congress; Floyd Covington; Mrs. Charles McFarland; Mrs. Alice Lee Hayes; Misses Gussie and Theresa Hayes; and Mrs. Walter Miller. The p was represented by Mr. and Clarence Muse, Mrs. C. A. B Mr. and Mrs. J. Cullen Fent Eddieves Flennouy, Harry vette, Marjorie Gordon, R Berkeley Goodwin, Lawrenc LaMarr, John Kinloch and La ard Christmas.

Southside Young Democrats Tell Activities

In the addresses of Mike Tosney and Percy Williams Friday night at the 28th Street YMCA, Southside Young Democrats were informed of actions of interest to the Negro race, brought out in the recent State Convention of the California Young Democrats, Inc.

"I am glad to say," stated Al Patrick, Southside Young Democrat president, in introducing the speakers, "that the Southside Young Democrats were instrumental through the several committees of which they were members, in originating a number of resolutions beneficial to labor, and to members of our race in particular."

Several of these resolutions mentioned by Tosney were those urging a broader Social Security Act to embrace domestic workers; abolition of poll taxes, and other vote discriminations; and the opening of the doors of union labor to all races.

In describing a personal interview that he had with Homer Adams, National Young Democrat President, Percy Williams stated that he had been promised that Adams would speak with the heads of the War and Navy Bureaus with a view toward opening all branches of these services to members of the race. For this and other proposals, the Southside Young Demos are to prepare a brief of recommendations.

"Again loved Christmas is here"

AGAIN loved Christmas is here, full of divine benedictions and crowned with the dearest memories in human history—the earthly advent and nativity of our Lord and Master. At this happy season the veil of time springs aside at the touch of Love. We count our blessings and see whence they came and whither they tend." So writes Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, on page 256 of "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany."

This impressive season will never lose its attraction for humanity, whose innate desire is to express love. Human hearts are softened in commemoration of the blessed Bethlehem babe, whose birth dated the Christian era because his life set a new standard for human thought and action. Jesus' advent in the flesh marked the appearing of the Messiah, or Saviour of mankind, for which prophets and godly men and women had longed with tender expectation, and which they greeted with praise and gratitude.

The devout New England preacher-poet, Phillips Brooks, caught the beautiful sentiment of Christmas, and indited a hymn which has since become beloved. The tenderly impressive first verse reads:

"O little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie;
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;
Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The everlasting Light;
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight."

Yes, the hopes which had been entertained by consecrated Biblical characters, during the preceding centuries, met their fulfillment that night, when "the everlasting Light" shone over Bethlehem, and the precious promise of mankind's salvation began to be realized. And today it is beyond human ability to measure the beneficent results of the advent of Jesus nineteen centuries ago.

At Christmas time spiritual qualities are more clearly recognized and valued, and are expressed to a greater extent. It is not material gifts in themselves that count, but the thoughtfulness, the loving-kindness expressed in little tokens of love, the desire to surprise a loved one and to impart joy. Everyone values these signs of love, and seeks to reciprocate by tendering, in exchange, appreciation and gratitude. Thus is the spirit of the Christ expressed in loving deeds, even as the Apostle Paul urged upon the Romans: "Let love be without dissimulation. . . . Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love" (Romans 12:9, 10). The true worth of Christmas lies not in material gift giving, but in the deepening and extending of the true sense of love between brethren, and in a broader answer to the question, "Who is my neighbour?" . . .

Human life is enriched beyond calculation, because centuries ago there was born, in Bethlehem, the babe Jesus, who, in his later ministry, faithful to his trust, revealed and demonstrated the Christ, founded Christianity, and gave to all men the gospel of love. This, then, shows whence come our blessings, "and wither they tend."

It is the Christ-spirit, the tender influence of the Christ-power, that is making the world a better place in which to live. Gratefully may we acknowledge this sacred influence upon the lives of men, and seek to reflect divine Love, in spreading kindness, love, and cheer around us. Our true desire finds expression in Mrs. Eddy's Christmas message for 1900 (ibid., p. 357): "To this auspicious Christmastide, which hallows the close of the nineteenth century, our hearts are kneeling humbly. We own his grace, reviving and healing. At this immortal hour, all human hate, pride, greed, lust should bow and declare Christ's power, and the reign of Truth and Life divine should make man's being pure and blest."—The Christian Science Monitor.

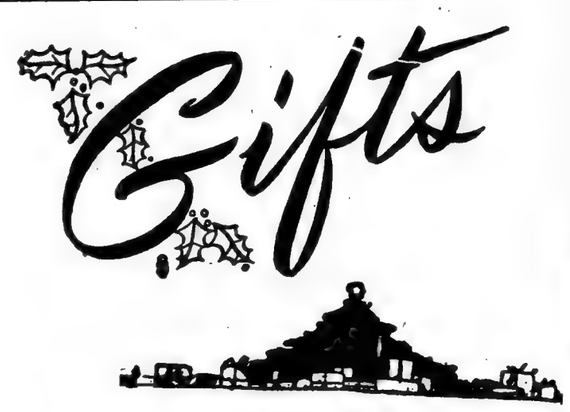
FRIENDLY COUNSELLOR

Dear Friendly Counsellor:

My husband passed away three months ago, and now it seems that my utter loneliness, my grief and despair in this old world is greater than I can bear. I feel certain that I would much prefer to join my husband in death than to remain here in this vale of sorrows and tears. So often during the past three months have I contemplated violent self-destruction. Do you agree that the way of the suicide is the cowardly way out of one's sorrows?

(Signed) MRS. E. T.

Answer—



I cannot truthfully say that I think that only a coward would attempt self-destruction. As a matter of fact it actually requires more of a steel nerve to destroy one's own life than it does to destroy the life of another. But the ingloriousness of suicide lies in the fact that nobody admires a deliberate quitter—the self-pitying man or woman who throws up his or her hands in despair when troubles come and shouts: "I can't take it."

To be sure it is a terrible blow to have a beloved companion suddenly snatched away from us after many years of comradery together. But it is well to remember that we owe a greater debt to Life and to posterity than we owe to grim Death. For when Death calls he settles his own. It is also well to remember, Mrs. E. T. that your husband's life belonged to God, and it was God's right to take that life when He saw fit. "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord." If God looked upon you with sufficient good favor He may provide you with another. Meanwhile I would exhort you to daily singing and prayer. After all, there's nothing like a beautiful song in one's heart and a prayer on one's lips to help banish away sorrows.

Tomorrow

By DELCO

He was going to be all that he wanted to be Tomorrow.
No one should be kinder or braver than he—Tomorrow.
A friend who was troubled and weary, he knew—who'd be glad of a lift—and who need it, too—on him, he would call and see what he could do—Tomorrow.
Each morning he stacked up the letters he'd write—Tomorrow.
And thoughts of the folks he would fill with delight—Tomorrow.
It was too bad, indeed, he was busy today, and hadn't the minute to stop on his way. "More time I will have to give others," he'd say—Tomorrow.
The greatest of workers, this man would have been—Tomorrow.
The world would have known him had he ever seen—Tomorrow.
But, in fact, he passed on, and he faded from view, and all that he left here when living was through, was a mountain of things he intended to do—Tomorrow.

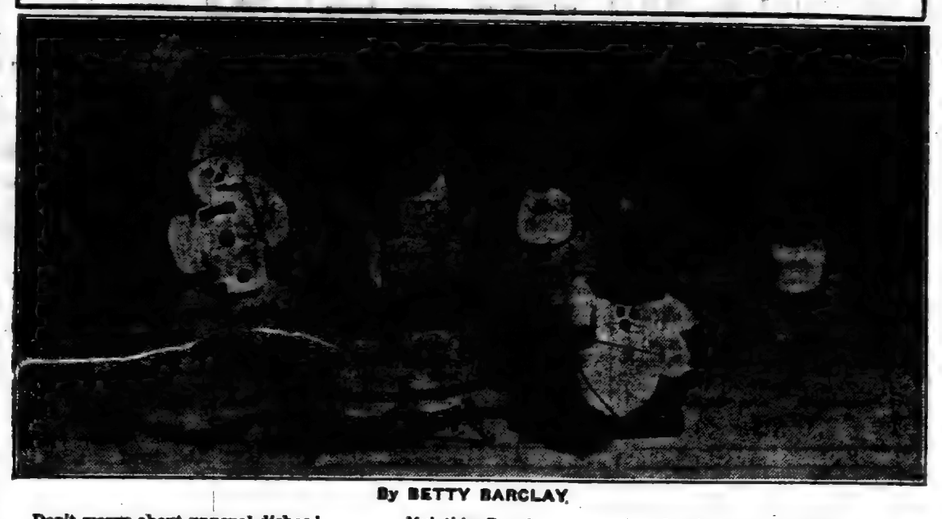
Christmas Eve in Caroline



By HERBERT MORRISON

'Tis Christmas Eve. The day is done. The birds have gone to rest.
The Carolina Sun has sunk in the Golden West.
The wood is cut. The barn is shut. The chickens roost on high.
The pigs are fed and gone to bed back in their pine-rail sty.
Old Nellie in her stable stamps, and munches oats and hay.
The cow has given her creamy milk, she saved throughout thed ay.
The little cabbin door is barred; no one will enter there,
Unless some wanderer in the night comes knocking, asking care.
The big backlog is thrown across the great wide fireplace;
It burns a glow that warms the room, and brightens every face.
Old Aunt Bollottey huddles there, close to the chimney side;
And smokes her mellow corncob pipe; or parts her lips to chide.
She's old and gray; her age, they say, is Three Score Years and Ten;
And yet the guides the heavy plow as steady as the men.
My uncle Liss lazily reclines and puffs his smoke.
A giant he, with his great av, he fells the mighty oak.
Anon, he takes his fiddle down; there's magic in his bow:
It gives me hope for years to come. He dreams of long ago.
My good dog, Rover cuddles here close by my side in sleep.
He is my pal; with him I roam into the forest deep.
Big Tom, the cat completes the group Let all the mice beware:
He'll have a Christmas dinner soon, if from their holes they dare.
Old Santa Claus is sure to come, and bring his toy-filled sack:
I read his letter in the fire: gold sparks against the black.
My heart is warm. My soul is free. I'm so in love with life;
My theughts are plain, and kind, and sweet; for I know naught of strife.
I place my hands upon my chin; I'm in a grateful mood:
I long to be a friend to man; Idream of doing good.
I think of all that Christmas means:—Bedtime is coming soon.
I turn my eyes to Uncle's afce; from him I crave a boon.
"Tell me a story, Uncle, please." I ged, his music o'er.
For he is good at spinning tales of times and deeds of yore.
"Don't tell the story of the ghost, who haunted Lover's Lane;
Nor how you single-handed tore your weight in wildcats twain;
But tell the story of the Child, who in a Manger lay;
And how the Wise Men from afareame to his bed of hay."
He knows the tale. He's told it oft. It charms my eager ears.
For thought tis told a thousand times, it ever brings joyful tears.

The Children Wait for Christmas Toys The Adults — Christmas Dinner

By BETTY BARCLAY.

Don't worry about unusual dishes for that big dinner! Are you wondering what kind of cocktail to serve; what soup, vegetable dish, pudding or other dessert; what punch to prepare; or what game to play? Here are your answers—and "Merry Christmas" to all my readers:

Citrus Cocktail
(Serves 4-6)

¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup orange juice
¼ cup sugar
Few grains salt
1 cup ginger ale (or carbonated water)

Combine and pour over cracked ice in cocktail glasses. Garnish with mint sprigs or maraschino cherries.

Cream of Lima Soup

1½ cups cooked, dried Limas
1 tablespoon fine minced parsley
1 cup top milk or thin cream
3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ small onion, sliced

Rub Limas through a coarse sieve. Melt butter, add onion and cook 5 minutes; remove onion, add flour to remaining butter; stir until smooth, add salt and pepper, cream and pureed Limas. Bring to boiling point. A little whipped cream placed in bottom of each cup before pouring in soup is always an improvement to cream soup. Garnish with finely minced parsley.

Yuletide Punch

6 cups decaffeinated coffee
½ cup whipping cream, whipped
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Top each cup of coffee with a spoonful of whipped cream into which the spices have been folded. Sugar may be served with the coffee.

Holiday guests, and the family, too, may indulge in those longed-for second cups if you make your festive brew of decaffeinated coffee.

Steamed Holiday Pudding

1 cup grated carrots
1 cup dark brown sugar, packed
1¼ cups ground suet, do not pack
1 cup canned unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice
3 eggs
½ cup raisins
1 cup chopped citron
3½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
1½ teaspoons salt

Beat eggs well, add sugar and beat. Add grated carrot and suet. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with pineapple juice, reserving a little to flour fruit. Add fruit. Pour into a large greased mold, cover and steam four hours. May be made ahead and stored in a crock or tight container in a cool place. Heat before serving and serve sliced with your favorite sauce.

Yield: This pudding will fill a 2 quart mold — 12 to 14 servings.

Magic Plum Pudding Sauce

½ cup sweetened condensed milk
½ cups plum juice
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Place sweetened condensed milk and 1 cup plum juice in top of double boiler and stir over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes, until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Add remaining plum juice and nutmeg. Chill.

Orange Fluff Rennet-Custard

1 package orange rennet powder
1 pint milk
½ cup whipping cream
¼ cup sugar
1 large or 2 small navel oranges

Make rennet-custard according to directions on package. Then chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve, whip the cream, adding sugar and mixing well. movie on "tb" seen by more than 3 million

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—More than 3,000,000 persons have already seen the film, "Let My People Live", made last year by the National Tuberculosis Association with the cooperation of the National Urban league and Tuskegee Institute.

At present 362 prints of the film are in use throughout the country. Forty-seven of these prints are on 35 mm. film, for showing in commercial theatres; the remainder are on safety film, and are shown at meetings and small gatherings.

GLOBE NEWS & GOSSIP

By Jay Gould

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14—L. A. bigshots are all set for the Santa Anita opening Dec. 30. . . The writer of this column will make a hop-step and a jump to Los Angeles on the Streamliner, be seeing you later 'Frisco, hi-ya L. A.

Gossip says that the lid is still screwed down tight, keeps the race betters scampering here and there, as well as those who follow other games of chance . . . Betcha the fair fems will be asking Kris Kringle for fur coats and chubbies to wear over tea gowns while visiting some draughty stadium or nite club . . . Sonny Howard and Walter Strider's entertainment the other nite resembled a Broadway nite club with all the gorgeous beauties.

Seattle's Lill Hart drawing feminine glances of envy as she ankled in and out of the hot spots in an expensive safari seal-skin, large enough for buxom Kate Smith . . . U. S. Thompson must be a swell big money angle for the girls. He gave Marguerite Dawson a stylish coat that looks like a million . . . The cute little manicuress in the Dunbar Hotel barber shop who is always reading football and racing dope, is none other than Winslow Zelma Smith, formerly of Seattle.

The two girls who stepped out of a new 1940 car in front of the Dunbar hotel smoking their own private brand of cigarettes were Kay Gaylor and the titian (?) haired Opal Selby Jones, formerly a St. Paul Selby gone wrong. Brown-skin Fay Hollis, formerly of the Clark Hotel in Los Angeles, now a waitress at 'Frisco's Town Club, and Cal of Topsy's Roost, just discovered each other. . . . Gurshon Myers, the chap who beat the New York races for fifty 'G's" last year, says he went to the cleaners before the gong sounded on the 1939 New York racing season . . . "Flash" Davis is entertaining at a swank Reno nite spot while his pet model, Juanita Hall, took a powder to New York when Tom Gordon and his wife went there for a visit.

Horses and the race tracks are only worth what they can earn, this makes Eddie "Rochester" Anderson's horses have a bad 1939 season.

NO WISE CRACKER

Boss Garnett is a Los Angeles big shot and never makes so-called smart or wise cracks . . . Rich Baker, Small Black, Ollie Lefton and Tom Mulkey would rather fish and hunt that have a trip around the world . . . Agua Caliente will race two days a week, starting Xmas Eve and Xmas Day. . . Jim Willie casting a wishful eye in the direction of a cute little chick, give her a break Jim and don't knock her heart around . . . Marbelle Watts of L. A. is a guest of the Buford hotel in San Francisco, she's the slickest thing to appear since the Coast Fair and is described by good judges as a looker . . . Alice "Sparky" Stewart, dashing here and there in a sorta frenzied manner, she only has three apartments to look after, one on O'Farrell, one on Geary, and the other on Post street . . . George Valentine, telling one girl he's tired and going to bed, another that he has an appointment with his boss, then ambles out to keep a supper date with another. She cooked the meal . . . Robert "Bob" Flippen trying to recall what he once knew of chess, quite a job, Bob.

Clarence Estelle is confined to bed with a double case of ailings . . . "Tuxedo Finish" Stubblefield and Dan Shaw in Quake City, (Los Angeles, the city of the moving mountain) get in touch with "Sunny" Newton at 1481 Post street, S. F. . . . Pretty Annabelle Stubblefield is going around with a big shot from the East . . . The attractive and popular Gladys Pittman is confined to her home with illness, don't let Xmas catch you ill, old girl.

Hutchinson, drawing up Xmas cards . . . Chester Teal laying jive on the line with Ethel J son, the Arizona cactus gal. The Four Toppers stopped in 'Frisco enroute to Eureka fill a four-weeks engagem then back to L. A. for a pict Lloyd, the K. C. playboy mal whoopee at the Town Club the celebrated Fay Hollis, King and Illene Glass, San F cisco hotcha girls . . . Texa front of the K & H restau on Central avenue.

FLASH: J. C. Mooney o carries two "C" notes for a change, watch out for a two-cat on six wheels.

ALL OVER Town

"East side, West side"—and on the North and South sides, too. That's where the employees of the Los Angeles Railway live.

There are 4,348 of them and they maintain their homes in every part of Los Angeles.

On paydays and all through the month the money they earn finds its way to the butcher shop, the grocery, and the clothing store in every community within the city.

Some of it is stored away for a rainy day and some of it goes for payments on homes they are buying. Some of it goes for dentists' and doctors' bills and some of it is used for entertainment.

These thousands of Los Angeles Railway employees spend their money for the same necessities for which you spend yours.

Quite an asset to any city to have a company with a group of employees whose salaries have a continuous local turnover.

TELL OUR ADVERTISERS YOU SAW IT IN THE EAGLE

Central Ave. District Realty Board

We have come a long way in our search for the secret of building good will for Real Estate. I hope it is less of a secret than it was before. The one thought above all other, that I should like to leave with you this afternoon, is a very cheerful one. It embodies the kernel of everything I have said. In this days' generation, service pays; the more you do for your customers, the more you will do for yourself, for of necessity, if you render service, you will put your business on a scientific and a truly professional basis, you will render more service and you will have more good will. And good will is the asset of your business that brings the greatest total profit and the highest price in case of a sale.

These are the ambitions and requirements of the following members of the Central Ave. District Realty Board.
Members as follows:

Prof. Herman

The ASTROLOGER

To Assist You In Making Wise Decisions

Specialized Study of Your Personal Problems

GOODWILL, TOWARD ALL

It is so easy to say nice things about people, and to pass an encouraging word along that will bring smiles and a little bit of happiness into their lives.

There are very few of us who do not respond favorably to compliments, nor appreciate a pleasant greeting.

If you are the type of persons that goes around carrying a chip on your shoulders, and letting everyone know it, you soon become a disagreeable individual to have around. You lose friends and loved ones and you miss much of the sunshine and happiness in life.

The Christmas season is fast approaching, and "all God's chilluns" want a little happiness and good cheer. There is no better time than the present to make a habit of spreading a simple word of appreciation about you. A pleasant smile costs little, but does so much good.

Let Prof. Herman assist you in expressing the true Yuletide Spirit, to you and yours.

E. D. I received my Hindu Luck and Charm Bag sometime ago and started wearing it the same day. A few months ago I returned it and received a Double Strength Bag and have been wearing it every since. I am having wonderful luck and would not be without it for one hour. If it is alright with you, I will send back for a Triple Strength Bag, later.

L. J. F. Will he marry me?

Ans. Probing into this matter I find that your boyfriend is planning to marry you as soon as he is in a position to do so. He will receive a better position soon, and will marry you during next year.

E. T. Will I obtain a job?

Ans. In regards to your question I find that W. P. A. is doing little hiring at present. Many people are being laid off instead. Place your application for jobs elsewhere as you will have more of a chance of getting something that way.

E. W. Will I meet them again?

Ans. It comes to me that you will never see the people who confidenced you out of the $10.00 in the Loop again. These people were not residents in the city, they travel from place to place doing the same thing. Be more careful who you talk to from now on.

I. C. R. Where are they?

Ans. Thru a careful analysis of your case I find that you have been searching for your fathers clippers. He loaned them to a neighbor a few weeks ago and they have not been returned. You will get them back in a few days.

I. R. I received my trial package of Mystic Dream Incense, and was very pleased with it. I am enclosing a check for a large size, as I feel the need for keeping a supply on hand. I appreciate your help, and will write you again soon.

T. L. Will I marry him?

Ans. I vision you marrying during the next year to I. M. who loves you and is anxiously waiting until the day you will be his. M. E. P. Can I be helped?

Ans. In regards to your question I would advise you to consult a physician, and follow his instructions in regards to the care for your finger. He will be able to relieve some of your suffering.

J. J. Will I get a job soon?

Ans. My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that you will receive a job working extra during the holidays at a department store. You will be called back to regular work in February.

R. A. D. Will I receive the money?

Ans. It appears that you will win the case that is pending in court and the settlement will come just about Christmas time. This will enable you to have the things you were afraid you would not have.

A. C. S. Will I ever see him again?

Ans. It seems that your Ex-Beau is now living in your city. He has been away for quite some time but upon his returing met some of your friends and received your address. He will pay you a visit soon.

Long Beach Nips Giants 7 to 6

Negro Nine Plays 2-Game Setto With Roofers on Sunday

Lin Storti's Long Beach All-Stars won a close free-scoring verdict over the Philadelphia Royal Giants last Sunday at White Sox park, bagging the first game of a scheduled double-header, 7 to 6, before 1000 fans.

The second game was called at the end of the fourth inning because of darkness.

Going into the third frame, the Giants had a 3 to 0 lead as a result of Jake Dunn's double and Wild Bill Wright's homer over the centerfield fence.

The All-Stars however, came back in the fourth and again in the seventh to score all of their tallies. Steve Mesner, All-Star third sacker, and leftfielder Graham banged out home runs.

Porter was on the mound for the Giants and Johnson essayed the hurling duties of the All-Stars.

The doubleheader was the opening of the second half of the Winter League season, the Giants having won the first half championship at their home field, Gilmore field in Hollywood. Next Sunday, the Negro nine cross bats with Walker Roofers in a doubleheader, the first game starting at 1:30 p. m.

Smith-Williams to Present Portrait Calendar of Marian

A portrait calendar of Miss Marian Anderson, calculated to please her legion of fans, will be given guests of the "Open House" of Smith-Williams Mortuary Sunday afternoon.

Commemorating 28 years of service to Los Angeles, Smith-Williams cordially invites the public to attend its open house and reception from three to six p. m. Sunday.

President and manager of Smith-Williams is Leon C. Edwards, young community leader and product of California schools. Edwards is active in civic, social and church circles as choirmaster and organist, for the past 10 years, of St. Philips' Episcopal church; as a former president of the Southern California Alumni association; a member of fraternal orders and clubs.

CREDITED WITH GROWTH

Married and the father of a young son, Edwards is credited with much of Smith-Williams' new growth since joining the institution.

Vice president of the firm is Frank Williams, one of the original members. A native of Missouri, Williams and his wife, Mrs. Tnnie Williams are active in community church circles, of which Williams has held many offices in the First AME church.

Most recent member of the firm is Edward C. Strong, at the Company's last annual meeting, elected secretary-treasurer. A licentiate of Mortuary Science, Strong joined in 1938; is a graduate of Howard university and the California College of Embalming. Since graduating in 1937, he has devoted much of his time to Restorativt Art.

President of Alpha Delta chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, Strong is also vice chairman of the Pan Hellenic Council, a vestryman at St. Philips' Episcopal church.

Married and the father of a baby daughter, Strong lives in Pasadena.

Associated also with Smith-Williams is LaRue Shepard. Mrs. Carrie Smith, retired, but still "lending a guiding hand" to the Mortuary, will be present to greet visitors Sunday afternoon.

Death Claims Ida Edmonds Rousseau

The many friends of Mrs. Ida Edmonds Rousseau were grieved to learn of her sudden passing Friday at Good Samaritan hospital, where she underwent an emergency operation from which she never rallied.

Mrs. Rousseau was born in Desoto County, Miss., and came to Los Angeles with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Edmonds, when a child. Completing her education in the local schools, she was aggressive in her activities to "get ahead." From her labors and ingenuity, she acquired valuable real estate holdings.

The Edmonds family was prominent in the early days of Los Angeles, pioneers in fact. The late J. G. Edmonds was the first Negro newspaper publisher.

Mrs. Rousseau is survived by her mother, four brothers and three sisters. She was a member of Hamilton Methodist church, the pastor of which Rev. S. M. Beane, will officiate at the funeral conducted from Conner-Johnson Parlors, Thursday at 10:00 a. m.

Roberson Gains Popular Favor

With increasing calls for Roberson Ambulance from a large number of patrons, the popularity of the new company is rapidly gaining.

Started by two enterprising young men of the community, Theodore Roberson and Cecil Benton, the ambulance service has been welcomed as a splendid asset to Eastside business.

The finest in medical transportation is offered in the ambulance with trained male and female nurses and attendants. The service is 24-hours a day.

DID YOU KNOW—Second Negro to win fame as a singer of classical music was Madame Marie Selika, the toast of Europe in 1880.

Nobody's Jackasses

Well, local political sharp-shoot-, chiselers and kibitzers had just well face it. The voters of the city Los Angeles aren't so dumb ,after

Judging by their ability to discrim-te between political machination d genuinely helpful measures at polls Tuesday, the collective I. rating of the local ballot-caster is y high, indeed.

One of the most confusing of poli-l stunts is to dress up some ney-grabbing scheme, label it unicipal", and blate long and loud n the merits of public ownership. uch campaigns, the voter is fre-ntly informed of the manifest inies perpetrated by Public Utili- Companies. It is pointed out at gth that publc ownership is the sanctuary from the greed of the y families.

ll these strategems were used, brilliantly so, by the backers of position No. 1, the most vicious k of constitutional hokum ever sented in a city election here.

he important point is that 208,- L. A. voters were not fooled. Ap-ntly they weren't even grazed.

hen there was the little matter Proposition No. 3. The only re-kable thing about this proposal hat it was never before success-y presented to local voters. Pasa- and other surrounding com-ities have long boasted similar utes.

Hysterical statemnets were le to the effect that burly offi- would invade "your home and all the joy out of living." ch-words, hokus-pokus, razzle zle and all the familiar stunts employed, but to no avail. An sed public opinion pegged the ball machine racket early in sday's embroglio.

over to Hover No More

he spirit of the administration President Herbert Hoover has the greatest enemy, barring fellow in the White House, that Republican Party has had to during the past few crucial s; oover, although poison with the ic, apparently has refused to re-n a cozy museum piece for his y. Instead, the venerable Cali-ian has carried on various semi-ial campaigns in the party and mpted, rather successfully, to late G. O. P. policy.

ithout doubt, Hoover is the most nderstood public figure of our American politics has never ed a more unfortunate situa-Hoover's counsel, though con-ntly conservative, is never reac-ary. His legislative suggestions seldom far wrong, and he is ably the most intellectual of nt U. S. politicos.

owever, the ex-president seems on exacting a repudiation of tragic administration from the le of the country in general and Republican party in particular. efore, Mr. Hoover regards su-ously any new or progressive de-ure by G. O. P. leaders, since might reflect some disapproval s own presidential policies of years ago. Thus, Hoover's po-influence has been used to block arty from any new or important udes.

However, another generation of Republicans has come along. Reports from a significant confab to be held in Fresno Saturday will reveal that the long awaited Hoover revolt is about to take tangible form. The move is still shrouded in mystery and doubt, but the militant left wing of the G. O. P. has vowed that the ex-president's harmful influence will not lose the 1940 battle for them.

So, with Hoover on the way out and the old line "Vote Republican because your Granddaddy did" politicos practically extinct, 1940 looms as a possible upset for the New Deal.

"Doublecross"

In Europe last week, the international pasttime of "double-cross" rose to new heights, as the world was stunned with news from Berlin that Germany is helping Finland ward off Russian attacks.

Today we face the strange paradox of enemy countries, England and Germany, cooperating to save a neutral from destruction.

Ever since Hitler signed up with the Russians political observers have been waiting for what was considered an inevitable break. However, no one suspected that the recently buried Russo-German hatchet would be resurrected so soon. By alienating Russia, Germany cuts off its vital trade relations with the vast, productive Ukraine. Thus, it appears, the English blocade becomes once again the major threat that it was during World War No. 1.

Hitler's new shift is as baffling as most of his other moves. Swift and unexpected, the German potentate ends peaceful relations with Russia as dramaticaly as he started them.

An effort to look behind the scenes, to feret out the real causes for Europe's dilema, reveals that both democracy and fascism fear communism worse than they hate each other. Both England and Germany will attempt to dress up their Finnish activities as a gesture in the interest in suffering humanity.

Russia's imperialistic war against Finland is a blow to red leaders throughout the world. Explanations of the Russo-German agreement were tough enough, but the new Stalin move reveals the U.S.S.R. in its true guise. For many years, attacks upon Russian Communism were labeled reactionary red-baiting, and perhaps, in some cases, this was true. However, ruthless invasion of this neighbor state is a complete negation of Marxian Communism and the earnest program of economic reform advocated by Lenin. Thus, for all to see, Russia stands unmasked. She is simply the biggest of Fascistic nations.

Interesting, if true, are reports of Russian incompetence on the field of battle. One heroic dispatch stated that a sixteen year old Finn lad shot down a giant Russian bomber with a common rifle. We may believe that one or not, but the great number of reports in agreement concerning the fizzle of the Russian Air Force lends some authenticity. Outnumbered fifty to one, tiny Finland has held her own amazingly. Without doubt, there is some great weakness in the loudly touted Russian military machine.

And, at this point, let us recall the statements of a certain American aviator recently dubbed a very suspicious character by U. S. public opinion. It was Col. Charles E. Lindberg, you remember, who stated more than two years ago that the Russian Air Force was nothing to rave about. At the time, Communist leaders at home and abroad labelled the Colonel a paid spy of the reactionaries and an obvious Nazi. Lindberg's subsequent praise of the German Air machine and his receiving of a medal from Herr Hitler seemed to justify this contention to some degree.

Today, however, things look different. Could it be that Col. Lindberg was simply telling the truth as he saw it from his highly expert eyes? He is probably one of the world's greatest mechanics. Perhaps we should not have been so suspicious of his report upon a purely mechanical subject.

German Air Forces, which met with Lindy's immediate favor, have made a very excellent showing. The brilliant Polish Blitz Kreig could not have been accomplished without devastating air raids of Nazi planes. The British themselves confess that the highly effective magnet mines were probably released over British waters by daring German aircraft.

At any rate, World War No. 2 has achieved a peculiar distinction, for this week we have the bewildering spectacle of "allied" enemies.

THERE'S THAT MAN AGAIN

NEWS ITEM—SLOW-DOWN STRIKES TAKE PLACE OF OUTLAWED SIT-DOWN STRIKES.

• OTHER PAPERS SAY:

Soap Box

By ADAM POWELL JR., in The N. Y. Amsterdam News.

The New York Times reports as of Wednesday, Nov. 29 that 500 women crowded the Hotel Roosevelt complaining about the shortage of household help. This is strange news tothe unemployed Negro women of Harlem. We are told that this group of women representing twenty-four organizations came together in an all-day discussion in order to find some panacea for the shortage of domestics. Even Mrs. Roosevelt was swept in or the gullible list, for she was one of the speakers saying, 'I think it is one of the challenging questions of the day. We are having less immigration which used to furnish so many household employees. We have a whole field for employment here."

These 500 Women in Search of a Maid should have held their conferences in the Bronx at the slave market or any of the Relief Bureaus in Harlem. There they would have found competent, trustworthy, honest, efficient women eager, ready and able, with no one employing them. Check through the advertisements in the N. Y. Times—Ads calling for domestic help. You will find that out of 33 one morning only one said "for Negro" and the other 32 definitely stated white. As long as these women build up a barrier, refusing to allow Negro workers, then there is go to be a shortage. There is going to be a mighty big shortage of white workers as well.

LOW STANDARDS SET

This group of employers meeting with the wife of the President of the U. S. adopted as their standard $8.00 per week for a 54 hour week for girls who live in and $10.00 per week for a 48 hour week for those who live out. I think it is very amusing anyway, this differentiation of terms—boys and girls and men and women. Whenever an employer gets ready to pay a low wage he immediately classes all women, regardless of their age, under the terms of "girls," and all men under the term of "boys". Domestic workers are women and frequently mothers with families to take care of. Ten dollars per week does not allow very much after they deduct their carfare and uniforms. So, it is very easily seen there is a shortage of the right attitude on the part of domestic workers' employers. As soon as decent standards are set up there will be plenty of able women. Even while the decent standards are in the process of being arrived at there are thousands of Negro women standing along the wall on Westchester avenue where the shrews come out in the morning and haggle with them to work for 10 and 15 cents an hour. It may sound like treason, but if I were a woman I would rather stay on relief than to take these below standard wages being offered.

Of course, it is one thing to take wages like that in the south where living standards are much more reasonable. It is another thing here in Harlem with the cost of living.

MEETING WAS TRAVEST

It is quite a travesty upon the First Lady of the Land to be sucked into a gathering like this and for her name to be used as the by-line. Fannie Hurst was also invited to this group, but she did not bow her to knee to Baal. She gave the employers an old fashioned "cussing out" and told them they were trying to meet modern conditions with archaic methods and payroll.

The classic line in the whole situation is Mrs. Franklin D.'s statement—"We have many workers who are not trustworthy, who are resentful and incompetent." Any time one works 54 hours for $8.00 they are bound not to be the most pleasant person in the world, they are bound not to be too trustworthy.

JOBS WELL DONE

Two New York Negroes did their jobs well last week but one of them will probably receive nationwide publicity, the other will hardly receive a line and yet his job was just as important. The gentlemen in question are Francis E. Rivers, assistant district attorney and Lester A. Granger of the Welfare Council.

The nationwide publicity will be received by Mr. Rivers, the first Negro to prosecute a murder case in the nation's largest city. In securing the conviction of Wally Paige on a first degree murder charge, against some of the city's most able criminal lawyers, Mr. Rivers demonstrated his ability as a lawyer and prosecutor. Justice being what it is, it is all the more remarakble that the jury returned the verdict he sought.

The man who will probably receive just a line, if that much be given, is Lester A. Granger. Once more he demonstrated that he is a fighter and that where Negroes are concerned he is ever ready to do battle for the race. Mr. Granger and several dozen other social workers and interested people were present last Tuesday at a dinner-conference on Harlem housing problems at which the principal speaker was Mrs. Mary Simkohvitch, acting chairman of the New York Housing Authority. Mr. Granger "went to town" after the housing chairman had delivered an address on the subject of Negro participation in slum clearance projects. He showed that the apparent favor the city was doing Negroes was no favor at all, but was part of a well-defined and subtle policy of residential segregation. He lashed out in no uncertain terms against this policy and caused, no doubt, great embarrassment for the housing boss.—New York Age.

DID YOU KNOW—The peanut, brought from Africa to America in the 17th century, to be used as cheap food for the slave, is today a $60,000,000 industry in Alabama alone; its 300 uses evolved by Tuskegee's Dr. George Carver, agricultural chemist.

DID YOU KNOW—One of the most advanced university agricultural units is that of Langston university in Oklahoma; has a $160,000 plant, including complete dairy and pasteurizing plant ;short summer courses in practical faring, 400 acres of farm land on campus where horses and cattle are bred.

• THE WORLD THIS WEEK

HE SHOPPED AT HOME

In a real life scenario that could have happened only in America, James Armenaki, New York hotel waiter, last week gave a party big enough to attract national attention and lavish enough to prove that a working man cannot only look at a king, but can also throw a party like one.

The occasion was the marriage of Mr. Armenaki's daughter. A firm believer in spending at home, Mr. Armenaki rented a sumptuous five-room suite in the hotel where he works—one of New York's swankiest. Rounding out the party with some 50 guests—including the owner of the hotel and his wife—and an orchestra, this waiter staged a celebration worth writing home about.

To his guests, he said: "For five years I have worked here, and the hotel has been paying my salary. I figure that I should give the hotel my business when I could."

There's something, incidentally, in those remarks well worth remebering, particularly at this season of the year. Christmas shopper will see the point. It is "Shop at home"!

BUT THEY LIKE IT

She is the merciless arbiter of how millions of men and women shall dress, and the tireless instigator of new styles—which women will go any lengths to adopt, and most men any lengths to avoid.

Her name is Dame Fashion.

It isn't often this benevolent tyrant, whose humble servants most of us are, has to take it on the chin. But in Elizabeth Hawes, noted and unorthodox New York designer, Dame Fashion has met an outspoken rebel. Declaring that "fashion is spinach", she wrote a book to prove it. Last week in a talk at Washington, D. C., her verbal lances were levelled at "crazy hats, red finger nails, slit skirts, hobble skirts, bustles, and corsets."

But it's fashion, weird as its ever-changing decrees are, that helps make the world go round, that keeps textile mills humming, cash-registers ringing and payrolls well filled. Designer Hawes argues for simple, practical apparel, a moratorium on attention-getting hats, and on the creased trousers fad which costs men hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly. Yet mightn't a moratorium on these foibles cost more than it would be worth?

The question, however, needs no pondering. It will never become a public issue, demanding a verdict. The truth is that most people will admit fashion is spinach. But they like it—which they may not admit!

MANNA FROM HEAVEN

In a democracy, you can't push a button and presto! immediately win results by magic. Its processes are necessarily slow, sometimes clumsy. It does not act with the streamlined super-efficiency of nations which treat citizens as if they were soulless cogs of a machine. Democracy's aim is to achieve progress and change, not with a maximum of speed, but with a minimum of injury to the welfare of all groups. Over-eager, impatient pensioneers lose sight of that fact in their haste to push some magic button which will make the heavens rain down manna. Yet even they must admit that the past ten years have registered steadily increasing aid to the needy aged. In a report issued the other day, the California Taxpayers' Association cites the expenditure for such aid a decade ago. In 1929-30 in California it was $641,-102. In the year ending September 30, 1939, it exceeded $50 million. A decare ago, aid to a needy person averaged $22.08. This year it averaged $32.46. Next year the level will be lifted to $40. Yet some impatient souls say there is no hope, and insist on pushing the button even though they bring down, not manna, but the heavens themselves.

CHRISTMAS CHEER

America's national income in October—the income received by all persons from wages, rent, dividends, and other sources—added up to $300 million more this year than it did last October when it reached $6,200,000,-000. That sizeable bit of Christmas cheer, plus a longer shopping season in half the states, plus pay roll and employment indexes at their highest peaks since the autumn of 1937, speak well of this year's Yuletide season. They speak, in fact, a message which says "A very merry Christmas!"

CENSORS CUT THE PAPERS

No news— no readers! This has been the common plaint in nations where government censorship has reigned with an iron hand and busy shears. It is an ailment which Italy is suffering today where a controlled press heavily drains the government's purse. With newspapers ailing, and their circulations dropping, the government last week decided to put the censor under wraps—at least partially—to see if newspapers under Fascism could stand on their own feet and support themselves. Whether a press can exist half-free and half-slave is extremely doubtful. Wholly uncensored news and frank comment, friendly or otherwise, are the essence of a free press, the reason for its existence, and the heart of its appeal to the public. There is no substitute for it. That much, at least, is proved by the sad fate of newspapers in Italy, butchered and blue-penciled by eagle-eyed censorship.

Playing the Spendthrift With Taxpayers' Money

By EMMETT J. SCOTT

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Dec. 14—At Sioux City, Iowa, on Sept. 29, 1932, President Roosevelt declared:

"And I hope to use this position of high responsibility (the Presidency) to discuss up and down the country, in all seasons, and at all times, the duty of reducing taxes, of increasing the efficiency of the Government, of cutting out the underbrush around our governmental structure, of getting the most public service for every dollar paid in taxation. That I pledge you, and nothing I have said in the campaign transcends in importance this covenant with the taxpayers of the United States."

This solemn pledge, solemnly made, during the Presidential campaign of 1932, before Mr. Roosevelt's first election, was accepted as a "covenant" by the taxpayers of the United States, as a pledge to be redeemed with actions and not with words, words, words.

But, what does the record show? A Minnesota newspaper has pointed out that Mr. Roosevelt made the solemn promise that he would reduce taxes—and he failed.

He gave his word he would reduce Government expenditures—and he failed.

He gave his word he would end Federal deficits—and he failed.

He gave his word he would make recovery his primary aim and that he would end depression and unemployment—and he did not.

He promised to keep politics out of relief and to take the Federal Government out of the business of relief—and he failed.

He gave his word he would reduce Federal bureaucracy and stop Government competition in business—and he failed.

It may be added that, while MILLIONS and MILLIONS of DOLLARS have been spent for farm recovery, about 1,000,000 fewer persons are gainfully employed on farms.

GLOOMY PICTURE

What a gloomy and dreary picture of Government futility is here presented. Who has paid the cost of all this futility, of the outrageously extravagant, spendthrift expenditures for unsound schemes and experiments, this manhandling of our national economy?

Congressman J. William Ditter of Pennsylvania has attempted to answer this question. His reply is—"by every man, woman and child in America who has bought anything from a loaf of bread to an automobile." "A part of it," he says, "was paid by the millions of men looking for jobs; fathers with drawn faces; mothers with wearied and anxious eyes, not physically starving, but hungry for some hope, plodding along under the burden of an ever-increasing tax load, unsparing in its severity and unmerciful in its demands."

During this period of experimentation, TEN MILLION DOLLARS of debt was laid EACH DAY upon the door-steps of cifizens of the United States, and upon the door-steps of the citizens of Tomorrow—the coming generation, as a fiscal heritage to be paid by them.

DID YOU KNOW—416 Negro cooperative extension workers, employed by the government, carry information on improved farm and home making to Southern Negro farmers.

The Beacon Light

By EVA CARTER BUCKNER

Our beautiful, our beautiful America our love,
Of all the countries, far and near, we hold it high above.
The noble characters, the deeds, that help to make it great,
Are proudly held aloof, that all may see and emulate.

And it is built upon a firm foundation, not on sand.
In God we trust If we are true, Our country long will stand!
The Constitution, testing fire, stands out, The Beacon Light,
To guide this grand old Ship of State, directing her aright.

And, with our hand upheld, we vow that it we will uphold.
The aggregated units make a nation, strong and bold.
Though clouds obscure all else beside, Wee'll ever keep in sight
The Constitution, for we know it is The Beacon Light.

EYE ON THE HOLE

Dear Editor:

We've come to the place where we're branding everything said or done contrary to the Golden Rule and the principles of Christ, 'un-American", and calling loudly for an investigation by Martin Dies and his committee on 'un-American activity."

We've just about declared that the ordinary cussedness of men is 'un-American", thus ascribing to "American" all the virtues of Christ and the Ten Commandments. At the rate we're going, Americanism will soon be supplanting Christianity as a way of life, rather than continuing a national characteristic as it originally was.

Some things like the Ku Klux Klan, peonage in Georgia, all suggested to Martin Dies for investigation, aren't opposed any more to the American way of life than the British or French. Like murder, rape, robbery or any of the inhuman viciousness of men to men, they are contrary to the Human way of life.

I suggest that to relieve the pressure on Martin Dies, there be formed a Committee to Investigate Inhuman Conduct, under which lynching, peonage, the Ku Klux Klan would come, since the church, the school and the home don't seem to be able to teach the stronger of us to keep our feet off the necks of the weaker of us..

On second thought, this letter sounds kind of vague, even to me "what wrote it." Maybe I've my eye on the hole and not the doughnut.

Sincerely,
A WHIMSICAL READER

THE GOOD FIGHT

Dear Editor:

The 1939 Football Carnival has come and gone. It took a lot of extra planning, effort and sacrifice but it was outstanding in its success. In recognition of your contribution which helped make this occasion succeed in its sportsmanship, in its fun, and in its charity, I express my appreciation.

Sincerly yours,

EFFECTIVE PRESS

Dear Editor:

We wish to acknowledge with much appreciation your interest in the deliberations of the recent Annual Convention of the Women's Political Study Clubs of California and the publicity given the various activities during the session held Oct. 26 and 27 here in Los Angeles.

In these times important issues must be kept before the public continuously and we realize that the work of the Study Clubs could not be near so effective without the splendid cooperation of the Press, and especially the California EAGLE.

Wishing you continued success we are,

Going Home for Christmas

By FLORIDA LUTCHER

I really should go home this year.
I shouldn't hesitate—
I'll call the ticket box today and ask the Chmristmas rate.
I'd love to be home with my folks upon this Christmas day.
My home's in Louisiana, some two thousand miles away.
I imagine I see Mama as she wipes away a tear,
And all the family shouting when they see the train appear.
There's Deanie, Florence and all the rest; they're shouting out my name.
Mom looks a little tired and worn, but Pop still looks the same.
There's nothing changed about the house, the same old run-down place,
The curtains at the window are of torn and tattered lace.
Talmadge is my nephew, he just stands around to stare,
But Margie makes her little self the family questionnaire.
"Do you ever see Clark Gable?
Does he give his fans a break?
"Is Clarence Muse really funny or just another fake?
Flo, could I get in the movies?
I can tap dance now, you know?
"You should've been here last week when I stopped the high school show."
"I think you're all just wonderful," I have to interrupt,
"But Santa would be furious if he came and found us up."
The family is well settled; everybody has turned in,
Mom pats my cheeks and tucks the cover well about my chin.
The sound of Christmas carols seems to echo around the earth,
Voiced by joyous people who acclaim His virgin birth.
We gather around the Xmas tree, bow our heads real low,
And say a prayer for Grandma Nan who died eight years ago.
Now the gifts are opened;everyone is satisfied—
Santa is a jolly chap; nobody's been denied.
There's wine, Pop's favorite brandy and there's piping hot egg-nog.
There're pies, cakes, fowls and candies and they even killed a hog.
The dinner is delicious and we've eaten all we could.
Who's going to wash the dishes?
Well, I guess I really should.
My holiday's most over so I'd better pack my grip—
I really hate to leave the folks it's been a lovely trip.
Dear Readers, please don't be confused. That's just a dream divine
I can't go home for Christmas 'cause I haven't got a dime.

1939-Merry Xmas and Happy New Year-1940

CORONER'S JURY HOLDS PRESSER IN FATAL SHOOTING OF CARSON

Testimony Given at Inquest Indicates Carson Shot Over 50c Gambling Debt

Accused in the fatal shooting late last Saturday night of William S. Carson, well known 31-year old trucking employe of 5504 Long Beach, Otis Brown, 35, a presser living at 1137 E. Vernon avenue, was ordered held for trial Tuesday afternoon by a coroner's jury.

The jury rendered a verdict of homicide at the inquest which was attended by many friends and acquaintances of both men.

According to police, Carson had made an enviable record where he was employed, 3225 So. Main Street, being considered as one of the trucking concern's most valuable employes.

Born in Richmond, Georgia, Carson was a graduate of Tuskegee Institute and came to Los Angeles in 1926. A photographer also, Carson was a member of the Eagle Amateur Camera club and Golden West Lodge of Elks.

Funeral services will be held at 1:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the People's Funeral Home, 42nd place and Central avenue.

CONFLICTING STORIES

Testifying at the inquest Tuesday afternoon were Mrs. Mamie Johnson, William Johnson, Althera Beeman, all of whom were in Brown's residence where the shooting took place; and Lillian Ross and Mr. and Mrs. L. Gaines, who were in parked cars across the street from the scene of the shooting. Officers J. J. Steffens and J. H. Richie, of Newton Street station, also testified.

Shot over an asserted 50 cents gambling debt, incurred the night before in a black-jack game in Brown's home, Carson's death brought out two conflicting stories at the inquest.

One story had it that Carson had come to Brown's home on two occasions Saturday night each time to see Brown, while Carson assertedly claimed him 50 cents from the preceding night. On Carson's second visit after both men had talked in subdued tones, Carson assertedly made a motion as though he was about to draw a gun and Brown shot him. Witnesses testified Tuesday that they saw Carson draw something 'shiny' which had the appearance of a gun.

GUN IN YARD

Officers [illegible] and A. H. Hamilton, who they placed [illegible] found a .25 [illegible] silver, foreign make [illegible] shot had been fired, out in the backyard of the man's home.

Other witnesses testified however, that Carson went to Brown's home about 11:15 Saturday night and as soon as the door opened he was shot. He ran across the street to his car and slumped at the side, a bullet through the chest, it was stated.

Brown refused to testify on the advice of his attorney, Walter L. Gordon jr.

Officers Steffens testified that he picked up a screwdriver near the dead man when he arrived on the scene a few minutes later.

on the sidewalk

by c. a. b.

ONCE IN A WHILE an individual stops me in the middle of the sidewalk and presents a one-act drama; it is either comic or tragic—as a rule tragic.

Last Thursday at twenty-fifth and Central Ave., upwards of five hundred people formed a rather quiet mob that stood in a semi-circle around an oblong object laying almost in the center of the street. The great throng moved about like a convention of spooks on Hallowe'en night. Unlike what one sees and hears on the Avenue as a rule, there was a lull, a solemnity not often felt at funerals.

In answer to such whispers as "What has happened?" or "Who is he?", it first appeared that a man nobody knew had been hit and instantly killed by a passing motorist. It later developed that the dead man, Charles Green of 925 E. 25th Street, had been struck down and killed as he was returning from the office of Dr. Frank Pearl on an errand of mercy. He was seeking medical attention for a friend.

And Central Ave., that pleasure-throbbing, care-free center, stopped, bowed its head and paid silent homage to its unknown dead.

For thirty minutes, I elbowed my way through the crowd, gathering here and there a crumb of information about the dead man, then crossed over to the other side of the street where I could better observe the people. On such occasions, I love to study people, watch their faces and feel their emotions.

However, I was alone but a few minutes when a little tap on the shoulder caused me to look around. There at my side was a sweet little lady in whose voice there was a quiet simplicity.

Obviously, she knew me and expected me to know her. This, of course, is probably the most frequent of embarrassing situations, so I just pretended that I recognized her. She began to speak of her residence in a tubercular home some two or three years ago, and suddenly I remembered the tiny, gracious little woman.

One day about two years ago, she had come into my office in a state of high emotional confusion. She told me her story.

The little woman is one of those tubercular cases for whom medical authorities tersely ascribe the single word, "hope." Like many others, she had been boarded out by the county in a private home. The bewildered little soul was living in a home where she felt uncomfortable and unwanted. A delicate and sensitive person, the antagonism about her in this home was robbing what vitality she had left after the rampages of tubercular infection. She felt quite sure that her death was certain and immediately if a new residence could not be found.

The problem was not a very difficult one, and I was glad to be of assistance in arranging with officials to place this woman in another home—one in which I knew the atmosphere would be friendly and cheerful. From that day until last Thursday, I had not seen her. My only correspondence with her during the past two years was a beautiful little handkerchief she sent me last Christmas. And even then I couldn't recall the name and didn't know from whom the gift had come.

At any rate, the little lady and I stood at the curbing of 25th and Central on the East sidewalk and chatted. She told me she had been very happy in her new home and found a way of showing her gratitude for what she termed "my good fortune."

And here is the remarkable part of her story. This woman had once been placed at Newhall in the dreadfully bleak tubercular home there. She knew at first-hand the deathly drabness of life in that hospital. She knew that her own release from there was more a reprieve from prison than a discharge from an institution of mercy and healing.

But to get on with the story. A man whom the little lady knows has been in the habit of

Ohio Judge Ponders Verdict in Child Parentage Case

OBERLIN, O., Dec. 21. (ANP)—Facing the necessity of deciding whether a child should be raised as white or colored, Common Pleas Judge D. A. Cook last week declared that never before had he been called upon to decide a case with such far-reaching racial, social and humanitarian considerations.

The child—two years old, pretty, fairskinned and curl haired, is motherless by a gas explosion last month in her mother's home. The father is suing for custody of the child, whose custody is also being sought by the family of the white mother, now temporarily caring for the little charge.

Atty. Eva Parker of Oberlin, the father's lawyer, told Judge Cook she believed it best for the child's future that she be reared among colored people. KFVD to Present Timely Broadcast Christmas Day

Christmas Day will bring one gift that all Angelenos may enjoy!

At two o'clock in the afternoon of Dec. 25, one of the most significant broadcasts ever heard will be transcribed for release in Los Angeles via KFVD.

Operating only during the day, KFVD has decided to present this important broadcast on Christmas Day in order to insure a large listening audience. There is nothing commercial [illegible] connection with the performance.

Perhaps the [illegible] of the [illegible] five minutes transcribed [illegible] cast is the strangest in the history of Radio. Produced more than a year ago by New York City by the combined forces of WPA music, actors and writers [illegible] project, the program has [illegible] been heard in America, and Sunday will mark its first airing over [illegible] microphones.

The stirring broadcast, a panoramic drama of the last ten years in American life, was made at a time when the WPA Art projects were the center of a great congressional battle, so officials grew timid about releasing the WPA dramatic triumph. Quick to take advantage of the situation was the British Broadcasting Company, which reprinted transcriptions and released them in England, where some critics lauded the broadcast "the finest heard in the British Isles [illegible], it is through courtesy of the British Broadcasting Company that Los Angeles listeners will hear this artistic American success 2:00 o'clock Dec. 25.

Judge [illegible]s Negro Plaintiffs in Swim Pool Case

Continuing the fight to compel Pasadena city officials to admit Negroes to the Brookside Park Plunge at all times when it is open to the public, an appeal has been taken to the District Court of Appeals by [illegible] of Negro residents and taxpayers of Pasadena from a judgment rendered Dec. [illegible] by Judge Clement D. Ny[illegible] in favor of the officials.

For 20 years, city officials of the Crown City have refused to admit Negroes to the Brookside Park Swimming Pool except on Tuesdays, because they contend swimming offers "social rights and intimate contacts akin to like marriage."

Judge Nye ruled against the Negro citizens on a question of procedure, holding that mandamus was not the proper remedy.

However, legal experts have pointed out that the mandamus action is similar to the proceeding that was brought successfully in the cases against the City of Los Angeles by George Cushnie and Mrs. Ethel Prioleau.

Recently, the Supreme Court in the case of Lloyd Gaines vs. University of Missouri held that Mandamus was the proper remedy to enforce civil rights, it is stated.

Thomas L. Griffith [illegible] al committeeman of the [illegible] committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, represented [illegible] Negro citizens [illegible] the case to appeal.

Observers believe that Brookside [illegible] controversy which inspired a wave of anti-[illegible]o deed restrictions on property throughout [illegible] Gabriel [illegible]ley, will be California's most significant test case to decide whether public officials have a right to discriminate against resident citizens because of color.

Although the case was tried in September, Judge Nye has just rendered his decesion, which does not settle the merits of the case but only raises a procedural objection. It forces Negro citizens to appeal or dismiss the present case. It is being appealed.

McNutt Passes Buck to States in [illegible] Jim Crow in Social Security

NEW [illegible]O, Dec. 21—That Social [illegible]rity Administrator Paul V. [illegible]Nutt will leave the matter of [illegible]opping discriminatory practices [illegible]governing the employment of Negroes in the personnel administration of social security benefits in the States, entirely up to state officials, was indicated in an exchange of correspondence between McNutt and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In a letter addressed to the Administrator Nov. 21, the Association sought to have the Social Security Board revise its standards for a merit system of personnel administration, by inserting a clause prohibiting discrimination against any person on account of race or color.

The Association contended that the rules adopted by the Board Nov. 1, offer no protection whatever against the discrimination against employing Negroes in various state agencies set up to carry out the operations of the Social Security Act, because the only grounds on which discrimination is prohibited are religious and political.

McNutt said in a reply sent to the Association:

"The states are now in the process of formulating their rules and regulations and you may therefore wish to have your local representatives make contacts with the appropriate state officials."

The NAACP said:

"It is utterly futile in most instances for Negroes to make an appeal to public officials in a state civil service commission in those states of the deep South where the majority of Negroes live. The discrimination is in direct ratio to the density of the Negro population."

G-Men Told of Peonage in North Carolina

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—The Department of Justice at Washington was asked by the NAACP this week to investigate an apparent condition of peonage in the vicinity of Yanceyville, N. C.

The NAACP request, sent to Henry A. Schreinhaut, head of the Civil liberties unit of the Department of Justice, cited an advertisement which appeared recently in the Yanceyville Caswell Messenger as follows:

"NOTICE—I forbid any one to hire or harbor Herman Miles, colored, during the year 1939. A. P. Dabbs, Route 1, Yanceyville."

The Chapel Hill, N. C., weekly investigated in the area covered by the advertisement and reveals that the insertion of such notices, reminiscent of slavery times, is not uncommon in that area of North Carolina. Although such practices long ago were outlawed by the U. S. supreme court, the North Carolina investigator reported that the people in the area ignored this fact and that judges and politicians had not dared to act in a contrary manner. The NAACP urged the Dept. of Justice to take action under the peonage laws.

Cop's Daughter, Traffic Victim, Still in Coma

Anxiously watched for the least sign of change, 12-year-old Morrisontine Dunn, daughter of traffic policeman Henry Dunn, was in the fifth day of a coma at press time late last night.

Suffering concussion of the brain, the child was injured with her brother, Clarence, 19, in an automobile accident last Saturday. Young Dunn, driver of the light truck which went over a 100-foot embankment, was only slightly injured.

At the General hospital where Morrisontine is confined, hope was held out for her recovery. Rendered unconscious by the impact with which the truck landed in the back yard of a wealthy Bel Air family, the child reportedly partially revived Monday night, but sank into unconsciousness again. From tests of her spinal fluid, phsicians ascertained that she suffered concussion.

LOSES CONTROL

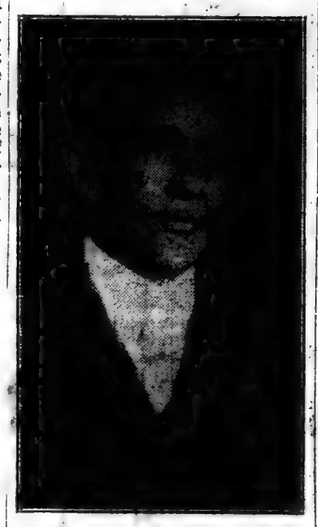
growth of the Gold Fur- Company is one of the nding stories of business s on the Eastside. Pioneer- he field in this section of ity, Mr. Gold first opened niture mart on Central near ington more than a quarter ry ago. At that time, the ndous increase in popula- here was not suspected, however, the vision of the young furniture company was prophetic. The Gold policy has always been one of expansion, coupled with a strict adherence to principles of value. In fact, this organization was among the first to bring high quality furniture merchandise to the Eastside. Superlative in value, sensible in price, Gold Furniture has become over the years a standard of quality. The opening of the present large Gold store on Washington Blvd., took place only a few years ago, but since has rendered sterling service to the local buying public.



Outstanding has been the interest of the Gold Furniture Company in the welfare of the community. Together with other leaders, executives of the concern have been active in campaigns for charity and other betterment projects.

Perhaps the most well-known of Gold community contributions is the radio program heard nightly over KGFJ at 6:30. Through this medium, scores of young people of the Eastside have been given their initial opportunity before the microphone. In addition, many leaders have brought important messages to a city-wide audience over the program. Always lively and entertaining, the Gold Hour shuns offensive music or comedy.

Around the new Gold department store "we hope there will develop a model business center. A shopping district of which Eastside homemakers may be proud—truly a place where they may SHOP IN CONFIDENCE.", stated L. H. Markson, in closing his interview with an EAGLE scribe.

One of the most potent young leaders in the city, REV. CLAYTON D. RUSSELL, finds his name on a "package" on the heavily laden "Tree of Recognition." (See story.)

ALBERT BAUMANN, former pharmacist, now one of the 's foremost realty brokers, who gets a "present" from the GLE's "Tree of Recognition" for outstanding civic work.

As civic leader and professional man, the contribution of DR. H. C. HUDSON to the community is invaluable. Therefore, for him a "surprise" from the "Tree of Recognition."

films on U. S. Negro make hit

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (ANP)—"Colored Americans on Parade," a series of interesting films on the Negro in America, produced and presented by Edward Lewis, young New Yorker, former photographer for the Daily News, has made a decided hit here in Washington.

Staid Washingtonians applauded loudly the appearance on the score of such notables as Judges Myles Paige, Toney, Jane Bolden, Colonel Davis of the 369th shaking hands with Gov. Lehman at the annual review of the 369th but weren't at all receptive to the showing of the Elks parade, alhough they sat in silence.

Bill Robinson, J. Finley Wilson and his cabinet, drew little comment, but when a picture was shown of a colored girl "clowning" with a boy friend in the 369th Annual encampment, disguest was plainly registered.

The whole feature, however, was declared highly satisfactory by the majority of the patrons attending the Lincoln theater where it was shown and expressed a desire for another at an early date.

Lewis is the photographer who made the only picture of the funeral of the notorious gangster, Dutch Schultz, when that hoodlum was secretly buried in a New York graveyard a few years back.

Health Body Sells Xmas Seals

Sale of Christmas seals at four locations in the Eastside area last week netted $13.72, according to Norman O. Houston, chairman of the Citizen's Advisory committee of the East Area Health Program. The health program is one of the activities of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health Association financed by the Christmas seals.

Seals were sold at the following locations: Allum's Drug store, Vernon and Central, the Dunbar Hotel, the Thriftown Market and the Western Dry Goods Store.

Among volunteer workers were:

Mrs. Fannie Williams, chairman; Mrs. Echo Robinson, Mrs. Adah Russell, Mrs. Connie Stewart, Miss Dorothy McDonald, Miss Delores Huffman, Mrs. A. Benjamin Jordan, Mrs. Belle Perdue, Mrs. Thomas Griffin, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Payne Chatters, Mrs. Childs, Miss Ann Cunningham, Miss Jessel Reid, Mrs. Alma McKinney, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. George A. Bryant and Mrs. Alice Cunningham.

CONSIDERED ENCOURAGING

"We consider the results of the booth sales encouraging", Houston said, "Most people receive Christmas seals by mail. The booth sales were designed principally as a convenience for those who wished more seals or who did not receive them thru the mail.

"It is planned to have Christmas Seals on sale at booths again soon. I hope that residents of our community will cooperate by buying the Seals. They make possible a wide variet of health work, including the very important East Area Health Program which provided free examinations in this district."

All-Vegetable Laxative Has Important Points

Most people want a laxative to do three things: (1) act punctually, (2) act thoroughly, (3) act gently. Here's one that usually fills all three requirements when the easy directions are followed. It's an all-vegetable product whose principal ingredient has medical recognition as an "intestinal tonic-laxative."

This ingredient enables BLACK-DRAUGHT to impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. And it is the main reason for the punctual, thorough relief from constipation that most often follows next morning after you take BLACK-DRAUGHT. The millions of packages used prove its merit. 25 to 40 doses: 25c.

THE BEALE STREET BLUES

Mr. W. C. Handy, our distinguished composer of Beale Street Blues, St. Louis Blues, Memphis Blues, blew his horn in Memphis the other day and Bronzeville gathered round to do him homage. I had the pleasure of flying down to Memphis to join in the fun and to see the Blues Bowl game between Manassas High of Memphis and Merry High of Jackson, Tenn., at the Booker T. Washington Stadium. Almost everyone was there.

I had a wonderful visit as the guest of Madame Young and her husband who operate the Gorine Beauty College. She met me at the plane with a reception committee including Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Qualls, Mrs. L. E. Brown, Mrs. V. Byas, Miss Campbell, and Mrs. Frank Franklin of Chicago, and took me straight to an exquisite luncheon. After the luncheon there was a parade around Handy Park and through Beale Street "where the blues began." Such a crowd! Such fun! Everyone dressed in his Sunday best, the ladies brilliant in their chic gowns, gleaming, satiny black hair proving our achievements in modern beauty culture.

As you know, Beale Street—or Bronzetown as the section is called—is one of the most famous colored districts in the United States. W. C. Handy and his horn trumpeted their way to fame with the rhythm beats of the street. And when W. C. Handy returned, all Bronzetown danced and thrilled in the blues rhythm he made famous.

There was Lieutenant George W. Lee—one of the few, if not the only, colored commissioned officer in the World War—Mr. Qualls, manager of the Blues Bowl show, and Nat Williams, high school professor—all distinguished leaders of the Race.

The football game marked the first big-time bowl game of the season. The stadium was packed by visitors from throughout the South and from as far away as Harlem. Newspaper men and photographers from the Associated Negro Press, the Associated Press and United Press were on hand to record the brilliant event, which ended in a victory for the local team. And after the game was a grand ball where the elite of Beale Street gathered to pay tribute to Handy and his blues.

I just wish everyone of you could have been with me. There was beauty and romance, the beauty of a great people having wholesome fun, and the romance of a great occasion with the happy courtships of the sleek young men of Memphis escorting the glamorous belles at this outstanding social event of the year. I was happy to find that many of the girls were readers of my column and to know that they had been helped by the beauty hints which have appeared here.

What are your beauty problems? Write Marie Downing, Larieuse Beauty Foundation, Room 521—319 North Fourth St., St. Louis, Mo., and she will be glad to answer them. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

FASHIONETTE

By HAZEL L. GRIGGS for ANP

As the Christmas season approaches almost every woman begins to think of evenings at home, friends around the egg-nog bowl, and a bit of luxurious living. Lovely things to wear while entertaining at one's own fireside are not a small part of this cheery picture, and if your Christmas list does not include something of the sort, why not play Santa to yourself with a beautiful hostess gown, a pair of smooth lounging pajamas or a gay housecoat. The styles this year are interestingly varied, colorful and as enticing as can be.

The designers of "at home" clothes have really outdone themselves in their presentations, and as a result of hearthside luxury items which greet one this year are really something to behold. Hostess gowns of velvet, slipper satin or soft rayon moirre and rayon satin damask, and lounge pajamas of slipper satin or soft crepe are just a part of the intriguing "evening at home" picture.

FAVORED MATERIAL

Velvet seems to be the favored material in the extra swank hostess gowns. Styles are waspwaists with flowing skirts, wrap-around models or nifties with the new back fullness. A few venture bustles and are very cute for the petite figure. Holly red, emerald green and sapphire blue are a few of the enchanting colors they may be found in.

Gold embroidery adorns the waists of several types which have that extra swish. One corselet model fastens peasant style with criss-cross gold lacings. Buttons of the gown's material parade down the front of some coat models, and many are equipped with concealed zippers.

Slipper satin makes up some of the sleekest of the lounge pajamas. Styles are simple tuck-in models, tailored and trim with Peter Pan collars and neat pockets. Matching slippers with open toes and platform soles are adorable with them. Raspberry, French blue and dusky rose are some of the shades.

After dinner, games were enjoyed until late in the evening. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of the popular Masons were members of La Jovial Girls club, their husbands and friends.

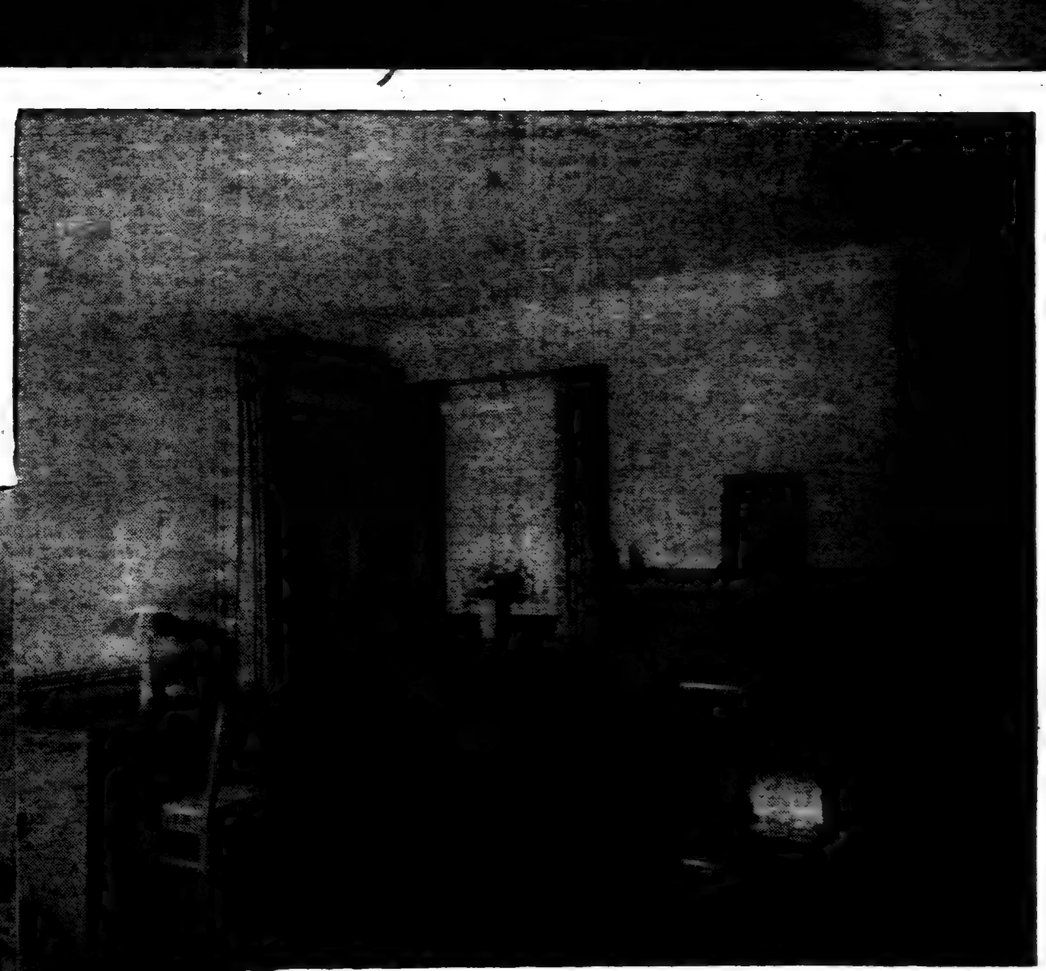
WOODMEN OFFICIAL'S HOME A STUDY IN BEAUTY

Ben Graham Home A Show Place

Barker Brothers And Paul R. Williams Beautify Home

Barker Bros.' distinctive interior decoration and Paul R. Williams' architectural work make this beautiful Georgian residence, home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Graham on East 46th Street, one of the showplaces of the local community.

Mr. Graham is the Supreme Clerk of the American Woodmen, Mrs. Katheryn C. Graham is a teacher at Twentieth Street School, and their daughter, charming Benzell, is a student at Los Angeles High School.



Barker Bros.' experts, headed by W. R. Armstrong, planned an interior of striking color schemes, amazing convenience and subdued beauty. Through careful study, consideration of current decorative trends, of personal likes and dislikes, Barker Bros. has achieved here a home atmosphere in which the art of living is fully realized.

1—A small powder room is green and silver; opens off a small entry. The living room is a Georgian green, with flowered chintz drapes. The Period furniture and marble fireplace are complements to the architectural background of the house. Another feature is the recessed circular nook for grand piano, with a hidden spotlight in the ceiling for the keyboard.

2—Entering the Louvre doors to the French blue dining room is seen an exquisite oil painting, which hangs over the buffet. Furniture here is Duncan Phife, especially selected by Barker Broes.

3—The oval stairway is one of the surprises. There are two niches featuring Nubian Ceramics.

4—The kitchen is the most modern room in the house with color tones of cream and brown. The breakfast nook is separated from the kitchen by a projecting rounded counter.

5—The library is by far the most intimate room in the house, with grass cloth walls and a moulded wood wainscot. Here also is a real fireplace and built in bookshelves.

6—The Master bed room is delightfully done in dusty rose and blue. It connects with a dressing room and a master bath.

7—Benzell's bed room, in blue, on the second floor, is quite befitting of the young lady of the house. It too has a dressing room and bath, and across the hall is a guest room.

New Deal Charged With 'Playing Politics With Relief'

BY EMMETT J. SCOTT

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Dec. 21—When the New Deal is charged with "Playing Politics with Relief" vehement denials are indignantly expressed by the Democratic High Command. "Such a charge," it replies, "is without foundation and a gross reflection on the humane purposes of the Administration."

Confirmation of these charges, however, has come from all parts of the country, and from so many sources, including the report of Senator Sheppard to the U. S. Senate in the Kentucky investigation, and the findings of the House WPA Committee that denial now is only faintly made and contradictions usually waived.

The latest, and probably the most flagrant, is exposed by the Better Government Association of Illinois, which has supplied a photostat copy of a letter, written by Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell (Dem.), only Negro in Congress from the First Congressional District of Illinois, to a petitioner of his District. The said petitioner is advised that, in his desperate need of employment, he stands no chance unless his Democratic Ward Committeeman gives the approving word.

The publication of Congressman Mitchell's letter drew instant rebukes from the Better Government Association and from Carrington Gill, Acting WPA Administrator at Washington.

GRUDGE BATTLE

DR. T. L. GRIFFITH

Rev. Griffith Tells Thanks for Cheer During Illness

I am writing a note of thanks in the hope that you will permit its publication in the columns of your most valuable paper. I wish to express my thanks both in a special and a general way to the friends who helped or cheered me during my recent sudden and serious illness.

It is impossible for me to thank publicly all who in a personal way come to my relief—I can make mention of only a few.

Every evening, through the courtes of the Gold Furniture Company, Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew gave broadcasts concerning my condition. This was a valuable service impossible to estimate.

Broadcasts were also given a number of times by the California Eagle.

The Roberson-Benton Co., gave me comfortable trips to and from the hospital in their beautiful ambulance.

Four physicians, Dr. A. J. Booker, assisted by Dr. Leonard Stovall, Dr. Warner Wright and Dr. E. C. Commons, gave me the best of medical care. I am still under the care of Dr. Booker.

The Methodist hospital and the three nurses who attended me daily extended to me every possible courtesy. Miss Emma Brister, one of my nurses, is a new and active members of our own church.

Dr. E. W. Moore, by his excellent sermons, contributed much toward holding together the congregation at the church. Ministers connected with the church, especially Dr. W. R. Carter and Rev. H. A. Foster, rendered valuable aid. Dr. W. D. Carter manifested his long standing interest in my behalf

I cannot mention by name all those who were of especial help to me; but I can never forget the sympathetic helpfulness of officers and members of the church who in many ways lightened the load which my illness brought on.

Scores of persons have sent cards to comfort and cheer me during my illness and convalescence. I take this means of thanking them one and all for these remembrances.

To all of those mentioned above, I offer my heart full of thanks and appreciation.

Last, but not least, I wish to thank a large group of friends who remembered me in their prayers. A number of churches offered special prayers for me during their Sunday worship. I am deeply conscious of the fact that the members of my own church have kept me on their hearts. Prayers were offered in my behalf in many of the white Baptist churches. It is a joy to me to feel that persons of various denominations and races plead with God that my life might be prolonged.

My illness—the first I have had in years—and the worst in my life, seemed to come on me as in a moment. But the prayers of God's people, and the constant attention of my sons and daughters, and the best of care, brought me back from the doors of death and I hope I may be found worthy of all the goodwill that has been bestowed upon me.

We Want Liberty, Freedom, Says Backer of Anti-Mob Bill

Letter to NAACP Written By Man in Small Georgia Town; Asks God's Help

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—"We want you all to look into everything and get liberty and freedom for us. All of us colored people are praying to God that the Anti-Lynching bill will pass."

These were the poignant words that came out of an obscure Georgia town in a letter received today by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The letter contained an Anti-lynching bill petition filled out completely with 25 signatures.

For obvious reasons, the Association did not make public the author of the letter or the name of the town from which it was received.

Explaining why the petition was not sent in soorer, the author of the letter said:

"You must excuse me for not writing before now. I was sick then, so I got down and couldn't go. But I give the petition to some of my friends and they told me they sent them in to you. So now by the Lord's help, I am up and got this blank and send it to you."

NO FREEDOM

"Listen. National Association Advancement of Colored People; the colored people have got no liberty and no freedom down here. Listen, the colored people have been to two wars and come back home, and the white people kill and beat and treat us bad than any nation in the world.

"We ought to have liberty as well as any other nation in the world. We want colored grand jury down here, colored officers of all kind here. It is another thing; it is so many people got children and can't make enough to buy food and clothing, so they can send they children to school. So they can't get much learning."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Break forth into joy, sing together, ye waste places of Jerusalem: for the Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem." This verse from Isaiah is the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Christian Science" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

One of the Scriptural selections includes these verses from Luke: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God."

The Lesson-Sermon presents also this passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science raises the standard of liberty and cries: 'Follow me! Escape from the bondage of sickness, sin, and fear!' Jesus marked out the way. Citizens of the world accept the glorious liberty of the children of God, and be free! This is your divine right. The illusion of material sense not divine law has bound you, entangled your free limbs, crippled your capacities, enfeebled your body, and defaced the tablet of [illegible]

Trinity L. A.'s "Brightest Corner"

Wm. Gibbs Creates Sensational Yuletide Electrical Display

Continuing an idea, which in the past three years, it has developed into a spectacular community project, Trinity Baptist church, W. 36th and Normandie streets, Dr. J. L. Caston, pastor, has enlarged its Christmas outdoor illumination this year until it is known as one of Los Angeles' "Brightest Corners".

William Gibbs, a member of the church, and a versatile graduate of the Frank Wiggins Trade school, in collaboration with the pastor and the assistance of several of the men of the church, has created a brilliant Yuletide setting. Already scores of motorists and pedestrians have been attracted by it.

The project consists of a Xmas Tree Lane with multi-colored lights, stretching the full length of the church on both Normandie and West 38th streets. The natural beauty of the hundreds of trees and shrubs surrounding the church is enhanced by lights profusely scattered. Great flaming candles stand atop each entrance with an illuminated holly wreath and cellophane bells of various colors with electric clappers. Cleverly designed pipes built on platforms over the main entrances with indirect lighting simulate a great pipe organ and the sound system of the church has been wired so that chimes and Christmas carols may be heard in a sacred program three times daily. Through the cooperation of the RCA Corporation and the Water and Power Bureau, this service to the community has been made available from sunset to sunrise every night until January 1.

Avalon Music Dept. Will Dramatize Christmas Story

Avalon Christian church's music department will present as its candle-light service next Sunday, Christmas Eve, at 5 p. m. a dramatized Christmas story in music.

Special features of the program will be an arrangement of Christmas carols for four hands on the piano. Performers will belong to Melba Hannah, organist of the Avalon Church and Zelma Watson Duke, director of the choir. A violin duet will be played by Juanita Coombs and Doris Neal, regular artists with the choir. Several special Christmas numbers will2 be rendered by the senior high school and children's choirs separately, and an unusual arrangement of "Silent Night" will be sung by the choirs. The children's choir is under the direction of Beulah Terry. The Zelbermel trio composed of Zelma Watson Duke, Bertha Powell, and Melba Hannah will sing an arrangement of a familiar Christmas carol with Joseph Crawford singing the obligato.

XMAS SPIRITUALS

From the pens of Harry T Burleigh, John Work, and Nathanel Dett, the Senior Choir will sing Christmas spirituals. Bertha Powell will sing an "Old Slave's Lullaby" of the Christmas story of the Christ Child in the manger. All these will be dramatized, and Miss Powell will be in costume.

Immediately following the program every one present is invited to go to the social hall of the church for a cup of tea or coffee and cake and a few moments of fellowship. Mrs. Gertrude Hicks is chairman of the Pue Hostesses and predicts a packed house. She advises patrons to come early for a good seat. Rex. Baxter Carroll Duke is the minister.

Girl Reserves to Light Candles Christmas Eve

There is a legend that on Christmas Eve the little Christ Child comes again to earth looking for heaven in which He might be a guest. Those who would invite Him set a lighted candle in the window to show Him the way and to welcome His Coming.

In memory og thi Girl Reserves of Los Angeles will light candles and place them in their windows on Christmas Eve. Announcement of the unique observance was made today by the 12th Street Branch YWCA. Lighted tapers will bind all Girl Reserves of Los Angeles together on Christmas Eve. A little ceremony will take place. Each girl will light her candle and as she watches the lights from her candle flame, she will make a wish for not only the 500 Girl Reserves from her branch but for the 3000 Girl Reserves in Los Angeles and in other parts of the United States and the World, especially a wish for peace in the countries where there is war.

Let's give a party is the theme song in the Girl Reserve department during the entire month of December. Various parties have occupied the calendar, some for the sheer pleasure of the Yule season, and others with the idea of service for others. The three Jefferson Tri Y Clubs gave a party for younger children, presenting them with toys. Some of the Junior High Groups have dressed dolls for the orphanage, joining in the city-wide Christmas service project.

One group had a discussion on the real meaning and significant of Christmas, closing with a Christmas play. Their mothers were guests.

Rev. Beane Tells Xmas Sermon Subject

"The Christ of Bethlehem" will be the subject of the special Christmas sermon to be delivered Sunday morning by Rev. S. M. Beane, pastor of Hamilton Methodist church, E. 18th and Naomi.

Special services will also be held Sunday evening, with the Hamilton choir ably supporting the pastor with appropriate music at both services.

With Rev. Beane preaching the sermon, joint services will be held Christmas morning at Phillips Temple. The choirs of both churches will sing.

Invaluable to Athletics

don't know for sure what Kenny Washington may do when es school this year. But here is a possibility:

ause of the superlative record made by Kenny, greatest in the history of UCLA and in many quarters said to be to ever dig a cleat in the turfs of the Pacific Coast, we take ortunity to suggest that it would be entirely fitting and hat he become a member of the coaching staff at the West- stitution.

believe that Kenny is an inspiration to all youth and have believe he would take his ability to inspire into anything he put his hands. We believe he knows the game at which adept and would be able to impart his knowledge to others.

He's too valuable to the future of intercollegiate athletics to be lost to it.

There is Walt Gordon, the scout and line coach of the California Bear. What of Kenny Washington, frosh backfield coach and scout of the UCLA Bruin?

ALSTON HOOSMAN
Average boy making good as a boxer . . .

Tri-City Golden Gloves King of Heavies An Average Boy

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Long and tall Alston Hoosman, the 1939 Golden Gloves local and Tri-City heavyweight champion, came in and completely filled up a chair and took up quite a bit of floor space with his legs.

Even if we had not known that the youth sitting across from us was the Golden Gloves champion, we would have thought, just from looking at him, that here is a lad who ought to make a pretty fair country boxer.

Winner of the heavyweight title in the event sponsored each year by The Los Angeles Examiner, Hoosman has been fighting only 12 months. He reached the semi-finals of the Golden Gloves last year. Out of 16 fights, he has won all but one, the one which knocked him out of championship contention last year. On the 18th of this month, he met the best heavyweights from San Francisco and Seattle for the Tri-City title.

Hoosman, 21 years old, weighing 195 pounds, spread over a 6 foot 5 inch frame, has no false notions about the fighting game, which he deems toughest of all sports. Possessing a fairly hefty punch, he is concentrating on boxing, wishing to develop his technique to such an extent that his every motion will convey class

Fighting is not new to him. Born and reared in Waterloo, Iowa, Al first impressed friends and well wishers (boy opponents, too, for that matter) when he took part in battle royals in his home town. He seemed then to have the knack of feinting, slipping punches and taking care of himself in a ring. And so, with experience and competent coaching it stood to reason that he might go far in the game.

WANTS GOOD PILOT

Joining his mother out here, about two years ago, Hoosman, most of all, wants a good manager when he turns professional, which will be after seven or eight additional bouts following the nationals, providing he gets that far. In this regard, he thinks Joe Louis has the ideal managerial set-up, Julian Black, John Roxborough, et al, taking personal interest in the welfare of the boy they guided into the championship.

If Hoosman has anything to do with it, and there is no reason why he should not, his manager will be a man who not only knows the game, but one who will take as much interest in him as he does in himself.

An assistant district manager for the local Hearst paper, Hoosman his interested himself in YMCA work, church activities and the Urban League, his current sponsor. How well this interest has caught on is evidenced by the compliments heaped upon him by Rev. H. B. Hawes, pastor of Westminister Presbyterian church; Baxter Scruggs, executive secretary of the 28th street branch YMCA; and Floyd C. Covington, director of the Urban League.

With the Golden Gloves "nationals" scheduled for San Francisco late next month, keep your eyes on this good-looking, calm and confident youth—he may follow in the footsteps of the world's heavyweight champion!

TOM POLLARD NAMED TO HALFBACK POST ON ALL-CITY FIRST TEAM

Arthur Morgan and Hubert Duke on 3rd Selection of All-Southern California Board

Referred to by his coach, Harry Edelson, as "the greatest offensive halfback Jefferson High school ever had", Tom Pollard has been selected by the All-Southern California Board of Football on its All-Los Angeles City High school first team for 1939.

Meeting in the Helms Athletic Foundation offices Tuesday, Dec. 5, the board named three teams made up of the cream in prep football in Los Angeles for the season and released the selections last week.

The board is composed of John Beckman, Los Angeles Daily News and Evening News; Bill Clark, Los Angeles Examiner; George Main, Los Angeles Herald-Express; Carl Blume, Los Angeles Times; and Stanley Speer, Hollywood Citizen-News, with the Helms Athletic Foundation, under the direction of W. R. "Bill" Schroeder, serving as cooperative organization.

Pollard, the only Negro player on the first eleven, was the Democrats' chief scoring threat, chalking up 55 points during the season. His teammate, Arthur Morgan, the 5 foot 11, 180-pound senior center, was named on the third string, as was Hubert Duke, Jordan's 160-pound passer. Both are Negroes.

Morgan was strong on defense and a great blocker. Duke, altho quite a nifty runner, is best known for his exceptional passing ability.

FORMIDABLE UNIT

Although the All-City team isn't any juggernaught in size (and yet it would out-weigh the famed Notre Dame team of 1924—with its Four Horsemen—by eight pounds to the man), it has everything to make it a formidable unit. The team, as it has been mythically designed by the All-Southern California Board of Football, possesses a hard running attack, an aerial attack, good punting and excellent blocking. And, of importance, the All-City team packs plenty of defensive strength.

All players chosen for the All-City first, second and third teams will be invited to attend the Third Annual Kiwanis Prep School Football banquet at Elks' Club temple, Sixth and Parkview streets, Thursday evening, Dec. 28, at 6:30 o'clock as guests of the Kiwanis Clubs of Southern California.

The first team players will be presented with medals by Helms Athletic Foundation, official All-Southern California Board of Football sweaters by Hollywood Athletic company, and certificates by the Helms Foundation. The Helms Foundation will also present certificates to second third team members.

Joe Louis Referees Diamond Belt Bouts in "Garden"

NEW YORK, Dec. 21. (ANP)—Joe Louis, heavyweight champion of the world, acted as referee for a few bouts at the Diamond Belt amateur boxing tournament held at Madison Square Garden last week.

Louis shared spotlight honors with Mayor LaGuardia. There were 28 bouts, 8 in the novice class, eight in the junior and 8 in the open. There were two semi-finals in the open heavyweight division.

Louis received a fine ovation as he climbed through the ropes to referee. Wearing a white shirt and robin's egg blue trousers, he appeared as unruffled as he ever appeared as a fighter. He calmly let the youngsters work on each other without a restraining hand during the full bout.

The tournament was staged for the Free Milk Fund for Babies, Inc., of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is chairman. Gross receipts were $24,433 and net $20,586.

NEWS VIEWS

By HARRY T. MORGAN

AFTER taking a quick look at the sports news I'm just about "bowled over". It seems like most every team in the country is expecting a bid for a post-season game at the Rose Bowl, the Cotton Bowl, the Sugar Bowl, the Sun Bowl, the Orange Bowl—and I don't know how many others. From the looks of things, half the nation is going to spend New Year's Day in some sort of bowl—which rates better than being in their cups. However, it still means a wholesale headache, for only half the teams can win. Because of this there will be more good alibis on January 2nd than the combined nations of Europe have used since the beginning of the present war—if you can name a beginning.

It is drinking season now. Are you having parties? Know how to mix — serve — seasonal cocktails? See Harry Morgan, House of Morgan — Central Avenue's headquarters for liquor, wines, beers. Let him show you how to serve interesting drinks — yet save on your liquor bill.

UCLA Stars Honor Guests at Jefferson Football Rally

Kenny Washington and Woodrow Strode, UCLA football stars were honor guests at a football rally which closed the season for Jefferson high school Tuesday of last week. Jefferson's team won the League championship for the first time in 23 years.

The rally was a colorful event. Band members, uniformed in green capes with gold linings and green caps, played. The Pep club drill team of 32 girls, dressed in white with green and gold capes, marched from the four corners of the field and formed the letter "J" in front of the bleachers.

Sam Lankford, student body president, introduced Washington, who is an alumnus of Lincoln High school and Strode, an alumnus of Jefferson.

STRODE MAKES PRESENTATION

Willie Cook, commissioner of athletics for the school, and Albert Smyles, yell leader, carried a huge football of yellow chrysanthemums onto the field, where Strode, former end of the Democrat team, presented it to Coach Harry Edelson.

Alhambra Wins CIF Crown

With the great Negro end, Willie Peters, accounting for all of her scoring, Santa Barbara lost a 26 to 18 free-swinging tilt to Alhambra last Saturday afternoon in the Memorial Coliseum, losing, too, the California Interscholastic Federation gridiron championship.

Likened to Woodrow Strode, UCLA's great wingman, Peters gathered in three passes for the 18 points. Johnny Petrovich, Alhambra's quarterback, sparked the Moors to their winning margin.

Kenny Nation's Leading Ground Gainer for '39

SEATTLE, Dec. 21—Nosing out Tommy Harmon of Michigan and Kay Eakin of Arkansas, Kenny Washington, UCLA's great halfback and All-American, ended an illustrious three-year playing career as the country's outstanding ground-gainer for the 1939 season.

In 10 games, Washington gained a total of 1265 yards.

In Los Angeles last week, Kenny received additional honors when he was presented a gold watch by the Kate Smith Hour. USC's Grenny Lansdell and Harry Smith were also presented watches.

Debate Borican Track Marks

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 21.—Records made by Johnny Borican, only Negro athlete submitting marks for approval this year, were debated by the AAU, Amateur Athletic Union, meeting here. Borican is seeking recognition for records set at Dartmouth university indoor track and for a record of 2.08.8 for 1,000 yards set at New York last Mar. 11. The cause of the debate is the accusation that the fast Dartmouth university indoor track does not have a curb entirely around it as provided in AAU rules.

DEFEATS OREGON

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—With Bill King, Negro sharpshooter, supplying the winning points in the extra period, Long Island university basketballers defeated Oregon 56-55 Saturday night.

BUREAU OF POWER AND LIGHT EMPLOYE ADDS TO PRIZED POSSESSIONS

Receives Letter From Aged Little Rock School Teacher Who Was Friend of Family

Among the prized possessions of Titus Alexander, veteran employe of the Bureau of Power and Light, is a letter recently received from 85-year old Mrs. Charlotte E. Andrews, of Little Rock, Ark., who has taught school there for a period of seventy years.

Mrs. Stephens, who retired at the end of last semester, recalled the visit with Mr. Alexander's brother at Helena, Ark., in 1871, when she was a tot. Enclosed in the letter was a clipping from the "Arkansas Gazette", dated July 2, 1939, in reference to which she wrote, "Pardon the seeming egotism of sending you the enclosed article. I do so only to let you see that your sister's child, and a little humble Arkansas girl so kindly received and nourished by your dear mother, has tried to "make good" in her humble life by her Heavenly Father's help".

The clipping is a remarkable document. It reads:

"Charlotte E. Stephen, Negro teacher, who resigned last week from the Little Rock Public School faculty after 70 years of continuous service has established a record of service in the teaching annals of the city. She is eligible for a pension under the Teacher Retirement Act.

"Charlotte started teaching in the Union school, established in 1867 by the Quakers, at 6th and State streets, when it was taken over by the Little Rock School Board in 1868-1869. When she retired last week she was librarian at Dunbar High School, having served in that capacity since 1931.

"Her only absence from her teaching duties was during the years 1870-73, when she obtained leave to continue her studies at Oberlin College at Oberlin, O.

TEACHES ALL GRADES

"She has taught all grades from the first through the 12th and was twice principal of Capitol Hill School, 1875-57 and 1885-89. The present Charlotte E. Stephens Negro School at 17th and Maple Streets, was named in her honor. Her high school work began in 1903 and continued until the present time. For 25 years she was head of the Latin department, teaching science and English as overflow subjects. When she was asked why she became a teacher of Latin, Charlotte explained that when the teacher of Latin in the schools was made principal of one of the grammar schools, she was the only one in the teaching corps who had had enough Latin to take his place.

HAS FIRST REPORT

"Charlotte exhibits with pride the first annual report of the Little Rock Public Schools published in 1869 when N. P. Gates was superintendent of schools. Her name, she was then Lottie (Charlotte) E. Andrews, is included in the list of teachers. She was the only one of the four Negro teachers in the public schools at that time who was born in Arkansas, the other three came here from the North.

"She was a student at the old Union School when her opportunity came to teach. One of the white teachers (there were no Negro teachers at Union then), became ill near the close of the 1868-69 session and Charlotte was appointed by the board to fill her place during the remaining spring term. She was elected for the ensuing year at the age of 15. She now is 85.

FREED FROM SLAVERY

"Charlotte's father, William Wallace Andrews, butler and steward for the Chester A. Ashley family during his years of slavery, was given unusual opportunity for education and was able to give his daughter even greater opportunities.

"When Little Rock was taken by General Steele in 1863, and William Andrews and his family were freed from slavery, Andrews became minister of the Negro Methodist church at Eighth and Broadway, and opened a school for Negro children there. He was assisted by a man who came here with the northern army. The school later was taken over by northern missionaries.

"During her long and active life Charlotte has endeavored, she says, to develop the best in the pupils who have come under her tutelage with special emphasis on their Christian and moral characters.

"Several years ago she wrote the story of the Little Rock Negro Schools for the Gibbsonian News, official paper of the then Gibbs High school. For the Woman's page of the Arkansas Survey, popular Negro publication, which was conducted by her daughter, Bessie Stephens Thornton, she contributed a series of articles on "Little Rock in Ye Olden Days."

'She lives now at 1420 West Fifteenth street, at the home of her son-in-law, Dr. J. G. Thorntonu. Her daughter is dead."

For permission to reprint this clipping, the EAGLE is deeply grateful to Mr. Alexander. He is the possessor of a remarkable library containing books for, about and by Negroes; and is an outstanding historical expert on the affairs of Afro-America.

Economic Relief Association Shows Progress, Report Says

The Economic Relief Association Inc., was organized last September for the "important purpose of improving the economic status of the Negro," and after three months of public contact, has begun to show signs of constructive results, according to officers of the Association.

Headquarters are at 2714 Compton avenue, where a salvage department, general repair shop, and furniture store and employment bureau are operated.

Officers of the association are headed by President Rev. G. L. Hays, who in addition to being a minister, has had considerable experience in business as a building engineer.

H. A. Reeves is vice president and supervisor and needs no particular introduction to the general public, having resided in Los Angeles for over 40 years, during which he has built up an enviable business reputation in the community, employing at one time, more Negroes than any other Negro concern. He remains still active in business, operating a fleet of trucks in the rubbish business.

Earl Toddy is recording secretary and heads the employment department. Todd is well and favorably known and an ardent booster for the building up of Negro enterprises.

PUBLIC INVITED

Miss B. W. Simon is treasurer, in addition to which she conducts a school of domestic science for young girls at 3299 Griffith avenue, in cooperation with the Economic Relief Association. The public is invited to visit and inspect the premises and exhibits and witness the progress she is making, a spokesman stated.

Walter Bobo is manager of the store and repair department on Compton avenue. Bobo is well qualified for this particular line and the public is invited to visit and trade when possible.

Edgar L. Dorsey was recently elected by the board to the position of executive secretary and is giving his full time to the work of contact and publicity.

Dorsey needs no public introduction, having been a resident of Los Angeles for over 25-years. He has been an important factor in the building up of successful business enterprises such as the Golden State Insurance Co., Liberty Building and Loan Association, Independent Rubber Co., Dorsey Super Service as well as publicity man, advertisement agent and columnist.

The association extends seasons greetings to all and particularly those who have been contributing factors in helping this worthy organization to get under way.

YULETIDE GEMS

Like everyone else during these stirring times, you are no doubt looking forward to a merry and prosperous holiday season.

When one considers a Christmas season without gifts, the joys and happiness that go along with the Yuletide spirit, their heart is sad, and a tiny flame goes out within themselves.

In the true Christmas spirit, God becomes tremendously important. Domestic discontent, false pride, and poverty have no right to spoil this momentous occasion.

Now is the time to let Prof. Herman assist you in obtaining that which will help you to really appreciate this coming Christmas season.

C. C.—Dear Prof., I received my Horoscope on the fifth, and went to work on the sixth, and on the seventh, I received a small blessing. So you can see what your works have done for me. I certainly do believe in prayer, and am going to join your circle today. May God bless you and help you to continue your good work.

W. M. E.—Will I ever find my cousin?

Ans.—It appears that your cousin is working on a train, and travels a great deal: He will soon try to contact you, as he thinks of you often.

M. V.—Will my former boyfriend and I make up? Will we make any business connections? Or will I marry the one that I am now corresponding with?

Ans—Only one question is answered in the column. If you wish to write in for a private reply, I shall be glad to help all I can

M. G. W.—Does my husband still have his friend?

Ans.—A careful analysis of your problem, reveals that your husband did have a mere flirtation with this girl, but has never stopped loving you, and means to prove this to you. Have a little more confidence in him.

A. C.—Does he care for me?

Ans.—It comes to me that he really loves you as much as he says. And is just waiting an opportunity to express his true feelings.

H. B. S.—Will we ever be together again?

Ans.—The answer I find in regards to your question is that you often think of your husband and you do miss him a great deal. But, you two were not meant for each other and that is why you did not get along. If you will try and forget him completely and find happiness with another, you will be much more satisfied later on.

M. D.—Prof. Herman: I want to thank you for telling me about your Charm Bag as my dreams and wishes are beginning to come true. I don't know what I could do without it I am hoping that others will take advantage of your wonderful Hindu Charm Bag, and receive the blessings that I have.

M. N. G.—Will my son change?

Ans.—It appears to me that your son has been practising this vice for a number of years, and it will take a long time to completely break him. But he is also trying to help himself, so just be patient and encourage him all that you can.

E. B.—When will he ask me to go out?

Ans.—My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that you are only 16-years of age, and have lots of time ahead to become serious over the opposite sex. If you will become more interested in your studies, thereby equipping yourself for life properly, you will find a very interesting person in your associations.

S. M. D.—What would be the outcome of this situation if I do as I want to do?

Ans.—A careful analysis of your problem, indicates that you are tired of the man you are now a common-law-wife to, and wish to marry the man you first loved. It can be arranged and you will be much happier, if you make a clean breast of it to your present husband, as your childhood sweetheart would love to make you his wife.

Greater Fifth Street Store's Colored Employees

ABOVE ARE pictured employes of the Fifth Street Store, one of the oldest merchandising firms of Los Angeles. Many have been with the concern over a long period of years. The most complete department store of the city, Fifth Street Store has long been noted for its policy of catering to all types of shoppers. The great enterprise is stocked to serve the needs of the most modest and the most fastidious customer. A tradition during each Yuletide season at Fifth Street Store is the employment of a Negro choir from some leading church to carol shopping throngs. Over the years, the popularity of these annual song feasts has remained unchallenged. Observers agree that this store is the most widely —and competently—advertised business establishment in the West. The EAGLE has been among Fifth Street advertising media for almost a half century. One of the outstanding Christmas features of the firm is its tremendous Toyland, paradise for the younger generation during Yuletide shopping season. This year, Toyland is greater than ever before and has attracted record-smashing crowds. Another popular innovation are the beautiful chimes which peal forth from Fifth Street Store windows to beguile passing shoppers. Executives feel that this Christmas season is the greatest of them all!!

INTERIOR of business establishment in Frank Hutchinson building in San Bernardino. The large enterprise is staffed by Hutchinson, proprietor; Went Morris, assistant mgr.; Jackie Holmes, secy. and cashier; Charles Tapsico, pocket billiards; Mrs. Dora Dean Gains, cosmetologist; and E. Pleasant, tonsorial expert. All send Christmas greetings.

FRANK HUTCHINSON, prominent businessman of San Bernardino, stands in front of the modern business building which he owns there. Hutchinson is the only race real estate broker in the city. Through the EAGLE, he sends greetings and best wishes to his many friends in Riverside, San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties. Having assisted many out-of-town ivestors in acquiring ranch property, Hutchinson is expected shortly to give up other business activities to devote his time wholly in the real estate field. His motto: "God made land first and it is still your most valuable asset."

Betrothal of Accomplished Daughter of Riverside Minister to Rev. J. L. Caston Surprises Many Friends

Coming as a distinct surprise to their many friends, the betrothal of Miss Ineze Cordelia Smith of Riverside to Dr. Jonathan Lyle Caston, pastor of the Trinity Baptist church and president of the Los Angeles City and County Baptist Ministers' Union, was simultaneously announced in Riverside and Los Angeles last Sunday.

Due to the serious illness of the mother of the bride-to-be, only a few intimate friends of the family were invited to a beautifully appointed tea at the family home in Riverside.

Fifty ladies who received bids were presented with scrolls upon which were inscribed the words, "Ineze Cordelia Smith to Jonathan Lyle Caston, February, 1940." On the prospective bride's finger was a gorgeous blue-white diamond creation of 15-gems.

In Los Angeles at Trinity Baptist church to a capacity throng, the popular minister quietly announced at the close of the morning service: "I have the honor to announce, simultaneously, with a private party in Riverside, California, the impending marriage of Miss Ineze C. Smith to your pastor." Spontaneously, the assembly burst forth in applause and the sentence was never completed. Hardly had the benediction been said before Dr. Caston was besieged with congratulations.

BUSINESS ABILITY

Miss Smith is an employee of the S. H. Kress and Co., in Riverside, in the book-keeping and accounting department. Because of her ability, the manager has entrusted her with the buying and maintenance of sales in several departments and her seniority places upon her supervisorial duties over many of the sales girls in show-case designing and window trimming.

She is an accomplished musician in piano, organ and voice, using these talents successfully in the direction of the Senior choir of the Second Baptist church of Riverside and as pianist of the Gospel Chorus of the Trinity Baptist church here. She is widely known in church and social circles in Southern California, where she has resided for the last 15-years, except when in Chicago studying music.

Except to confirm that the wedding has been set for February, 1940, in Riverside, no other plans would be divulged by either the prospective bride or groom.

Sketch Subject: RUTH ENNIS . . . Dress Shop Proprietor.

By GAYNELLE COLE

Only Negro owner of a dress shop on Central avenue is Mrs. Ruth Ennis, proprietor and manager of the Rosana Dress shop, 4359 S. Central avenue. Mrs. Ennis was born in Tulsa, Oklahoma. In 1919 she came to California, attended Jefferson High school, graduating with a high scholastic rating. While in High school, Mrs. Ennis majored in commercial subjects for she planned to become a secretary. She received experience in secretarial training from the age of 16 in the office of her father, S. B. W. May, realtor.

Mrs. Ennis' career took a new direction when she began taking orders for dresses. Feeling that she could better understand public needs an wants by actual contact, she started working as a salesgirl in the Quality Dress shoppe, remained there five years, becoming well known for her efficient and pleasant service.

From this point on, Mrs. Ennis became interested in fashion merchandising. She was next employed at the Rosana Shop, very successfully managed the shop for two years and in August became the owner of it.

Mrs. Ennis says, "the big thing my business has taught me is that contrary to popular thought, the Negro will not buy "just anything." He demands quality and style in all of his purchases. This fact is most important for good salesmanship."

DePriest Backs Hamilton Fish for President

CHICAGO, Dec. 21. (ANP)—Oscar DePriest, GOP stalwart, last Tuesday was reported as included in a list of prominent Chicago Republicans who are supporting Representative Hamilton Fish of New York for the GOP presidential nomination.

DePriest made local political history in 1915, when he was elected first Negro alderman to sit in City Council. In 1929 he became a national figure when elected the first Negro in 25-years to be a Congressman.

Representative Fish came here for a debate at Northwestern university's Thorne Hall with Norman Thomas, Socialist leader. During the afternoon, the New Yorker held a conference at Hotel LaSalle with several GOP leaders, including DePriest.

A resolution, adopted by the group gave these reasons for supporting Fish: His 20-years of experience; his fight against entangling alliances; his fight against repeal of the arms embargo; his fight for a national war referendum, his record on legislation, including the protective tariff and his war record.

Ray Becomes First Young Man to Head Branch Store

For the first time in the business history of Central Avenue, a young Negro is in complete charge of the Eastside branch store of a great firm.

Juan Ray, militant young businessman, has been placed over the Central Avenue (25th and Central) West Pico Furniture store with full managerial sway. This is the only store of its kind this side of Chicago whose management is entrusted wholly to an all-Negro personnel.

J. B. Finch, West Pico executive, stated in an interview, "We have complete faith in the ability, integrity and honesty of this fine young man. He has been connected with our organization for a period of four years, and during that time has developed in us a great confidence."

The opening of the Central Avenue branch of the West Pico Furniture company last week was one of the business highlights of the year. Mr. Ray expressed his gratitude to the people of the Eastside for their enthusiastic attendance at the grand opening. He said "The opening was a very fine success. I wish to thank my many friends for their good will and patronage. I hope that we will continue serving them."

Ray was born in Bloomington, Illinois, and raised in Chicago, where he received his elementary and High school education. He attended the University of Illinois.

Coming to Los Angeles in 1931, Ray has worked in the insurance brokerage business, as an insurance salesman with the Golden State Mutual Life and others, and for the past four years as a bona fide agent of the West Pico Furniture company.

One of Ray's peculiar distinctions is a certificate from "The Black Cat Club" which you may see on the wall of the West Pico Central Avenue store. In 1935, the first year of "Hoodoo Day" campaigns in the insurance selling fields, Ray, as an agent of the Postal Union Insurance Co., sold thirteen applications between dawn and dark of a Friday the 13th. Thus, he is honored with a certificate from the Black Cat club.

During the past four years, Ray has made an intensive study of problems connected with the furniture business. He is an expert in home furnishing, combining natural selling ability with a fund of ready knowledge.

"Few Negroes know the technique demanded in the successful operation of a furniture business. Few recognize that there are definite fields of knowledge that must be mastered. The sale of furniture is more than a business deal. To insure satisfied patronage, a furniture salesmen must understand the problems of interior decoration and be in a position to render to the homemaker expert advice. We must forever bear in mind that our customers must LIVE with our merchandise."

Observers state that the instant success of the West Pico branch store on the Eastside is without precedent and may be attributed only to the fine preparatory work of Mr. Ray and his associates.

Texan Named President of Langston U.

LANGSTON, Okla., Dec. 21. (ANP) — Announcement was made here last week of the naming of Dr. G. L. Harrison, 39, dean of education at Prairie View State college, Prairie View, Tex., as president of Langston university, a post left vacant by the ousting of President J. W. Sanford several months ago.

Dr. Harrison, a graduate of Howard university, holds a doctorate degree from Ohio State university, Columbus, Ohio. He is director of teacher training at Prairie View as well as dean of the department of education.

A native of Oklahoma, Dr. Harrison received his elementary education in a one-teacher rural school at Comanche, Okla. His appointment to the presidency of Langston ends a long series of futile attempts on the part of Governor Phillips and the board of regents to fill the vacancy at the school. Three Oklahomans refused the post, and Albert W. Turner, appointed at the beginning of the school year, served one day before handing in his resignation.

For her debut Miss Maynor, who was described by the famous conductor, Serge Koussevitzky, as "a native Kirsted Flagstad", sings in German "Gretchen am Spinnrade" and the famous "Ave Maria" with Arpad Sandor at the piano. The record, a Victor Red Seal, is of 12-inch diameter.

• LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

BY MIRIAM MATTHEWS

"The widespread realization that democracy cannot be taken for granted gives libraries a new opportunity to demonstrate their usefulness as educational agencies," writes Carl H. Milan in the December issue of the American Library Association Bulletin. He believes that people want to know, and it is important that they know, about the theories on which our own and other governments are based. 'Education for Democracy in 1939-40," he says, "must be related to what is happening in London, Paris, Berlin, Moscow, Tokyo, and particularly in Washington and the State capitols—even in our own city halls."

In keeping with these views, your neighborhood libraries recommend the following list on the current international scene. Hermann Rauschning, former Nazi President of the Danzig Senate, writes a warning to the West which he has called "The Revolution of Nihilism.'" He explains that even the German living in the Third Reich has had but the vaguest notion of what has been happening to him and therefore it is not strange that the foreigner has been completely bewildered by recent events in Germany. This book is an interpretation of Hitler's actual political aims. His policy is revealed as revolutionary imperialism of an extreme type which will lead only to complete destruction.

BENES BOOK

An exile in America as a result of the Munich Pact, Dr. Edouard Benes, former President of Czechoslovakia, gives us a clear and objective statement of "Democracy—today and tomorrow," in his latest book. He explains the case for a democratic philosophy of government and for the institutions.

Of interest also are "Calling America: the Challenge to democracy reaches over here," published by the Survey Graphic; "Our Battle," by Hendrik Van Loon; "Mein Kampf," by Hitler; "Inside Asia," by Gunther; "Red Star over China," by Snow; "America's Way Out," by Bryson; Watching for the Stars," by Waln; "England, a dying Oligarchy," by Bromfield; "The Rape of Palestine," by Ziff; "America in Midpassage," by the Beards; "The Coming Struggle for Latin America," by Beals; 'Americas to the South," by Whitaker; "Secret Armies," by Spivak; "Japan Over Asia," by Chamberlain; "Hitler Over Russia," by Ernst; "The New Western Front," by Chase; "Revolt Against War," by Engelbrecht and a host of others.

ATTA MEN!

The often expressed opinion that the Negro should begin to do something to help himself, appears to be bearing results.

This week, the Los Angeles Fellowship League set the date for a monster scholarship rally which has as its purpose the raising of a fund to aid aspiring student-athletes of Los Angeles and vicinity.

It has been a more or less generally known fact that some of our most promising student-athletes in the past have been usually pressed for money that they might continue their pursuit of knowledge.

League officials make it plain, however, that the fund is being raised to help needy youth in the future and NOT as a reward for past performances of some of the more outstanding collegians who have made good despite adverse circumstances.

To , the league has wisely announced that the scholarship fund will be named in honor of BOTH Kenny Washington and Woodrow Strode, those sterling athletes who sport the colors of UCLA.

The influential men who had a similar purpose when they entertained the Uclans and their coaches several weeks ago, are joining right in with the L. A. Fellowship league program. All of which seems to assure future of hard pressed youth.

ATLANTA CELEBRATES

According to Henry McLemore, United Press staff correspondent, the colored folk and the white folk had a "ball" in Atlanta, Ga. the other night. The occasion—the world premiere of the David O. Selznick production "Gone With the Wind".

McLemore wrote how Vivian Leigh choked up at the Jr. League ball when "plantation darkies" sang "Steal Away to Jesus" (in colonial setting).

Miss Leigh co-stars in the film with Clark Gable.

"Shrill-voiced pickaninnies" sang "There's Plenty of Good Room in Heaven", to bring tears to the eyes of another of the film's players, wrote McLemore.

Yes, the South (the white South) loved "Gone With the Wind". McLemore's description must have fit the occasion.

"WHAT SHALL I GIVE FOR CHRISTMAS

(The following poem by Harold Carter was "lifted" from a church bulletin in the community. J.C.F.)

What shall I give' for Xmas?
A lad of twenty asked of me.
Then thinking for a moment,
"Now my boy, let me see—

"Give every dawn a cheery smile;
Give each task the best in you.
Let not one lie your tongue defile;
Never give up till you are through.

"Give love, devotion, undying respect,
To your parents, your kin, your friends
That to them is your only debt,
And on it God's blessing depends.

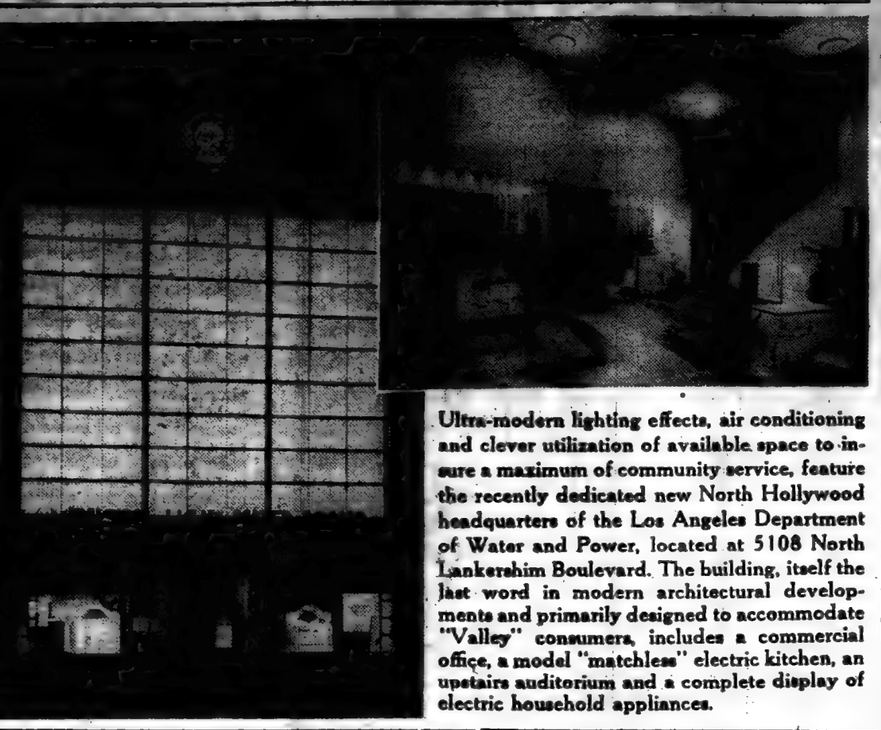
"And if you've a mite in worldly store
There's many less fortunate than you—
So give, give, give to the poor,
Make them happy on Christmas too.

"Then give to Christ your sinful heart
Praise His blessings ever new.
He hasn't deserted you from the start,
So pledge him your service true.

"Give in service to all mankind,
And you'll bring heaven closer to earth
That's the greatest honor you could ever pay—my boy,
To the Blessed Savior's birth."

GABBY BITS:

In her copyrighted column, "My Day", Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt had this to say of Bill Robinson one day last week: "We saw Bill Robinson last night in 'The Hot Mikado', which seems to be a great success, judging by the enthusiasm of the Washington audience. I never consider Washington audiences very enthusiastic, so this was really a great tribute to the performance". In another column, the First Lady wrote: "Miss Josephine Harreld, a young colored pianist, gave us a short program of music after dinner last night. She has power and a finished technique and plays with real feeling, which made every minute enjoyable to all of us" . . . Henry Armstrong is due back in town for the Christmas holidays . . . The "Avenue" got a thrill this week when Million Dollar Productions brought actors, and technicians to the famous thoroughfare to shoot scenes for the next Ralph Cooper opus, "Gang War".



Laura Slayton, prexy of the Orchid Girls, the organization which sponsors the annual affair to which guests must bring a toy for some boy or girl, says that the girls this year will give out some 1200 toys to underprivileged children. The number is the largest yet.

CITY UTILITIES' NEW BRANCH OFFICE MODEL OF EFFICIENCY

Ultra-modern lighting effects, air conditioning and clever utilization of available space to insure a maximum of community service, feature the recently dedicated new North Hollywood headquarters of the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, located at 5108 North Lankershim Boulevard. The building, itself the last word in modern architectural developments and primarily designed to accommodate "Valley" consumers, includes a commercial office, a model "matchless" electric kitchen, an upstairs auditorium and a complete display of electric household appliances.

Build 3 New YMCA's in the East

America's best protection against the importation of new racial and religious hatreds to this country is the cooperation of Jews and white Christians with the Negro in his struggles for advancement, maintains Channing H. Tobias, Senior Secretary of the National YMCA Colored department, in announcing the construction of three YMCA's in the East, two of which will be dedicated this month.

These include the $65,000 building given by Caesar Cone, 2nd, a Jewish manufacturer in Greensboro, N. C.; the Community YMCA in Princeton, N. J., erected by the joint efforts of white and colored people; and H. Fletcher Brown, in Wilmington, Delaware.

In connection with these gifts, Dr. Tobias said: "Of late there has been a growing attempt to import new racial and religious hatreds to this country. Men like Caesar Cone, H. Fletcher Brown and the late Julius Rosenwald, who forgot racial barriers in helping those who have long been the victims of prejudice and discrimination here at home, give America her best front against foreign isms."

FDR May Toy With Idea of Negro Jurist

That the President might at least "toy" with the idea of a Negro Supreme Court justice to take the place of Justice Butler, recently deceased, was evinced in a letter from the White House to John H. Owens, vice-president of the International Workers Order, Southern California District, and members of the Executive Board, Workers Alliance. Last week over the signature of Stephen Early, secretary to the President, it was stated Owen's letter urging the appointment of a Negro Supreme Court jurist would be placed before the President.

Owens had pointed out in his letter that in the colonial empires of both France and England, men of color hold high judicial positions, and that the numerical population of the Negroes in the United States is greater than many of the colonial empires of either England or France.

Replied Early, under date of Dec. 8: "Permit me, please, to acknowledge receipt of your letter of Dec. 3 in which you urge consideration of the names of Robert L. Vann and Charles Houston for appointment to the existing vacancy on the Supreme Court of the United States. Your communications will be made available to the President and you may be sure that your interest in writing about these gentlemen is appreciated."

oted Harlem Business Man Urges Negro Cooperate With Census Enumerators

EW YORK, Dec. 21.—Dr. C. Powell, first vice president he Victory Life Insurance any, publisher of the Amam News, president of the munity Personal Finance oration, and one of Har- foremost business men, ed out this week that the eration of colored tradesmen the enumerators who will the 1940 Census of Business be absolutely necessary if undistorted picture of the of the Negro in the busiworld is to be secured.

e Census of Business will Jan. 2. It will cover retail wholesale trade, service esses and laundries, theatres other places of amusement, and tourist camps, and uction activities. It will be irst complete survey of its made since 1935.

TIME AND NTION

egro business men all over country should give extra and attention to filling out chedule blanks for the 1940 s of Business," Dr. Powated. "When completed, this s will furnish the whole nation with a wealth of information about colored business enterprises that could be obtained no other way. If the information is incomplete or gives a false picture in any way, Negro business is certain to suffer."

Dr. Powell pointed out that in past Censuses many small tradesmen were reluctant to give correct information about their enterprises, fearing that the facts would be disclosed to creditors, income tax collectors, or the like.

"Congress provides," he said, "that all information given Census enumerators must be kept in strictest confidence. Nothing about an individual business—its ownership, volume of sales, or number of employees—will be allowed to reach the general public or even another government department. Whatever is finally revealed about Negro business will be released only in broad statistical form. Thus the people of the United States will be provided with a most helpful picture of Negro enterprise as a whole, with no embarrassment to any individual through disclosure of his business secrets.

Housing Project to Rise on Miss. Water Front

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 21.—The picturesque slums along the Mississippi River water front, immortalized in story and song, are doomed to extinction. The setting for the famed "St. Louis Blues" and for the legend, "Frankie and Johnny", will soon become prosaic and dull, but safe, sanitary and decent homes for low-renting families under the U. S. Housing Authority program.

The swaying old wharf, where the "Showboat" docked, right in the front yard of St. Louis has been declared a breeding place of disease, delinquency and crime, "has been costly to the city economically as well as socially."

With the recent approval of a loan contract for a 700-unit project, St. Louis will start building after the first of the year. The USHA contract provides for a loan of $6,984,000 to defray 90 percent of the cost.

Cannot Compel Tavern Keeper to Serve Beer

OTTAWA (Ont.) Dec. 21—A Negro cannot compel a tavern keeper in the Province of Quebec to serve him with beer, the Supreme Court of Canada decided last week in dismissing an appeal by Fred Christie of Montreal against a judgment of the Quebec courts in favor of the York Corporation.

The action arose out of the refusal of the corporation, owners of a tavern to serve beer to Christie and two of his friends on July 11, 1936. Christie sued for damages for exposure to humiliation, injury to reputation, damage to honor and sensibiiity and deprivation of the pleasure of consuming beer with his friends.

National Negro Congress Head Hits Dies Witness

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (CNA)—John P. Davis, National Secretary of the National Negro Congress, this week described as a "monstrous lie" testimony by William Nowell of Detroit before the Dies Committee.

"The National Negro Congress is not a Communist front organization," Davis said. "It has never been dominated by the Communist Party or any other political party.

"Nowell's statement that he 'collaborated with me' in forming the Congress is a monstrous lie," he declared. "I have never even discussed the Congress organization with Nowell. He had no more to do with the National Congress than Charlie McCarthy or Donald Duck.

"And even more significant than my denial of his statement is the fact that Nowell—although he claims to have been a guiding brain in forming the Congress—has never held an office in the Congress either locally or nationally, has never served on any Congress Committee either the first or second National Negro Congress meetings."

MRS. ANNA GRIFFITH MORROW

Christmas Music Festival at Second Baptist Scores

Performed before a brilliant audience, the third annual Christmas Music Festival of the Vesper Chorus Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow, was a seasonal highlight at the Second Baptist church Sunday evening.

Attired in flowing gowns, the Vesper Chorus rendered one of its most important performances with professional ease and occasional moments of brilliance.

Of material aid was guest director Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew and guest organist, Kathryn Owens. The Descant Choir, under Mrs. Bilbrew, is one of the city's outstanding musical groups.

Congratulations were showered upon Mrs. Morrow at the conclusion of Sunday night's Festival for her leadership in presenting a well rounded program that failed neither in timing, length, or musical quality.

Guest soloists were Ernestine Wade, soprano, and Fred Skinner, baritone.

Mrs. Wade scored heavily with her three renditions, "Noel," Gounod; "Sleep of the Child Jesus," Gevaert; and "That Holy Thing," Dichmont. Full play of Mrs. Wade's great technical skill was brought to the latter song, while tonal beauty was more pronounced in the two former. A true daughter of 2nd Baptist, Mrs. Wade did yeoman work in building the Festival triumph.

Powerful Fred Skinner was most effective with a rousing treatment of 'Go Down Moses," by Burleigh. Final passages of "The Lord's Prayer" waxed difficult, but Mr. Skinner overcame this nicely in his renditions of "Deep River" and "Hold Thou My Hand," Briggs.

String Trio from Bessie Dones' studio accompanied the impressive processional.

Geneva Mae Bass contributed a skillful organ solo.

However, best part of the evening's entertainment was given by the great Vesper Choir. "Holy Night! Peaceful Night!" was sung with feeling and quiet dignity. The two groups of songs were received enthusiastically by the large audience. First group featured the work of the Descant Choir and used "Silent Night," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" and "The First Noel." The second group done by the Second Baptist Octette alone included "Let Our Gladness Know No End," "In Bethlehem, The Lowly," "O Fir Tree Dark, O Fir Tree Dear" and "All That Wondrous Christmas Night." As these songs were sung, young people representing various nations paraded slowly across the beautiful 2nd Baptist pulpit: Marjorie LaMont, Bohemia; Maryln Crowley, Holland; Alphia Barner, Sweden; and Bobby Fortune, Portugal.

However, in this reviewer's opinion, the most outstanding choral effort of the evening was "For Thy Ligt is Come." Last full number on the program, the Vesper Choir sang with inspired fervor. It was very beautiful.

Mrs. C. A. Bass, EAGLE editor, presented the program; Dr. E. W. Moore presented her; and Rev. H. A. Foster voiced the benediction.

Virgil M. Morrow once again proved his electrical skill in creating the several striking light effects that contributed so much to the program Sunday evening.

Designers of the costumes worn by young people included Hazel Marion, Sula McDonald (Holland), Lucy Clancy, Esther Sims (Bohemia), Maud Blair, Frances Franklin (Sweden), Wilia Fuqa and Ida Ellis (Portugal). Ella Van Vecter also assisted faithfully in this department.
